each person has a special gift from God, of one kind or another.

8 So I say to those who aren't married and to widows—it's better to stay unmarried, just as I am. 9 But if they can't control themselves, they should go ahead and marry. It's better to marry than to burn with lust.

10 But for those who are married, I have a command that comes not from me, but from the Lord.* A wife must not leave her husband.
11 But if she does leave him, let her remain single or else be reconciled to him. And the husband must not leave his wife.

12Now, I will speak to the rest of you, though I do not have a direct command from the Lord. If a fellow believer* has a wife who is not a believer and she is willing to continue living with him, he must not leave her. 13And if a believing woman has a husband who is not a believer and he is willing to continue living with her, she must not leave him. 14For the believing wife brings holiness to her marriage, and the believing husband* brings holiness to his marriage. Otherwise, your children would not be holy, but now they are holy. 15(But if the husband or wife who isn't a believer insists on leaving, let them go. In such cases the believing husband or wife* is no longer bound to the other, for God has called you* to live in peace.) 16Don't you wives realize that your husbands might be saved because of you? And don't you husbands realize that your wives might be saved because of you?

17Each of you should continue to live in whatever situation the Lord has placed you, and remain as you were when God first called you.
This is my rule for all the churches. 18For instance, a man who was circumcised before he became a believer should not try to reverse it. And the man who was uncircumcised when he became a believer should not be circumcised now. 19For it makes no difference whether or not a man has been circumcised. The important thing is to keep God's commandments.

20Yes, each of you should remain as you were when God called you.
21Are you a slave? Don't let that worry you—but if you get a chance to be free, take it. 22And remember, if you were a slave when the Lord called you, you are now free in the Lord. And if you were free when the Lord called you, you are now a slave of Christ. 23God paid a high price for you, so don't be enslaved by the world.24Each of you, dear brothers and sisters, should remain as you were when God first called you.

25Now regarding your question about the young women who are not yet married. I do not have a command from the Lord for them.
But the Lord in his mercy has given me wisdom that can be trusted, and I will share it with you. 26Because of the present crisis,* I think it is best to remain as you are. 27If you have a wife, do not seek to end the marriage. If you do not have a wife, do not seek to get married. 28But if you do get married, it is not a sin. And if a young woman gets married, it is not a sin. However, those who get married at this time will have troubles, and I am trying to spare you those problems.

29But let me say this, dear brothers and sisters: The time that remains is very short. So from now on, those with wives should not focus only on their marriage. 30Those who weep or who rejoice or who buy things should not be absorbed by their weeping or their joy or their possessions. 31Those who use the things of the world should not become attached to them. For this world as we know it will soon pass away.

32I want you to be free from the concerns of this life. An unmarried man can spend his time doing the Lord's work and thinking how to please him. 33But a married man has to think about his earthly responsibilities and how to please his wife. 34His interests are divided. In the same way, a woman who is no longer married or has never been married can be devoted to the Lord and holy in body and in spirit. But a married woman has to think about her earthly responsibilities and how to please her husband. 35I am saying this for your benefit, not to place restrictions on you. I want you to do whatever will help you serve the Lord best, with as few distractions as possible.

36But if a man thinks that he's treating his fiancée improperly and will inevitably give in to his passion, let him marry her as he wishes. It is not a sin. 37But if he has decided firmly not to marry and there is no urgency and he can control his passion, he does well not to marry. 38So the person who marries his fiancée does well, and the person who doesn't marry does even better.

39A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. If her husband dies, she is free to marry anyone she wishes, but only if he loves the Lord.*40But in my opinion it would be better for her to stay single, and I think I am giving you counsel from God's Spirit when I say this.

1 Corinthians 8

FOOD SACRIFICED TO IDOLS

1Now regarding your question about food that has been offered to idols. Yes, we know that "we all have knowledge" about this issue. But while knowledge makes us feel important, it is love that strengthens the church. 2Anyone who claims to know all the answers doesn't really know very much. 3But the person who loves God is the one whom God recognizes.*

4So, what about eating meat that has been offered to idols? Well, we all know that an idol is not really a god and that there is only one God. 5There may be so-called gods both in heaven and on earth, and some people actually worship many gods and many lords. 6But for us, There is one God, the Father, by whom all things were created, and for whom we live.

And there is one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom all things were created, and through whom we live.

7However, not all believers know this. Some are accustomed to thinking of idols as being real, so when they eat food that has been offered to idols, they think of it as the worship of real gods, and their weak consciences are violated. 8It's true that we can't win

God's approval by what we eat. We don't lose anything if we don't eat it, and we don't gain anything if we do.

9But you must be careful so that your freedom does not cause others with a weaker conscience to stumble. 10For if others see you—with your "superior knowledge"—eating in the temple of an idol, won't they be encouraged to violate their conscience by eating food that has been offered to an idol? 11So because of your superior knowledge, a weak believer* for whom Christ died will be destroyed. 12And when you sin against other believers* by encouraging them to do something they believe is wrong, you are sinning against Christ. 13So if what I eat causes another believer to sin, I will never eat meat again as long as I live—for I don't want to cause another believer to stumble.

PAUL GIVES UP HIS RIGHTS

1Am I not as free as anyone else? Am I not an apostle? Haven't I seen Jesus our Lord with my own eyes? Isn't it because of my work that you belong to the Lord? 2Even if others think I am not an apostle, I certainly am to you. You yourselves are proof that I am the Lord's apostle.

3This is my answer to those who question my authority.* 4Don't we have the right to live in your homes and share your meals? 5Don't we have the right to bring a believing wife* with us as the other apostles and the Lord's brothers do, and as Peter* does? 6Or is it only Barnabas and I who have to work to support ourselves?

7What soldier has to pay his own expenses? What farmer plants a vineyard and doesn't have the right to eat some of its fruit? What shepherd cares for a flock of sheep and isn't allowed to drink some of the milk? 8Am I expressing merely a human opinion, or does the law say the same thing? 9For the law of Moses says, “You must not muzzle an ox to keep it from eating as it treads out the grain.”* Was God thinking only about oxen when he said this? 10Wasn’t he actually speaking to us? Yes, it was written for us, so that the one who plows and the one who threshes the grain might both expect a share of the harvest.

11Since we have planted spiritual seed among you, aren’t we entitled to a harvest of physical food and drink? 12If you support others who preach to you, shouldn’t we have an even greater right to be supported? But we have never used this right. We would rather put up with anything than be an obstacle to the Good News about Christ.

13Don’t you realize that those who work in the temple get their meals from the offerings brought to the temple? And those who serve at the altar get a share of the sacrificial offerings. 14In the same way, the Lord ordered that those who preach the Good News should be supported by those who benefit from it. 15Yet I have never used any of these rights. And I am not writing this to suggest that I want to start now. In fact, I would rather die than lose my right to boast about preaching without charge. 16Yet preaching the Good News is not something I can boast about. I am compelled by God to do it. How terrible for me if I didn’t preach the Good News!

17If I were doing this on my own initiative, I would deserve payment. But I have no choice, for God has given me this sacred trust. 18What then is my pay? It is the opportunity to preach the Good News without charging anyone. That’s why I never demand my rights when I preach the Good News.

19Even though I am a free man with no master, I have become a slave to all people to bring many to Christ. 20When I was with the Jews, I lived like a Jew to bring the Jews to Christ. When I was with those who follow the Jewish law, I too lived under that law. Even though I am not subject to the law, I did this so I could bring to Christ those who are under the law. 21When I am with the Gentiles who do not follow the Jewish law,* I too live apart from that law so I can bring them to Christ. But I do not ignore the law of God; I obey the law of Christ.

22When I am with those who are weak, I share their weakness, for I want to bring the weak to Christ. Yes, I try to find common ground with everyone, doing everything I can to save some. 23I do everything to spread the Good News and share in its blessings.

24Don't you realize that in a race everyone runs, but only one person gets the prize? So run to win! 25All athletes are disciplined in their training. They do it to win a prize that will fade away, but we do it for an eternal prize. 26So I run with purpose in every step. I am not just shadowboxing. 27I discipline my body like an athlete, training it to do what it should. Otherwise, I fear that after preaching to others I myself might be disqualified.

1 Corinthians 10

LESSONS FROM ISRAEL'S IDOLATRY

1I don't want you to forget, dear brothers and sisters,* about our ancestors in the wilderness long ago. All of them were guided by a cloud that moved ahead of them, and all of them walked through the sea on dry ground. 2In the cloud and in the sea, all of them were baptized as followers of Moses. 3All of them ate the same spiritual food, 4and all of them drank the same spiritual water. For they drank from the spiritual rock that traveled with them, and that rock was Christ. 5Yet God was not pleased with most of them, and their bodies were scattered in the wilderness.

6These things happened as a warning to us, so that we would not crave evil things as they did, 7or worship idols as some of them did. As the Scriptures say, "The people celebrated with feasting and drinking, and they indulged in pagan revelry."*8And we must not engage in sexual immorality as some of them did, causing 23,000 of them to die in one day.

9Nor should we put Christ* to the test, as some of them did and then died from snakebites. 10And don't grumble as some of them did, and then were destroyed by the angel of death. 11These things happened to them as examples for us. They were written down to warn us who live at the end of the age.

12If you think you are standing strong, be careful not to fall. 13The temptations in your life are no different from what others experience. And God is faithful. He will not allow the temptation to be more than you can stand. When you are tempted, he will show you a way out so that you can endure.

14So, my dear friends, flee from the worship of idols. 15You are reasonable people. Decide for yourselves if what I am saying is true.
16When we bless the cup at the Lord's Table, aren't we sharing in the blood of Christ? And when we break the bread, aren't we sharing in the body of Christ? 17And though we are many, we all eat from one loaf of bread, showing that we are one body. 18Think about the people of Israel. Weren't they united by eating the sacrifices at the altar?

19What am I trying to say? Am I saying that food offered to idols has some significance, or that idols are real gods? 20No, not at all. I am saying that these sacrifices are offered to demons, not to God.
And I don't want you to participate with demons. 21You cannot drink from the cup of the Lord and from the cup of demons, too.
You cannot eat at the Lord's Table and at the table of demons, too.
22What? Do we dare to rouse the Lord's jealousy? Do you think we are stronger than he is?

23You say, "I am allowed to do anything"*—but not everything is good for you. You say, "I am allowed to do anything"—but not everything is beneficial. 24Don't be concerned for your own good but for the good of others.

25So you may eat any meat that is sold in the marketplace without raising questions of conscience. 26For “the earth is the LORD’s, and everything in it.”*

27If someone who isn’t a believer asks you home for dinner, accept the invitation if you want to. Eat whatever is offered to you without raising questions of conscience. 28(But suppose someone tells you, “This meat was offered to an idol.” Don’t eat it, out of consideration for the conscience of the one who told you. 29It might not be a matter of conscience for you, but it is for the other person.) For why should my freedom be limited by what someone else thinks? 30If I can thank God for the food and enjoy it, why should I be condemned for eating it?

31So whether you eat or drink, or whatever you do, do it all for the glory of God. 32Don’t give offense to Jews or Gentiles* or the church of God. 33I, too, try to please everyone in everything I do. I don’t just do what is best for me; I do what is best for others so that many may be saved.

11:1And you should imitate me, just as I imitate Christ.*

1 Corinthians 11

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PUBLIC WORSHIP

2I am so glad that you always keep me in your thoughts, and that you are following the teachings I passed on to you. 3But there is one thing I want you to know: The head of every man is Christ, the head of woman is man, and the head of Christ is God.4A man dishonors his head if he covers his head while praying or prophesying. 5But a woman dishonors her head* if she prays or prophesies without a covering on her head, for this is the same as shaving her head. 6Yes, if she refuses to wear a head covering, she should cut off all her hair! But since it is shameful for a woman to have her hair cut or her head shaved, she should wear a covering.*

7A man should not wear anything on his head when worshiping, for man is made in God's image and reflects God's glory. And woman reflects man's glory. 8For the first man didn't come from woman, but the first woman came from man. 9And man was not made for woman, but woman was made for man. 10For this reason, and because the angels are watching, a woman should wear a covering on her head to show she is under authority.*

11But among the Lord's people, women are not independent of men, and men are not independent of women. 12For although the first woman came from man, every other man was born from a woman, and everything comes from God.

13Judge for yourselves. Is it right for a woman to pray to God in public without covering her head? 14Isn't it obvious that it's disgraceful for a man to have long hair? 15And isn't long hair a woman's pride and joy? For it has been given to her as a covering. 16But if anyone wants to argue about this, I simply say that we have no other custom than this, and neither do God's other churches.

ORDER AT THE LORD'S SUPPER

17But in the following instructions, I cannot praise you. For it sounds as if more harm than good is done when you meet together. 18First, I hear that there are divisions among you when you meet as a church, and to some extent I believe it. 19But, of course, there must be divisions among you so that you who have God's approval will be recognized!

20When you meet together, you are not really interested in the Lord's Supper. 21For some of you hurry to eat your own meal without sharing with others. As a result, some go hungry while others get drunk. 22What? Don't you have your own homes for eating and drinking? Or do you really want to disgrace God's church and shame the poor? What am I supposed to say? Do you want me to praise you? Well, I certainly will not praise you for this!

23For I pass on to you what I received from the Lord himself. On the night when he was betrayed, the Lord Jesus took some bread 24and gave thanks to God for it. Then he broke it in pieces and said, "This is my body, which is given for you.* Do this to remember me." 25In the same way, he took the cup of wine after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant between God and his people—an agreement confirmed with my blood. Do this to remember me as often as you drink it." 26For every time you eat this bread and drink this cup, you are announcing the Lord's death until he comes again.

27So anyone who eats this bread or drinks this cup of the Lord unworthily is guilty of sinning against* the body and blood of the Lord. 28That is why you should examine yourself before eating the bread and drinking the cup. 29For if you eat the bread or drink the cup without honoring the body of Christ,* you are eating and drinking God's judgment upon yourself. 30That is why many of you are weak and sick and some have even died.

31But if we would examine ourselves, we would not be judged by God in this way. 32Yet when we are judged by the Lord, we are being disciplined so that we will not be condemned along with the world.

33So, my dear brothers and sisters,* when you gather for the Lord's Supper, wait for each other. 34If you are really hungry, eat at home so you won't bring judgment upon yourselves when you meet together. I'll give you instructions about the other matters after I arrive.

1 Corinthians 12

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

1Now, dear brothers and sisters,* regarding your question about the special abilities the Spirit gives us. I don't want you to misunderstand this. 2You know that when you were still pagans, you were led astray and swept along in worshiping speechless idols. 3So I want you to know that no one speaking by the Spirit of God will curse Jesus, and no one can say Jesus is Lord, except by the Holy Spirit.

4There are different kinds of spiritual gifts, but the same Spirit is the source of them all. 5There are different kinds of service, but we serve the same Lord. 6God works in different ways, but it is the same God who does the work in all of us.

7A spiritual gift is given to each of us so we can help each other. 8To one person the Spirit gives the ability to give wise advice*; to another the same Spirit gives a message of special knowledge.9The same Spirit gives great faith to another, and to someone else the one Spirit gives the gift of healing. 10He gives one person the power to perform miracles, and another the ability to prophesy. He gives someone else the ability to discern whether a message is from the Spirit of God or from another spirit. Still another person is given the ability to speak in unknown languages, while another is given the ability to interpret what is being said. 11It is the one and only Spirit who distributes all these gifts. He alone decides which gift each person should have.

ONE BODY WITH MANY PARTS

12The human body has many parts, but the many parts make up one whole body. So it is with the body of Christ. 13Some of us are Jews, some are Gentiles,* some are slaves, and some are free. But we have all been baptized into one body by one Spirit, and we all share the same Spirit.*

14Yes, the body has many different parts, not just one part. 15If the foot says, “I am not a part of the body because I am not a hand,” that does not make it any less a part of the body. 16And if the ear says, “I am not part of the body because I am not an eye,” would that make it any less a part of the body? 17If the whole body were an eye, how would you hear? Or if your whole body were an ear, how would you smell anything?

18But our bodies have many parts, and God has put each part just where he wants it. 19How strange a body would be if it had only one part! 20Yes, there are many parts, but only one body. 21The eye can never say to the hand, “I don’t need you.” The head can’t say to the feet, “I don’t need you.”

22In fact, some parts of the body that seem weakest and least important are actually the most necessary. 23And the parts we regard as less honorable are those we clothe with the greatest care. So we carefully protect those parts that should not be seen, 24while the more honorable parts do not require this special care. So God has put the body together such that extra honor and care are given to those parts that have less dignity. 25This makes for harmony among the members, so that all the members care for each other. 26If one part suffers, all the parts suffer with it, and if one part is honored, all the parts are glad.

27All of you together are Christ's body, and each of you is a part of it. 28Here are some of the parts God has appointed for the church: first are apostles, second are prophets, third are teachers, then those who do miracles, those who have the gift of healing, those who can help others, those who have the gift of leadership, those who speak in unknown languages.

29Are we all apostles? Are we all prophets? Are we all teachers? Do we all have the power to do miracles? 30Do we all have the gift of healing? Do we all have the ability to speak in unknown languages? Do we all have the ability to interpret unknown languages? Of course not! 31So you should earnestly desire the most helpful gifts.

But now let me show you a way of life that is best of all.

1 Corinthians 13

LOVE IS THE GREATEST

1If I could speak all the languages of earth and of angels, but didn't love others, I would only be a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. 2If I had the gift of prophecy, and if I understood all of God's secret plans and possessed all knowledge, and if I had such faith that I could move mountains, but didn't love others, I would be nothing.
3If I gave everything I have to the poor and even sacrificed my body, I could boast about it;* but if I didn't love others, I would have gained nothing.

4Love is patient and kind. Love is not jealous or boastful or proud 5or rude. It does not demand its own way. It is not irritable, and it keeps no record of being wronged. 6It does not rejoice about injustice but rejoices whenever the truth wins out. 7Love never gives up, never loses faith, is always hopeful, and endures through every circumstance.

8Prophecy and speaking in unknown languages* and special knowledge will become useless. But love will last forever! 9Now our knowledge is partial and incomplete, and even the gift of prophecy reveals only part of the whole picture! 10But when the time of perfection comes, these partial things will become useless.

11When I was a child, I spoke and thought and reasoned as a child.
But when I grew up, I put away childish things. 12Now we see things imperfectly, like puzzling reflections in a mirror, but then we will see everything with perfect clarity.* All that I know now is partial and incomplete, but then I will know everything completely, just as God now knows me completely.

13Three things will last forever—faith, hope, and love—and the greatest of these is love.

1 Corinthians 14

TONGUES AND PROPHECY

1Let love be your highest goal! But you should also desire the special abilities the Spirit gives—especially the ability to prophesy.
2For if you have the ability to speak in tongues,* you will be talking only to God, since people won't be able to understand you. You will be speaking by the power of the Spirit,* but it will all be mysterious.
3But one who prophesies strengthens others, encourages them, and comforts them. 4A person who speaks in tongues is strengthened personally, but one who speaks a word of prophecy strengthens the entire church.

5I wish you could all speak in tongues, but even more I wish you could all prophesy. For prophecy is greater than speaking in tongues, unless someone interprets what you are saying so that the whole church will be strengthened.

6Dear brothers and sisters,* if I should come to you speaking in an unknown language,* how would that help you? But if I bring you a revelation or some special knowledge or prophecy or teaching, that will be helpful. 7Even lifeless instruments like the flute or the harp must play the notes clearly, or no one will recognize the melody. 8And if the bugler doesn't sound a clear call, how will the soldiers know they are being called to battle?

9It's the same for you. If you speak to people in words they don't understand, how will they know what you are saying? You might as well be talking into empty space.

10There are many different languages in the world, and every language has meaning. 11But if I don't understand a language, I will be a foreigner to someone who speaks it, and the one who speaks it will be a foreigner to me. 12And the same is true for you. Since you are so eager to have the special abilities the Spirit gives, seek those that will strengthen the whole church.

13So anyone who speaks in tongues should pray also for the ability to interpret what has been said. 14For if I pray in tongues, my spirit is praying, but I don't understand what I am saying.

15Well then, what shall I do? I will pray in the spirit,* and I will also pray in words I understand. I will sing in the spirit, and I will also sing in words I understand. 16For if you praise God only in the spirit, how can those who don't understand you praise God along with you? How can they join you in giving thanks when they don't understand what you are saying? 17You will be giving thanks very well, but it won't strengthen the people who hear you.

18I thank God that I speak in tongues more than any of you. 19But in a church meeting I would rather speak five understandable words to help others than ten thousand words in an unknown language.

20Dear brothers and sisters, don't be childish in your understanding of these things. Be innocent as babies when it comes to evil, but be mature in understanding matters of this kind. 21It is written in the Scriptures*: "I will speak to my own people through strange languages and through the lips of foreigners.

But even then, they will not listen to me,"*
says the LORD.

22So you see that speaking in tongues is a sign, not for believers, but for unbelievers. Prophecy, however, is for the benefit of believers, not unbelievers. 23Even so, if unbelievers or people who don't understand these things come into your church meeting and hear everyone speaking in an unknown language, they will think you are crazy. 24But if all of you are prophesying, and unbelievers or people who don't understand these things come into your meeting, they will be convicted of sin and judged by what you say. 25As they listen, their secret thoughts will be exposed, and they will fall to their knees and worship God, declaring, "God is truly here among you."

A CALL TO ORDERLY WORSHIP

26Well, my brothers and sisters, let's summarize. When you meet together, one will sing, another will teach, another will tell some special revelation God has given, one will speak in tongues, and another will interpret what is said. But everything that is done must strengthen all of you.

27No more than two or three should speak in tongues. They must speak one at a time, and someone must interpret what they say.

28But if no one is present who can interpret, they must be silent in your church meeting and speak in tongues to God privately.

29Let two or three people prophesy, and let the others evaluate what is said. 30But if someone is prophesying and another person receives a revelation from the Lord, the one who is speaking must stop. 31In this way, all who prophesy will have a turn to speak, one after the other, so that everyone will learn and be encouraged. 32Remember that people who prophesy are in control of their spirit and can take turns. 33For God is not a God of disorder but of peace, as in all the meetings of God's holy people.*

34Women should be silent during the church meetings. It is not proper for them to speak. They should be submissive, just as the law says. 35If they have any questions, they should ask their husbands at home, for it is improper for women to speak in church meetings.*

36Or do you think God's word originated with you Corinthians? Are you the only ones to whom it was given? 37If you claim to be a prophet or think you are spiritual, you should recognize that what I am saying is a command from the Lord himself. 38But if you do not recognize this, you yourself will not be recognized.*

39So, my dear brothers and sisters, be eager to prophesy, and don't forbid speaking in tongues. 40But be sure that everything is done properly and in order.

EASTER 1 CORINTHIANS 15:1-22

1 Corinthians 15

THE RESURRECTION OF CHRIST

1Let me now remind you, dear brothers and sisters,* of the Good News I preached to you before. You welcomed it then, and you still stand firm in it. 2It is this Good News that saves you if you continue to believe the message I told you—unless, of course, you believed something that was never true in the first place.*

3I passed on to you what was most important and what had also been passed on to me. Christ died for our sins, just as the Scriptures said. 4He was buried, and he was raised from the dead on the third day, just as the Scriptures said. 5He was seen by Peter* and then by the Twelve. 6After that, he was seen by more than 500 of his followers* at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have died. 7Then he was seen by James and later by all the apostles.
8Last of all, as though I had been born at the wrong time, I also saw him. 9For I am the least of all the apostles. In fact, I'm not even worthy to be called an apostle after the way I persecuted God's church.

10But whatever I am now, it is all because God poured out his special favor on me—and not without results. For I have worked harder than any of the other apostles; yet it was not I but God who was working through me by his grace. 11So it makes no difference whether I preach or they preach, for we all preach the same message you have already believed.

THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD

12But tell me this—since we preach that Christ rose from the dead, why are some of you saying there will be no resurrection of the dead? 13For if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ has not been raised either. 14And if Christ has not been raised, then all our preaching is useless, and your faith is useless. 15And we apostles would all be lying about God—for we have said that God raised Christ from the grave. But that can't be true if there is no resurrection of the dead. 16And if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ has not been raised. 17And if Christ has not been raised, then your faith is useless and you are still guilty of your sins.
18In that case, all who have died believing in Christ are lost! 19And if our hope in Christ is only for this life, we are more to be pitied than anyone in the world.

20But in fact, Christ has been raised from the dead. He is the first of a great harvest of all who have died.

21So you see, just as death came into the world through a man, now the resurrection from the dead has begun through another man.
22Just as everyone dies because we all belong to Adam, everyone who belongs to Christ will be given new life. 23But there is an order to this resurrection: Christ was raised as the first of the harvest;
then all who belong to Christ will be raised when he comes back.

24After that the end will come, when he will turn the Kingdom over to God the Father, having destroyed every ruler and authority and power. 25For Christ must reign until he humbles all his enemies beneath his feet. 26And the last enemy to be destroyed is death.
27For the Scriptures say, "God has put all things under his authority."* (Of course, when it says "all things are under his authority," that does not include God himself, who gave Christ his authority.) 28Then, when all things are under his authority, the Son will put himself under God's authority, so that God, who gave his Son authority over all things, will be utterly supreme over everything everywhere.

29If the dead will not be raised, what point is there in people being baptized for those who are dead? Why do it unless the dead will someday rise again?

30And why should we ourselves risk our lives hour by hour? 31For I swear, dear brothers and sisters, that I face death daily. This is as certain as my pride in what Christ Jesus our Lord has done in you.
32And what value was there in fighting wild beasts—those people of Ephesus*—if there will be no resurrection from the dead? And if there is no resurrection, "Let's feast and drink, for tomorrow we die!"*33Don't be fooled by those who say such things, for "bad company corrupts good character." 34Think carefully about what is right, and stop sinning. For to your shame I say that some of you don’t know God at all.

THE FUTURE 1 CORINTHIANS 15:35-55

THE RESURRECTION BODY

35But someone may ask, “How will the dead be raised? What kind of bodies will they have?” 36What a foolish question! When you put a seed into the ground, it doesn’t grow into a plant unless it dies first. 37And what you put in the ground is not the plant that will grow, but only a bare seed of wheat or whatever you are planting.
38Then God gives it the new body he wants it to have. A different plant grows from each kind of seed. 39Similarly there are different kinds of flesh—one kind for humans, another for animals, another for birds, and another for fish.

40There are also bodies in the heavens and bodies on the earth. The glory of the heavenly bodies is different from the glory of the earthly bodies. 41The sun has one kind of glory, while the moon and stars each have another kind. And even the stars differ from each other in their glory.

42It is the same way with the resurrection of the dead. Our earthly bodies are planted in the ground when we die, but they will be raised to live forever. 43Our bodies are buried in brokenness, but they will be raised in glory. They are buried in weakness, but they will be raised in strength. 44They are buried as natural human bodies, but they will be raised as spiritual bodies. For just as there are natural bodies, there are also spiritual bodies.

45The Scriptures tell us, “The first man, Adam, became a living person.”* But the last Adam—that is, Christ—is a life-giving Spirit.
46What comes first is the natural body, then the spiritual body comes later. 47Adam, the first man, was made from the dust of the earth, while Christ, the second man, came from heaven. 48Earthly people are like the earthly man, and heavenly people are like the heavenly man. 49Just as we are now like the earthly man, we will someday be like* the heavenly man.

50What I am saying, dear brothers and sisters, is that our physical bodies cannot inherit the Kingdom of God. These dying bodies cannot inherit what will last forever.

51But let me reveal to you a wonderful secret. We will not all die, but we will all be transformed! 52It will happen in a moment, in the blink of an eye, when the last trumpet is blown. For when the trumpet sounds, those who have died will be raised to live forever.
And we who are living will also be transformed. 53For our dying bodies must be transformed into bodies that will never die; our mortal bodies must be transformed into immortal bodies.

54Then, when our dying bodies have been transformed into bodies that will never die,* this Scripture will be fulfilled: “Death is swallowed up in victory.*

55O death, where is your victory?
O death, where is your sting?*”

56For sin is the sting that results in death, and the law gives sin its power. 57But thank God! He gives us victory over sin and death through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58So, my dear brothers and sisters, be strong and immovable. Always work enthusiastically for the Lord, for you know that nothing you do for the Lord is ever useless.

1 Corinthians 16

THE COLLECTION FOR JERUSALEM

1Now regarding your question about the money being collected for God's people in Jerusalem. You should follow the same procedure I gave to the churches in Galatia. 2On the first day of each week, you should each put aside a portion of the money you have earned. Don't wait until I get there and then try to collect it all at once. 3When I come, I will write letters of recommendation for the messengers you choose to deliver your gift to Jerusalem. 4And if it seems appropriate for me to go along, they can travel with me.

PAUL'S FINAL INSTRUCTIONS

5I am coming to visit you after I have been to Macedonia,* for I am planning to travel through Macedonia. 6Perhaps I will stay awhile with you, possibly all winter, and then you can send me on my way to my next destination. 7This time I don't want to make just a short visit and then go right on. I want to come and stay awhile, if the Lord will let me. 8In the meantime, I will be staying here at Ephesus until the Festival of Pentecost. 9There is a wide-open door for a great work here, although many oppose me.

10When Timothy comes, don't intimidate him. He is doing the Lord's work, just as I am. 11Don't let anyone treat him with contempt. Send him on his way with your blessing when he returns to me. I expect him to come with the other believers.*

12Now about our brother Apollos—I urged him to visit you with the other believers, but he was not willing to go right now. He will see you later when he has the opportunity.

13Be on guard. Stand firm in the faith. Be courageous.* Be strong.
14And do everything with love.

15You know that Stephanas and his household were the first of the harvest of believers in Greece,* and they are spending their lives in service to God's people. I urge you, dear brothers and sisters,*16to submit to them and others like them who serve with such devotion.
17I am very glad that Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus have come here. They have been providing the help you weren't here to give me. 18They have been a wonderful encouragement to me, as they have been to you. You must show your appreciation to all who serve so well.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

19The churches here in the province of Asia* send greetings in the Lord, as do Aquila and Priscilla* and all the others who gather in their home for church meetings. 20All the brothers and sisters here send greetings to you. Greet each other with a sacred kiss.

21HERE IS MY GREETING IN MY OWN HANDWRITING—PAUL.

22If anyone does not love the Lord, that person is cursed. Our Lord, come!*

23May the grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.

24My love to all of you in Christ Jesus.*

WELCOME TO

2 CORINTHIANS

Paul writes this letter to the church in Corinth a short time after writing 1 Corinthians. The problems in the church have escalated. False teachers have infiltrated the young church, slandering Paul and his message and attempting to turn the church against him. Paul begins this letter with an impassioned defense of his calling and authority as an apostle, and he includes a reminder about the central message of the Good News. He then goes on to encourage the believers in Corinth to give generously in order to provide for suffering Christians in Jerusalem. Paul finishes the letter with a renewed defense of his authority and credentials as an apostle, which are proven by Paul's own suffering.

In this letter, Paul shows his great love for the Corinthian church and states his deep concern for all the churches he has established. He exhibits the heart of a pastor who deeply cares about the members of the church.

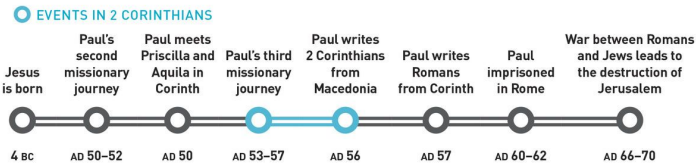
FINDING JESUS IN 2 CORINTHIANS

Jesus can be seen in his followers; this is Paul's message in 2 Corinthians. The power of Christ's life, death, and resurrection transforms the lives of believers as they live by the Spirit: "Anyone who belongs to Christ has become a new person" (5:17). Paul continually pointed the Corinthians back to these realities. For Paul and the Corinthians, imitating Christ meant that they were ambassadors for him (5:20). As the people of God, we represent Christ wherever we go.



2 Corinthians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, chosen by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and from our brother Timothy.

I am writing to God's church in Corinth and to all of his holy people throughout Greece.*

2May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you grace and peace.

GOD OFFERS COMFORT TO ALL

3All praise to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. God is our merciful Father and the source of all comfort. 4He comforts us in all our troubles so that we can comfort others. When they are troubled, we will be able to give them the same comfort God has given us. 5For the more we suffer for Christ, the more God will shower us with his comfort through Christ. 6Even when we are weighed down with troubles, it is for your comfort and salvation! For when we ourselves are comforted, we will certainly comfort you. Then you can patiently endure the same things we suffer. 7We are confident that as you share in our sufferings, you will also share in the comfort God gives us.

ASIA

8We think you ought to know, dear brothers and sisters,* about the trouble we went through in the province of Asia. We were crushed and overwhelmed beyond our ability to endure, and we thought we would never live through it. 9In fact, we expected to die. But as a result, we stopped relying on ourselves and learned to rely only on God, who raises the dead. 10And he did rescue us from mortal danger, and he will rescue us again. We have placed our confidence in him, and he will continue to rescue us. 11And you are helping us by praying for us. Then many people will give thanks because God has graciously answered so many prayers for our safety.

PAUL'S CHANGE OF PLANS

12We can say with confidence and a clear conscience that we have lived with a God-given holiness* and sincerity in all our dealings.
We have depended on God's grace, not on our own human wisdom.
That is how we have conducted ourselves before the world, and especially toward you. 13Our letters have been straightforward, and there is nothing written between the lines and nothing you can't understand. I hope someday you will fully understand us, 14even if you don't understand us now. Then on the day when the Lord Jesus* returns, you will be proud of us in the same way we are proud of you.

15Since I was so sure of your understanding and trust, I wanted to give you a double blessing by visiting you twice—16first on my way to Macedonia and again when I returned from Macedonia.* Then you could send me on my way to Judea.

17You may be asking why I changed my plan. Do you think I make my plans carelessly? Do you think I am like people of the world who say "Yes" when they really mean "No"? 18As surely as God is faithful, our word to you does not waver between "Yes" and "No."
19For Jesus Christ, the Son of God, does not waver between "Yes" and "No." He is the one whom Silas,* Timothy, and I preached to you, and as God's ultimate "Yes," he always does what he says.
20For all of God's promises have been fulfilled in Christ with a resounding "Yes!" And through Christ, our "Amen" (which means "Yes") ascends to God for his glory.

21It is God who enables us, along with you, to stand firm for Christ.
He has commissioned us, 22and he has identified us as his own by placing the Holy Spirit in our hearts as the first installment that guarantees everything he has promised us.

23Now I call upon God as my witness that I am telling the truth. The reason I didn't return to Corinth was to spare you from a severe rebuke. 24But that does not mean we want to dominate you by telling you how to put your faith into practice. We want to work together with you so you will be full of joy, for it is by your own faith that you stand firm.

2 Corinthians 2

1So I decided that I would not bring you grief with another painful visit. 2For if I cause you grief, who will make me glad? Certainly not someone I have grieved. 3That is why I wrote to you as I did, so that when I do come, I won't be grieved by the very ones who ought to give me the greatest joy. Surely you all know that my joy comes from your being joyful. 4I wrote that letter in great anguish, with a troubled heart and many tears. I didn't want to grieve you, but I wanted to let you know how much love I have for you.

FORGIVENESS FOR THE SINNER

5I am not overstating it when I say that the man who caused all the trouble hurt all of you more than he hurt me. 6Most of you opposed him, and that was punishment enough. 7Now, however, it is time to forgive and comfort him. Otherwise he may be overcome by discouragement. 8So I urge you now to reaffirm your love for him.

9I wrote to you as I did to test you and see if you would fully comply with my instructions. 10When you forgive this man, I forgive him, too. And when I forgive whatever needs to be forgiven, I do so with Christ's authority for your benefit, 11so that Satan will not outsmart us. For we are familiar with his evil schemes.

12When I came to the city of Troas to preach the Good News of Christ, the Lord opened a door of opportunity for me. 13But I had no peace of mind because my dear brother Titus hadn't yet arrived with a report from you. So I said good-bye and went on to Macedonia to find him.

MINISTERS OF THE NEW COVENANT

14But thank God! He has made us his captives and continues to lead us along in Christ's triumphal procession. Now he uses us to spread the knowledge of Christ everywhere, like a sweet perfume. 15Our lives are a Christ-like fragrance rising up to God. But this fragrance is perceived differently by those who are being saved and by those who are perishing. 16To those who are perishing, we are a dreadful smell of death and doom. But to those who are being saved, we are a life-giving perfume. And who is adequate for such a task as this?

17You see, we are not like the many hucksters* who preach for personal profit. We preach the word of God with sincerity and with Christ's authority, knowing that God is watching us.

2 Corinthians 3

1Are we beginning to praise ourselves again? Are we like others, who need to bring you letters of recommendation, or who ask you to write such letters on their behalf? Surely not! 2The only letter of recommendation we need is you yourselves. Your lives are a letter written in our* hearts; everyone can read it and recognize our good work among you. 3Clearly, you are a letter from Christ showing the result of our ministry among you. This "letter" is written not with pen and ink, but with the Spirit of the living God. It is carved not on tablets of stone, but on human hearts.

4We are confident of all this because of our great trust in God through Christ. 5It is not that we think we are qualified to do anything on our own. Our qualification comes from God. 6He has enabled us to be ministers of his new covenant. This is a covenant not of written laws, but of the Spirit. The old written covenant ends in death; but under the new covenant, the Spirit gives life.

THE GLORY OF THE NEW COVENANT

7The old way,* with laws etched in stone, led to death, though it began with such glory that the people of Israel could not bear to look at Moses' face. For his face shone with the glory of God, even though the brightness was already fading away. 8Shouldn't we expect far greater glory under the new way, now that the Holy Spirit is giving life? 9If the old way, which brings condemnation, was glorious, how much more glorious is the new way, which makes us right with God! 10In fact, that first glory was not glorious at all compared with the overwhelming glory of the new way. 11So if the old way, which has been replaced, was glorious, how much more glorious is the new, which remains forever!

12Since this new way gives us such confidence, we can be very bold. 13We are not like Moses, who put a veil over his face so the people of Israel would not see the glory, even though it was destined to fade away. 14But the people's minds were hardened, and to this day whenever the old covenant is being read, the same veil covers their minds so they cannot understand the truth. And this veil can be removed only by believing in Christ. 15Yes, even today when they read Moses' writings, their hearts are covered with that veil, and they do not understand.

16But whenever someone turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away. 17For the Lord is the Spirit, and wherever the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. 18So all of us who have had that veil removed can see and reflect the glory of the Lord. And the Lord—who is the Spirit—makes us more and more like him as we are changed into his glorious image.

2 Corinthians 4

TREASURE IN FRAGILE CLAY JARS

1Therefore, since God in his mercy has given us this new way,* we never give up. 2We reject all shameful deeds and underhanded methods. We don't try to trick anyone or distort the word of God. We tell the truth before God, and all who are honest know this.

3If the Good News we preach is hidden behind a veil, it is hidden only from people who are perishing. 4Satan, who is the god of this world, has blinded the minds of those who don't believe. They are unable to see the glorious light of the Good News. They don't understand this message about the glory of Christ, who is the exact likeness of God.

5You see, we don't go around preaching about ourselves. We preach that Jesus Christ is Lord, and we ourselves are your servants for Jesus' sake. 6For God, who said, "Let there be light in the darkness," has made this light shine in our hearts so we could know the glory of God that is seen in the face of Jesus Christ.

7We now have this light shining in our hearts, but we ourselves are like fragile clay jars containing this great treasure.* This makes it clear that our great power is from God, not from ourselves.

8We are pressed on every side by troubles, but we are not crushed.
We are perplexed, but not driven to despair. 9We are hunted down, but never abandoned by God. We get knocked down, but we are not destroyed. 10Through suffering, our bodies continue to share in the death of Jesus so that the life of Jesus may also be seen in our bodies.

11Yes, we live under constant danger of death because we serve Jesus, so that the life of Jesus will be evident in our dying bodies.
12So we live in the face of death, but this has resulted in eternal life for you.

13But we continue to preach because we have the same kind of faith the psalmist had when he said, “I believed in God, so I spoke.”14We know that God, who raised the Lord Jesus, will also raise us with Jesus and present us to himself together with you. 15All of this is for your benefit. And as God’s grace reaches more and more people, there will be great thanksgiving, and God will receive more and more glory.

16That is why we never give up. Though our bodies are dying, our spirits are* being renewed every day. 17For our present troubles are small and won’t last very long. Yet they produce for us a glory that vastly outweighs them and will last forever! 18So we don’t look at the troubles we can see now; rather, we fix our gaze on things that cannot be seen. For the things we see now will soon be gone, but the things we cannot see will last forever.

AFTERLIFE 2 CORINTHIANS 5:1-10

2 Corinthians 5

NEW BODIES

1For we know that when this earthly tent we live in is taken down (that is, when we die and leave this earthly body), we will have a house in heaven, an eternal body made for us by God himself and not by human hands. 2We grow weary in our present bodies, and we long to put on our heavenly bodies like new clothing. 3For we will put on heavenly bodies; we will not be spirits without bodies.*4While we live in these earthly bodies, we groan and sigh, but it's not that we want to die and get rid of these bodies that clothe us. Rather, we want to put on our new bodies so that these dying bodies will be swallowed up by life. 5God himself has prepared us for this, and as a guarantee he has given us his Holy Spirit.

6So we are always confident, even though we know that as long as we live in these bodies we are not at home with the Lord. 7For we live by believing and not by seeing. 8Yes, we are fully confident, and we would rather be away from these earthly bodies, for then we will be at home with the Lord. 9So whether we are here in this body or away from this body, our goal is to please him. 10For we must all stand before Christ to be judged. We will each receive whatever we deserve for the good or evil we have done in this earthly body.

WE ARE GOD'S AMBASSADORS

11Because we understand our fearful responsibility to the Lord, we work hard to persuade others. God knows we are sincere, and I hope you know this, too. 12Are we commending ourselves to you again? No, we are giving you a reason to be proud of us,* so you can answer those who brag about having a spectacular ministry rather than having a sincere heart. 13If it seems we are crazy, it is to bring glory to God. And if we are in our right minds, it is for your benefit. 14Either way, Christ's love controls us.* Since we believe that Christ died for all, we also believe that we have all died to our old life.*15He died for everyone so that those who receive his new life will no longer live for themselves. Instead, they will live for Christ, who died and was raised for them.

16So we have stopped evaluating others from a human point of view. At one time we thought of Christ merely from a human point of view. How differently we know him now! 17This means that anyone who belongs to Christ has become a new person. The old life is gone; a new life has begun!

18And all of this is a gift from God, who brought us back to himself through Christ. And God has given us this task of reconciling people to him. 19For God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself, no longer counting people's sins against them. And he gave us this wonderful message of reconciliation. 20So we are Christ's ambassadors; God is making his appeal through us. We speak for Christ when we plead, “Come back to God!” 21For God made Christ, who never sinned, to be the offering for our sin,* so that we could be made right with God through Christ.

2 Corinthians 6

1As God’s partners,* we beg you not to accept this marvelous gift of God’s kindness and then ignore it. 2For God says, “At just the right time, I heard you.

On the day of salvation, I helped you.”*

Indeed, the “right time” is now. Today is the day of salvation.

PAUL’S HARDSHIPS

3We live in such a way that no one will stumble because of us, and no one will find fault with our ministry. 4In everything we do, we show that we are true ministers of God. We patiently endure troubles and hardships and calamities of every kind. 5We have been beaten, been put in prison, faced angry mobs, worked to exhaustion, endured sleepless nights, and gone without food. 6We prove ourselves by our purity, our understanding, our patience, our kindness, by the Holy Spirit within us,* and by our sincere love. 7We faithfully preach the truth. God’s power is working in us. We use the weapons of righteousness in the right hand for attack and the left hand for defense. 8We serve God whether people honor us or despise us, whether they slander us or praise us. We are honest, but they call us impostors. 9We are ignored, even though we are well known. We live close to death, but we are still alive. We have been beaten, but we have not been killed. 10Our hearts ache, but we always have joy. We are poor, but we give spiritual riches to others. We own nothing, and yet we have everything.

11Oh, dear Corinthian friends! We have spoken honestly with you, and our hearts are open to you. 12There is no lack of love on our part, but you have withheld your love from us. 13I am asking you to respond as if you were my own children. Open your hearts to us!

THE TEMPLE OF THE LIVING GOD

14Don't team up with those who are unbelievers. How can righteousness be a partner with wickedness? How can light live with darkness? 15What harmony can there be between Christ and the devil*? How can a believer be a partner with an unbeliever? 16And what union can there be between God's temple and idols? For we are the temple of the living God. As God said: "I will live in them and walk among them.

I will be their God, and they will be my people.*

17Therefore, come out from among unbelievers, and separate yourselves from them, says the LORD.
Don't touch their filthy things, and I will welcome you.*

18And I will be your Father, and you will be my sons and daughters, says the LORD Almighty.*"

2 Corinthians 7

1Because we have these promises, dear friends, let us cleanse ourselves from everything that can defile our body or spirit. And let us work toward complete holiness because we fear God.

2Please open your hearts to us. We have not done wrong to anyone, nor led anyone astray, nor taken advantage of anyone. 3I'm not saying this to condemn you. I said before that you are in our hearts, and we live or die together with you. 4I have the highest confidence in you, and I take great pride in you. You have greatly encouraged me and made me happy despite all our troubles.

PAUL'S JOY AT THE CHURCH'S REPENTANCE

5When we arrived in Macedonia, there was no rest for us. We faced conflict from every direction, with battles on the outside and fear on the inside. 6But God, who encourages those who are discouraged, encouraged us by the arrival of Titus. 7His presence was a joy, but so was the news he brought of the encouragement he received from you. When he told us how much you long to see me, and how sorry you are for what happened, and how loyal you are to me, I was filled with joy!

8I am not sorry that I sent that severe letter to you, though I was sorry at first, for I know it was painful to you for a little while.
9Now I am glad I sent it, not because it hurt you, but because the pain caused you to repent and change your ways. It was the kind of sorrow God wants his people to have, so you were not harmed by us in any way. 10For the kind of sorrow God wants us to experience leads us away from sin and results in salvation. There's no regret for that kind of sorrow. But worldly sorrow, which lacks repentance, results in spiritual death.

11Just see what this godly sorrow produced in you! Such earnestness, such concern to clear yourselves, such indignation, such alarm, such longing to see me, such zeal, and such a readiness to punish wrong. You showed that you have done everything necessary to make things right. 12My purpose, then, was not to write about who did the wrong or who was wronged. I wrote to you so that in the sight of God you could see for yourselves how loyal you are to us. 13We have been greatly encouraged by this.

In addition to our own encouragement, we were especially delighted to see how happy Titus was about the way all of you welcomed him and set his mind* at ease. 14I had told him how proud I was of you—and you didn't disappoint me. I have always told you the truth, and now my boasting to Titus has also proved true! 15Now he cares for you more than ever when he remembers the way all of you obeyed him and welcomed him with such fear and deep respect. 16I am very happy now because I have complete confidence in you.

2 Corinthians 8

A CALL TO GENEROUS GIVING

1Now I want you to know, dear brothers and sisters,* what God in his kindness has done through the churches in Macedonia. 2They are being tested by many troubles, and they are very poor. But they are also filled with abundant joy, which has overflowed in rich generosity.

3For I can testify that they gave not only what they could afford, but far more. And they did it of their own free will. 4They begged us again and again for the privilege of sharing in the gift for the believers in Jerusalem.*5They even did more than we had hoped, for their first action was to give themselves to the Lord and to us, just as God wanted them to do.

6So we have urged Titus, who encouraged your giving in the first place, to return to you and encourage you to finish this ministry of giving. 7Since you excel in so many ways—in your faith, your gifted speakers, your knowledge, your enthusiasm, and your love from us* —I want you to excel also in this gracious act of giving.

8I am not commanding you to do this. But I am testing how genuine your love is by comparing it with the eagerness of the other churches.

9You know the generous grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, so that by his poverty he could make you rich.

10Here is my advice: It would be good for you to finish what you started a year ago. Last year you were the first who wanted to give, and you were the first to begin doing it. 11Now you should finish what you started. Let the eagerness you showed in the beginning be matched now by your giving. Give in proportion to what you have.

12Whatever you give is acceptable if you give it eagerly. And give according to what you have, not what you don't have. 13Of course, I don't mean your giving should make life easy for others and hard for yourselves. I only mean that there should be some equality.
14Right now you have plenty and can help those who are in need.
Later, they will have plenty and can share with you when you need it. In this way, things will be equal. 15As the Scriptures say, "Those who gathered a lot had nothing left over, and those who gathered only a little had enough."*

TITUS AND HIS COMPANIONS

16But thank God! He has given Titus the same enthusiasm for you that I have. 17Titus welcomed our request that he visit you again. In fact, he himself was very eager to go and see you. 18We are also sending another brother with Titus. All the churches praise him as a preacher of the Good News. 19He was appointed by the churches to accompany us as we take the offering to Jerusalem*—a service that glorifies the Lord and shows our eagerness to help.

20We are traveling together to guard against any criticism for the way we are handling this generous gift. 21We are careful to be honorable before the Lord, but we also want everyone else to see that we are honorable.

22We are also sending with them another of our brothers who has proven himself many times and has shown on many occasions how eager he is. He is now even more enthusiastic because of his great confidence in you. 23If anyone asks about Titus, say that he is my partner who works with me to help you. And the brothers with him have been sent by the churches,* and they bring honor to Christ.
24So show them your love, and prove to all the churches that our boasting about you is justified.

MACEDONIA AND ACHAIA

2 Corinthians 9

THE COLLECTION FOR CHRISTIANS IN JERUSALEM

1I really don't need to write to you about this ministry of giving for the believers in Jerusalem.2For I know how eager you are to help, and I have been boasting to the churches in Macedonia that you in Greece were ready to send an offering a year ago. In fact, it was your enthusiasm that stirred up many of the Macedonian believers to begin giving.

3But I am sending these brothers to be sure you really are ready, as I have been telling them, and that your money is all collected. I don't want to be wrong in my boasting about you. 4We would be embarrassed—not to mention your own embarrassment—if some Macedonian believers came with me and found that you weren't ready after all I had told them! 5So I thought I should send these brothers ahead of me to make sure the gift you promised is ready. But I want it to be a willing gift, not one given grudgingly.

6Remember this—a farmer who plants only a few seeds will get a small crop. But the one who plants generously will get a generous crop. 7You must each decide in your heart how much to give. And don't give reluctantly or in response to pressure. "For God loves a person who gives cheerfully."* 8And God will generously provide all you need. Then you will always have everything you need and plenty left over to share with others. 9As the Scriptures say, "They share freely and give generously to the poor.

Their good deeds will be remembered forever."*

10For God is the one who provides seed for the farmer and then bread to eat. In the same way, he will provide and increase your resources and then produce a great harvest of generosity* in you.

11Yes, you will be enriched in every way so that you can always be generous. And when we take your gifts to those who need them, they will thank God. 12So two good things will result from this ministry of giving—the needs of the believers in Jerusalem* will be met, and they will joyfully express their thanks to God.

13As a result of your ministry, they will give glory to God. For your generosity to them and to all believers will prove that you are obedient to the Good News of Christ. 14And they will pray for you with deep affection because of the overflowing grace God has given to you. 15Thank God for this gift* too wonderful for words!

2 Corinthians 10

PAUL DEFENDS HIS AUTHORITY

1Now I, Paul, appeal to you with the gentleness and kindness of Christ—though I realize you think I am timid in person and bold only when I write from far away. 2Well, I am begging you now so that when I come I won't have to be bold with those who think we act from human motives.

3We are human, but we don't wage war as humans do. 4*We use God's mighty weapons, not worldly weapons, to knock down the strongholds of human reasoning and to destroy false arguments.
5We destroy every proud obstacle that keeps people from knowing
God. We capture their rebellious thoughts and teach them to obey Christ. 6And after you have become fully obedient, we will punish everyone who remains disobedient.

7Look at the obvious facts.* Those who say they belong to Christ must recognize that we belong to Christ as much as they do. 8I may seem to be boasting too much about the authority given to us by the Lord. But our authority builds you up; it doesn't tear you down.
So I will not be ashamed of using my authority.

9I'm not trying to frighten you by my letters. 10For some say, "Paul's letters are demanding and forceful, but in person he is weak, and his speeches are worthless!" 11Those people should realize that our actions when we arrive in person will be as forceful as what we say in our letters from far away.

12Oh, don't worry; we wouldn't dare say that we are as wonderful as these other men who tell you how important they are! But they are only comparing themselves with each other, using themselves as the standard of measurement. How ignorant!

13We will not boast about things done outside our area of authority. We will boast only about what has happened within the boundaries of the work God has given us, which includes our working with you. 14We are not reaching beyond these boundaries when we claim authority over you, as if we had never visited you. For we were the first to travel all the way to Corinth with the Good News of Christ.

15Nor do we boast and claim credit for the work someone else has done. Instead, we hope that your faith will grow so that the boundaries of our work among you will be extended. 16Then we will be able to go and preach the Good News in other places far beyond you, where no one else is working. Then there will be no question of our boasting about work done in someone else's territory. 17As the Scriptures say, "If you want to boast, boast only about the LORD."*

18When people commend themselves, it doesn't count for much. The important thing is for the Lord to commend them.

2 Corinthians 11

PAUL AND THE FALSE APOSTLES

1I hope you will put up with a little more of my foolishness. Please bear with me. 2For I am jealous for you with the jealousy of God himself. I promised you as a pure bride* to one husband—Christ. 3But I fear that somehow your pure and undivided devotion to Christ will be corrupted, just as Eve was deceived by the cunning ways of the serpent. 4You happily put up with whatever anyone tells you, even if they preach a different Jesus than the one we preach, or a different kind of Spirit than the one you received, or a different kind of gospel than the one you believed.

5But I don’t consider myself inferior in any way to these “super apostles” who teach such things. 6I may be unskilled as a speaker, but I’m not lacking in knowledge. We have made this clear to you in every possible way.

7Was I wrong when I humbled myself and honored you by preaching God’s Good News to you without expecting anything in return? 8I “robbed” other churches by accepting their contributions so I could serve you at no cost. 9And when I was with you and didn’t have enough to live on, I did not become a financial burden to anyone. For the brothers who came from Macedonia brought me all that I needed. I have never been a burden to you, and I never will be. 10As surely as the truth of Christ is in me, no one in all of Greece* will ever stop me from boasting about this. 11Why? Because I don’t love you? God knows that I do.

12But I will continue doing what I have always done. This will undercut those who are looking for an opportunity to boast that their work is just like ours. 13These people are false apostles. They are deceitful workers who disguise themselves as apostles of Christ.
14But I am not surprised! Even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. 15So it is no wonder that his servants also disguise themselves as servants of righteousness. In the end they will get the punishment their wicked deeds deserve.

PAUL'S MANY TRIALS

16Again I say, don't think that I am a fool to talk like this. But even if you do, listen to me, as you would to a foolish person, while I also boast a little. 17Such boasting is not from the Lord, but I am acting like a fool. 18And since others boast about their human achievements, I will, too. 19After all, you think you are so wise, but you enjoy putting up with fools! 20You put up with it when someone enslaves you, takes everything you have, takes advantage of you, takes control of everything, and slaps you in the face. 21I'm ashamed to say that we've been too "weak" to do that!

But whatever they dare to boast about—I'm talking like a fool again —I dare to boast about it, too. 22Are they Hebrews? So am I. Are they Israelites? So am I. Are they descendants of Abraham? So am I.
23Are they servants of Christ? I know I sound like a madman, but I have served him far more! I have worked harder, been put in prison more often, been whipped times without number, and faced death again and again. 24Five different times the Jewish leaders gave me thirty-nine lashes. 25Three times I was beaten with rods. Once I was stoned. Three times I was shipwrecked. Once I spent a whole night and a day adrift at sea. 26I have traveled on many long journeys. I have faced danger from rivers and from robbers. I have faced danger from my own people, the Jews, as well as from the Gentiles.
I have faced danger in the cities, in the deserts, and on the seas.
And I have faced danger from men who claim to be believers but are not.*27I have worked hard and long, enduring many sleepless nights. I have been hungry and thirsty and have often gone without food. I have shivered in the cold, without enough clothing to keep me warm.

28Then, besides all this, I have the daily burden of my concern for all the churches. 29Who is weak without my feeling that weakness?
Who is led astray, and I do not burn with anger?

30If I must boast, I would rather boast about the things that show how weak I am. 31God, the Father of our Lord Jesus, who is worthy of eternal praise, knows I am not lying. 32When I was in Damascus, the governor under King Aretas kept guards at the city gates to catch me. 33I had to be lowered in a basket through a window in the city wall to escape from him.

2 Corinthians 12

PAUL'S VISION AND HIS THORN IN THE FLESH

1This boasting will do no good, but I must go on. I will reluctantly tell about visions and revelations from the Lord. 2I* was caught up to the third heaven fourteen years ago. Whether I was in my body or out of my body, I don't know—only God knows. 3Yes, only God knows whether I was in my body or outside my body. But I do know 4that I was caught up* to paradise and heard things so astounding that they cannot be expressed in words, things no human is allowed to tell.

5That experience is worth boasting about, but I'm not going to do it. I will boast only about my weaknesses. 6If I wanted to boast, I would be no fool in doing so, because I would be telling the truth. But I won't do it, because I don't want anyone to give me credit beyond what they can see in my life or hear in my message, 7even though I have received such wonderful revelations from God. So to keep me from becoming proud, I was given a thorn in my flesh, a messenger from Satan to torment me and keep me from becoming proud.

8Three different times I begged the Lord to take it away. 9Each time he said, "My grace is all you need. My power works best in weakness." So now I am glad to boast about my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ can work through me. 10That's why I take pleasure in my weaknesses, and in the insults, hardships, persecutions, and troubles that I suffer for Christ. For when I am weak, then I am strong.

PAUL'S CONCERN FOR THE CORINTHIANS

11You have made me act like a fool. You ought to be writing commendations for me, for I am not at all inferior to these "super apostles," even though I am nothing at all. 12When I was with you, I certainly gave you proof that I am an apostle. For I patiently did many signs and wonders and miracles among you. 13The only thing I failed to do, which I do in the other churches, was to become a financial burden to you. Please forgive me for this wrong!

14Now I am coming to you for the third time, and I will not be a burden to you. I don't want what you have—I want you. After all, children don't provide for their parents. Rather, parents provide for their children. 15I will gladly spend myself and all I have for you, even though it seems that the more I love you, the less you love me.

16Some of you admit I was not a burden to you. But others still think I was sneaky and took advantage of you by trickery. 17But how? Did any of the men I sent to you take advantage of you?
18When I urged Titus to visit you and sent our other brother with him, did Titus take advantage of you? No! For we have the same spirit and walk in each other's steps, doing things the same way.

19Perhaps you think we're saying these things just to defend ourselves. No, we tell you this as Christ's servants, and with God as our witness. Everything we do, dear friends, is to strengthen you.
20For I am afraid that when I come I won't like what I find, and you won't like my response. I am afraid that I will find quarreling, jealousy, anger, selfishness, slander, gossip, arrogance, and disorderly behavior. 21Yes, I am afraid that when I come again, God will humble me in your presence. And I will be grieved because many of you have not given up your old sins. You have not repented of your impurity, sexual immorality, and eagerness for lustful pleasure.

2 Corinthians 13

PAUL'S FINAL ADVICE

1This is the third time I am coming to visit you (and as the Scriptures say, "The facts of every case must be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses"*). 2I have already warned those who had been sinning when I was there on my second visit. Now I again warn them and all others, just as I did before, that next time I will not spare them.

3I will give you all the proof you want that Christ speaks through me. Christ is not weak when he deals with you; he is powerful among you. 4Although he was crucified in weakness, he now lives by the power of God. We, too, are weak, just as Christ was, but when we deal with you we will be alive with him and will have God's power.

5Examine yourselves to see if your faith is genuine. Test yourselves. Surely you know that Jesus Christ is among you*; if not, you have failed the test of genuine faith. 6As you test yourselves, I hope you will recognize that we have not failed the test of apostolic authority.

7We pray to God that you will not do what is wrong by refusing our correction. I hope we won't need to demonstrate our authority when we arrive. Do the right thing before we come—even if that makes it look like we have failed to demonstrate our authority. 8For we cannot oppose the truth, but must always stand for the truth. 9We are glad to seem weak if it helps show that you are actually strong. We pray that you will become mature.

10I am writing this to you before I come, hoping that I won't need to deal severely with you when I do come. For I want to use the authority the Lord has given me to strengthen you, not to tear you down.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

11Dear brothers and sisters,* I close my letter with these last words: Be joyful. Grow to maturity. Encourage each other. Live in harmony and peace. Then the God of love and peace will be with you.

12Greet each other with a sacred kiss. 13All of God's people here send you their greetings.

BLESSINGS 2 CORINTHIANS 13:14

14*May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

Galatians

Introduction 1 2 3 4 5 6

WELCOME TO

GALATIANS

Paul writes this letter to several churches that he founded in the region of Galatia during his first missionary journey. Soon after Paul's departure, a group of false teachers have come behind him, claiming that Gentile Christians needed to submit to Jewish law in order to be true followers of Jesus. Paul now writes to defend the gospel he preached and to clarify the fact that salvation is through faith in Jesus alone, not through works of any kind. Churches in every time and place often need to be reminded that salvation is a free gift from God because he loves us. Nothing we do on our own can save us. Salvation is what God does, not what we do. God frees us from our old ways to live a life of love by the power of the Holy Spirit.

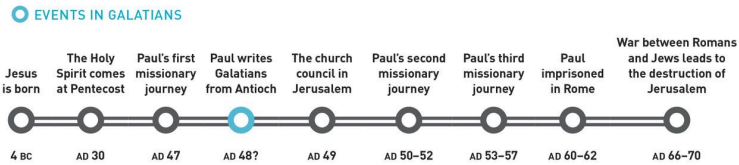
FINDING JESUS IN GALATIANS

In all of his letters to the churches, Paul wrote about the Good News and Jesus. He reminded the Galatians that they were saved by faith in Jesus, not by any of their own efforts. Through Jesus, God graciously provides freedom from sin and the law. Jesus is the one who sets us free.



Galatians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, an apostle. I was not appointed by any group of people or any human authority, but by Jesus Christ himself and by God the Father, who raised Jesus from the dead.

GALATIA

2All the brothers and sisters* here join me in sending this letter to the churches of Galatia.

3May God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ* give you grace and peace. 4Jesus gave his life for our sins, just as God our Father planned, in order to rescue us from this evil world in which we live. 5All glory to God forever and ever! Amen.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GOOD NEWS

6I am shocked that you are turning away so soon from God, who called you to himself through the loving mercy of Christ.* You are following a different way that pretends to be the Good News 7but is not the Good News at all. You are being fooled by those who deliberately twist the truth concerning Christ.

8Let God's curse fall on anyone, including us or even an angel from heaven, who preaches a different kind of Good News than the one we preached to you. 9I say again what we have said before: If anyone preaches any other Good News than the one you welcomed, let that person be cursed.

10Obviously, I'm not trying to win the approval of people, but of God. If pleasing people were my goal, I would not be Christ's servant.

PAUL'S MESSAGE COMES FROM CHRIST

11Dear brothers and sisters, I want you to understand that the gospel message I preach is not based on mere human reasoning. 12I received my message from no human source, and no one taught me. Instead, I received it by direct revelation from Jesus Christ.*

13You know what I was like when I followed the Jewish religion—how I violently persecuted God's church. I did my best to destroy it.
14I was far ahead of my fellow Jews in my zeal for the traditions of my ancestors.

15But even before I was born, God chose me and called me by his marvelous grace. Then it pleased him 16to reveal his Son to me* so that I would proclaim the Good News about Jesus to the Gentiles.

When this happened, I did not rush out to consult with any human being.*17Nor did I go up to Jerusalem to consult with those who were apostles before I was. Instead, I went away into Arabia, and later I returned to the city of Damascus.

18Then three years later I went to Jerusalem to get to know Peter,* and I stayed with him for fifteen days. 19The only other apostle I met at that time was James, the Lord's brother. 20I declare before God that what I am writing to you is not a lie.

21After that visit I went north into the provinces of Syria and Cilicia.
22And still the churches in Christ that are in Judea didn't know me personally. 23All they knew was that people were saying, "The one who used to persecute us is now preaching the very faith he tried to destroy!" 24And they praised God because of me.

Galatians 2

THE APOSTLES ACCEPT PAUL

1Then fourteen years later I went back to Jerusalem again, this time with Barnabas; and Titus came along, too. 2I went there because God revealed to me that I should go. While I was there I met privately with those considered to be leaders of the church and shared with them the message I had been preaching to the Gentiles.
I wanted to make sure that we were in agreement, for fear that all my efforts had been wasted and I was running the race for nothing.

3And they supported me and did not even demand that my companion Titus be circumcised, though he was a Gentile.*

4Even that question came up only because of some so-called believers there—false ones, really*—who were secretly brought in. They sneaked in to spy on us and take away the freedom we have in Christ Jesus. They wanted to enslave us and force us to follow their Jewish regulations. 5But we refused to give in to them for a single moment. We wanted to preserve the truth of the gospel message for you.

6And the leaders of the church had nothing to add to what I was preaching. (By the way, their reputation as great leaders made no difference to me, for God has no favorites.) 7Instead, they saw that God had given me the responsibility of preaching the gospel to the Gentiles, just as he had given Peter the responsibility of preaching to the Jews. 8For the same God who worked through Peter as the apostle to the Jews also worked through me as the apostle to the Gentiles.

9In fact, James, Peter,* and John, who were known as pillars of the church, recognized the gift God had given me, and they accepted Barnabas and me as their co-workers. They encouraged us to keep preaching to the Gentiles, while they continued their work with the Jews. 10Their only suggestion was that we keep on helping the poor, which I have always been eager to do.

PAUL CONFRONTS PETER

11But when Peter came to Antioch, I had to oppose him to his face, for what he did was very wrong. 12When he first arrived, he ate with the Gentile believers, who were not circumcised. But afterward, when some friends of James came, Peter wouldn't eat with the Gentiles anymore. He was afraid of criticism from these people who insisted on the necessity of circumcision. 13As a result, other Jewish believers followed Peter's hypocrisy, and even Barnabas was led astray by their hypocrisy.

14When I saw that they were not following the truth of the gospel message, I said to Peter in front of all the others, "Since you, a Jew by birth, have discarded the Jewish laws and are living like a Gentile, why are you now trying to make these Gentiles follow the Jewish traditions?

15"You and I are Jews by birth, not 'sinners' like the Gentiles. 16Yet we know that a person is made right with God by faith in Jesus Christ, not by obeying the law. And we have believed in Christ Jesus, so that we might be made right with God because of our faith in Christ, not because we have obeyed the law. For no one will ever be made right with God by obeying the law."*

17But suppose we seek to be made right with God through faith in Christ and then we are found guilty because we have abandoned the law. Would that mean Christ has led us into sin? Absolutely not!
18Rather, I am a sinner if I rebuild the old system of law I already tore down. 19For when I tried to keep the law, it condemned me. So I died to the law—I stopped trying to meet all its requirements—so that I might live for God. 20My old self has been crucified with Christ.* It is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me. So I live in this earthly body by trusting in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. 21I do not treat the grace of God as meaningless. For if keeping the law could make us right with God, then there was no need for Christ to die.

Galatians 3

THE LAW AND FAITH IN CHRIST

1Oh, foolish Galatians! Who has cast an evil spell on you? For the meaning of Jesus Christ's death was made as clear to you as if you had seen a picture of his death on the cross. 2Let me ask you this one question: Did you receive the Holy Spirit by obeying the law of Moses? Of course not! You received the Spirit because you believed the message you heard about Christ. 3How foolish can you be? After starting your new lives in the Spirit, why are you now trying to become perfect by your own human effort? 4Have you experienced* so much for nothing? Surely it was not in vain, was it?

5I ask you again, does God give you the Holy Spirit and work miracles among you because you obey the law? Of course not! It is because you believe the message you heard about Christ.

6In the same way, "Abraham believed God, and God counted him as righteous because of his faith."*7The real children of Abraham, then, are those who put their faith in God.

8What's more, the Scriptures looked forward to this time when God would declare the Gentiles to be righteous because of their faith.
God proclaimed this good news to Abraham long ago when he said,
"All nations will be blessed through you."*9So all who put their faith in Christ share the same blessing Abraham received because of his faith.

10But those who depend on the law to make them right with God are under his curse, for the Scriptures say, "Cursed is everyone who does not observe and obey all the commands that are written in God's Book of the Law."*11So it is clear that no one can be made right with God by trying to keep the law. For the Scriptures say, "It is through faith that a righteous person has life."12This way of faith is very different from the way of law, which says, "It is through obeying the law that a person has life.”

13But Christ has rescued us from the curse pronounced by the law. When he was hung on the cross, he took upon himself the curse for our wrongdoing. For it is written in the Scriptures, “Cursed is everyone who is hung on a tree.”14Through Christ Jesus, God has blessed the Gentiles with the same blessing he promised to Abraham, so that we who are believers might receive the promised Holy Spirit through faith.

THE LAW AND GOD’S PROMISE

15Dear brothers and sisters,* here’s an example from everyday life. Just as no one can set aside or amend an irrevocable agreement, so it is in this case. 16God gave the promises to Abraham and his child.* And notice that the Scripture doesn’t say “to his children,*” as if it meant many descendants. Rather, it says “to his child”—and that, of course, means Christ. 17This is what I am trying to say: The agreement God made with Abraham could not be canceled 430 years later when God gave the law to Moses. God would be breaking his promise. 18For if the inheritance could be received by keeping the law, then it would not be the result of accepting God’s promise. But God graciously gave it to Abraham as a promise.

19Why, then, was the law given? It was given alongside the promise to show people their sins. But the law was designed to last only until the coming of the child who was promised. God gave his law through angels to Moses, who was the mediator between God and the people. 20Now a mediator is helpful if more than one party must reach an agreement. But God, who is one, did not use a mediator when he gave his promise to Abraham.

21Is there a conflict, then, between God’s law and God’s promises?* Absolutely not! If the law could give us new life, we could be made right with God by obeying it. 22But the Scriptures declare that we are all prisoners of sin, so we receive God's promise of freedom only by believing in Jesus Christ.

GOD'S CHILDREN THROUGH FAITH

23Before the way of faith in Christ was available to us, we were placed under guard by the law. We were kept in protective custody, so to speak, until the way of faith was revealed.

24Let me put it another way. The law was our guardian until Christ came; it protected us until we could be made right with God through faith. 25And now that the way of faith has come, we no longer need the law as our guardian.

26For you are all children* of God through faith in Christ Jesus. 27And all who have been united with Christ in baptism have put on Christ, like putting on new clothes.28There is no longer Jew or Gentile, slave or free, male and female. For you are all one in Christ Jesus. 29And now that you belong to Christ, you are the true children* of Abraham. You are his heirs, and God's promise to Abraham belongs to you.

1Think of it this way. If a father dies and leaves an inheritance for his young children, those children are not much better off than slaves until they grow up, even though they actually own everything their father had. 2They have to obey their guardians until they reach whatever age their father set. 3And that's the way it was with us before Christ came. We were like children; we were slaves to the basic spiritual principles* of this world.

4But when the right time came, God sent his Son, born of a woman, subject to the law. 5God sent him to buy freedom for us who were slaves to the law, so that he could adopt us as his very own children.6And because we are his children, God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, prompting us to call out, “Abba, Father.”7Now you are no longer a slave but God’s own child. And since you are his child, God has made you his heir.

PAUL’S CONCERN FOR THE GALATIANS

8Before you Gentiles knew God, you were slaves to so-called gods that do not even exist. 9So now that you know God (or should I say, now that God knows you), why do you want to go back again and become slaves once more to the weak and useless spiritual principles of this world? 10You are trying to earn favor with God by observing certain days or months or seasons or years. 11I fear for you. Perhaps all my hard work with you was for nothing. 12Dear brothers and sisters,* I plead with you to live as I do in freedom from these things, for I have become like you Gentiles—free from those laws.

You did not mistreat me when I first preached to you. 13Surely you remember that I was sick when I first brought you the Good News. 14But even though my condition tempted you to reject me, you did not despise me or turn me away. No, you took me in and cared for me as though I were an angel from God or even Christ Jesus himself. 15Where is that joyful and grateful spirit you felt then? I am sure you would have taken out your own eyes and given them to me if it had been possible. 16Have I now become your enemy because I am telling you the truth?

17Those false teachers are so eager to win your favor, but their intentions are not good. They are trying to shut you off from me so that you will pay attention only to them. 18If someone is eager to do good things for you, that’s all right; but let them do it all the time, not just when I’m with you.

19Oh, my dear children! I feel as if I’m going through labor pains for you again, and they will continue until Christ is fully developed in your lives. 20I wish I were with you right now so I could change my tone. But at this distance I don’t know how else to help you.

ABRAHAM'S TWO CHILDREN

21Tell me, you who want to live under the law, do you know what the law actually says? 22The Scriptures say that Abraham had two sons, one from his slave wife and one from his freeborn wife.*23The son of the slave wife was born in a human attempt to bring about the fulfillment of God's promise. But the son of the freeborn wife was born as God's own fulfillment of his promise.

24These two women serve as an illustration of God's two covenants.
The first woman, Hagar, represents Mount Sinai where people received the law that enslaved them. 25And now Jerusalem is just like Mount Sinai in Arabia,* because she and her children live in slavery to the law. 26But the other woman, Sarah, represents the heavenly Jerusalem. She is the free woman, and she is our mother.
27As Isaiah said, "Rejoice, O childless woman, you who have never given birth!

Break into a joyful shout, you who have never been in labor!
For the desolate woman now has more children than the woman who lives with her husband!"*

28And you, dear brothers and sisters, are children of the promise, just like Isaac. 29But you are now being persecuted by those who want you to keep the law, just as Ishmael, the child born by human effort, persecuted Isaac, the child born by the power of the Spirit.

30But what do the Scriptures say about that? "Get rid of the slave and her son, for the son of the slave woman will not share the inheritance with the free woman's son."*31So, dear brothers and sisters, we are not children of the slave woman; we are children of the free woman.

Galatians 5

FREEDOM IN CHRIST

1So Christ has truly set us free. Now make sure that you stay free, and don't get tied up again in slavery to the law.

2Listen! I, Paul, tell you this: If you are counting on circumcision to make you right with God, then Christ will be of no benefit to you.
3I'll say it again. If you are trying to find favor with God by being circumcised, you must obey every regulation in the whole law of Moses. 4For if you are trying to make yourselves right with God by keeping the law, you have been cut off from Christ! You have fallen away from God's grace.

5But we who live by the Spirit eagerly wait to receive by faith the righteousness God has promised to us. 6For when we place our faith in Christ Jesus, there is no benefit in being circumcised or being uncircumcised. What is important is faith expressing itself in love.

7You were running the race so well. Who has held you back from following the truth? 8It certainly isn't God, for he is the one who called you to freedom. 9This false teaching is like a little yeast that spreads through the whole batch of dough! 10I am trusting the Lord to keep you from believing false teachings. God will judge that person, whoever he is, who has been confusing you.

11Dear brothers and sisters,* if I were still preaching that you must be circumcised—as some say I do—why am I still being persecuted?
If I were no longer preaching salvation through the cross of Christ, no one would be offended. 12I just wish that those troublemakers who want to mutilate you by circumcision would mutilate themselves.*

13For you have been called to live in freedom, my brothers and sisters. But don't use your freedom to satisfy your sinful nature.
Instead, use your freedom to serve one another in love. 14For the whole law can be summed up in this one command: "Love your neighbor as yourself."*15But if you are always biting and devouring one another, watch out! Beware of destroying one another.

LIVING BY THE SPIRIT'S POWER

16So I say, let the Holy Spirit guide your lives. Then you won't be doing what your sinful nature craves. 17The sinful nature wants to do evil, which is just the opposite of what the Spirit wants. And the Spirit gives us desires that are the opposite of what the sinful nature desires. These two forces are constantly fighting each other, so you are not free to carry out your good intentions. 18But when you are directed by the Spirit, you are not under obligation to the law of Moses.

19When you follow the desires of your sinful nature, the results are very clear: sexual immorality, impurity, lustful pleasures, 20idolatry, sorcery, hostility, quarreling, jealousy, outbursts of anger, selfish ambition, dissension, division, 21envy, drunkenness, wild parties, and other sins like these. Let me tell you again, as I have before, that anyone living that sort of life will not inherit the Kingdom of God.

22But the Holy Spirit produces this kind of fruit in our lives: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, 23gentleness, and self-control. There is no law against these things!

24Those who belong to Christ Jesus have nailed the passions and desires of their sinful nature to his cross and crucified them there. 25Since we are living by the Spirit, let us follow the Spirit's leading in every part of our lives. 26Let us not become conceited, or provoke one another, or be jealous of one another.

Galatians 6

WE HARVEST WHAT WE PLANT

1Dear brothers and sisters, if another believer* is overcome by some sin, you who are godly* should gently and humbly help that person back onto the right path. And be careful not to fall into the same temptation yourself. 2Share each other's burdens, and in this way obey the law of Christ. 3If you think you are too important to help someone, you are only fooling yourself. You are not that important.

4Pay careful attention to your own work, for then you will get the satisfaction of a job well done, and you won't need to compare yourself to anyone else. 5For we are each responsible for our own conduct.

6Those who are taught the word of God should provide for their teachers, sharing all good things with them.

7Don't be misled—you cannot mock the justice of God. You will always harvest what you plant. 8Those who live only to satisfy their own sinful nature will harvest decay and death from that sinful nature. But those who live to please the Spirit will harvest everlasting life from the Spirit. 9So let's not get tired of doing what is good. At just the right time we will reap a harvest of blessing if we don't give up. 10Therefore, whenever we have the opportunity, we should do good to everyone—especially to those in the family of faith.

PAUL'S FINAL ADVICE

11NOTICE WHAT LARGE LETTERS I USE AS I WRITE THESE CLOSING WORDS IN MY OWN HANDWRITING.

12Those who are trying to force you to be circumcised want to look good to others. They don't want to be persecuted for teaching that the cross of Christ alone can save. 13And even those who advocate circumcision don't keep the whole law themselves. They only want you to be circumcised so they can boast about it and claim you as their disciples.

14As for me, may I never boast about anything except the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. Because of that cross,* my interest in this world has been crucified, and the world's interest in me has also died. 15It doesn't matter whether we have been circumcised or not. What counts is whether we have been transformed into a new creation. 16May God's peace and mercy be upon all who live by this principle; they are the new people of God.*

17From now on, don't let anyone trouble me with these things. For I bear on my body the scars that show I belong to Jesus.

18Dear brothers and sisters,* may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

WELCOME TO

EPHESIANS

Paul writes to the Christians in Ephesus when he is a prisoner in Rome, hundreds of miles away. He wants to comfort and encourage them. This is a letter full of joy, praise, and thanksgiving for all that God has done for his people. Paul reviews God's great plan to save his people and unite Jews and Gentiles within the church, the body of Christ.

Paul presents an overview of history, beginning in the past, moving to the present, and then looking to the future: In the beginning, God knew his plans for the world; now God is saving those who trust Christ; and someday all evil will be overcome. Paul then explains how these big ideas influence the Christian life as it is lived out in everyday relationships between husbands and wives, children and parents, and slaves and masters. These general teachings encourage the believers in Ephesus.

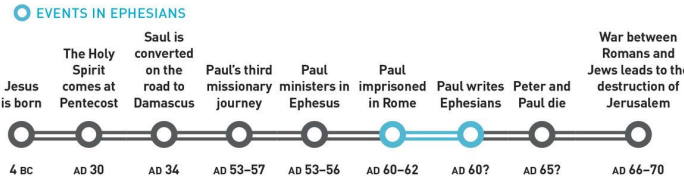
FINDING JESUS IN EPHESIANS

Jesus is the focus of Ephesians. Paul's letter is saturated with references to Jesus, mentioning that he gives us spiritual gifts, is the cornerstone of the church, and is Lord of our lives and relationships. Because Jesus has broken the bonds of sin and death, we can find peace in life and in death. Because of Jesus' death and resurrection, we are free from sin and are united with him. We can rest securely, knowing that, through Jesus, God has adopted us into his family.



EPHESUS

Ephesians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, chosen by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus.

I am writing to God's holy people in Ephesus,* who are faithful followers of Christ Jesus.

2May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you grace and peace.

GOD LOVES YOU EPHESIANS 1:3-11

SPIRITUAL BLESSINGS

3All praise to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly realms because we are united with Christ. 4Even before he made the world, God loved us and chose us in Christ to be holy and without fault in his eyes. 5God decided in advance to adopt us into his own family by bringing us to himself through Jesus Christ. This is what he wanted to do, and it gave him great pleasure. 6So we praise God for the glorious grace he has poured out on us who belong to his dear Son.*7He is so rich in kindness and grace that he purchased our freedom with the blood of his Son and forgave our sins. 8He has showered his kindness on us, along with all wisdom and understanding.

9God has now revealed to us his mysterious plan regarding Christ, a plan to fulfill his own good pleasure. 10And this is the plan: At the right time he will bring everything together under the authority of Christ—everything in heaven and on earth. 11Furthermore, because we are united with Christ, we have received an inheritance from God,* for he chose us in advance, and he makes everything work out according to his plan.

12God's purpose was that we Jews who were the first to trust in Christ would bring praise and glory to God. 13And now you Gentiles have also heard the truth, the Good News that God saves you. And when you believed in Christ, he identified you as his own* by giving you the Holy Spirit, whom he promised long ago. 14The Spirit is God's guarantee that he will give us the inheritance he promised and that he has purchased us to be his own people. He did this so we would praise and glorify him.

PAUL'S PRAYER FOR SPIRITUAL WISDOM

15Ever since I first heard of your strong faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for God's people everywhere,16I have not stopped thanking God for you. I pray for you constantly, 17asking God, the glorious Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, to give you spiritual wisdom and insight so that you might grow in your knowledge of God. 18I pray that your hearts will be flooded with light so that you can understand the confident hope he has given to those he called—his holy people who are his rich and glorious inheritance.*

19I also pray that you will understand the incredible greatness of God's power for us who believe him. This is the same mighty power 20that raised Christ from the dead and seated him in the place of honor at God's right hand in the heavenly realms. 21Now he is far above any ruler or authority or power or leader or anything else—not only in this world but also in the world to come. 22God has put all things under the authority of Christ and has made him head over all things for the benefit of the church. 23And the church is his body; it is made full and complete by Christ, who fills all things everywhere with himself.

MADE ALIVE WITH CHRIST

1Once you were dead because of your disobedience and your many sins. 2You used to live in sin, just like the rest of the world, obeying the devil—the commander of the powers in the unseen world.* He is the spirit at work in the hearts of those who refuse to obey God. 3All of us used to live that way, following the passionate desires and inclinations of our sinful nature. By our very nature we were subject to God's anger, just like everyone else.

4But God is so rich in mercy, and he loved us so much, 5that even though we were dead because of our sins, he gave us life when he raised Christ from the dead. (It is only by God's grace that you have been saved!) 6For he raised us from the dead along with Christ and seated us with him in the heavenly realms because we are united with Christ Jesus. 7So God can point to us in all future ages as examples of the incredible wealth of his grace and kindness toward us, as shown in all he has done for us who are united with Christ Jesus.

8God saved you by his grace when you believed. And you can't take credit for this; it is a gift from God. 9Salvation is not a reward for the good things we have done, so none of us can boast about it.
10For we are God's masterpiece. He has created us anew in Christ Jesus, so we can do the good things he planned for us long ago.

ONENESS AND PEACE IN CHRIST

11Don't forget that you Gentiles used to be outsiders. You were called "uncircumcised heathens" by the Jews, who were proud of their circumcision, even though it affected only their bodies and not their hearts. 12In those days you were living apart from Christ. You were excluded from citizenship among the people of Israel, and you did not know the covenant promises God had made to them. You lived in this world without God and without hope. 13But now you have been united with Christ Jesus. Once you were far away from God, but now you have been brought near to him through the blood of Christ.

14For Christ himself has brought peace to us. He united Jews and Gentiles into one people when, in his own body on the cross, he broke down the wall of hostility that separated us. 15He did this by ending the system of law with its commandments and regulations.

He made peace between Jews and Gentiles by creating in himself one new people from the two groups. 16Together as one body, Christ reconciled both groups to God by means of his death on the cross, and our hostility toward each other was put to death.

17He brought this Good News of peace to you Gentiles who were far away from him, and peace to the Jews who were near. 18Now all of us can come to the Father through the same Holy Spirit because of what Christ has done for us.

A TEMPLE FOR THE LORD

19So now you Gentiles are no longer strangers and foreigners. You are citizens along with all of God's holy people. You are members of God's family. 20Together, we are his house, built on the foundation of the apostles and the prophets. And the cornerstone is Christ Jesus himself. 21We are carefully joined together in him, becoming a holy temple for the Lord. 22Through him you Gentiles are also being made part of this dwelling where God lives by his Spirit.

Ephesians 3

GOD'S MYSTERIOUS PLAN REVEALED

1When I think of all this, I, Paul, a prisoner of Christ Jesus for the benefit of you Gentiles* . . . 2assuming, by the way, that you know God gave me the special responsibility of extending his grace to you Gentiles. 3As I briefly wrote earlier, God himself revealed his mysterious plan to me. 4As you read what I have written, you will understand my insight into this plan regarding Christ. 5God did not reveal it to previous generations, but now by his Spirit he has revealed it to his holy apostles and prophets.

6And this is God's plan: Both Gentiles and Jews who believe the Good News share equally in the riches inherited by God's children.

Both are part of the same body, and both enjoy the promise of blessings because they belong to Christ Jesus.*7By God's grace and mighty power, I have been given the privilege of serving him by spreading this Good News.

8Though I am the least deserving of all God's people, he graciously gave me the privilege of telling the Gentiles about the endless treasures available to them in Christ. 9I was chosen to explain to everyone* this mysterious plan that God, the Creator of all things, had kept secret from the beginning.

10God's purpose in all this was to use the church to display his wisdom in its rich variety to all the unseen rulers and authorities in the heavenly places. 11This was his eternal plan, which he carried out through Christ Jesus our Lord.

12Because of Christ and our faith in him,* we can now come boldly and confidently into God's presence. 13So please don't lose heart because of my trials here. I am suffering for you, so you should feel honored.

PAUL'S PRAYER FOR SPIRITUAL GROWTH

14When I think of all this, I fall to my knees and pray to the Father,*15the Creator of everything in heaven and on earth.*16I pray that from his glorious, unlimited resources he will empower you with inner strength through his Spirit. 17Then Christ will make his home in your hearts as you trust in him. Your roots will grow down into God's love and keep you strong. 18And may you have the power to understand, as all God's people should, how wide, how long, how high, and how deep his love is. 19May you experience the love of Christ, though it is too great to understand fully. Then you will be made complete with all the fullness of life and power that comes from God.

20Now all glory to God, who is able, through his mighty power at work within us, to accomplish infinitely more than we might ask or think. 21Glory to him in the church and in Christ Jesus through all generations forever and ever! Amen.

Ephesians 4

UNITY IN THE BODY

1Therefore I, a prisoner for serving the Lord, beg you to lead a life worthy of your calling, for you have been called by God. 2Always be humble and gentle. Be patient with each other, making allowance for each other's faults because of your love. 3Make every effort to keep yourselves united in the Spirit, binding yourselves together with peace. 4For there is one body and one Spirit, just as you have been called to one glorious hope for the future.

5There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism,

6one God and Father of all, who is over all, in all, and living through all.

7However, he has given each one of us a special gift* through the generosity of Christ. 8That is why the Scriptures say, “When he ascended to the heights, he led a crowd of captives and gave gifts to his people.”*

9Notice that it says “he ascended.” This clearly means that Christ also descended to our lowly world.*10And the same one who descended is the one who ascended higher than all the heavens, so that he might fill the entire universe with himself.

11Now these are the gifts Christ gave to the church: the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, and the pastors and teachers. 12Their responsibility is to equip God’s people to do his work and build up the church, the body of Christ. 13This will continue until we all come to such unity in our faith and knowledge of God’s Son that we will be mature in the Lord, measuring up to the full and complete standard of Christ.

14Then we will no longer be immature like children. We won’t be tossed and blown about by every wind of new teaching. We will not be influenced when people try to trick us with lies so clever they sound like the truth. 15Instead, we will speak the truth in love, growing in every way more and more like Christ, who is the head of his body, the church. 16He makes the whole body fit together perfectly. As each part does its own special work, it helps the other parts grow, so that the whole body is healthy and growing and full of love.

LIVING AS CHILDREN OF LIGHT

17With the Lord’s authority I say this: Live no longer as the Gentiles do, for they are hopelessly confused. 18Their minds are full of darkness; they wander far from the life God gives because they have closed their minds and hardened their hearts against him. 19They have no sense of shame. They live for lustful pleasure and eagerly practice every kind of impurity.

20But that isn't what you learned about Christ. 21Since you have heard about Jesus and have learned the truth that comes from him, 22throw off your old sinful nature and your former way of life, which is corrupted by lust and deception. 23Instead, let the Spirit renew your thoughts and attitudes. 24Put on your new nature, created to be like God—truly righteous and holy.

25So stop telling lies. Let us tell our neighbors the truth, for we are all parts of the same body. 26And "don't sin by letting anger control you."* Don't let the sun go down while you are still angry, 27for anger gives a foothold to the devil.

28If you are a thief, quit stealing. Instead, use your hands for good hard work, and then give generously to others in need. 29Don't use foul or abusive language. Let everything you say be good and helpful, so that your words will be an encouragement to those who hear them.

30And do not bring sorrow to God's Holy Spirit by the way you live. Remember, he has identified you as his own,* guaranteeing that you will be saved on the day of redemption.

31Get rid of all bitterness, rage, anger, harsh words, and slander, as well as all types of evil behavior. 32Instead, be kind to each other, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, just as God through Christ has forgiven you.

Ephesians 5

LIVING IN THE LIGHT

1Imitate God, therefore, in everything you do, because you are his dear children. 2Live a life filled with love, following the example of Christ. He loved us* and offered himself as a sacrifice for us, a pleasing aroma to God.

3Let there be no sexual immorality, impurity, or greed among you.
Such sins have no place among God's people. 4Obscene stories, foolish talk, and coarse jokes—these are not for you. Instead, let there be thankfulness to God. 5You can be sure that no immoral, impure, or greedy person will inherit the Kingdom of Christ and of God. For a greedy person is an idolater, worshiping the things of this world.

6Don't be fooled by those who try to excuse these sins, for the anger of God will fall on all who disobey him. 7Don't participate in the things these people do. 8For once you were full of darkness, but now you have light from the Lord. So live as people of light! 9For this light within you produces only what is good and right and true.

10Carefully determine what pleases the Lord. 11Take no part in the worthless deeds of evil and darkness; instead, expose them. 12It is shameful even to talk about the things that ungodly people do in secret. 13But their evil intentions will be exposed when the light shines on them, 14for the light makes everything visible. This is why it is said, "Awake, O sleeper, rise up from the dead, and Christ will give you light."

LIVING BY THE SPIRIT'S POWER

15So be careful how you live. Don't live like fools, but like those who are wise. 16Make the most of every opportunity in these evil days. 17Don't act thoughtlessly, but understand what the Lord wants you to do. 18Don't be drunk with wine, because that will ruin your life. Instead, be filled with the Holy Spirit, 19singing psalms and hymns and spiritual songs among yourselves, and making music to the Lord in your hearts. 20And give thanks for everything to God the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

SPIRIT-GUIDED RELATIONSHIPS: WIVES AND HUSBANDS

21And further, submit to one another out of reverence for Christ.

22For wives, this means submit to your husbands as to the Lord. 23For a husband is the head of his wife as Christ is the head of the church. He is the Savior of his body, the church. 24As the church submits to Christ, so you wives should submit to your husbands in everything.

25For husbands, this means love your wives, just as Christ loved the church. He gave up his life for her 26to make her holy and clean, washed by the cleansing of God's word.* 27He did this to present her to himself as a glorious church without a spot or wrinkle or any other blemish. Instead, she will be holy and without fault. 28In the same way, husbands ought to love their wives as they love their own bodies. For a man who loves his wife actually shows love for himself. 29No one hates his own body but feeds and cares for it, just as Christ cares for the church. 30And we are members of his body.

31As the Scriptures say, "A man leaves his father and mother and is joined to his wife, and the two are united into one."* 32This is a great mystery, but it is an illustration of the way Christ and the church are one. 33So again I say, each man must love his wife as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband.

Ephesians 6

CHILDREN AND PARENTS

1Children, obey your parents because you belong to the Lord,* for this is the right thing to do. 2“Honor your father and mother.” This is the first commandment with a promise: 3If you honor your father and mother, “things will go well for you, and you will have a long life on the earth.”*

4Fathers,* do not provoke your children to anger by the way you treat them. Rather, bring them up with the discipline and instruction that comes from the Lord.

SLAVES AND MASTERS

5Slaves, obey your earthly masters with deep respect and fear. Serve them sincerely as you would serve Christ. 6Try to please them all the time, not just when they are watching you. As slaves of Christ, do the will of God with all your heart. 7Work with enthusiasm, as though you were working for the Lord rather than for people.
8Remember that the Lord will reward each one of us for the good we do, whether we are slaves or free.

9Masters, treat your slaves in the same way. Don’t threaten them; remember, you both have the same Master in heaven, and he has no favorites.

THE WHOLE ARMOR OF GOD

10A final word: Be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. 11Put on all of God’s armor so that you will be able to stand firm against all strategies of the devil. 12For we* are not fighting against flesh-and-blood enemies, but against evil rulers and authorities of the unseen world, against mighty powers in this dark world, and against evil spirits in the heavenly places.

13Therefore, put on every piece of God's armor so you will be able to resist the enemy in the time of evil. Then after the battle you will still be standing firm. 14Stand your ground, putting on the belt of truth and the body armor of God's righteousness. 15For shoes, put on the peace that comes from the Good News so that you will be fully prepared.* 16In addition to all of these, hold up the shield of faith to stop the fiery arrows of the devil.* 17Put on salvation as your helmet, and take the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18Pray in the Spirit at all times and on every occasion. Stay alert and be persistent in your prayers for all believers everywhere.*

19And pray for me, too. Ask God to give me the right words so I can boldly explain God's mysterious plan that the Good News is for Jews and Gentiles alike.* 20I am in chains now, still preaching this message as God's ambassador. So pray that I will keep on speaking boldly for him, as I should.

FINAL GREETINGS

21To bring you up to date, Tychicus will give you a full report about what I am doing and how I am getting along. He is a beloved brother and faithful helper in the Lord's work. 22I have sent him to you for this very purpose—to let you know how we are doing and to encourage you.

23Peace be with you, dear brothers and sisters,* and may God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you love with faithfulness. 24May God's grace be eternally upon all who love our Lord Jesus Christ.

Philippians

WELCOME TO

PHILIPPIANS

Paul writes this letter to the church in Philippi as a prisoner awaiting trial in Rome. But the letter doesn't dwell on Paul's current situation; rather, it's filled with joy, demonstrating that Christians should be joyful in spite of any circumstances they are currently facing. The church in Philippi has generously provided for Paul's needs, and he writes to thank them, to encourage them, and to instruct them about the Christian life.

Paul begins the letter with his usual greetings and describes his circumstances. He then encourages the believers to live with a Christlike attitude, to shine brightly for Christ, to be filled with joy, and to vigorously reject false teachings. Paul urges the Philippians to follow his own example as he follows Christ. Finally, he provides them with timeless advice: "Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything. Tell God what you need, and thank him for all he has done" (4:6).

FINDING JESUS IN PHILIPPIANS

In Philippians, Jesus is placed center-stage in the “Christ hymn” (2:6-11). This passage is a significant witness of what the early church believed about Jesus: Though he was God, he humbled himself by becoming human and serving all people, even suffering a humiliating death. However, “God elevated him to the place of highest honor.” Throughout Philippians, Jesus’ life is presented as the model for our own lives. Paul encouraged his readers to shape their lives with humility and service, to be willing to suffer, and to trust that God would glorify them in the last day.

Philippians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul and Timothy, slaves of Christ Jesus.

I am writing to all of God's holy people in Philippi who belong to Christ Jesus, including the elders* and deacons.

2May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you grace and peace.

PAUL'S THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER

3Every time I think of you, I give thanks to my God. 4Whenever I pray, I make my requests for all of you with joy, 5for you have been my partners in spreading the Good News about Christ from the time you first heard it until now. 6And I am certain that God, who began the good work within you, will continue his work until it is finally finished on the day when Christ Jesus returns.

7So it is right that I should feel as I do about all of you, for you have a special place in my heart. You share with me the special favor of God, both in my imprisonment and in defending and confirming the truth of the Good News. 8God knows how much I love you and long for you with the tender compassion of Christ Jesus.

9I pray that your love will overflow more and more, and that you will keep on growing in knowledge and understanding. 10For I want you to understand what really matters, so that you may live pure and blameless lives until the day of Christ's return. 11May you always be filled with the fruit of your salvation—the righteous character produced in your life by Jesus Christ*—for this will bring much glory and praise to God.

PAUL'S JOY THAT CHRIST IS PREACHED

12And I want you to know, my dear brothers and sisters,* that everything that has happened to me here has helped to spread the Good News. 13For everyone here, including the whole palace guard,* knows that I am in chains because of Christ. 14And because of my imprisonment, most of the believers* here have gained confidence and boldly speak God's message* without fear.

15It's true that some are preaching out of jealousy and rivalry. But others preach about Christ with pure motives. 16They preach because they love me, for they know I have been appointed to defend the Good News. 17Those others do not have pure motives as they preach about Christ. They preach with selfish ambition, not sincerely, intending to make my chains more painful to me. 18But that doesn't matter. Whether their motives are false or genuine, the message about Christ is being preached either way, so I rejoice. And I will continue to rejoice. 19For I know that as you pray for me and the Spirit of Jesus Christ helps me, this will lead to my deliverance.

PAUL'S LIFE FOR CHRIST

20For I fully expect and hope that I will never be ashamed, but that I will continue to be bold for Christ, as I have been in the past. And I trust that my life will bring honor to Christ, whether I live or die. 21For to me, living means living for Christ, and dying is even better. 22But if I live, I can do more fruitful work for Christ. So I really don't know which is better. 23I'm torn between two desires: I long to go and be with Christ, which would be far better for me. 24But for your sakes, it is better that I continue to live.

25Knowing this, I am convinced that I will remain alive so I can continue to help all of you grow and experience the joy of your faith. 26And when I come to you again, you will have even more reason to take pride in Christ Jesus because of what he is doing through me.

LIVE AS CITIZENS OF HEAVEN

27Above all, you must live as citizens of heaven, conducting yourselves in a manner worthy of the Good News about Christ. Then, whether I come and see you again or only hear about you, I will know that you are standing together with one spirit and one purpose, fighting together for the faith, which is the Good News. 28Don't be intimidated in any way by your enemies. This will be a sign to them that they are going to be destroyed, but that you are going to be saved, even by God himself. 29For you have been given not only the privilege of trusting in Christ but also the privilege of suffering for him. 30We are in this struggle together. You have seen my struggle in the past, and you know that I am still in the midst of it.

HAVE THE ATTITUDE OF CHRIST

1Is there any encouragement from belonging to Christ? Any comfort from his love? Any fellowship together in the Spirit? Are your hearts tender and compassionate? 2Then make me truly happy by agreeing wholeheartedly with each other, loving one another, and working together with one mind and purpose.

3Don’t be selfish; don’t try to impress others. Be humble, thinking of others as better than yourselves. 4Don’t look out only for your own interests, but take an interest in others, too.

5You must have the same attitude that Christ Jesus had.

SONGS PHILIPPIANS 2:6-11

6Though he was God,*
he did not think of equality with God as something to cling to.

7Instead, he gave up his divine privileges*; he took the humble position of a slave*
and was born as a human being.
When he appeared in human form,*

8he humbled himself in obedience to God and died a criminal’s death on a cross.

9Therefore, God elevated him to the place of highest honor and gave him the name above all other names,

10that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth,

11and every tongue declare that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

SHINE BRIGHTLY FOR CHRIST

12Dear friends, you always followed my instructions when I was with you. And now that I am away, it is even more important. Work hard to show the results of your salvation, obeying God with deep reverence and fear. 13For God is working in you, giving you the desire and the power to do what pleases him.

14Do everything without complaining and arguing, 15so that no one can criticize you. Live clean, innocent lives as children of God, shining like bright lights in a world full of crooked and perverse people. 16Hold firmly to the word of life; then, on the day of Christ's return, I will be proud that I did not run the race in vain and that my work was not useless. 17But I will rejoice even if I lose my life, pouring it out like a liquid offering to God,* just like your faithful service is an offering to God. And I want all of you to share that joy.
18Yes, you should rejoice, and I will share your joy.

PAUL COMMENDS TIMOTHY

19If the Lord Jesus is willing, I hope to send Timothy to you soon for a visit. Then he can cheer me up by telling me how you are getting along. 20I have no one else like Timothy, who genuinely cares about your welfare. 21All the others care only for themselves and not for what matters to Jesus Christ. 22But you know how Timothy has proved himself. Like a son with his father, he has served with me in preaching the Good News. 23I hope to send him to you just as soon as I find out what is going to happen to me here. 24And I have confidence from the Lord that I myself will come to see you soon.

PAUL COMMENDS EPAPHRODITUS

25Meanwhile, I thought I should send Epaphroditus back to you. He is a true brother, co-worker, and fellow soldier. And he was your messenger to help me in my need. 26I am sending him because he has been longing to see you, and he was very distressed that you heard he was ill. 27And he certainly was ill; in fact, he almost died. But God had mercy on him—and also on me, so that I would not have one sorrow after another.

28So I am all the more anxious to send him back to you, for I know you will be glad to see him, and then I will not be so worried about you. 29Welcome him in the Lord's love* and with great joy, and give him the honor that people like him deserve. 30For he risked his life for the work of Christ, and he was at the point of death while doing for me what you couldn't do from far away.

THE PRICELESS VALUE OF KNOWING CHRIST

1Whatever happens, my dear brothers and sisters,* rejoice in the Lord. I never get tired of telling you these things, and I do it to safeguard your faith.

2Watch out for those dogs, those people who do evil, those mutilators who say you must be circumcised to be saved. 3For we who worship by the Spirit of God* are the ones who are truly circumcised. We rely on what Christ Jesus has done for us. We put no confidence in human effort, 4though I could have confidence in my own effort if anyone could. Indeed, if others have reason for confidence in their own efforts, I have even more!

5I was circumcised when I was eight days old. I am a pure-blooded citizen of Israel and a member of the tribe of Benjamin—a real Hebrew if there ever was one! I was a member of the Pharisees, who demand the strictest obedience to the Jewish law. 6I was so zealous that I harshly persecuted the church. And as for righteousness, I obeyed the law without fault.

7I once thought these things were valuable, but now I consider them worthless because of what Christ has done. 8Yes, everything else is worthless when compared with the infinite value of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. For his sake I have discarded everything else, counting it all as garbage, so that I could gain Christ 9and become one with him. I no longer count on my own righteousness through obeying the law; rather, I become righteous through faith in Christ.* For God's way of making us right with himself depends on faith. 10I want to know Christ and experience the mighty power that raised him from the dead. I want to suffer with him, sharing in his death, 11so that one way or another I will experience the resurrection from the dead!

PRESSING TOWARD THE GOAL

12I don't mean to say that I have already achieved these things or that I have already reached perfection. But I press on to possess that perfection for which Christ Jesus first possessed me. 13No, dear brothers and sisters, I have not achieved it,* but I focus on this one thing: Forgetting the past and looking forward to what lies ahead, 14I press on to reach the end of the race and receive the heavenly prize for which God, through Christ Jesus, is calling us.

15Let all who are spiritually mature agree on these things. If you disagree on some point, I believe God will make it plain to you.
16But we must hold on to the progress we have already made.

17Dear brothers and sisters, pattern your lives after mine, and learn from those who follow our example. 18For I have told you often before, and I say it again with tears in my eyes, that there are many whose conduct shows they are really enemies of the cross of Christ.
19They are headed for destruction. Their god is their appetite, they brag about shameful things, and they think only about this life here on earth. 20But we are citizens of heaven, where the Lord Jesus Christ lives. And we are eagerly waiting for him to return as our Savior. 21He will take our weak mortal bodies and change them into glorious bodies like his own, using the same power with which he will bring everything under his control.

Philippians 4

1Therefore, my dear brothers and sisters,* stay true to the Lord. I love you and long to see you, dear friends, for you are my joy and the crown I receive for my work.

WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT

2Now I appeal to Euodia and Syntyche. Please, because you belong to the Lord, settle your disagreement. 3And I ask you, my true partner,* to help these two women, for they worked hard with me in telling others the Good News. They worked along with Clement and the rest of my co-workers, whose names are written in the Book of Life.

4Always be full of joy in the Lord. I say it again—rejoice! 5Let everyone see that you are considerate in all you do. Remember, the Lord is coming soon.*

6Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything. Tell God what you need, and thank him for all he has done. 7Then you will experience God's peace, which exceeds anything we can understand. His peace will guard your hearts and minds as you live in Christ Jesus.

8And now, dear brothers and sisters, one final thing. Fix your thoughts on what is true, and honorable, and right, and pure, and lovely, and admirable. Think about things that are excellent and worthy of praise. 9Keep putting into practice all you learned and received from me—everything you heard from me and saw me doing. Then the God of peace will be with you.

PAUL'S THANKS FOR THEIR GIFTS

10How I praise the Lord that you are concerned about me again. I know you have always been concerned for me, but you didn't have the chance to help me. 11Not that I was ever in need, for I have learned how to be content with whatever I have. 12I know how to live on almost nothing or with everything. I have learned the secret of living in every situation, whether it is with a full stomach or empty, with plenty or little. 13For I can do everything through Christ,* who gives me strength. 14Even so, you have done well to share with me in my present difficulty.

15As you know, you Philippians were the only ones who gave me financial help when I first brought you the Good News and then traveled on from Macedonia. No other church did this. 16Even when I was in Thessalonica you sent help more than once. 17I don't say this because I want a gift from you. Rather, I want you to receive a reward for your kindness.

18At the moment I have all I need—and more! I am generously supplied with the gifts you sent me with Epaphroditus. They are a sweet-smelling sacrifice that is acceptable and pleasing to God.
19And this same God who takes care of me will supply all your needs from his glorious riches, which have been given to us in Christ Jesus.

20Now all glory to God our Father forever and ever! Amen.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

21Give my greetings to each of God's holy people—all who belong to Christ Jesus. The brothers who are with me send you their greetings. 22And all the rest of God's people send you greetings, too, especially those in Caesar's household.

23May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.*

Colossians

Introduction 1 2 3 4

WELCOME TO

COLOSSIANS

Even though he has traveled to many cities nearby, Paul has never been to Colosse. He has friends there, however, and now he writes to combat some strange teachings that are creeping into the church. The Colossians are distorting their view of Christ by incorporating some aspects of Judaism and even paganism into their faith. While imprisoned in Rome, Paul writes to correct their errors by teaching that Christ is the eternal God (2:9). The Colossians need to live in a way that acknowledges Christ's status and authority. Paul provides practical instructions concerning Christian living so the believers can apply his teachings to their lives.

1 STOP

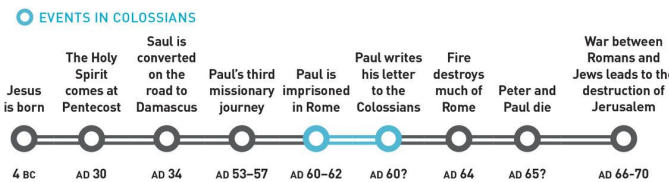
ON THE DIRECT ROUTE: Paul explains the freedom believers have in Christ, telling the Colossians to let the joy of this freedom fill their lives and spur them on toward obedience. Your next stop is at Colossians 2:6.

2 STOPS

ON THE SCENIC ROUTE: You'll read almost the entire book of Colossians in two stops. In the first reading, Paul teaches that Christ is supreme over all things. The second reading includes specific instructions for living a holy life. Your next stop is at Colossians 1:1.

FINDING JESUS IN COLOSSIANS

In Colossians, Jesus “is supreme over all creation” and “holds all creation together” (1:15, 17). There is nothing about his work or his person that is less than perfect or complete. Anyone who tries to add to Jesus’ work or who claims that Jesus was anything less than fully God corrupts the Good News. The book of Colossians gives us a beautiful picture of the glory of Jesus Christ and calls on Christians to love him and let his love and peace be reflected in our lives (3:14-15).



Colossians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, chosen by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus, and from our brother Timothy.

COLOSSE

2We are writing to God's holy people in the city of Colosse, who are faithful brothers and sisters* in Christ.

May God our Father give you grace and peace.

PAUL'S THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER

3We always pray for you, and we give thanks to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. 4For we have heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and your love for all of God's people, 5which come from your confident hope of what God has reserved for you in heaven. You have had this expectation ever since you first heard the truth of the Good News.

6This same Good News that came to you is going out all over the world. It is bearing fruit everywhere by changing lives, just as it changed your lives from the day you first heard and understood the truth about God's wonderful grace.

7You learned about the Good News from Epaphras, our beloved co-worker. He is Christ's faithful servant, and he is helping us on your behalf.* 8He has told us about the love for others that the Holy Spirit has given you.

9So we have not stopped praying for you since we first heard about you. We ask God to give you complete knowledge of his will and to give you spiritual wisdom and understanding. 10Then the way you live will always honor and please the Lord, and your lives will produce every kind of good fruit. All the while, you will grow as you learn to know God better and better.

11We also pray that you will be strengthened with all his glorious power so you will have all the endurance and patience you need. May you be filled with joy,* 12always thanking the Father. He has enabled you to share in the inheritance that belongs to his people, who live in the light. 13For he has rescued us from the kingdom of darkness and transferred us into the Kingdom of his dear Son, 14who purchased our freedom* and forgave our sins.

CHRIST IS SUPREME

15Christ is the visible image of the invisible God.

He existed before anything was created and is supreme over all creation,* 16for through him God created everything in the heavenly realms and on earth.

He made the things we can see and the things we can't see— such as thrones, kingdoms, rulers, and authorities in the unseen world.
Everything was created through him and for him.

17He existed before anything else, and he holds all creation together.

18Christ is also the head of the church, which is his body.
He is the beginning, supreme over all who rise from the dead.*
So he is first in everything.

19For God in all his fullness was pleased to live in Christ,

20and through him God reconciled everything to himself.
He made peace with everything in heaven and on earth by means of Christ's blood on the cross.

21This includes you who were once far away from God. You were his enemies, separated from him by your evil thoughts and actions.
22Yet now he has reconciled you to himself through the death of Christ in his physical body. As a result, he has brought you into his own presence, and you are holy and blameless as you stand before him without a single fault.

23But you must continue to believe this truth and stand firmly in it. Don't drift away from the assurance you received when you heard the Good News. The Good News has been preached all over the world, and I, Paul, have been appointed as God's servant to proclaim it.

PAUL'S WORK FOR THE CHURCH

24I am glad when I suffer for you in my body, for I am participating in the sufferings of Christ that continue for his body, the church.
25God has given me the responsibility of serving his church by proclaiming his entire message to you. 26This message was kept secret for centuries and generations past, but now it has been revealed to God's people. 27For God wanted them to know that the riches and glory of Christ are for you Gentiles, too. And this is the secret: Christ lives in you. This gives you assurance of sharing his glory.

28So we tell others about Christ, warning everyone and teaching everyone with all the wisdom God has given us. We want to present them to God, perfect* in their relationship to Christ. 29That's why I work and struggle so hard, depending on Christ's mighty power that works within me.

Colossians 2

1I want you to know how much I have agonized for you and for the church at Laodicea, and for many other believers who have never met me personally. 2I want them to be encouraged and knit together by strong ties of love. I want them to have complete confidence that they understand God's mysterious plan, which is Christ himself. 3In him lie hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4I am telling you this so no one will deceive you with well-crafted arguments. 5For though I am far away from you, my heart is with you. And I rejoice that you are living as you should and that your faith in Christ is strong.

FREEDOM FROM RULES AND NEW LIFE IN CHRIST

6And now, just as you accepted Christ Jesus as your Lord, you must continue to follow him. 7Let your roots grow down into him, and let your lives be built on him. Then your faith will grow strong in the truth you were taught, and you will overflow with thankfulness.

8Don't let anyone capture you with empty philosophies and high-sounding nonsense that come from human thinking and from the spiritual powers* of this world, rather than from Christ. 9For in Christ lives all the fullness of God in a human body.*10So you also are complete through your union with Christ, who is the head over every ruler and authority.

11When you came to Christ, you were "circumcised," but not by a physical procedure. Christ performed a spiritual circumcision—the cutting away of your sinful nature.*12For you were buried with Christ when you were baptized. And with him you were raised to new life because you trusted the mighty power of God, who raised Christ from the dead.

13You were dead because of your sins and because your sinful nature was not yet cut away. Then God made you alive with Christ, for he forgave all our sins. 14He canceled the record of the charges against us and took it away by nailing it to the cross. 15In this way, he disarmed* the spiritual rulers and authorities. He shamed them publicly by his victory over them on the cross.

16So don't let anyone condemn you for what you eat or drink, or for not celebrating certain holy days or new moon ceremonies or Sabbaths. 17For these rules are only shadows of the reality yet to come. And Christ himself is that reality. 18Don't let anyone condemn you by insisting on pious self-denial or the worship of angels,* saying they have had visions about these things. Their sinful minds have made them proud, 19and they are not connected to Christ, the head of the body. For he holds the whole body together with its joints and ligaments, and it grows as God nourishes it.

20You have died with Christ, and he has set you free from the spiritual powers of this world. So why do you keep on following the rules of the world, such as, 21“Don’t handle! Don’t taste! Don’t touch!”? 22Such rules are mere human teachings about things that deteriorate as we use them. 23These rules may seem wise because they require strong devotion, pious self-denial, and severe bodily discipline. But they provide no help in conquering a person’s evil desires.

Colossians 3

LIVING THE NEW LIFE

1Since you have been raised to new life with Christ, set your sights on the realities of heaven, where Christ sits in the place of honor at God’s right hand. 2Think about the things of heaven, not the things of earth. 3For you died to this life, and your real life is hidden with Christ in God. 4And when Christ, who is your* life, is revealed to the whole world, you will share in all his glory.

5So put to death the sinful, earthly things lurking within you. Have nothing to do with sexual immorality, impurity, lust, and evil desires. Don’t be greedy, for a greedy person is an idolater, worshiping the things of this world. 6Because of these sins, the anger of God is coming.7You used to do these things when your life was still part of this world. 8But now is the time to get rid of anger, rage, malicious behavior, slander, and dirty language. 9Don’t lie to each other, for you have stripped off your old sinful nature and all its wicked deeds. 10Put on your new nature, and be renewed as you learn to know your Creator and become like him. 11In this new life, it doesn’t matter if you are a Jew or a Gentile, circumcised or uncircumcised, barbaric, uncivilized,* slave, or free. Christ is all that matters, and he lives in all of us.

12Since God chose you to be the holy people he loves, you must clothe yourselves with tenderhearted mercy, kindness, humility, gentleness, and patience. 13Make allowance for each other's faults, and forgive anyone who offends you. Remember, the Lord forgave you, so you must forgive others. 14Above all, clothe yourselves with love, which binds us all together in perfect harmony. 15And let the peace that comes from Christ rule in your hearts. For as members of one body you are called to live in peace. And always be thankful.

16Let the message about Christ, in all its richness, fill your lives. Teach and counsel each other with all the wisdom he gives. Sing psalms and hymns and spiritual songs to God with thankful hearts. 17And whatever you do or say, do it as a representative of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks through him to God the Father.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CHRISTIAN HOUSEHOLDS

18Wives, submit to your husbands, as is fitting for those who belong to the Lord.

19Husbands, love your wives and never treat them harshly.

20Children, always obey your parents, for this pleases the Lord. 21Fathers, do not aggravate your children, or they will become discouraged.

22Slaves, obey your earthly masters in everything you do. Try to please them all the time, not just when they are watching you.

Serve them sincerely because of your reverent fear of the Lord.
23Work willingly at whatever you do, as though you were working for the Lord rather than for people. 24Remember that the Lord will give you an inheritance as your reward, and that the Master you are serving is Christ.*25But if you do what is wrong, you will be paid back for the wrong you have done. For God has no favorites.

Colossians 4

1Masters, be just and fair to your slaves. Remember that you also have a Master—in heaven.

AN ENCOURAGEMENT FOR PRAYER

2Devote yourselves to prayer with an alert mind and a thankful heart. 3Pray for us, too, that God will give us many opportunities to speak about his mysterious plan concerning Christ. That is why I am here in chains. 4Pray that I will proclaim this message as clearly as I should.

5Live wisely among those who are not believers, and make the most of every opportunity. 6Let your conversation be gracious and attractive* so that you will have the right response for everyone.

PAUL'S FINAL INSTRUCTIONS AND GREETINGS

7Tychicus will give you a full report about how I am getting along.
He is a beloved brother and faithful helper who serves with me in the Lord's work. 8I have sent him to you for this very purpose—to let you know how we are doing and to encourage you. 9I am also sending Onesimus, a faithful and beloved brother, one of your own people. He and Tychicus will tell you everything that's happening here.

10Aristarchus, who is in prison with me, sends you his greetings, and so does Mark, Barnabas's cousin. As you were instructed before, make Mark welcome if he comes your way. 11Jesus (the one we call Justus) also sends his greetings. These are the only Jewish believers among my co-workers; they are working with me here for the Kingdom of God. And what a comfort they have been!

12Epaphras, a member of your own fellowship and a servant of Christ Jesus, sends you his greetings. He always prays earnestly for you, asking God to make you strong and perfect, fully confident that you are following the whole will of God. 13I can assure you that he prays hard for you and also for the believers in Laodicea and Hierapolis.

14Luke, the beloved doctor, sends his greetings, and so does Demas. 15Please give my greetings to our brothers and sisters* at Laodicea, and to Nympha and the church that meets in her house.

16After you have read this letter, pass it on to the church at Laodicea so they can read it, too. And you should read the letter I wrote to them.

17And say to Archippus, "Be sure to carry out the ministry the Lord gave you."

18HERE IS MY GREETING IN MY OWN HANDWRITING—PAUL.

Remember my chains.

May God's grace be with you.

1 Thessalonians

Introduction 1 2 3 4 5

WELCOME TO

1 THESSALONIANS

Paul first met the Thessalonians during his second missionary journey, but he was forced to flee the city because some angry Jewish leaders started a riot over his preaching (Acts 17:1-9). Eventually he sent Timothy back to Thessalonica to check on the church while Paul traveled south to Athens and Corinth. Soon he receives a report from Timothy that the believers are remaining strong in their faith despite opposition.

Paul writes this letter from Corinth to defend his motives and ministry, comfort the young believers, and encourage them to continue living lives that are pleasing to God. He also writes to affirm their faith in some basic doctrines concerning God the Father, the Holy Spirit, Christian living, Christ, and especially Christ's second coming. Some Thessalonian Christians are concerned that believers who have already died will miss out on the resurrection at Christ's return. On the contrary, Paul assures them—the dead in Christ will rise first (4:16).

0 STOPS

ON THE FLYOVER ROUTE: You'll skip over 1 Thessalonians this time. However, you may want to take a moment to read the last two chapters of this book, in which Paul teaches that we can rest in the certainty that one day all believers will be resurrected from the dead. Your next stop is at Hebrews 11:1.

1 STOP

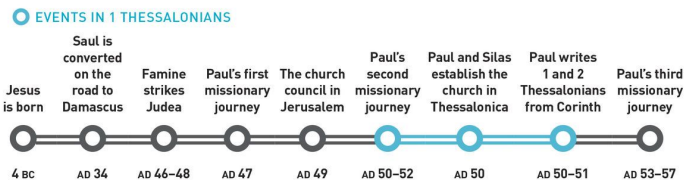
ON THE DIRECT ROUTE: Your reading in 1 Thessalonians includes Paul's words of hope about the resurrection of the body. Your next stop is at 1 Thessalonians 4:13.

2 STOPS

ON THE SCENIC ROUTE: You'll make two stops in this book. The first reading will give you an idea of the great love that Paul had for the beleaguered Thessalonians. The second will give you insights into the hope of the Lord's return. Your next stop is at 1 Thessalonians 1:1.

FINDING JESUS IN 1 THESSALONIANS

Jesus is the believer's hope for renewal in this life and resurrection when he comes again. He is the one who gives life and provides us with the strength to love others. Jesus gives us endurance to face difficulties while we wait for his glorious return.



1 Thessalonians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, Silas,* and Timothy.

We are writing to the church in Thessalonica, to you who belong to God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

May God give you grace and peace.

THE FAITH OF THE THESSALONIAN BELIEVERS

2We always thank God for all of you and pray for you constantly.
3As we pray to our God and Father about you, we think of your faithful work, your loving deeds, and the enduring hope you have because of our Lord Jesus Christ.

4We know, dear brothers and sisters,* that God loves you and has chosen you to be his own people. 5For when we brought you the Good News, it was not only with words but also with power, for the Holy Spirit gave you full assurance* that what we said was true.

And you know of our concern for you from the way we lived when we were with you. 6So you received the message with joy from the Holy Spirit in spite of the severe suffering it brought you. In this way, you imitated both us and the Lord. 7As a result, you have become an example to all the believers in Greece—throughout both Macedonia and Achaia.*

8And now the word of the Lord is ringing out from you to people everywhere, even beyond Macedonia and Achaia, for wherever we go we find people telling us about your faith in God. We don't need to tell them about it, 9for they keep talking about the wonderful welcome you gave us and how you turned away from idols to serve the living and true God. 10And they speak of how you are looking forward to the coming of God's Son from heaven—Jesus, whom God raised from the dead. He is the one who has rescued us from the terrors of the coming judgment.

PAUL REMEMBERS HIS VISIT

1You yourselves know, dear brothers and sisters,* that our visit to you was not a failure. 2You know how badly we had been treated at Philippi just before we came to you and how much we suffered there. Yet our God gave us the courage to declare his Good News to you boldly, in spite of great opposition. 3So you can see we were not preaching with any deceit or impure motives or trickery.

4For we speak as messengers approved by God to be entrusted with the Good News. Our purpose is to please God, not people. He alone examines the motives of our hearts. 5Never once did we try to win you with flattery, as you well know. And God is our witness that we were not pretending to be your friends just to get your money! 6As for human praise, we have never sought it from you or anyone else.

7As apostles of Christ we certainly had a right to make some demands of you, but instead we were like children* among you. Or we were like a mother feeding and caring for her own children. 8We loved you so much that we shared with you not only God's Good News but our own lives, too.

9Don't you remember, dear brothers and sisters, how hard we worked among you? Night and day we toiled to earn a living so that we would not be a burden to any of you as we preached God's Good News to you. 10You yourselves are our witnesses—and so is God—that we were devout and honest and faultless toward all of you believers. 11And you know that we treated each of you as a father treats his own children. 12We pleaded with you, encouraged you, and urged you to live your lives in a way that God would consider worthy. For he called you to share in his Kingdom and glory.

13Therefore, we never stop thanking God that when you received his message from us, you didn't think of our words as mere human ideas. You accepted what we said as the very word of God—which, of course, it is. And this word continues to work in you who believe.

14And then, dear brothers and sisters, you suffered persecution from your own countrymen. In this way, you imitated the believers in God's churches in Judea who, because of their belief in Christ Jesus, suffered from their own people, the Jews. 15For some of the Jews killed the prophets, and some even killed the Lord Jesus. Now they have persecuted us, too. They fail to please God and work against all humanity 16as they try to keep us from preaching the Good News of salvation to the Gentiles. By doing this, they continue to pile up their sins. But the anger of God has caught up with them at last.

TIMOTHY'S GOOD REPORT ABOUT THE CHURCH

17Dear brothers and sisters, after we were separated from you for a little while (though our hearts never left you), we tried very hard to come back because of our intense longing to see you again. 18We wanted very much to come to you, and I, Paul, tried again and again, but Satan prevented us. 19After all, what gives us hope and joy, and what will be our proud reward and crown as we stand before our Lord Jesus when he returns? It is you! 20Yes, you are our pride and joy.

1Finally, when we could stand it no longer, we decided to stay alone in Athens, 2and we sent Timothy to visit you. He is our brother and God's co-worker* in proclaiming the Good News of Christ. We sent him to strengthen you, to encourage you in your faith, 3and to keep you from being shaken by the troubles you were going through. But you know that we are destined for such troubles. 4Even while we were with you, we warned you that troubles would soon come—and they did, as you well know. 5That is why, when I could bear it no longer, I sent Timothy to find out whether your faith was still strong. I was afraid that the tempter had gotten the best of you and that our work had been useless.

6But now Timothy has just returned, bringing us good news about your faith and love. He reports that you always remember our visit with joy and that you want to see us as much as we want to see you. 7So we have been greatly encouraged in the midst of our troubles and suffering, dear brothers and sisters,* because you have remained strong in your faith. 8It gives us new life to know that you are standing firm in the Lord.

9How we thank God for you! Because of you we have great joy as we enter God's presence. 10Night and day we pray earnestly for you, asking God to let us see you again to fill the gaps in your faith.

11May God our Father and our Lord Jesus bring us to you very soon.
12And may the Lord make your love for one another and for all people grow and overflow, just as our love for you overflows. 13May he, as a result, make your hearts strong, blameless, and holy as you stand before God our Father when our Lord Jesus comes again with all his holy people. Amen.

1 Thessalonians 4

LIVE TO PLEASE GOD

1Finally, dear brothers and sisters,* we urge you in the name of the Lord Jesus to live in a way that pleases God, as we have taught you.
You live this way already, and we encourage you to do so even more. 2For you remember what we taught you by the authority of the Lord Jesus.

3God's will is for you to be holy, so stay away from all sexual sin.
4Then each of you will control his own body* and live in holiness and honor—5not in lustful passion like the pagans who do not know God and his ways. 6Never harm or cheat a fellow believer in this matter by violating his wife,* for the Lord avenges all such sins, as we have solemnly warned you before. 7God has called us to live holy lives, not impure lives. 8Therefore, anyone who refuses to live by these rules is not disobeying human teaching but is rejecting God, who gives his Holy Spirit to you.

9But we don't need to write to you about the importance of loving each other,* for God himself has taught you to love one another.
10Indeed, you already show your love for all the believers* throughout Macedonia. Even so, dear brothers and sisters, we urge you to love them even more.

11Make it your goal to live a quiet life, minding your own business and working with your hands, just as we instructed you before.

12Then people who are not believers will respect the way you live, and you will not need to depend on others.

THE HOPE OF THE RESURRECTION

13And now, dear brothers and sisters, we want you to know what will happen to the believers who have died* so you will not grieve like people who have no hope. 14For since we believe that Jesus died and was raised to life again, we also believe that when Jesus returns, God will bring back with him the believers who have died.

15We tell you this directly from the Lord: We who are still living when the Lord returns will not meet him ahead of those who have died.16For the Lord himself will come down from heaven with a commanding shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet call of God. First, the believers who have died will rise from their graves. 17Then, together with them, we who are still alive and remain on the earth will be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. Then we will be with the Lord forever. 18So encourage each other with these words.

1 Thessalonians 5

1Now concerning how and when all this will happen, dear brothers and sisters,* we don't really need to write you. 2For you know quite well that the day of the Lord's return will come unexpectedly, like a thief in the night. 3When people are saying, "Everything is peaceful and secure," then disaster will fall on them as suddenly as a pregnant woman's labor pains begin. And there will be no escape.

4But you aren't in the dark about these things, dear brothers and sisters, and you won't be surprised when the day of the Lord comes like a thief.*5For you are all children of the light and of the day; we don't belong to darkness and night. 6So be on your guard, not asleep like the others. Stay alert and be clearheaded. 7Night is the time when people sleep and drinkers get drunk. 8But let us who live in the light be clearheaded, protected by the armor of faith and love, and wearing as our helmet the confidence of our salvation.

9For God chose to save us through our Lord Jesus Christ, not to pour out his anger on us. 10Christ died for us so that, whether we are dead or alive when he returns, we can live with him forever.
11So encourage each other and build each other up, just as you are already doing.

PAUL'S FINAL ADVICE

12Dear brothers and sisters, honor those who are your leaders in the Lord's work. They work hard among you and give you spiritual guidance. 13Show them great respect and wholehearted love because of their work. And live peacefully with each other.

14Brothers and sisters, we urge you to warn those who are lazy.
Encourage those who are timid. Take tender care of those who are weak. Be patient with everyone.

15See that no one pays back evil for evil, but always try to do good to each other and to all people.

16Always be joyful. 17Never stop praying. 18Be thankful in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you who belong to Christ Jesus.

19Do not stifle the Holy Spirit. 20Do not scoff at prophecies, 21but test everything that is said. Hold on to what is good. 22Stay away from every kind of evil.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

23Now may the God of peace make you holy in every way, and may your whole spirit and soul and body be kept blameless until our Lord Jesus Christ comes again. 24God will make this happen, for he who calls you is faithful.

25Dear brothers and sisters, pray for us.

26Greet all the brothers and sisters with a sacred kiss.

27I command you in the name of the Lord to read this letter to all the brothers and sisters.

28May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

2 Thessalonians

Introduction 1 2 3

WELCOME TO

2 THESSALONIANS

Paul writes his second letter to the church in Thessalonica about six months after the first one. This letter is short but of great importance because the believers have misinterpreted Paul's teaching about Christ's return. Thinking Christ's coming is imminent, they have stopped working and are simply waiting for the event to happen. Perhaps adding to the confusion is the continuing persecution that they are suffering.

Paul writes to correct them, assuring them that Christ will certainly return to comfort them and to punish those who are persecuting them; but he also firmly encourages them to be diligent in their daily work since no one knows precisely when Jesus will return. Paul's letter gives his readers confidence that God is in control, even when chaos appears to reign. Christ is on the throne. He reigns over all things now, and at the end he will triumph.

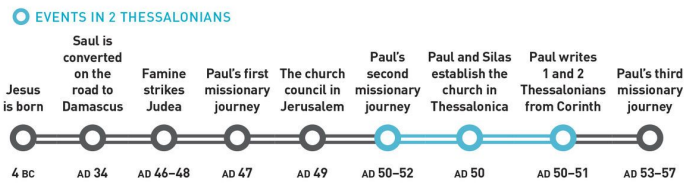
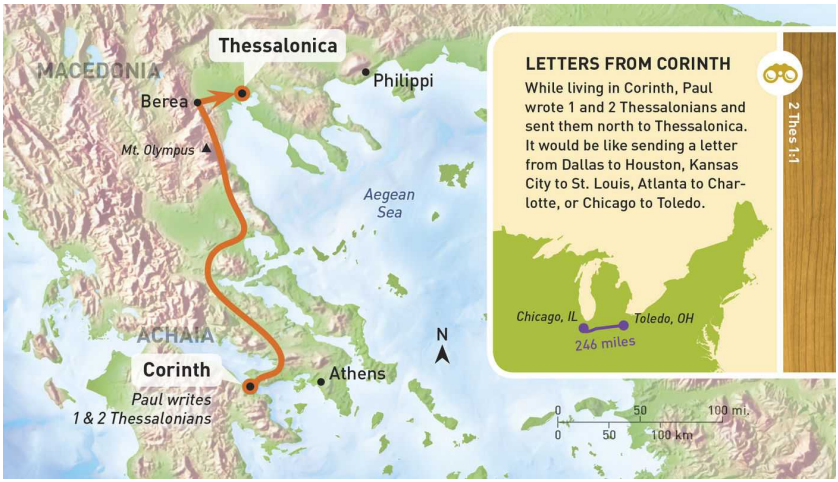
FINDING JESUS IN 2 THESSALONIANS

Jesus' second coming is a major focus of this book. He will return from heaven to earth with an entourage of angels. He will receive honor and glory from his followers. He will gladly receive those who know God and have believed the Good News, but he will judge and punish all who have not.





LETTERS FROM CORINTH

2 Thessalonians 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, Silas,* and Timothy.

We are writing to the church in Thessalonica, to you who belong to God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2May God our Father* and the Lord Jesus Christ give you grace and peace.

ENCOURAGEMENT DURING PERSECUTION

3Dear brothers and sisters,* we can't help but thank God for you, because your faith is flourishing and your love for one another is growing. 4We proudly tell God's other churches about your endurance and faithfulness in all the persecutions and hardships you are suffering. 5And God will use this persecution to show his justice and to make you worthy of his Kingdom, for which you are suffering. 6In his justice he will pay back those who persecute you.

7And God will provide rest for you who are being persecuted and also for us when the Lord Jesus appears from heaven. He will come with his mighty angels, 8in flaming fire, bringing judgment on those who don't know God and on those who refuse to obey the Good News of our Lord Jesus. 9They will be punished with eternal destruction, forever separated from the Lord and from his glorious power. 10When he comes on that day, he will receive glory from his holy people—praise from all who believe. And this includes you, for you believed what we told you about him.

11So we keep on praying for you, asking our God to enable you to live a life worthy of his call. May he give you the power to accomplish all the good things your faith prompts you to do. 12Then the name of our Lord Jesus will be honored because of the way you live, and you will be honored along with him. This is all made possible because of the grace of our God and Lord, Jesus Christ.*

2 Thessalonians 2

EVENTS PRIOR TO THE LORD'S SECOND COMING

1Now, dear brothers and sisters,* let us clarify some things about the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and how we will be gathered to meet him. 2Don't be so easily shaken or alarmed by those who say that the day of the Lord has already begun. Don't believe them, even if they claim to have had a spiritual vision, a revelation, or a letter supposedly from us. 3Don't be fooled by what they say. For that day will not come until there is a great rebellion against God and the man of lawlessness* is revealed—the one who brings destruction.*4He will exalt himself and defy everything that people call god and every object of worship. He will even sit in the temple of God, claiming that he himself is God.

5Don't you remember that I told you about all this when I was with you? 6And you know what is holding him back, for he can be revealed only when his time comes. 7For this lawlessness is already at work secretly, and it will remain secret until the one who is holding it back steps out of the way. 8Then the man of lawlessness will be revealed, but the Lord Jesus will kill him with the breath of his mouth and destroy him by the splendor of his coming.

9This man will come to do the work of Satan with counterfeit power and signs and miracles. 10He will use every kind of evil deception to fool those on their way to destruction, because they refuse to love and accept the truth that would save them. 11So God will cause them to be greatly deceived, and they will believe these lies. 12Then they will be condemned for enjoying evil rather than believing the truth.

BELIEVERS SHOULD STAND FIRM

13As for us, we can't help but thank God for you, dear brothers and sisters loved by the Lord. We are always thankful that God chose you to be among the first* to experience salvation—a salvation that came through the Spirit who makes you holy and through your belief in the truth. 14He called you to salvation when we told you the Good News; now you can share in the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15With all these things in mind, dear brothers and sisters, stand firm and keep a strong grip on the teaching we passed on to you both in person and by letter.

16Now may our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father, who loved us and by his grace gave us eternal comfort and a wonderful hope, 17comfort you and strengthen you in every good thing you do and say.

2 Thessalonians 3

PAUL'S REQUEST FOR PRAYER

1Finally, dear brothers and sisters,* we ask you to pray for us. Pray that the Lord's message will spread rapidly and be honored wherever it goes, just as when it came to you. 2Pray, too, that we will be rescued from wicked and evil people, for not everyone is a believer. 3But the Lord is faithful; he will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one.*4And we are confident in the Lord that you are doing and will continue to do the things we commanded you.
5May the Lord lead your hearts into a full understanding and expression of the love of God and the patient endurance that comes from Christ.

AN EXHORTATION TO PROPER LIVING

6And now, dear brothers and sisters, we give you this command in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ: Stay away from all believers* who live idle lives and don't follow the tradition they received* from us. 7For you know that you ought to imitate us. We were not idle when we were with you. 8We never accepted food from anyone without paying for it. We worked hard day and night so we would not be a burden to any of you. 9We certainly had the right to ask you to feed us, but we wanted to give you an example to follow.
10Even while we were with you, we gave you this command: "Those unwilling to work will not get to eat."

11Yet we hear that some of you are living idle lives, refusing to work and meddling in other people's business. 12We command such people and urge them in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to settle down and work to earn their own living. 13As for the rest of you, dear brothers and sisters, never get tired of doing good.

14Take note of those who refuse to obey what we say in this letter.
Stay away from them so they will be ashamed. 15Don't think of them as enemies, but warn them as you would a brother or sister.*

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

16Now may the Lord of peace himself give you his peace at all times and in every situation. The Lord be with you all.

17HERE IS MY GREETING IN MY OWN HANDWRITING—PAUL. I DO THIS IN ALL MY LETTERS TO PROVE THEY ARE FROM ME.

18May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

WELCOME TO

1 TIMOTHY

Paul writes this letter near the end of his life to his close friend and coworker Timothy. This personal letter is filled with Paul's encouraging words and wise counsel for this young leader. After working with him in Ephesus, Paul has assigned Timothy to lead the Ephesian church. Since this church is struggling with doctrine, religious practice, church government, and various aspects of Christian living, Timothy is in a difficult position as he tries to navigate his way through these issues. Paul clarifies some practical issues concerning church leadership; worship; and the conduct of widows, the elderly, slaves, and masters. Paul also writes to encourage Timothy to live wholeheartedly for the glory of God and not to become weary in his Christian life.

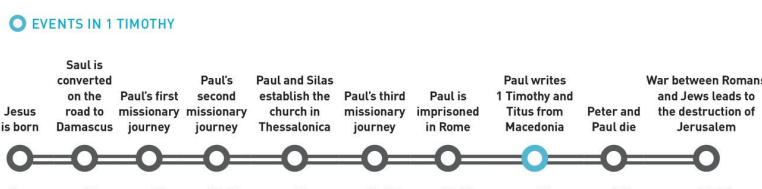
FINDING JESUS IN 1 TIMOTHY

Jesus' identity as Savior and Mediator has a central role in 1 Timothy: "There is one God and one Mediator who can reconcile God and humanity—the man Christ Jesus" (2:5). Jesus, who was fully God and fully human, acted as a go-between ("Mediator") for God and humanity. He made it possible for humans to have a relationship with God the Father, Creator of heaven and earth.



1 Timothy 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, appointed by the command of God our Savior and Christ Jesus, who gives us hope.

2I am writing to Timothy, my true son in the faith.

May God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord give you grace, mercy, and peace.

WARNINGS AGAINST FALSE TEACHINGS

3When I left for Macedonia, I urged you to stay there in Ephesus and stop those whose teaching is contrary to the truth. 4Don't let them waste their time in endless discussion of myths and spiritual pedigrees. These things only lead to meaningless speculations,* which don't help people live a life of faith in God.*

5The purpose of my instruction is that all believers would be filled with love that comes from a pure heart, a clear conscience, and genuine faith. 6But some people have missed this whole point. They have turned away from these things and spend their time in meaningless discussions. 7They want to be known as teachers of the law of Moses, but they don't know what they are talking about, even though they speak so confidently.

8We know that the law is good when used correctly. 9For the law was not intended for people who do what is right. It is for people who are lawless and rebellious, who are ungodly and sinful, who consider nothing sacred and defile what is holy, who kill their father or mother or commit other murders. 10The law is for people who are sexually immoral, or who practice homosexuality, or are slave traders,* liars, promise breakers, or who do anything else that contradicts the wholesome teaching 11that comes from the glorious Good News entrusted to me by our blessed God.

PAUL'S GRATITUDE FOR GOD'S MERCY

12I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me strength to do his work. He considered me trustworthy and appointed me to serve him, 13even though I used to blaspheme the name of Christ. In my insolence, I persecuted his people. But God had mercy on me because I did it in ignorance and unbelief. 14Oh, how generous and gracious our Lord was! He filled me with the faith and love that come from Christ Jesus.

15This is a trustworthy saying, and everyone should accept it:
"Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners"—and I am the worst of them all. 16But God had mercy on me so that Christ Jesus could use me as a prime example of his great patience with even the worst sinners. Then others will realize that they, too, can believe in him and receive eternal life. 17All honor and glory to God forever and ever! He is the eternal King, the unseen one who never dies; he alone is God. Amen.

TIMOTHY'S RESPONSIBILITY

18Timothy, my son, here are my instructions for you, based on the prophetic words spoken about you earlier. May they help you fight well in the Lord's battles. 19Cling to your faith in Christ, and keep your conscience clear. For some people have deliberately violated their consciences; as a result, their faith has been shipwrecked.
20Hymenaeus and Alexander are two examples. I threw them out and handed them over to Satan so they might learn not to blaspheme God.

1 Timothy 2

INSTRUCTIONS ABOUT WORSHIP

1I urge you, first of all, to pray for all people. Ask God to help them; intercede on their behalf, and give thanks for them. 2Pray this way for kings and all who are in authority so that we can live peaceful and quiet lives marked by godliness and dignity. 3This is good and pleases God our Savior, 4who wants everyone to be saved and to understand the truth. 5For,

There is one God and one Mediator who can reconcile God and humanity—the man Christ Jesus. 6He gave his life to purchase freedom for everyone.

This is the message God gave to the world at just the right time.
7And I have been chosen as a preacher and apostle to teach the Gentiles this message about faith and truth. I'm not exaggerating—just telling the truth.

8In every place of worship, I want men to pray with holy hands lifted up to God, free from anger and controversy.

9And I want women to be modest in their appearance.* They should wear decent and appropriate clothing and not draw attention to themselves by the way they fix their hair or by wearing gold or pearls or expensive clothes. 10For women who claim to be devoted to God should make themselves attractive by the good things they do.

11Women should learn quietly and submissively. 12I do not let women teach men or have authority over them.* Let them listen quietly. 13For God made Adam first, and afterward he made Eve.
14And it was not Adam who was deceived by Satan. The woman was deceived, and sin was the result. 15But women will be saved through childbearing,* assuming they continue to live in faith, love, holiness, and modesty.

1 Timothy 3

LEADERS IN THE CHURCH

1This is a trustworthy saying: “If someone aspires to be an elder,* he desires an honorable position.” 2So an elder must be a man whose life is above reproach. He must be faithful to his wife.* He must exercise self-control, live wisely, and have a good reputation. He must enjoy having guests in his home, and he must be able to teach.
3He must not be a heavy drinker* or be violent. He must be gentle, not quarrelsome, and not love money. 4He must manage his own family well, having children who respect and obey him. 5For if a man cannot manage his own household, how can he take care of God’s church?

6An elder must not be a new believer, because he might become proud, and the devil would cause him to fall.*7Also, people outside the church must speak well of him so that he will not be disgraced and fall into the devil’s trap.

8In the same way, deacons must be well respected and have integrity. They must not be heavy drinkers or dishonest with money. 9They must be committed to the mystery of the faith now revealed and must live with a clear conscience. 10Before they are appointed as deacons, let them be closely examined. If they pass the test, then let them serve as deacons.

11In the same way, their wives* must be respected and must not slander others. They must exercise self-control and be faithful in everything they do.

12A deacon must be faithful to his wife, and he must manage his children and household well. 13Those who do well as deacons will be rewarded with respect from others and will have increased confidence in their faith in Christ Jesus.

THE TRUTHS OF OUR FAITH

14I am writing these things to you now, even though I hope to be with you soon, 15so that if I am delayed, you will know how people must conduct themselves in the household of God. This is the church of the living God, which is the pillar and foundation of the truth.

16Without question, this is the great mystery of our faith*:

Christ* was revealed in a human body and vindicated by the Spirit.*
He was seen by angels and announced to the nations.
He was believed in throughout the world and taken to heaven in glory.

1 Timothy 4

WARNINGS AGAINST FALSE TEACHERS

1Now the Holy Spirit tells us clearly that in the last times some will turn away from the true faith; they will follow deceptive spirits and teachings that come from demons. 2These people are hypocrites and liars, and their consciences are dead.*

3They will say it is wrong to be married and wrong to eat certain foods. But God created those foods to be eaten with thanks by faithful people who know the truth. 4Since everything God created is good, we should not reject any of it but receive it with thanks.
5For we know it is made acceptable* by the word of God and prayer.

A GOOD SERVANT OF CHRIST JESUS

6If you explain these things to the brothers and sisters,* Timothy, you will be a worthy servant of Christ Jesus, one who is nourished by the message of faith and the good teaching you have followed.
7Do not waste time arguing over godless ideas and old wives' tales.
Instead, train yourself to be godly. 8"Physical training is good, but training for godliness is much better, promising benefits in this life and in the life to come." 9This is a trustworthy saying, and everyone should accept it. 10This is why we work hard and continue to struggle,* for our hope is in the living God, who is the Savior of all people and particularly of all believers.

11Teach these things and insist that everyone learn them. 12Don't let anyone think less of you because you are young. Be an example to all believers in what you say, in the way you live, in your love, your faith, and your purity. 13Until I get there, focus on reading the Scriptures to the church, encouraging the believers, and teaching them.

14Do not neglect the spiritual gift you received through the prophecy spoken over you when the elders of the church laid their hands on you. 15Give your complete attention to these matters.

Throw yourself into your tasks so that everyone will see your progress. 16Keep a close watch on how you live and on your teaching. Stay true to what is right for the sake of your own salvation and the salvation of those who hear you.

1 Timothy 5

ADVICE ABOUT WIDOWS, ELDERS, AND SLAVES

1Never speak harshly to an older man,* but appeal to him respectfully as you would to your own father. Talk to younger men as you would to your own brothers. 2Treat older women as you would your mother, and treat younger women with all purity as you would your own sisters.

3Take care of* any widow who has no one else to care for her. 4But if she has children or grandchildren, their first responsibility is to show godliness at home and repay their parents by taking care of them. This is something that pleases God.

5Now a true widow, a woman who is truly alone in this world, has placed her hope in God. She prays night and day, asking God for his help. 6But the widow who lives only for pleasure is spiritually dead even while she lives. 7Give these instructions to the church so that no one will be open to criticism.

8But those who won't care for their relatives, especially those in their own household, have denied the true faith. Such people are worse than unbelievers.

9A widow who is put on the list for support must be a woman who is at least sixty years old and was faithful to her husband.* 10She must be well respected by everyone because of the good she has done. Has she brought up her children well? Has she been kind to strangers and served other believers humbly?* Has she helped those who are in trouble? Has she always been ready to do good?

11The younger widows should not be on the list, because their physical desires will overpower their devotion to Christ and they will want to remarry. 12Then they would be guilty of breaking their previous pledge. 13And if they are on the list, they will learn to be lazy and will spend their time gossiping from house to house, meddling in other people's business and talking about things they shouldn't. 14So I advise these younger widows to marry again, have children, and take care of their own homes. Then the enemy will not be able to say anything against them. 15For I am afraid that some of them have already gone astray and now follow Satan.

16If a woman who is a believer has relatives who are widows, she must take care of them and not put the responsibility on the church.
Then the church can care for the widows who are truly alone.

17Elders who do their work well should be respected and paid well,* especially those who work hard at both preaching and teaching.
18For the Scripture says, "You must not muzzle an ox to keep it from eating as it treads out the grain." And in another place, "Those who work deserve their pay!"*

19Do not listen to an accusation against an elder unless it is confirmed by two or three witnesses. 20Those who sin should be reprimanded in front of the whole church; this will serve as a strong warning to others.

21I solemnly command you in the presence of God and Christ Jesus and the highest angels to obey these instructions without taking sides or showing favoritism to anyone.

22Never be in a hurry about appointing a church leader.* Do not share in the sins of others. Keep yourself pure.

23Don't drink only water. You ought to drink a little wine for the sake of your stomach because you are sick so often.

24Remember, the sins of some people are obvious, leading them to certain judgment. But there are others whose sins will not be revealed until later. 25In the same way, the good deeds of some people are obvious. And the good deeds done in secret will someday come to light.

1 Timothy 6

1All slaves should show full respect for their masters so they will not bring shame on the name of God and his teaching. 2If the masters are believers, that is no excuse for being disrespectful. Those slaves should work all the harder because their efforts are helping other believers* who are well loved.

FALSE TEACHING AND TRUE RICHES

Teach these things, Timothy, and encourage everyone to obey them.
3Some people may contradict our teaching, but these are the wholesome teachings of the Lord Jesus Christ. These teachings promote a godly life. 4Anyone who teaches something different is arrogant and lacks understanding. Such a person has an unhealthy desire to quibble over the meaning of words. This stirs up arguments ending in jealousy, division, slander, and evil suspicions.
5These people always cause trouble. Their minds are corrupt, and they have turned their backs on the truth. To them, a show of godliness is just a way to become wealthy.

6Yet true godliness with contentment is itself great wealth. 7After all, we brought nothing with us when we came into the world, and we can't take anything with us when we leave it. 8So if we have enough food and clothing, let us be content.

9But people who long to be rich fall into temptation and are trapped by many foolish and harmful desires that plunge them into ruin and destruction. 10For the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil. And some people, craving money, have wandered from the true faith and pierced themselves with many sorrows.

BLESSINGS 1 TIMOTHY 6:15-16

PAUL'S FINAL INSTRUCTIONS

11But you, Timothy, are a man of God; so run from all these evil things. Pursue righteousness and a godly life, along with faith, love, perseverance, and gentleness. 12Fight the good fight for the true faith. Hold tightly to the eternal life to which God has called you, which you have declared so well before many witnesses. 13And I charge you before God, who gives life to all, and before Christ Jesus, who gave a good testimony before Pontius Pilate, 14that you obey this command without wavering. Then no one can find fault with you from now until our Lord Jesus Christ comes again. 15For,

At just the right time Christ will be revealed from heaven by the blessed and only almighty God, the King of all kings and Lord of all lords. 16He alone can never die, and he lives in light so brilliant that no human can approach him. No human eye has ever seen him, nor ever will. All honor and power to him forever! Amen.

17Teach those who are rich in this world not to be proud and not to trust in their money, which is so unreliable. Their trust should be in God, who richly gives us all we need for our enjoyment. 18Tell them to use their money to do good. They should be rich in good works and generous to those in need, always being ready to share with others. 19By doing this they will be storing up their treasure as a good foundation for the future so that they may experience true life.

20Timothy, guard what God has entrusted to you. Avoid godless, foolish discussions with those who oppose you with their so-called knowledge. 21Some people have wandered from the faith by following such foolishness.

May God's grace be with you all.

WELCOME TO

2 TIMOTHY

Paul writes a second letter—probably the last letter he will write before his death—to Timothy from prison in Rome. Because Timothy is a close friend to Paul, this is a highly personal letter that expresses some of Paul's deepest feelings. Paul testifies of God's faithfulness in leading him throughout his entire life. Paul also looks to the future, at what Timothy may face. He provides encouragement to Timothy, outlines the characteristics of a faithful minister, and commissions Timothy to carry on Paul's work of spreading the Good News. He instructs the young leader to stand firm in the face of coming persecutions. Although Paul knows his life and ministry are coming to an end, he faces his circumstances with faith and hope.

FINDING JESUS IN 2 TIMOTHY

In this book, Paul points to Jesus as the one who gives strength and grace to endure every hardship a Christian might face—even martyrdom. Paul places his trust in Jesus' power over death, confident that "the Lord . . . will bring me safely into his heavenly Kingdom" (4:18). Jesus is "the Lord, the righteous Judge" who will give a crown of righteousness to "all who eagerly look forward to his appearing" (4:8).

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, chosen by the will of God to be an apostle of Christ Jesus. I have been sent out to tell others about the life he has promised through faith in Christ Jesus.

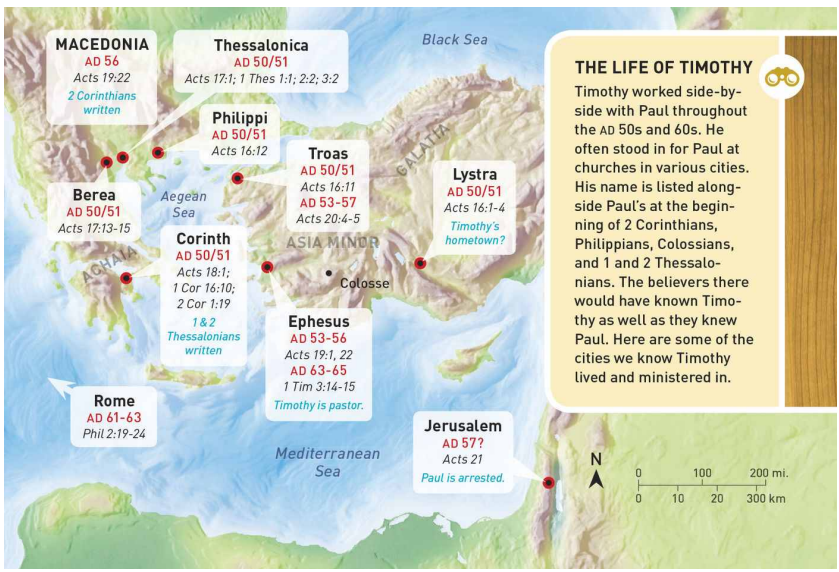
2I am writing to Timothy, my dear son.

May God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord give you grace,
mercy, and peace.

DON'T FEAR 2 TIMOTHY 1:3-11



THE LIFE OF TIMOTHY

ENCOURAGEMENT TO BE FAITHFUL

3Timothy, I thank God for you—the God I serve with a clear conscience, just as my ancestors did. Night and day I constantly remember you in my prayers. 4I long to see you again, for I remember your tears as we parted. And I will be filled with joy when we are together again.

5I remember your genuine faith, for you share the faith that first filled your grandmother Lois and your mother, Eunice. And I know that same faith continues strong in you. 6This is why I remind you to fan into flames the spiritual gift God gave you when I laid my hands on you. 7For God has not given us a spirit of fear and timidity, but of power, love, and self-discipline.

8So never be ashamed to tell others about our Lord. And don't be ashamed of me, either, even though I'm in prison for him. With the strength God gives you, be ready to suffer with me for the sake of the Good News. 9For God saved us and called us to live a holy life.
He did this, not because we deserved it, but because that was his plan from before the beginning of time—to show us his grace through Christ Jesus. 10And now he has made all of this plain to us by the appearing of Christ Jesus, our Savior. He broke the power of death and illuminated the way to life and immortality through the Good News. 11And God chose me to be a preacher, an apostle, and a teacher of this Good News.

12That is why I am suffering here in prison. But I am not ashamed of it, for I know the one in whom I trust, and I am sure that he is able to guard what I have entrusted to him* until the day of his return.

13Hold on to the pattern of wholesome teaching you learned from me—a pattern shaped by the faith and love that you have in Christ Jesus. 14Through the power of the Holy Spirit who lives within us, carefully guard the precious truth that has been entrusted to you.

15As you know, everyone from the province of Asia has deserted me —even Phygelus and Hermogenes.

16May the Lord show special kindness to Onesiphorus and all his family because he often visited and encouraged me. He was never ashamed of me because I was in chains. 17When he came to Rome, he searched everywhere until he found me. 18May the Lord show him special kindness on the day of Christ's return. And you know very well how helpful he was in Ephesus.

2 Timothy 2

A GOOD SOLDIER OF CHRIST JESUS

1Timothy, my dear son, be strong through the grace that God gives you in Christ Jesus. 2You have heard me teach things that have been confirmed by many reliable witnesses. Now teach these truths to other trustworthy people who will be able to pass them on to others.

3Endure suffering along with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. 4Soldiers don't get tied up in the affairs of civilian life, for then they cannot please the officer who enlisted them. 5And athletes cannot win the prize unless they follow the rules. 6And hardworking farmers should be the first to enjoy the fruit of their labor. 7Think about what I am saying. The Lord will help you understand all these things.

8Always remember that Jesus Christ, a descendant of King David, was raised from the dead. This is the Good News I preach. 9And because I preach this Good News, I am suffering and have been chained like a criminal. But the word of God cannot be chained. 10So I am willing to endure anything if it will bring salvation and eternal glory in Christ Jesus to those God has chosen.

11This is a trustworthy saying:

If we die with him,
we will also live with him.

12If we endure hardship,
we will reign with him.
If we deny him,

he will deny us.

13If we are unfaithful,
he remains faithful,
for he cannot deny who he is.

14Remind everyone about these things, and command them in God's presence to stop fighting over words. Such arguments are useless, and they can ruin those who hear them.

AN APPROVED WORKER

15Work hard so you can present yourself to God and receive his approval. Be a good worker, one who does not need to be ashamed and who correctly explains the word of truth. 16Avoid worthless, foolish talk that only leads to more godless behavior. 17This kind of talk spreads like cancer,* as in the case of Hymenaeus and Philetus. 18They have left the path of truth, claiming that the resurrection of the dead has already occurred; in this way, they have turned some people away from the faith.

19But God's truth stands firm like a foundation stone with this inscription: "The LORD knows those who are his,"* and "All who belong to the LORD must turn away from evil."*

20In a wealthy home some utensils are made of gold and silver, and some are made of wood and clay. The expensive utensils are used for special occasions, and the cheap ones are for everyday use. 21If you keep yourself pure, you will be a special utensil for honorable use. Your life will be clean, and you will be ready for the Master to use you for every good work.

22Run from anything that stimulates youthful lusts. Instead, pursue righteous living, faithfulness, love, and peace. Enjoy the companionship of those who call on the Lord with pure hearts.

23Again I say, don't get involved in foolish, ignorant arguments that only start fights. 24A servant of the Lord must not quarrel but must be kind to everyone, be able to teach, and be patient with difficult people. 25Gently instruct those who oppose the truth. Perhaps God will change those people's hearts, and they will learn the truth. 26Then they will come to their senses and escape from the devil's trap. For they have been held captive by him to do whatever he wants.

2 Timothy 3

THE DANGERS OF THE LAST DAYS

1You should know this, Timothy, that in the last days there will be very difficult times. 2For people will love only themselves and their money. They will be boastful and proud, scoffing at God, disobedient to their parents, and ungrateful. They will consider nothing sacred. 3They will be unloving and unforgiving; they will slander others and have no self-control. They will be cruel and hate what is good. 4They will betray their friends, be reckless, be puffed up with pride, and love pleasure rather than God. 5They will act religious, but they will reject the power that could make them godly. Stay away from people like that!

6They are the kind who work their way into people's homes and win the confidence of* vulnerable women who are burdened with the guilt of sin and controlled by various desires. 7(Such women are forever following new teachings, but they are never able to understand the truth.) 8These teachers oppose the truth just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses. They have depraved minds and a counterfeit faith. 9But they won't get away with this for long. Someday everyone will recognize what fools they are, just as with Jannes and Jambres.

PAUL'S CHARGE TO TIMOTHY

10But you, Timothy, certainly know what I teach, and how I live, and what my purpose in life is. You know my faith, my patience, my love, and my endurance. 11You know how much persecution and suffering I have endured. You know all about how I was persecuted in Antioch, Iconium, and Lystra—but the Lord rescued me from all of it. 12Yes, and everyone who wants to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will suffer persecution. 13But evil people and impostors will flourish. They will deceive others and will themselves be deceived.

14But you must remain faithful to the things you have been taught. You know they are true, for you know you can trust those who taught you. 15You have been taught the holy Scriptures from childhood, and they have given you the wisdom to receive the salvation that comes by trusting in Christ Jesus. 16All Scripture is inspired by God and is useful to teach us what is true and to make us realize what is wrong in our lives. It corrects us when we are wrong and teaches us to do what is right. 17God uses it to prepare and equip his people to do every good work.

2 Timothy 4

1I solemnly urge you in the presence of God and Christ Jesus, who will someday judge the living and the dead when he comes to set up his Kingdom: 2Preach the word of God. Be prepared, whether the time is favorable or not. Patiently correct, rebuke, and encourage your people with good teaching.

3For a time is coming when people will no longer listen to sound and wholesome teaching. They will follow their own desires and will look for teachers who will tell them whatever their itching ears want to hear. 4They will reject the truth and chase after myths.

5But you should keep a clear mind in every situation. Don't be afraid of suffering for the Lord. Work at telling others the Good News, and fully carry out the ministry God has given you.

6As for me, my life has already been poured out as an offering to God. The time of my death is near. 7I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, and I have remained faithful. 8And now the prize awaits me—the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give me on the day of his return. And the prize is not just for me but for all who eagerly look forward to his appearing.

PAUL'S FINAL WORDS

9Timothy, please come as soon as you can. 10Demas has deserted me because he loves the things of this life and has gone to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, and Titus has gone to Dalmatia. 11Only Luke is with me. Bring Mark with you when you come, for he will be helpful to me in my ministry. 12I sent Tychicus to Ephesus. 13When you come, be sure to bring the coat I left with Carpus at Troas. Also bring my books, and especially my papers.*

14Alexander the coppersmith did me much harm, but the Lord will judge him for what he has done. 15Be careful of him, for he fought against everything we said.

16The first time I was brought before the judge, no one came with me. Everyone abandoned me. May it not be counted against them. 17But the Lord stood with me and gave me strength so that I might preach the Good News in its entirety for all the Gentiles to hear. And he rescued me from certain death.*18Yes, and the Lord will deliver me from every evil attack and will bring me safely into his heavenly Kingdom. All glory to God forever and ever! Amen.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

19Give my greetings to Priscilla and Aquila and those living in the household of Onesiphorus. 20Erastus stayed at Corinth, and I left Trophimus sick at Miletus.

21Do your best to get here before winter. Eubulus sends you greetings, and so do Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brothers and sisters.*

22May the Lord be with your spirit. And may his grace be with all of you.

Titus

Introduction 1 2 3

WELCOME TO

TITUS

Paul writes this letter to a young pastor, Titus, who is in charge of the church on the island of Crete. Titus was one of Paul's coworkers in spreading the gospel among the Gentiles, but he has stayed in Crete to strengthen and instruct the believers there while Paul continues his ministry elsewhere. Paul gives him instructions for selecting elders and leaders who will promote true Christian teaching. He emphasizes the importance of living out the faith in every aspect of life—a person's spirituality must be evident in all they say and do. And he encourages Titus by promising to send him people to help with the ministry on Crete.

ON THE SCENIC ROUTE: Only one stop is necessary to read much of this letter. Paul's key point is the importance of doing good in every aspect of life. Your next stop is at Titus 2:11.

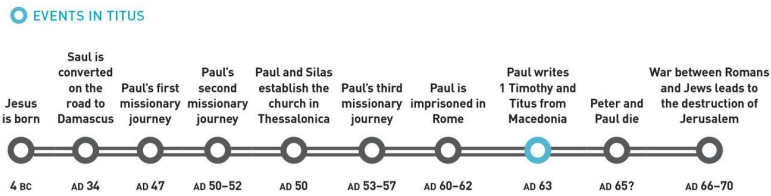
FINDING JESUS IN TITUS

In Titus, Jesus is the one who saves us from our sins, but he is also the one who gives us the power and desire to do good work in his name. Jesus' death on the cross formed God's people into a community that is "totally committed to doing good deeds" (2:14). And through Christ, the Spirit came "so that all who trust in God will devote themselves to doing good" (3:8). This good work can happen in daily, ordinary, routine ways that are often overlooked, but it happens because Jesus has opened the way and given us the strength to walk in it.



Titus 1

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, a slave of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ. I have been sent to proclaim faith to* those God has chosen and to teach them to know the truth that shows them how to live godly lives. 2This truth gives them confidence that they have eternal life, which God—who does not lie—promised them before the world began. 3And now at just the right time he has revealed this message, which we announce to everyone. It is by the command of God our Savior that I have been entrusted with this work for him.

4I am writing to Titus, my true son in the faith that we share.

May God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior give you grace and peace.

CRETE

TITUS'S WORK IN CRETE

5I left you on the island of Crete so you could complete our work

there and appoint elders in each town as I instructed you. 6An elder must live a blameless life. He must be faithful to his wife,* and his children must be believers who don't have a reputation for being wild or rebellious. 7An elder* is a manager of God's household, so he must live a blameless life. He must not be arrogant or quick-tempered; he must not be a heavy drinker,* violent, or dishonest with money.

8Rather, he must enjoy having guests in his home, and he must love what is good. He must live wisely and be just. He must live a devout and disciplined life. 9He must have a strong belief in the trustworthy message he was taught; then he will be able to encourage others with wholesome teaching and show those who oppose it where they are wrong.

10For there are many rebellious people who engage in useless talk and deceive others. This is especially true of those who insist on circumcision for salvation. 11They must be silenced, because they are turning whole families away from the truth by their false teaching. And they do it only for money. 12Even one of their own men, a prophet from Crete, has said about them, "The people of Crete are all liars, cruel animals, and lazy gluttons."*13This is true. So reprimand them sternly to make them strong in the faith. 14They must stop listening to Jewish myths and the commands of people who have turned away from the truth.

15Everything is pure to those whose hearts are pure. But nothing is pure to those who are corrupt and unbelieving, because their minds and consciences are corrupted. 16Such people claim they know God, but they deny him by the way they live. They are detestable and disobedient, worthless for doing anything good.

Titus 2

PROMOTE RIGHT TEACHING

1As for you, Titus, promote the kind of living that reflects wholesome teaching. 2Teach the older men to exercise self-control, to be worthy of respect, and to live wisely. They must have sound faith and be filled with love and patience.

3Similarly, teach the older women to live in a way that honors God.
They must not slander others or be heavy drinkers.* Instead, they should teach others what is good. 4These older women must train the younger women to love their husbands and their children, 5to live wisely and be pure, to work in their homes,* to do good, and to be submissive to their husbands. Then they will not bring shame on the word of God.

6In the same way, encourage the young men to live wisely. 7And you yourself must be an example to them by doing good works of every kind. Let everything you do reflect the integrity and seriousness of your teaching. 8Teach the truth so that your teaching can't be criticized. Then those who oppose us will be ashamed and have nothing bad to say about us.

9Slaves must always obey their masters and do their best to please them. They must not talk back 10or steal, but must show themselves to be entirely trustworthy and good. Then they will make the teaching about God our Savior attractive in every way.

11For the grace of God has been revealed, bringing salvation to all people. 12And we are instructed to turn from godless living and sinful pleasures. We should live in this evil world with wisdom, righteousness, and devotion to God, 13while we look forward with hope to that wonderful day when the glory of our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ, will be revealed. 14He gave his life to free us from every kind of sin, to cleanse us, and to make us his very own people, totally committed to doing good deeds.

15You must teach these things and encourage the believers to do them. You have the authority to correct them when necessary, so don't let anyone disregard what you say.

Titus 3

DO WHAT IS GOOD

1Remind the believers to submit to the government and its officers.
They should be obedient, always ready to do what is good. 2They must not slander anyone and must avoid quarreling. Instead, they should be gentle and show true humility to everyone.

3Once we, too, were foolish and disobedient. We were misled and became slaves to many lusts and pleasures. Our lives were full of evil and envy, and we hated each other. 4But—

When God our Savior revealed his kindness and love, 5he saved us, not because of the righteous things we had done, but because of his mercy. He washed away our sins, giving us a new birth and new life through the Holy Spirit.*6He generously poured out the Spirit upon us through Jesus Christ our Savior. 7Because of his grace he declared us righteous and gave us confidence that we will inherit eternal life.

8This is a trustworthy saying, and I want you to insist on these teachings so that all who trust in God will devote themselves to doing good. These teachings are good and beneficial for everyone.

9Do not get involved in foolish discussions about spiritual pedigrees* or in quarrels and fights about obedience to Jewish laws.
These things are useless and a waste of time. 10If people are causing divisions among you, give a first and second warning. After that, have nothing more to do with them. 11For people like that have turned away from the truth, and their own sins condemn them.

PAUL'S FINAL REMARKS AND GREETINGS

12I am planning to send either Artemas or Tychicus to you. As soon as one of them arrives, do your best to meet me at Nicopolis, for I have decided to stay there for the winter. 13Do everything you can to help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos with their trip. See that they are given everything they need. 14Our people must learn to do good by meeting the urgent needs of others; then they will not be unproductive.

15Everybody here sends greetings. Please give my greetings to the believers—all who love us.

May God's grace be with you all.

Philemon

WELCOME TO

PHILEMON

Philemon is a Christian and slave owner in the city of Colosse. His slave Onesimus has run away, and found his way to Rome. There, Onesimus hears the Good News from Paul and he too becomes a believer. Now Paul writes this letter to encourage Philemon to take Onesimus back, not only as a slave but as a Christian brother. Paul hopes to make Onesimus , whose name means “useful,” truly useful to both Philemon and the ministry of Christ’s gospel.

Paul sees more in these circumstances than just a reinstatement of the social order. He sees the broken agreement between slave and master and the need for forgiveness and reconciliation as a picture of Christ’s own work in reconciling humanity with God. Paul also is aware that the people in Colosse who see Philemon reconcile with Onesimus will witness the transforming power of the Good News.

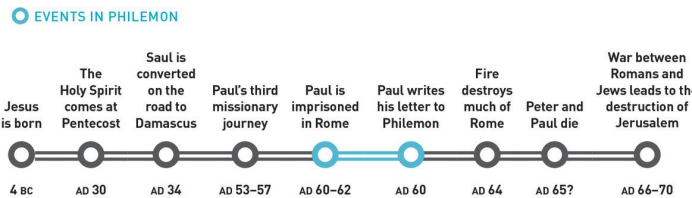
FINDING JESUS IN PHILEMON

Jesus is at the core of this letter. Paul stresses that because Christ has forgiven us, we must forgive others, especially fellow Christians. Paul's work as mediator between Philemon and the slave Onesimus echoes what Christ has done for us with God the Father. By forgiving us, Jesus restores our relationship with God.



WHO, ME? PHILEMON 1:1-25

PHILEMON AND THE COLOSSIANS

GREETINGS FROM PAUL

1This letter is from Paul, a prisoner for preaching the Good News about Christ Jesus, and from our brother Timothy.

I am writing to Philemon, our beloved co-worker, 2and to our sister Apphia, and to our fellow soldier Archippus, and to the church that meets in your* house.

3May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you grace and peace.

PAUL'S THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER

4I always thank my God when I pray for you, Philemon, 5because I keep hearing about your faith in the Lord Jesus and your love for all of God's people. 6And I am praying that you will put into action the generosity that comes from your faith as you understand and experience all the good things we have in Christ. 7Your love has given me much joy and comfort, my brother, for your kindness has often refreshed the hearts of God's people.

PAUL'S APPEAL FOR ONESIMUS

8That is why I am boldly asking a favor of you. I could demand it in the name of Christ because it is the right thing for you to do. 9But because of our love, I prefer simply to ask you. Consider this as a request from me—Paul, an old man and now also a prisoner for the sake of Christ Jesus.*

10I appeal to you to show kindness to my child, Onesimus. I became his father in the faith while here in prison. 11Onesimus* hasn't been of much use to you in the past, but now he is very useful to both of us. 12I am sending him back to you, and with him comes my own heart.

13I wanted to keep him here with me while I am in these chains for preaching the Good News, and he would have helped me on your behalf. 14But I didn't want to do anything without your consent. I wanted you to help because you were willing, not because you were forced. 15It seems you lost Onesimus for a little while so that you could have him back forever. 16He is no longer like a slave to you.

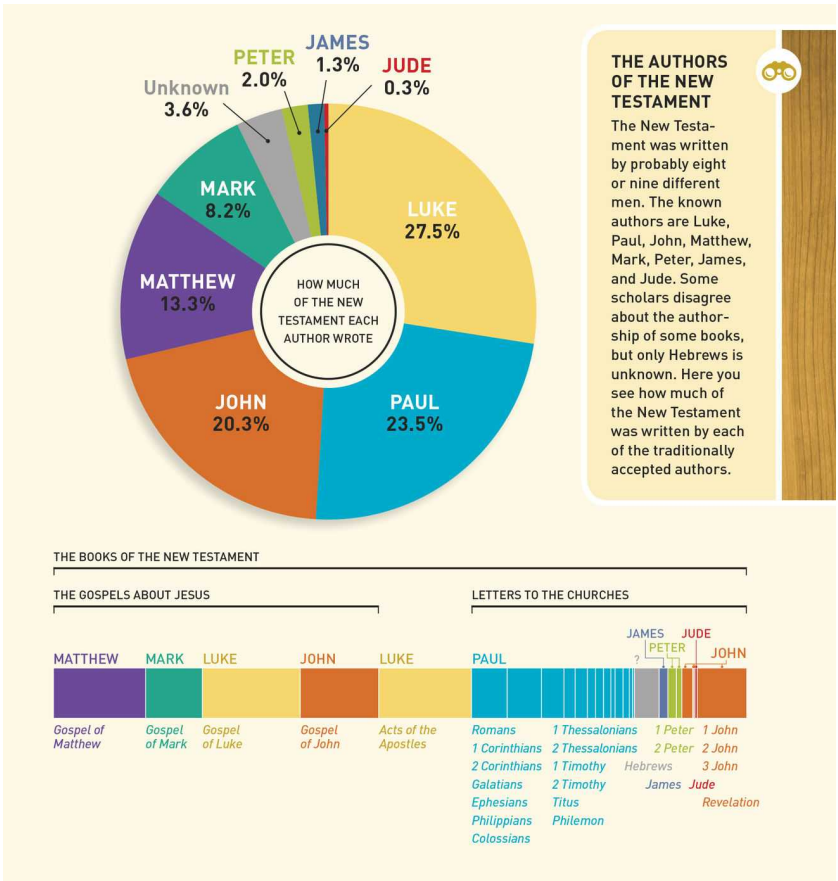
He is more than a slave, for he is a beloved brother, especially to me. Now he will mean much more to you, both as a man and as a brother in the Lord.



THE AUTHORS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

17So if you consider me your partner, welcome him as you would welcome me. 18If he has wronged you in any way or owes you anything, charge it to me. 19I, PAUL, WRITE THIS WITH MY OWN HAND: I WILL REPAY IT. AND I WON'T MENTION THAT YOU OWE ME YOUR VERY SOUL!

20Yes, my brother, please do me this favor* for the Lord's sake. Give me this encouragement in Christ.

21I am confident as I write this letter that you will do what I ask and even more! 22One more thing—please prepare a guest room for me, for I am hoping that God will answer your prayers and let me return to you soon.

PAUL'S FINAL GREETINGS

23Epaphras, my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, sends you his greetings. 24So do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke, my co-workers.

25May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

WELCOME TO

HEBREWS

Hebrews is written to Jewish Christians who are thinking of returning to the old laws of Judaism. The author sets out to show that Christ has fulfilled the purposes of Judaism and that Judaism had nothing more to offer the believer. The time of fulfillment has arrived, and the old life is far surpassed by the new life found in Christ. This letter encourages the Jewish believers to hold on to Christ and move on to a mature faith.

By engaging with Jewish history and beliefs, the writer of Hebrews shows that Christ is superior in every way to these traditions and laws. Christ has offered a better sacrifice to God and now mediates a better covenant between God and humanity. The Christian's life of faith is also better than life under the law's sacrificial system. The author offers as proof the numerous Old Testament heroes who led lives of faith, believing in God's promises long before Jesus came to earth.

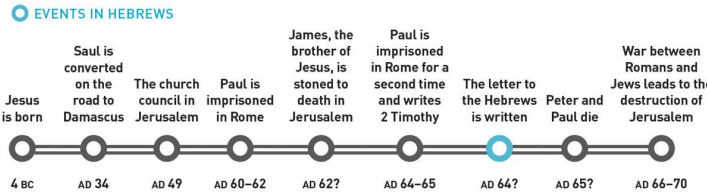
FINDING JESUS IN HEBREWS

In Hebrews, Jesus is revealed as the perfect prophet, priest, and sacrifice. He is superior to everything and everyone. He is superior to angels (1:5-14), Moses (3:1-6), and the Jewish high priests (5:1-10; 7:1-28). Jesus is superior first and foremost because he is God's Son (1:1-4). He is the perfect reflection and the very expression of God. Jesus sustains the whole world by his command, and he remains unchanging and reliable from beginning to end (13:8).



Hebrews 1

JESUS CHRIST IS GOD'S SON

1Long ago God spoke many times and in many ways to our ancestors through the prophets. 2And now in these final days, he has spoken to us through his Son. God promised everything to the Son as an inheritance, and through the Son he created the universe.
3The Son radiates God's own glory and expresses the very character of God, and he sustains everything by the mighty power of his command. When he had cleansed us from our sins, he sat down in the place of honor at the right hand of the majestic God in heaven.
4This shows that the Son is far greater than the angels, just as the name God gave him is greater than their names.

THE SON IS GREATER THAN THE ANGELS

5For God never said to any angel what he said to Jesus: “You are my Son.

Today I have become your Father.*”

God also said, “I will be his Father, and he will be my Son.”*

6And when he brought his supreme* Son into the world, God said,*

“Let all of God’s angels worship him.”*

7Regarding the angels, he says, “He sends his angels like the winds, his servants like flames of fire.”*

8But to the Son he says, “Your throne, O God, endures forever and ever.

You rule with a scepter of justice.

9You love justice and hate evil.
Therefore, O God, your God has anointed you, pouring out the oil of joy on you more than on anyone else.”*

10He also says to the Son, “In the beginning, Lord, you laid the foundation of the earth and made the heavens with your hands.

11They will perish, but you remain forever.
They will wear out like old clothing.

12You will fold them up like a cloak and discard them like old clothing.

But you are always the same; you will live forever.”*

13And God never said to any of the angels, “Sit in the place of honor at my right hand until I humble your enemies, making them a footstool under your feet.”*

14Therefore, angels are only servants—spirits sent to care for people who will inherit salvation.

Hebrews 2

A WARNING AGAINST DRIFTING AWAY

1So we must listen very carefully to the truth we have heard, or we may drift away from it. 2For the message God delivered through angels has always stood firm, and every violation of the law and every act of disobedience was punished. 3So what makes us think we can escape if we ignore this great salvation that was first announced by the Lord Jesus himself and then delivered to us by those who heard him speak? 4And God confirmed the message by giving signs and wonders and various miracles and gifts of the Holy Spirit whenever he chose.

JESUS, THE MAN

5And furthermore, it is not angels who will control the future world we are talking about. 6For in one place the Scriptures say, “What are mere mortals that you should think about them, or a son of man* that you should care for him?

7Yet you made them only a little lower than the angels and crowned them with glory and honor.*

8You gave them authority over all things.”*

Now when it says “all things,” it means nothing is left out. But we have not yet seen all things put under their authority. 9What we do see is Jesus, who was given a position “a little lower than the angels”; and because he suffered death for us, he is now “crowned with glory and honor.” Yes, by God’s grace, Jesus tasted death for everyone. 10God, for whom and through whom everything was made, chose to bring many children into glory. And it was only right that he should make Jesus, through his suffering, a perfect leader, fit to bring them into their salvation.

11So now Jesus and the ones he makes holy have the same Father.
That is why Jesus is not ashamed to call them his brothers and sisters.*12For he said to God, “I will proclaim your name to my brothers and sisters.

I will praise you among your assembled people.”*

13He also said, “I will put my trust in him,” that is, “I and the children God has given me.”*

14Because God’s children are human beings—made of flesh and blood—the Son also became flesh and blood. For only as a human being could he die, and only by dying could he break the power of the devil, who had* the power of death. 15Only in this way could he set free all who have lived their lives as slaves to the fear of dying.

16We also know that the Son did not come to help angels; he came to help the descendants of Abraham. 17Therefore, it was necessary for him to be made in every respect like us, his brothers and sisters,* so that he could be our merciful and faithful High Priest before God. Then he could offer a sacrifice that would take away the sins of the people. 18Since he himself has gone through suffering and testing, he is able to help us when we are being tested.

Hebrews 3

JESUS IS GREATER THAN MOSES

1And so, dear brothers and sisters who belong to God and* are partners with those called to heaven, think carefully about this Jesus whom we declare to be God's messenger* and High Priest.
2For he was faithful to God, who appointed him, just as Moses served faithfully when he was entrusted with God's entire* house.

3But Jesus deserves far more glory than Moses, just as a person who builds a house deserves more praise than the house itself. 4For every house has a builder, but the one who built everything is God.

5Moses was certainly faithful in God's house as a servant. His work was an illustration of the truths God would reveal later. 6But Christ, as the Son, is in charge of God's entire house. And we are God's house, if we keep our courage and remain confident in our hope in Christ.*

7That is why the Holy Spirit says, "Today when you hear his voice, 8don't harden your hearts as Israel did when they rebelled, when they tested me in the wilderness.

9There your ancestors tested and tried my patience, even though they saw my miracles for forty years.

10So I was angry with them, and I said, ‘Their hearts always turn away from me.
They refuse to do what I tell them.’

11So in my anger I took an oath: ‘They will never enter my place of rest.’”*

12Be careful then, dear brothers and sisters.* Make sure that your own hearts are not evil and unbelieving, turning you away from the living God. 13You must warn each other every day, while it is still “today,” so that none of you will be deceived by sin and hardened against God. 14For if we are faithful to the end, trusting God just as firmly as when we first believed, we will share in all that belongs to Christ. 15Remember what it says: “Today when you hear his voice, don’t harden your hearts as Israel did when they rebelled.”*

16And who was it who rebelled against God, even though they heard his voice? Wasn’t it the people Moses led out of Egypt? 17And who made God angry for forty years? Wasn’t it the people who sinned, whose corpses lay in the wilderness? 18And to whom was God speaking when he took an oath that they would never enter his rest? Wasn’t it the people who disobeyed him? 19So we see that because of their unbelief they were not able to enter his rest.

Hebrews 4

PROMISED REST FOR GOD’S PEOPLE

1God’s promise of entering his rest still stands, so we ought to tremble with fear that some of you might fail to experience it. 2For this good news—that God has prepared this rest—has been announced to us just as it was to them. But it did them no good because they didn’t share the faith of those who listened to God.3For only we who believe can enter his rest. As for the others, God said, “In my anger I took an oath: ‘They will never enter my place of rest,’”

even though this rest has been ready since he made the world. 4We know it is ready because of the place in the Scriptures where it mentions the seventh day: “On the seventh day God rested from all his work.”* 5But in the other passage God said, “They will never enter my place of rest.”*

6So God’s rest is there for people to enter, but those who first heard this good news failed to enter because they disobeyed God. 7So God set another time for entering his rest, and that time is today. God announced this through David much later in the words already quoted: “Today when you hear his voice, don’t harden your hearts.”*

8Now if Joshua had succeeded in giving them this rest, God would not have spoken about another day of rest still to come. 9So there is a special rest* still waiting for the people of God. 10For all who have entered into God’s rest have rested from their labors, just as God did after creating the world. 11So let us do our best to enter that rest. But if we disobey God, as the people of Israel did, we will fall.

12For the word of God is alive and powerful. It is sharper than the sharpest two-edged sword, cutting between soul and spirit, between joint and marrow. It exposes our innermost thoughts and desires. 13Nothing in all creation is hidden from God. Everything is naked and exposed before his eyes, and he is the one to whom we are accountable.

SUFFERING HEBREWS 4:14-16

CHRIST IS OUR HIGH PRIEST

14So then, since we have a great High Priest who has entered heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to what we believe.
15This High Priest of ours understands our weaknesses, for he faced all of the same testings we do, yet he did not sin. 16So let us come boldly to the throne of our gracious God. There we will receive his mercy, and we will find grace to help us when we need it most.

Hebrews 5

1Every high priest is a man chosen to represent other people in their dealings with God. He presents their gifts to God and offers sacrifices for their sins. 2And he is able to deal gently with ignorant and wayward people because he himself is subject to the same weaknesses. 3That is why he must offer sacrifices for his own sins as well as theirs.

4And no one can become a high priest simply because he wants such an honor. He must be called by God for this work, just as Aaron was. 5That is why Christ did not honor himself by assuming he could become High Priest. No, he was chosen by God, who said to him, “You are my Son.

Today I have become your Father.*”

6And in another passage God said to him, “You are a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek.”*

7While Jesus was here on earth, he offered prayers and pleadings, with a loud cry and tears, to the one who could rescue him from death. And God heard his prayers because of his deep reverence for God. 8Even though Jesus was God’s Son, he learned obedience from the things he suffered. 9In this way, God qualified him as a perfect High Priest, and he became the source of eternal salvation for all those who obey him. 10And God designated him to be a High Priest in the order of Melchizedek.

A CALL TO SPIRITUAL GROWTH

11There is much more we would like to say about this, but it is difficult to explain, especially since you are spiritually dull and don't seem to listen. 12You have been believers so long now that you ought to be teaching others. Instead, you need someone to teach you again the basic things about God's word.* You are like babies who need milk and cannot eat solid food. 13For someone who lives on milk is still an infant and doesn't know how to do what is right.
14Solid food is for those who are mature, who through training have the skill to recognize the difference between right and wrong.

Hebrews 6

1So let us stop going over the basic teachings about Christ again and again. Let us go on instead and become mature in our understanding. Surely we don't need to start again with the fundamental importance of repenting from evil deeds* and placing our faith in God. 2You don't need further instruction about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. 3And so, God willing, we will move forward to further understanding.

4For it is impossible to bring back to repentance those who were once enlightened—those who have experienced the good things of heaven and shared in the Holy Spirit, 5who have tasted the goodness of the word of God and the power of the age to come—6and who then turn away from God. It is impossible to bring such people back to repentance; by rejecting the Son of God, they themselves are nailing him to the cross once again and holding him up to public shame.

7When the ground soaks up the falling rain and bears a good crop for the farmer, it has God's blessing. 8But if a field bears thorns and thistles, it is useless. The farmer will soon condemn that field and burn it.

9Dear friends, even though we are talking this way, we really don't believe it applies to you. We are confident that you are meant for better things, things that come with salvation. 10For God is not unjust. He will not forget how hard you have worked for him and how you have shown your love to him by caring for other believers,* as you still do. 11Our great desire is that you will keep on loving others as long as life lasts, in order to make certain that what you hope for will come true. 12Then you will not become spiritually dull and indifferent. Instead, you will follow the example of those who are going to inherit God's promises because of their faith and endurance.

GOD'S PROMISES BRING HOPE

13For example, there was God's promise to Abraham. Since there was no one greater to swear by, God took an oath in his own name, saying:

14"I will certainly bless you, and I will multiply your descendants beyond number."*

15Then Abraham waited patiently, and he received what God had promised.

16Now when people take an oath, they call on someone greater than themselves to hold them to it. And without any question that oath is binding. 17God also bound himself with an oath, so that those who received the promise could be perfectly sure that he would never change his mind. 18So God has given both his promise and his oath. These two things are unchangeable because it is impossible for God to lie. Therefore, we who have fled to him for refuge can have great confidence as we hold to the hope that lies before us. 19This hope is a strong and trustworthy anchor for our souls. It leads us through the curtain into God's inner sanctuary. 20Jesus has already gone in there for us. He has become our eternal High Priest in the order of Melchizedek.

MELCHIZEDEK IS GREATER THAN ABRAHAM

1This Melchizedek was king of the city of Salem and also a priest of God Most High. When Abraham was returning home after winning a great battle against the kings, Melchizedek met him and blessed him. 2Then Abraham took a tenth of all he had captured in battle and gave it to Melchizedek. The name Melchizedek means "king of justice," and king of Salem means "king of peace." 3There is no record of his father or mother or any of his ancestors—no beginning or end to his life. He remains a priest forever, resembling the Son of God.

4Consider then how great this Melchizedek was. Even Abraham, the great patriarch of Israel, recognized this by giving him a tenth of what he had taken in battle. 5Now the law of Moses required that the priests, who are descendants of Levi, must collect a tithe from the rest of the people of Israel,* who are also descendants of Abraham. 6But Melchizedek, who was not a descendant of Levi, collected a tenth from Abraham. And Melchizedek placed a blessing upon Abraham, the one who had already received the promises of God. 7And without question, the person who has the power to give a blessing is greater than the one who is blessed.

8The priests who collect tithes are men who die, so Melchizedek is greater than they are, because we are told that he lives on. 9In addition, we might even say that these Levites—the ones who collect the tithe—paid a tithe to Melchizedek when their ancestor Abraham paid a tithe to him. 10For although Levi wasn't born yet, the seed from which he came was in Abraham's body when Melchizedek collected the tithe from him.

11So if the priesthood of Levi, on which the law was based, could have achieved the perfection God intended, why did God need to establish a different priesthood, with a priest in the order of Melchizedek instead of the order of Levi and Aaron?*

12And if the priesthood is changed, the law must also be changed to permit it. 13For the priest we are talking about belongs to a different tribe, whose members have never served at the altar as priests. 14What I mean is, our Lord came from the tribe of Judah, and Moses never mentioned priests coming from that tribe.

JESUS IS LIKE MELCHIZEDEK

15This change has been made very clear since a different priest, who is like Melchizedek, has appeared. 16Jesus became a priest, not by meeting the physical requirement of belonging to the tribe of Levi, but by the power of a life that cannot be destroyed. 17And the psalmist pointed this out when he prophesied, "You are a priest forever in the order of Melchizedek.”*

18Yes, the old requirement about the priesthood was set aside because it was weak and useless. 19For the law never made anything perfect. But now we have confidence in a better hope, through which we draw near to God.

20This new system was established with a solemn oath. Aaron’s descendants became priests without such an oath, 21but there was an oath regarding Jesus. For God said to him, “The LORD has taken an oath and will not break his vow: ‘You are a priest forever.’”*

22Because of this oath, Jesus is the one who guarantees this better covenant with God.

JESUS IS SUPERIOR

23There were many priests under the old system, for death prevented them from remaining in office. 24But because Jesus lives forever, his priesthood lasts forever. 25Therefore he is able, once and forever, to save* those who come to God through him. He lives forever to intercede with God on their behalf.

26He is the kind of high priest we need because he is holy and blameless, unstained by sin. He has been set apart from sinners and has been given the highest place of honor in heaven.*27Unlike those other high priests, he does not need to offer sacrifices every day.
They did this for their own sins first and then for the sins of the people. But Jesus did this once for all when he offered himself as the sacrifice for the people's sins. 28The law appointed high priests who were limited by human weakness. But after the law was given, God appointed his Son with an oath, and his Son has been made the perfect High Priest forever.

Hebrews 8

CHRIST IS OUR HIGH PRIEST

1Here is the main point: We have a High Priest who sat down in the place of honor beside the throne of the majestic God in heaven.
2There he ministers in the heavenly Tabernacle,* the true place of worship that was built by the Lord and not by human hands.

3And since every high priest is required to offer gifts and sacrifices, our High Priest must make an offering, too. 4If he were here on earth, he would not even be a priest, since there already are priests who offer the gifts required by the law. 5They serve in a system of worship that is only a copy, a shadow of the real one in heaven. For when Moses was getting ready to build the Tabernacle, God gave him this warning: "Be sure that you make everything according to the pattern I have shown you here on the mountain."*

6But now Jesus, our High Priest, has been given a ministry that is far superior to the old priesthood, for he is the one who mediates for us a far better covenant with God, based on better promises.

7If the first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no need for a second covenant to replace it. 8But when God found fault with the people, he said: “The day is coming, says the LORD, when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and Judah.

9This covenant will not be like the one I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand and led them out of the land of Egypt.
They did not remain faithful to my covenant, so I turned my back on them, says the LORD.

10But this is the new covenant I will make with the people of Israel on that day,* says the LORD: I will put my laws in their minds, and I will write them on their hearts.
I will be their God, and they will be my people.

11And they will not need to teach their neighbors, nor will they need to teach their relatives,* saying, ‘You should know the LORD.’
For everyone, from the least to the greatest, will know me already.

12And I will forgive their wickedness, and I will never again remember their sins.”*

13When God speaks of a “new” covenant, it means he has made the first one obsolete. It is now out of date and will soon disappear.

Hebrews 9

OLD RULES ABOUT WORSHIP

1That first covenant between God and Israel had regulations for worship and a place of worship here on earth. 2There were two rooms in that Tabernacle.* In the first room were a lampstand, a table, and sacred loaves of bread on the table. This room was called the Holy Place. 3Then there was a curtain, and behind the curtain was the second room* called the Most Holy Place. 4In that room were a gold incense altar and a wooden chest called the Ark of the Covenant, which was covered with gold on all sides. Inside the Ark were a gold jar containing manna, Aaron's staff that sprouted leaves, and the stone tablets of the covenant. 5Above the Ark were the cherubim of divine glory, whose wings stretched out over the Ark's cover, the place of atonement. But we cannot explain these things in detail now.

6When these things were all in place, the priests regularly entered the first room* as they performed their religious duties. 7But only the high priest ever entered the Most Holy Place, and only once a year. And he always offered blood for his own sins and for the sins the people had committed in ignorance. 8By these regulations the Holy Spirit revealed that the entrance to the Most Holy Place was not freely open as long as the Tabernacle* and the system it represented were still in use.

9This is an illustration pointing to the present time. For the gifts and sacrifices that the priests offer are not able to cleanse the consciences of the people who bring them. 10For that old system deals only with food and drink and various cleansing ceremonies—physical regulations that were in effect only until a better system could be established.

CHRIST IS THE PERFECT SACRIFICE

11So Christ has now become the High Priest over all the good things that have come.* He has entered that greater, more perfect Tabernacle in heaven, which was not made by human hands and is not part of this created world. 12With his own blood—not the blood of goats and calves—he entered the Most Holy Place once for all time and secured our redemption forever.

13Under the old system, the blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer could cleanse people's bodies from ceremonial impurity. 14Just think how much more the blood of Christ will purify our consciences from sinful deeds* so that we can worship the living God. For by the power of the eternal Spirit, Christ offered himself to God as a perfect sacrifice for our sins. 15That is why he is the one who mediates a new covenant between God and people, so that all who are called can receive the eternal inheritance God has promised them. For Christ died to set them free from the penalty of the sins they had committed under that first covenant.

16Now when someone leaves a will,* it is necessary to prove that the person who made it is dead.*17The will goes into effect only after the person's death. While the person who made it is still alive, the will cannot be put into effect.

18That is why even the first covenant was put into effect with the blood of an animal. 19For after Moses had read each of God's commandments to all the people, he took the blood of calves and goats,* along with water, and sprinkled both the book of God's law and all the people, using hyssop branches and scarlet wool. 20Then he said, "This blood confirms the covenant God has made with you."*21And in the same way, he sprinkled blood on the Tabernacle and on everything used for worship. 22In fact, according to the law of Moses, nearly everything was purified with blood. For without the shedding of blood, there is no forgiveness.

23That is why the Tabernacle and everything in it, which were copies of things in heaven, had to be purified by the blood of animals. But the real things in heaven had to be purified with far better sacrifices than the blood of animals.

24For Christ did not enter into a holy place made with human hands, which was only a copy of the true one in heaven. He entered into heaven itself to appear now before God on our behalf. 25And he did not enter heaven to offer himself again and again, like the high priest here on earth who enters the Most Holy Place year after year with the blood of an animal. 26If that had been necessary, Christ would have had to die again and again, ever since the world began. But now, once for all time, he has appeared at the end of the age* to remove sin by his own death as a sacrifice.

27And just as each person is destined to die once and after that comes judgment, 28so also Christ was offered once for all time as a sacrifice to take away the sins of many people. He will come again, not to deal with our sins, but to bring salvation to all who are eagerly waiting for him.

Hebrews 10

CHRIST'S SACRIFICE ONCE FOR ALL

1The old system under the law of Moses was only a shadow, a dim preview of the good things to come, not the good things themselves. The sacrifices under that system were repeated again and again, year after year, but they were never able to provide perfect cleansing for those who came to worship. 2If they could have provided perfect cleansing, the sacrifices would have stopped, for the worshipers would have been purified once for all time, and their feelings of guilt would have disappeared.

3But instead, those sacrifices actually reminded them of their sins year after year. 4For it is not possible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins. 5That is why, when Christ* came into the world, he said to God, "You did not want animal sacrifices or sin offerings.

But you have given me a body to offer.

6You were not pleased with burnt offerings or other offerings for sin.

7Then I said, ‘Look, I have come to do your will, O God— as is written about me in the Scriptures.’”*

8First, Christ said, “You did not want animal sacrifices or sin offerings or burnt offerings or other offerings for sin, nor were you pleased with them” (though they are required by the law of Moses). 9Then he said, “Look, I have come to do your will.” He cancels the first covenant in order to put the second into effect. 10For God’s will was for us to be made holy by the sacrifice of the body of Jesus Christ, once for all time.

11Under the old covenant, the priest stands and ministers before the altar day after day, offering the same sacrifices again and again, which can never take away sins. 12But our High Priest offered himself to God as a single sacrifice for sins, good for all time. Then he sat down in the place of honor at God’s right hand. 13There he waits until his enemies are humbled and made a footstool under his feet. 14For by that one offering he forever made perfect those who are being made holy.

15And the Holy Spirit also testifies that this is so. For he says,

16“This is the new covenant I will make with my people on that day,* says the LORD: I will put my laws in their hearts, and I will write them on their minds.”*

17Then he says, “I will never again remember their sins and lawless deeds.”*

18And when sins have been forgiven, there is no need to offer any more sacrifices.

A CALL TO PERSEVERE

19And so, dear brothers and sisters,* we can boldly enter heaven's Most Holy Place because of the blood of Jesus. 20By his death,* Jesus opened a new and life-giving way through the curtain into the Most Holy Place. 21And since we have a great High Priest who rules over God's house, 22let us go right into the presence of God with sincere hearts fully trusting him. For our guilty consciences have been sprinkled with Christ's blood to make us clean, and our bodies have been washed with pure water.

23Let us hold tightly without wavering to the hope we affirm, for God can be trusted to keep his promise. 24Let us think of ways to motivate one another to acts of love and good works. 25And let us not neglect our meeting together, as some people do, but encourage one another, especially now that the day of his return is drawing near.

26Dear friends, if we deliberately continue sinning after we have received knowledge of the truth, there is no longer any sacrifice that will cover these sins. 27There is only the terrible expectation of God's judgment and the raging fire that will consume his enemies.

28For anyone who refused to obey the law of Moses was put to death without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses.
29Just think how much worse the punishment will be for those who have trampled on the Son of God, and have treated the blood of the covenant, which made us holy, as if it were common and unholy, and have insulted and disdained the Holy Spirit who brings God's mercy to us. 30For we know the one who said, "I will take revenge.

I will pay them back."*

He also said, "The LORD will judge his own people."*

31It is a terrible thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32Think back on those early days when you first learned about Christ.* Remember how you remained faithful even though it meant terrible suffering. 33Sometimes you were exposed to public ridicule and were beaten, and sometimes you helped others who were suffering the same things. 34You suffered along with those who were thrown into jail, and when all you owned was taken from you, you accepted it with joy. You knew there were better things waiting for you that will last forever.

35So do not throw away this confident trust in the Lord. Remember the great reward it brings you! 36Patient endurance is what you need now, so that you will continue to do God's will. Then you will receive all that he has promised.

THE OLD TESTAMENT IN THE NEW

37 "For in just a little while, the Coming One will come and not delay.

38 And my righteous ones will live by faith.*
But I will take no pleasure in anyone who turns away."*

39 But we are not like those who turn away from God to their own destruction. We are the faithful ones, whose souls will be saved.

Hebrews 11

GREAT EXAMPLES OF FAITH

1Faith is the confidence that what we hope for will actually happen; it gives us assurance about things we cannot see. 2Through their faith, the people in days of old earned a good reputation.

3By faith we understand that the entire universe was formed at God's command, that what we now see did not come from anything that can be seen.

4It was by faith that Abel brought a more acceptable offering to God than Cain did. Abel's offering gave evidence that he was a righteous man, and God showed his approval of his gifts. Although Abel is long dead, he still speaks to us by his example of faith.

5It was by faith that Enoch was taken up to heaven without dying
—"he disappeared, because God took him."* For before he was taken up, he was known as a person who pleased God. 6And it is impossible to please God without faith. Anyone who wants to come to him must believe that God exists and that he rewards those who sincerely seek him.

7It was by faith that Noah built a large boat to save his family from the flood. He obeyed God, who warned him about things that had never happened before. By his faith Noah condemned the rest of the world, and he received the righteousness that comes by faith.

8It was by faith that Abraham obeyed when God called him to leave home and go to another land that God would give him as his inheritance. He went without knowing where he was going. 9And even when he reached the land God promised him, he lived there by faith—for he was like a foreigner, living in tents. And so did Isaac and Jacob, who inherited the same promise. 10Abraham was confidently looking forward to a city with eternal foundations, a city designed and built by God.

11It was by faith that even Sarah was able to have a child, though she was barren and was too old. She believed* that God would keep his promise. 12And so a whole nation came from this one man who was as good as dead—a nation with so many people that, like the stars in the sky and the sand on the seashore, there is no way to count them.

13All these people died still believing what God had promised them. They did not receive what was promised, but they saw it all from a distance and welcomed it. They agreed that they were foreigners and nomads here on earth. 14Obviously people who say such things are looking forward to a country they can call their own. 15If they had longed for the country they came from, they could have gone back. 16But they were looking for a better place, a heavenly homeland. That is why God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has prepared a city for them.

17It was by faith that Abraham offered Isaac as a sacrifice when God was testing him. Abraham, who had received God's promises, was ready to sacrifice his only son, Isaac, 18even though God had told him, "Isaac is the son through whom your descendants will be counted."* 19Abraham reasoned that if Isaac died, God was able to bring him back to life again. And in a sense, Abraham did receive his son back from the dead.

20It was by faith that Isaac promised blessings for the future to his sons, Jacob and Esau.

21It was by faith that Jacob, when he was old and dying, blessed each of Joseph's sons and bowed in worship as he leaned on his staff.

22It was by faith that Joseph, when he was about to die, said confidently that the people of Israel would leave Egypt. He even commanded them to take his bones with them when they left.

23It was by faith that Moses' parents hid him for three months when he was born. They saw that God had given them an unusual child, and they were not afraid to disobey the king's command.

24It was by faith that Moses, when he grew up, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter. 25He chose to share the oppression of God's people instead of enjoying the fleeting pleasures of sin. 26He thought it was better to suffer for the sake of Christ than to own the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking ahead to his great reward. 27It was by faith that Moses left the land of Egypt, not fearing the king's anger. He kept right on going because he kept his eyes on the one who is invisible. 28It was by faith that Moses commanded the people of Israel to keep the Passover and to sprinkle blood on the doorposts so that the angel of death would not kill their firstborn sons.

29It was by faith that the people of Israel went right through the Red Sea as though they were on dry ground. But when the Egyptians tried to follow, they were all drowned.

30It was by faith that the people of Israel marched around Jericho for seven days, and the walls came crashing down.

31It was by faith that Rahab the prostitute was not destroyed with the people in her city who refused to obey God. For she had given a friendly welcome to the spies.

But others were tortured, refusing to turn from God in order to be set free. They placed their hope in a better life after the resurrection. 36Some were jeered at, and their backs were cut open with whips. Others were chained in prisons. 37Some died by stoning, some were sawed in half,* and others were killed with the sword. Some went about wearing skins of sheep and goats, destitute and oppressed and mistreated. 38They were too good for this world, wandering over deserts and mountains, hiding in caves and holes in the ground.

39All these people earned a good reputation because of their faith, yet none of them received all that God had promised. 40For God had something better in mind for us, so that they would not reach perfection without us.

Hebrews 12

GOD'S DISCIPLINE PROVES HIS LOVE

1Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a huge crowd of witnesses to the life of faith, let us strip off every weight that slows us down, especially the sin that so easily trips us up. And let us run with endurance the race God has set before us. 2We do this by keeping our eyes on Jesus, the champion who initiates and perfects our faith.* Because of the joy* awaiting him, he endured the cross, disregarding its shame. Now he is seated in the place of honor beside God's throne. 3Think of all the hostility he endured from sinful people;* then you won't become weary and give up. 4After all, you have not yet given your lives in your struggle against sin.

5And have you forgotten the encouraging words God spoke to you as his children?* He said, "My child,* don't make light of the LORD's discipline, and don't give up when he corrects you.

6For the LORD disciplines those he loves, and he punishes each one he accepts as his child."*

7As you endure this divine discipline, remember that God is treating you as his own children. Who ever heard of a child who is never disciplined by its father? 8If God doesn't discipline you as he does all of his children, it means that you are illegitimate and are not really his children at all. 9Since we respected our earthly fathers who disciplined us, shouldn't we submit even more to the discipline of the Father of our spirits, and live forever?*

10For our earthly fathers disciplined us for a few years, doing the best they knew how. But God's discipline is always good for us, so that we might share in his holiness. 11No discipline is enjoyable while it is happening—it's painful! But afterward there will be a peaceful harvest of right living for those who are trained in this way.

12So take a new grip with your tired hands and strengthen your weak knees. 13Mark out a straight path for your feet so that those who are weak and lame will not fall but become strong.

A CALL TO LISTEN TO GOD

14Work at living in peace with everyone, and work at living a holy life, for those who are not holy will not see the Lord. 15Look after each other so that none of you fails to receive the grace of God. Watch out that no poisonous root of bitterness grows up to trouble you, corrupting many. 16Make sure that no one is immoral or godless like Esau, who traded his birthright as the firstborn son for a single meal. 17You know that afterward, when he wanted his father's blessing, he was rejected. It was too late for repentance, even though he begged with bitter tears.

18You have not come to a physical mountain,* to a place of flaming fire, darkness, gloom, and whirlwind, as the Israelites did at Mount Sinai. 19For they heard an awesome trumpet blast and a voice so terrible that they begged God to stop speaking. 20They staggered back under God's command: "If even an animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned to death."21Moses himself was so frightened at the sight that he said, "I am terrified and trembling."

22No, you have come to Mount Zion, to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to countless thousands of angels in a joyful gathering. 23You have come to the assembly of God's firstborn children, whose names are written in heaven. You have come to God himself, who is the judge over all things. You have come to the spirits of the righteous ones in heaven who have now been made perfect. 24You have come to Jesus, the one who mediates the new covenant between God and people, and to the sprinkled blood, which speaks of forgiveness instead of crying out for vengeance like the blood of Abel.

25Be careful that you do not refuse to listen to the One who is speaking. For if the people of Israel did not escape when they refused to listen to Moses, the earthly messenger, we will certainly not escape if we reject the One who speaks to us from heaven! 26When God spoke from Mount Sinai his voice shook the earth, but now he makes another promise: "Once again I will shake not only the earth but the heavens also."*27This means that all of creation will be shaken and removed, so that only unshakable things will remain.

28Since we are receiving a Kingdom that is unshakable, let us be thankful and please God by worshiping him with holy fear and awe.
29For our God is a devouring fire.

Hebrews 13

CONCLUDING WORDS

1Keep on loving each other as brothers and sisters.*2Don't forget to show hospitality to strangers, for some who have done this have entertained angels without realizing it! 3Remember those in prison, as if you were there yourself. Remember also those being mistreated, as if you felt their pain in your own bodies.

4Give honor to marriage, and remain faithful to one another in marriage. God will surely judge people who are immoral and those who commit adultery.

5Don't love money; be satisfied with what you have. For God has said, "I will never fail you.

I will never abandon you."*

6So we can say with confidence, "The LORD is my helper, so I will have no fear.

What can mere people do to me?”*

7Remember your leaders who taught you the word of God. Think of all the good that has come from their lives, and follow the example of their faith.

8Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever. 9So do not be attracted by strange, new ideas. Your strength comes from God’s grace, not from rules about food, which don’t help those who follow them.

10We have an altar from which the priests in the Tabernacle* have no right to eat. 11Under the old system, the high priest brought the blood of animals into the Holy Place as a sacrifice for sin, and the bodies of the animals were burned outside the camp. 12So also Jesus suffered and died outside the city gates to make his people holy by means of his own blood. 13So let us go out to him, outside the camp, and bear the disgrace he bore. 14For this world is not our permanent home; we are looking forward to a home yet to come.

15Therefore, let us offer through Jesus a continual sacrifice of praise to God, proclaiming our allegiance to his name. 16And don’t forget to do good and to share with those in need. These are the sacrifices that please God.

17Obey your spiritual leaders, and do what they say. Their work is to watch over your souls, and they are accountable to God. Give them reason to do this with joy and not with sorrow. That would certainly not be for your benefit.

18Pray for us, for our conscience is clear and we want to live honorably in everything we do. 19And especially pray that I will be able to come back to you soon.

20Now may the God of peace— who brought up from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great Shepherd of the sheep, and ratified an eternal covenant with his blood—

21may he equip you with all you need for doing his will.
May he produce in you,* through the power of Jesus Christ, every good thing that is pleasing to him.
All glory to him forever and ever! Amen.

22I urge you, dear brothers and sisters,* to pay attention to what I have written in this brief exhortation.

23I want you to know that our brother Timothy has been released from jail. If he comes here soon, I will bring him with me to see you.

24Greet all your leaders and all the believers there.* The believers from Italy send you their greetings.

25May God's grace be with you all.

WELCOME TO

JAMES

This letter is written by James, a half brother of Jesus and a leader in the Jerusalem church. He writes to the early Christians during a time of persecution in order to provide them with some practical instructions for living out their faith. His letter contains many short, proverb-like sayings and echoes Jesus' teachings from the Sermon on the Mount. James addresses problems like pride, discrimination, greed, lust, hypocrisy, worldliness, and backbiting. He clearly makes his case that the Christian faith is more than a commitment to a philosophy; it's a commitment to a new way of life. Actions are the result of true faith: "Faith by itself isn't enough" (2:17). Just as a good tree bears good fruit, true faith expresses itself in a life marked by good deeds, self-control, humility, wisdom, fairness, patience, and prayer.

ON THE FLYOVER ROUTE: You don't need to make a stop in James, but you may want to read a couple of chapters for their highly practical advice. Your next stop is at Revelation 21:1.

1 STOP

ON THE DIRECT ROUTE: You'll stop to read about one of the central themes of James's letter: Faith without good deeds is dead. Your next stop is at James 2:14.

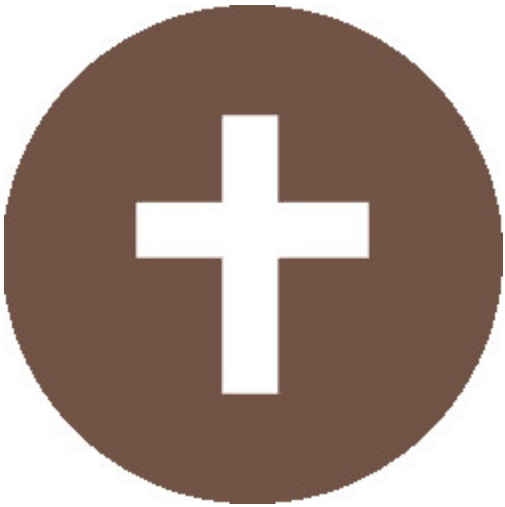
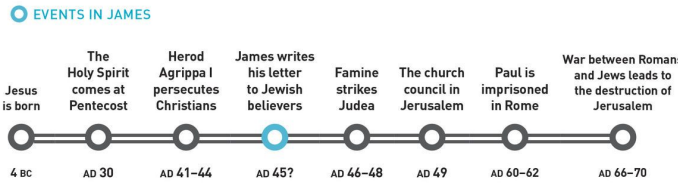
James provide both encouragement and practical advice for practicing good deeds and self-control. Your next stop is at James 1:1.



FINDING JESUS IN JAMES

James clearly presents Jesus Christ as Lord, the one who deserves the undivided commitment of those who are called by his name. James calls himself a slave of Jesus Christ, recognizing the complete authority that Jesus has. Just as Jesus' words and actions testified that he was the Son of God, so our words and actions must testify that we live for Jesus.



James 1

GREETINGS FROM JAMES

1This letter is from James, a slave of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

I am writing to the “twelve tribes”—Jewish believers scattered abroad.

Greetings!

FAITH AND ENDURANCE

2Dear brothers and sisters,* when troubles of any kind come your way, consider it an opportunity for great joy. 3For you know that when your faith is tested, your endurance has a chance to grow. 4So let it grow, for when your endurance is fully developed, you will be perfect and complete, needing nothing.

5If you need wisdom, ask our generous God, and he will give it to you. He will not rebuke you for asking. 6But when you ask him, be sure that your faith is in God alone. Do not waver, for a person with divided loyalty is as unsettled as a wave of the sea that is blown and tossed by the wind. 7Such people should not expect to receive anything from the Lord. 8Their loyalty is divided between God and the world, and they are unstable in everything they do.

9Believers who are* poor have something to boast about, for God has honored them. 10And those who are rich should boast that God has humbled them. They will fade away like a little flower in the field. 11The hot sun rises and the grass withers; the little flower droops and falls, and its beauty fades away. In the same way, the rich will fade away with all of their achievements.

12God blesses those who patiently endure testing and temptation.
Afterward they will receive the crown of life that God has promised to those who love him. 13And remember, when you are being tempted, do not say, “God is tempting me.” God is never tempted to do wrong,* and he never tempts anyone else. 14Temptation comes from our own desires, which entice us and drag us away. 15These desires give birth to sinful actions. And when sin is allowed to grow, it gives birth to death.

16So don’t be misled, my dear brothers and sisters. 17Whatever is good and perfect is a gift coming down to us from God our Father, who created all the lights in the heavens.* He never changes or casts a shifting shadow.18He chose to give birth to us by giving us his true word. And we, out of all creation, became his prized possession.

LISTENING AND DOING

19Understand this, my dear brothers and sisters: You must all be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to get angry. 20Human anger* does not produce the righteousness* God desires. 21So get rid of all the filth and evil in your lives, and humbly accept the word God has planted in your hearts, for it has the power to save your souls.

22But don't just listen to God's word. You must do what it says. Otherwise, you are only fooling yourselves. 23For if you listen to the word and don't obey, it is like glancing at your face in a mirror. 24You see yourself, walk away, and forget what you look like. 25But if you look carefully into the perfect law that sets you free, and if you do what it says and don't forget what you heard, then God will bless you for doing it.

26If you claim to be religious but don't control your tongue, you are fooling yourself, and your religion is worthless. 27Pure and genuine religion in the sight of God the Father means caring for orphans and widows in their distress and refusing to let the world corrupt you.

James 2

A WARNING AGAINST PREJUDICE

1My dear brothers and sisters,* how can you claim to have faith in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ if you favor some people over others?

2For example, suppose someone comes into your meeting* dressed in fancy clothes and expensive jewelry, and another comes in who is poor and dressed in dirty clothes. 3If you give special attention and a good seat to the rich person, but you say to the poor one,

"You can stand over there, or else sit on the floor"—well, 4doesn't this discrimination show that your judgments are guided by evil motives?

5Listen to me, dear brothers and sisters. Hasn't God chosen the poor in this world to be rich in faith? Aren't they the ones who will inherit the Kingdom he promised to those who love him? 6But you dishonor the poor! Isn't it the rich who oppress you and drag you into court? 7Aren't they the ones who slander Jesus Christ, whose noble name* you bear?

8Yes indeed, it is good when you obey the royal law as found in the Scriptures: "Love your neighbor as yourself."*9But if you favor some people over others, you are committing a sin. You are guilty of breaking the law.

10For the person who keeps all of the laws except one is as guilty as a person who has broken all of God's laws. 11For the same God who said, "You must not commit adultery," also said, "You must not murder."* So if you murder someone but do not commit adultery, you have still broken the law.

12So whatever you say or whatever you do, remember that you will be judged by the law that sets you free. 13There will be no mercy for those who have not shown mercy to others. But if you have been merciful, God will be merciful when he judges you.

FAITH WITHOUT GOOD DEEDS IS DEAD

14What good is it, dear brothers and sisters, if you say you have faith but don't show it by your actions? Can that kind of faith save anyone? 15Suppose you see a brother or sister who has no food or clothing, 16and you say, "Good-bye and have a good day; stay warm and eat well"—but then you don't give that person any food or clothing. What good does that do?

17So you see, faith by itself isn't enough. Unless it produces good deeds, it is dead and useless.

18Now someone may argue, "Some people have faith; others have good deeds." But I say, "How can you show me your faith if you don't have good deeds? I will show you my faith by my good deeds."

19You say you have faith, for you believe that there is one God.*
Good for you! Even the demons believe this, and they tremble in terror. 20How foolish! Can't you see that faith without good deeds is useless?

21Don't you remember that our ancestor Abraham was shown to be right with God by his actions when he offered his son Isaac on the altar? 22You see, his faith and his actions worked together. His actions made his faith complete. 23And so it happened just as the Scriptures say: "Abraham believed God, and God counted him as righteous because of his faith."* He was even called the friend of God.*24So you see, we are shown to be right with God by what we do, not by faith alone.

25Rahab the prostitute is another example. She was shown to be right with God by her actions when she hid those messengers and sent them safely away by a different road. 26Just as the body is dead without breath,* so also faith is dead without good works.

CONTROLLING THE TONGUE

1Dear brothers and sisters,* not many of you should become teachers in the church, for we who teach will be judged more strictly. 2Indeed, we all make many mistakes. For if we could control our tongues, we would be perfect and could also control ourselves in every other way.

3We can make a large horse go wherever we want by means of a small bit in its mouth. 4And a small rudder makes a huge ship turn wherever the pilot chooses to go, even though the winds are strong.
5In the same way, the tongue is a small thing that makes grand speeches.

But a tiny spark can set a great forest on fire. 6And among all the parts of the body, the tongue is a flame of fire. It is a whole world of wickedness, corrupting your entire body. It can set your whole life on fire, for it is set on fire by hell itself.*

7People can tame all kinds of animals, birds, reptiles, and fish, 8but no one can tame the tongue. It is restless and evil, full of deadly poison. 9Sometimes it praises our Lord and Father, and sometimes it curses those who have been made in the image of God. 10And so blessing and cursing come pouring out of the same mouth. Surely, my brothers and sisters, this is not right! 11Does a spring of water bubble out with both fresh water and bitter water? 12Does a fig tree produce olives, or a grapevine produce figs? No, and you can't draw fresh water from a salty spring.*

TRUE WISDOM COMES FROM GOD

13If you are wise and understand God's ways, prove it by living an honorable life, doing good works with the humility that comes from wisdom. 14But if you are bitterly jealous and there is selfish ambition in your heart, don't cover up the truth with boasting and lying. 15For jealousy and selfishness are not God's kind of wisdom.
Such things are earthly, unspiritual, and demonic. 16For wherever there is jealousy and selfish ambition, there you will find disorder and evil of every kind.

17But the wisdom from above is first of all pure. It is also peace loving, gentle at all times, and willing to yield to others. It is full of mercy and the fruit of good deeds. It shows no favoritism and is always sincere. 18And those who are peacemakers will plant seeds of peace and reap a harvest of righteousness.*

James 4

DRAWING CLOSE TO GOD

1What is causing the quarrels and fights among you? Don't they come from the evil desires at war within you? 2You want what you don't have, so you scheme and kill to get it. You are jealous of what others have, but you can't get it, so you fight and wage war to take it away from them. Yet you don't have what you want because you don't ask God for it. 3And even when you ask, you don't get it because your motives are all wrong—you want only what will give you pleasure.

4You adulterers!* Don't you realize that friendship with the world makes you an enemy of God? I say it again: If you want to be a friend of the world, you make yourself an enemy of God. 5Do you think the Scriptures have no meaning? They say that God is passionate that the spirit he has placed within us should be faithful to him.6And he gives grace generously. As the Scriptures say, "God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble."

7So humble yourselves before God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. 8Come close to God, and God will come close to you.
Wash your hands, you sinners; purify your hearts, for your loyalty is divided between God and the world. 9Let there be tears for what you have done. Let there be sorrow and deep grief. Let there be sadness instead of laughter, and gloom instead of joy. 10Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up in honor.

WARNING AGAINST JUDGING OTHERS

11Don't speak evil against each other, dear brothers and sisters.* If you criticize and judge each other, then you are criticizing and judging God's law. But your job is to obey the law, not to judge whether it applies to you. 12God alone, who gave the law, is the Judge. He alone has the power to save or to destroy. So what right do you have to judge your neighbor?

WARNING ABOUT SELF-CONFIDENCE

13Look here, you who say, "Today or tomorrow we are going to a certain town and will stay there a year. We will do business there and make a profit." 14How do you know what your life will be like tomorrow? Your life is like the morning fog—it's here a little while, then it's gone. 15What you ought to say is, "If the Lord wants us to, we will live and do this or that." 16Otherwise you are boasting about your own pretentious plans, and all such boasting is evil.

17Remember, it is sin to know what you ought to do and then not do it.

James 5

WARNING TO THE RICH

1Look here, you rich people: Weep and groan with anguish because of all the terrible troubles ahead of you. 2Your wealth is rotting away, and your fine clothes are moth-eaten rags. 3Your gold and silver are corroded. The very wealth you were counting on will eat away your flesh like fire. This corroded treasure you have hoarded will testify against you on the day of judgment. 4For listen! Hear the cries of the field workers whom you have cheated of their pay. The cries of those who harvest your fields have reached the ears of the LORD of Heaven's Armies.

5You have spent your years on earth in luxury, satisfying your every desire. You have fattened yourselves for the day of slaughter. 6You have condemned and killed innocent people,* who do not resist you.*

PATIENCE AND ENDURANCE

7Dear brothers and sisters,* be patient as you wait for the Lord's return. Consider the farmers who patiently wait for the rains in the fall and in the spring. They eagerly look for the valuable harvest to ripen. 8You, too, must be patient. Take courage, for the coming of the Lord is near.

9Don't grumble about each other, brothers and sisters, or you will be judged. For look—the Judge is standing at the door!

10For examples of patience in suffering, dear brothers and sisters, look at the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord. 11We give great honor to those who endure under suffering. For instance, you know about Job, a man of great endurance. You can see how the Lord was kind to him at the end, for the Lord is full of tenderness and mercy.

12But most of all, my brothers and sisters, never take an oath, by heaven or earth or anything else. Just say a simple yes or no, so that you will not sin and be condemned.

THE POWER OF PRAYER

13Are any of you suffering hardships? You should pray. Are any of you happy? You should sing praises. 14Are any of you sick? You should call for the elders of the church to come and pray over you, anointing you with oil in the name of the Lord. 15Such a prayer offered in faith will heal the sick, and the Lord will make you well.
And if you have committed any sins, you will be forgiven.

16Confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The earnest prayer of a righteous person has great power and produces wonderful results. 17Elijah was as human as we are, and yet when he prayed earnestly that no rain would fall, none fell for three and a half years! 18Then, when he prayed again, the sky sent down rain and the earth began to yield its crops.

RESTORE WANDERING BELIEVERS

19My dear brothers and sisters, if someone among you wanders away from the truth and is brought back, 20you can be sure that whoever brings the sinner back from wandering will save that person from death and bring about the forgiveness of many sins.

1 Peter

Introduction 1 2 3 4 5

WELCOME TO

1 PETER

The apostle Peter writes this letter near the end of his life to comfort and encourage the Christians in Asia Minor, who are facing intense persecution for believing that Jesus is the Messiah. Peter explains that suffering is part of the Christian life and that God promises great rewards to those who trust him. He assures his readers that it is right for them to be noticeably different from the culture around them, for they are "temporary residents and foreigners" in the world—God's chosen people, his holy nation (2:9-11). Peter also reminds them of the example of Christ and points out that suffering and trials make us partners with Christ.

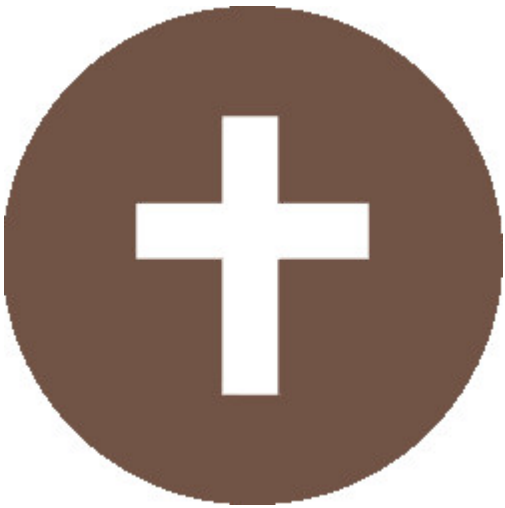
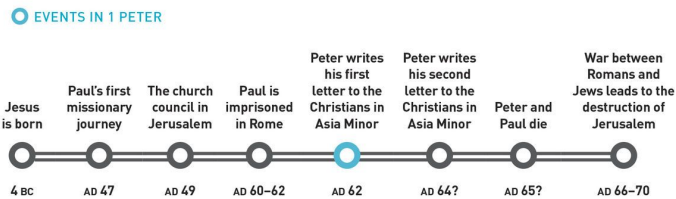
ON THE SCENIC ROUTE: The three stops in 1 Peter will fill you with hope and help you to live a holy life for Christ—even when it leads to suffering. Your next stop is at 1 Peter 1:13.



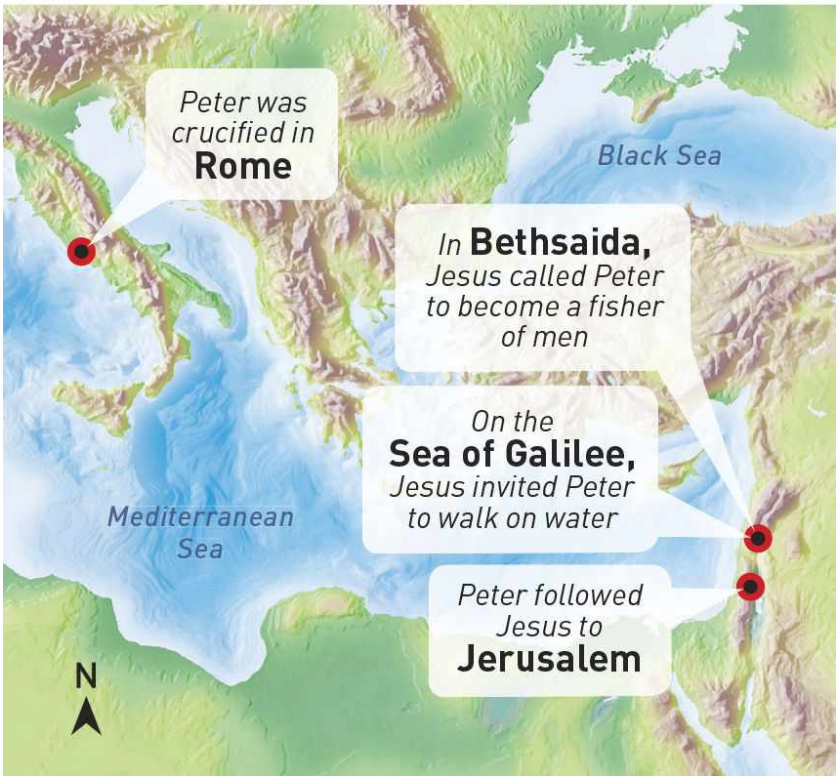
FINDING JESUS IN 1 PETER

Peter focuses on Jesus as the one who provides hope for believers. Jesus is our example not only of how to live righteous lives but also of how to endure suffering. Peter states that Jesus suffered on our behalf to bring us “safely home to God” (3:18). Because of Christ’s suffering we can “live for what is right” (2:24). But Jesus’ example also assures us that when we suffer for doing what is right, God is pleased (2:19-21). Peter also refers to Jesus as “the living cornerstone” (2:4) and “the Great Shepherd” (5:4).



THE LIFE OF PETER

Peter's quiet life as a fisherman was never the same after meeting Jesus. After he left his nets and the small town of Bethsaida, he followed Jesus to the capital city, Jerusalem. Later after Jesus ascended into heaven, Peter eventually traveled to Rome and probably died there. Peter might say he followed Jesus there too. For Peter, after walking on water, going to Rome was just another step.



THE LIFE OF PETER

1 Peter 1

GREETINGS FROM PETER

1This letter is from Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ.

I am writing to God's chosen people who are living as foreigners in the provinces of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia.*2God the Father knew you and chose you long ago, and his Spirit has made you holy. As a result, you have obeyed him and have been cleansed by the blood of Jesus Christ.

May God give you more and more grace and peace.

THE HOPE OF ETERNAL LIFE

3All praise to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is by his great mercy that we have been born again, because God raised Jesus Christ from the dead. Now we live with great expectation, 4and we have a priceless inheritance—an inheritance that is kept in heaven for you, pure and undefiled, beyond the reach of change and decay. 5And through your faith, God is protecting you by his power until you receive this salvation, which is ready to be revealed on the last day for all to see.

6So be truly glad.* There is wonderful joy ahead, even though you must endure many trials for a little while. 7These trials will show that your faith is genuine. It is being tested as fire tests and purifies gold—though your faith is far more precious than mere gold. So when your faith remains strong through many trials, it will bring you much praise and glory and honor on the day when Jesus Christ is revealed to the whole world.

8You love him even though you have never seen him. Though you do not see him now, you trust him; and you rejoice with a glorious, inexpressible joy. 9The reward for trusting him will be the salvation of your souls.

10This salvation was something even the prophets wanted to know more about when they prophesied about this gracious salvation prepared for you. 11They wondered what time or situation the Spirit of Christ within them was talking about when he told them in advance about Christ's suffering and his great glory afterward.

12They were told that their messages were not for themselves, but for you. And now this Good News has been announced to you by those who preached in the power of the Holy Spirit sent from heaven. It is all so wonderful that even the angels are eagerly watching these things happen.

A CALL TO HOLY LIVING

13So prepare your minds for action and exercise self-control. Put all your hope in the gracious salvation that will come to you when Jesus Christ is revealed to the world. 14So you must live as God's obedient children. Don't slip back into your old ways of living to satisfy your own desires. You didn't know any better then. 15But now you must be holy in everything you do, just as God who chose you is holy. 16For the Scriptures say, "You must be holy because I am holy."*

17And remember that the heavenly Father to whom you pray has no favorites. He will judge or reward you according to what you do. So you must live in reverent fear of him during your time here as "temporary residents." 18For you know that God paid a ransom to save you from the empty life you inherited from your ancestors.
And it was not paid with mere gold or silver, which lose their value.
19It was the precious blood of Christ, the sinless, spotless Lamb of God. 20God chose him as your ransom long before the world began, but now in these last days he has been revealed for your sake.

21Through Christ you have come to trust in God. And you have placed your faith and hope in God because he raised Christ from the dead and gave him great glory.

22You were cleansed from your sins when you obeyed the truth, so now you must show sincere love to each other as brothers and sisters.* Love each other deeply with all your heart.*

23For you have been born again, but not to a life that will quickly end. Your new life will last forever because it comes from the eternal, living word of God. 24As the Scriptures say,

"People are like grass;
their beauty is like a flower in the field.
The grass withers and the flower fades.

25But the word of the Lord remains forever."*

And that word is the Good News that was preached to you.

1 Peter 2

1So get rid of all evil behavior. Be done with all deceit, hypocrisy, jealousy, and all unkind speech. 2Like newborn babies, you must crave pure spiritual milk so that you will grow into a full experience of salvation. Cry out for this nourishment, 3now that you have had a taste of the Lord's kindness.

LIVING STONES FOR GOD'S HOUSE

4You are coming to Christ, who is the living cornerstone of God's temple. He was rejected by people, but he was chosen by God for great honor.

5And you are living stones that God is building into his spiritual temple. What's more, you are his holy priests.* Through the mediation of Jesus Christ, you offer spiritual sacrifices that please God. 6As the Scriptures say,

"I am placing a cornerstone in Jerusalem,* chosen for great honor, and anyone who trusts in him will never be disgraced."*

7Yes, you who trust him recognize the honor God has given him.*
But for those who reject him,

"The stone that the builders rejected has now become the cornerstone."*

8And,

"He is the stone that makes people stumble, the rock that makes them fall."*

They stumble because they do not obey God's word, and so they meet the fate that was planned for them.

9But you are not like that, for you are a chosen people. You are royal priests,* a holy nation, God's very own possession. As a result, you can show others the goodness of God, for he called you out of the darkness into his wonderful light.

10"Once you had no identity as a people;

now you are God's people.
Once you received no mercy;
now you have received God's mercy."*

11Dear friends, I warn you as "temporary residents and foreigners" to keep away from worldly desires that wage war against your very souls. 12Be careful to live properly among your unbelieving neighbors. Then even if they accuse you of doing wrong, they will see your honorable behavior, and they will give honor to God when he judges the world.*

RESPECTING PEOPLE IN AUTHORITY

13For the Lord's sake, submit to all human authority—whether the king as head of state, 14or the officials he has appointed. For the king has sent them to punish those who do wrong and to honor those who do right.

15It is God's will that your honorable lives should silence those ignorant people who make foolish accusations against you. 16For you are free, yet you are God's slaves, so don't use your freedom as an excuse to do evil. 17Respect everyone, and love the family of believers.* Fear God, and respect the king.

SLAVES

18You who are slaves must submit to your masters with all respect.*
Do what they tell you—not only if they are kind and reasonable, but even if they are cruel. 19For God is pleased when, conscious of his will, you patiently endure unjust treatment. 20Of course, you get no credit for being patient if you are beaten for doing wrong. But if you suffer for doing good and endure it patiently, God is pleased with you.

21For God called you to do good, even if it means suffering, just as Christ suffered* for you. He is your example, and you must follow in his steps.

22He never sinned,
nor ever deceived anyone.*

23He did not retaliate when he was insulted, nor threaten revenge when he suffered.
He left his case in the hands of God, who always judges fairly.

24He personally carried our sins in his body on the cross so that we can be dead to sin and live for what is right.
By his wounds
you are healed.

25Once you were like sheep who wandered away.
But now you have turned to your Shepherd,
the Guardian of your souls.

1 Peter 3

WIVES

1In the same way, you wives must accept the authority of your husbands. Then, even if some refuse to obey the Good News, your godly lives will speak to them without any words. They will be won over 2by observing your pure and reverent lives.

3Don't be concerned about the outward beauty of fancy hairstyles, expensive jewelry, or beautiful clothes. 4You should clothe yourselves instead with the beauty that comes from within, the unfading beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which is so precious to God. 5This is how the holy women of old made themselves beautiful. They put their trust in God and accepted the authority of their husbands. 6For instance, Sarah obeyed her husband, Abraham, and called him her master. You are her daughters when you do what is right without fear of what your husbands might do.

HUSBANDS

7In the same way, you husbands must give honor to your wives.

Treat your wife with understanding as you live together. She may be weaker than you are, but she is your equal partner in God's gift of new life. Treat her as you should so your prayers will not be hindered.

ALL CHRISTIANS

8Finally, all of you should be of one mind. Sympathize with each other. Love each other as brothers and sisters.* Be tenderhearted, and keep a humble attitude. 9Don't repay evil for evil. Don't retaliate with insults when people insult you. Instead, pay them back with a blessing. That is what God has called you to do, and he will grant you his blessing. 10For the Scriptures say,

"If you want to enjoy life and see many happy days, keep your tongue from speaking evil and your lips from telling lies.

11Turn away from evil and do good.
Search for peace, and work to maintain it.

12The eyes of the LORD watch over those who do right, and his ears are open to their prayers.
But the LORD turns his face against those who do evil."*

SUFFERING FOR DOING GOOD

13Now, who will want to harm you if you are eager to do good? 14But even if you suffer for doing what is right, God will reward you for it. So don't worry or be afraid of their threats. 15Instead, you must worship Christ as Lord of your life. And if someone asks about your hope as a believer, always be ready to explain it. 16But do this in a gentle and respectful way.* Keep your conscience clear. Then if people speak against you, they will be ashamed when they see what a good life you live because you belong to Christ. 17Remember, it is better to suffer for doing good, if that is what God wants, than to suffer for doing wrong!

18Christ suffered* for our sins once for all time. He never sinned, but he died for sinners to bring you safely home to God. He suffered physical death, but he was raised to life in the Spirit.*

19So he went and preached to the spirits in prison—20those who disobeyed God long ago when God waited patiently while Noah was building his boat. Only eight people were saved from drowning in that terrible flood.21And that water is a picture of baptism, which now saves you, not by removing dirt from your body, but as a response to God from a clean conscience. It is effective because of the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

22Now Christ has gone to heaven. He is seated in the place of honor next to God, and all the angels and authorities and powers accept his authority.

1 Peter 4

LIVING FOR GOD

1So then, since Christ suffered physical pain, you must arm yourselves with the same attitude he had, and be ready to suffer, too. For if you have suffered physically for Christ, you have finished with sin.*2You won't spend the rest of your lives chasing your own desires, but you will be anxious to do the will of God. 3You have had enough in the past of the evil things that godless people enjoy —their immorality and lust, their feasting and drunkenness and wild parties, and their terrible worship of idols.

4Of course, your former friends are surprised when you no longer plunge into the flood of wild and destructive things they do. So they slander you. 5But remember that they will have to face God, who stands ready to judge everyone, both the living and the dead. 6That is why the Good News was preached to those who are now dead*— so although they were destined to die like all people,* they now live forever with God in the Spirit.*

7The end of the world is coming soon. Therefore, be earnest and disciplined in your prayers. 8Most important of all, continue to show deep love for each other, for love covers a multitude of sins.
9Cheerfully share your home with those who need a meal or a place to stay.

10God has given each of you a gift from his great variety of spiritual gifts. Use them well to serve one another. 11Do you have the gift of speaking? Then speak as though God himself were speaking through you. Do you have the gift of helping others? Do it with all the strength and energy that God supplies. Then everything you do will bring glory to God through Jesus Christ. All glory and power to him forever and ever! Amen.

SUFFERING FOR BEING A CHRISTIAN

12Dear friends, don't be surprised at the fiery trials you are going through, as if something strange were happening to you. 13Instead, be very glad—for these trials make you partners with Christ in his suffering, so that you will have the wonderful joy of seeing his glory when it is revealed to all the world.

14If you are insulted because you bear the name of Christ, you will be blessed, for the glorious Spirit of God* rests upon you.*15If you suffer, however, it must not be for murder, stealing, making trouble, or prying into other people's affairs. 16But it is no shame to suffer for being a Christian. Praise God for the privilege of being called by his name! 17For the time has come for judgment, and it must begin with God's household. And if judgment begins with us, what terrible fate awaits those who have never obeyed God's Good News?
18And also,

"If the righteous are barely saved, what will happen to godless sinners?"*

19So if you are suffering in a manner that pleases God, keep on doing what is right, and trust your lives to the God who created you, for he will never fail you.

1 Peter 5

ADVICE FOR ELDERS AND YOUNG MEN

1And now, a word to you who are elders in the churches. I, too, am an elder and a witness to the sufferings of Christ. And I, too, will share in his glory when he is revealed to the whole world. As a fellow elder, I appeal to you: 2Care for the flock that God has entrusted to you. Watch over it willingly, not grudgingly—not for what you will get out of it, but because you are eager to serve God.
3Don't lord it over the people assigned to your care, but lead them by your own good example. 4And when the Great Shepherd appears, you will receive a crown of never-ending glory and honor.

5In the same way, you who are younger must accept the authority of the elders. And all of you, dress yourselves in humility as you relate to one another, for

"God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble."*

SUFFERING 1 PETER 5:6-10

6So humble yourselves under the mighty power of God, and at the right time he will lift you up in honor. 7Give all your worries and cares to God, for he cares about you.

8Stay alert! Watch out for your great enemy, the devil. He prowls around like a roaring lion, looking for someone to devour. 9Stand firm against him, and be strong in your faith. Remember that your family of believers* all over the world is going through the same kind of suffering you are.

10In his kindness God called you to share in his eternal glory by means of Christ Jesus. So after you have suffered a little while, he will restore, support, and strengthen you, and he will place you on a firm foundation. 11All power to him forever! Amen.

PETER'S FINAL GREETINGS

12I have written and sent this short letter to you with the help of Silas,* whom I commend to you as a faithful brother. My purpose in writing is to encourage you and assure you that what you are experiencing is truly part of God's grace for you. Stand firm in this grace.

BABYLON IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

13Your sister church here in Babylon* sends you greetings, and so does my son Mark. 14Greet each other with a kiss of love.

Peace be with all of you who are in Christ.

Introduction 1 2 3

WELCOME TO

2 PETER

Peter is nearing the end of his life as he writes this second letter to the Christians in Asia Minor. He foresees problems that will remain after he is gone, and he warns his audience about false teachers who attack the truth by exalting their own ideas over those of the church and by causing some believers to question their faith. He encourages his readers to continue growing spiritually and to realize that the reports about Jesus Christ are indeed fact, not fiction. Finally, he reminds them that Christ will return someday to destroy the old order of this world; therefore, they should live godly lives in anticipation of Christ's coming and the transformation of the world.

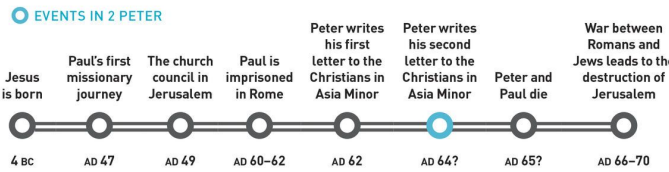
FINDING JESUS IN 2 PETER

Peter exalts Jesus as “Lord and Savior” four times throughout his letter, the only occurrences of that exact phrase in the Bible. Peter also emphasizes how important it is for believers to grow in their knowledge of Jesus (1:2). Jesus is the Lord of an eternal kingdom, and “the Morning Star” who “shines in your hearts” (1:19). Jesus is our hope for the future as we anticipate his victorious return to earth.



2 Peter 1

GREETINGS FROM PETER

1This letter is from Simon* Peter, a slave and apostle of Jesus Christ.

I am writing to you who share the same precious faith we have.
This faith was given to you because of the justice and fairness* of Jesus Christ, our God and Savior.

2May God give you more and more grace and peace as you grow in your knowledge of God and Jesus our Lord.

GROWING IN FAITH

3By his divine power, God has given us everything we need for living a godly life. We have received all of this by coming to know him, the one who called us to himself by means of his marvelous glory and excellence. 4And because of his glory and excellence, he has given us great and precious promises. These are the promises that enable you to share his divine nature and escape the world's corruption caused by human desires.

5In view of all this, make every effort to respond to God's promises. Supplement your faith with a generous provision of moral excellence, and moral excellence with knowledge, 6and knowledge with self-control, and self-control with patient endurance, and patient endurance with godliness, 7and godliness with brotherly affection, and brotherly affection with love for everyone.

8The more you grow like this, the more productive and useful you will be in your knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. 9But those who fail to develop in this way are shortsighted or blind, forgetting that they have been cleansed from their old sins.

10So, dear brothers and sisters,* work hard to prove that you really are among those God has called and chosen. Do these things, and you will never fall away. 11Then God will give you a grand entrance into the eternal Kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

PAYING ATTENTION TO SCRIPTURE

12Therefore, I will always remind you about these things—even though you already know them and are standing firm in the truth you have been taught. 13And it is only right that I should keep on reminding you as long as I live.*14For our Lord Jesus Christ has shown me that I must soon leave this earthly life,*15so I will work hard to make sure you always remember these things after I am gone.

16For we were not making up clever stories when we told you about the powerful coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. We saw his majestic splendor with our own eyes 17when he received honor and glory from God the Father. The voice from the majestic glory of God said to him, “This is my dearly loved Son, who brings me great joy.”*18We ourselves heard that voice from heaven when we were with him on the holy mountain.

19Because of that experience, we have even greater confidence in the message proclaimed by the prophets. You must pay close attention to what they wrote, for their words are like a lamp shining in a dark place—until the Day dawns, and Christ the Morning Star shines* in your hearts. 20Above all, you must realize that no prophecy in Scripture ever came from the prophet’s own understanding,*21or from human initiative. No, those prophets were moved by the Holy Spirit, and they spoke from God.

AFTERLIFE 2 PETER 2:1-11

2 Peter 2

THE DANGER OF FALSE TEACHERS

1But there were also false prophets in Israel, just as there will be false teachers among you. They will cleverly teach destructive heresies and even deny the Master who bought them. In this way, they will bring sudden destruction on themselves. 2Many will follow their evil teaching and shameful immorality. And because of these teachers, the way of truth will be slandered. 3In their greed they will make up clever lies to get hold of your money. But God condemned them long ago, and their destruction will not be delayed.

4For God did not spare even the angels who sinned. He threw them into hell,* in gloomy pits of darkness,* where they are being held until the day of judgment. 5And God did not spare the ancient world —except for Noah and the seven others in his family. Noah warned the world of God's righteous judgment. So God protected Noah when he destroyed the world of ungodly people with a vast flood.
6Later, God condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah and turned them into heaps of ashes. He made them an example of what will happen to ungodly people. 7But God also rescued Lot out of Sodom because he was a righteous man who was sick of the shameful immorality of the wicked people around him. 8Yes, Lot was a righteous man who was tormented in his soul by the wickedness he saw and heard day after day. 9So you see, the Lord knows how to rescue godly people from their trials, even while keeping the wicked under punishment until the day of final judgment. 10He is especially hard on those who follow their own twisted sexual desire, and who despise authority.

These people are proud and arrogant, daring even to scoff at supernatural beings* without so much as trembling. 11But the angels, who are far greater in power and strength, do not dare to bring from the Lord* a charge of blasphemy against those supernatural beings.

12These false teachers are like unthinking animals, creatures of instinct, born to be caught and destroyed. They scoff at things they do not understand, and like animals, they will be destroyed. 13Their destruction is their reward for the harm they have done. They love to indulge in evil pleasures in broad daylight. They are a disgrace and a stain among you. They delight in deception* even as they eat with you in your fellowship meals. 14They commit adultery with their eyes, and their desire for sin is never satisfied. They lure unstable people into sin, and they are well trained in greed. They live under God's curse. 15They have wandered off the right road and followed the footsteps of Balaam son of Beor,* who loved to earn money by doing wrong. 16But Balaam was stopped from his mad course when his donkey rebuked him with a human voice.

17These people are as useless as dried-up springs or as mist blown away by the wind. They are doomed to blackest darkness. 18They brag about themselves with empty, foolish boasting. With an appeal to twisted sexual desires, they lure back into sin those who have barely escaped from a lifestyle of deception. 19They promise freedom, but they themselves are slaves of sin and corruption. For you are a slave to whatever controls you. 20And when people escape from the wickedness of the world by knowing our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and then get tangled up and enslaved by sin again, they are worse off than before. 21It would be better if they had never known the way to righteousness than to know it and then reject the command they were given to live a holy life. 22They prove the truth of this proverb: "A dog returns to its vomit."* And another says, "A washed pig returns to the mud."

THE FUTURE 2 PETER 3:1-14

2 Peter 3

THE DAY OF THE LORD IS COMING

1This is my second letter to you, dear friends, and in both of them I have tried to stimulate your wholesome thinking and refresh your memory. 2I want you to remember what the holy prophets said long ago and what our Lord and Savior commanded through your apostles.

3Most importantly, I want to remind you that in the last days scoffers will come, mocking the truth and following their own desires. 4They will say, “What happened to the promise that Jesus is coming again? From before the times of our ancestors, everything has remained the same since the world was first created.”

5They deliberately forget that God made the heavens long ago by the word of his command, and he brought the earth out from the water and surrounded it with water. 6Then he used the water to destroy the ancient world with a mighty flood. 7And by the same word, the present heavens and earth have been stored up for fire.
They are being kept for the day of judgment, when ungodly people will be destroyed.

8But you must not forget this one thing, dear friends: A day is like a thousand years to the Lord, and a thousand years is like a day. 9The Lord isn't really being slow about his promise, as some people think. No, he is being patient for your sake. He does not want anyone to be destroyed, but wants everyone to repent. 10But the day of the Lord will come as unexpectedly as a thief. Then the heavens will pass away with a terrible noise, and the very elements themselves will disappear in fire, and the earth and everything on it will be found to deserve judgment.*

11Since everything around us is going to be destroyed like this, what holy and godly lives you should live, 12looking forward to the day of God and hurrying it along. On that day, he will set the heavens on fire, and the elements will melt away in the flames. 13But we are looking forward to the new heavens and new earth he has promised, a world filled with God's righteousness.

14And so, dear friends, while you are waiting for these things to happen, make every effort to be found living peaceful lives that are pure and blameless in his sight.

15And remember, our Lord's patience gives people time to be saved.
This is what our beloved brother Paul also wrote to you with the wisdom God gave him—16speaking of these things in all of his letters. Some of his comments are hard to understand, and those who are ignorant and unstable have twisted his letters to mean something quite different, just as they do with other parts of Scripture. And this will result in their destruction.

PETER'S FINAL WORDS

17You already know these things, dear friends. So be on guard; then you will not be carried away by the errors of these wicked people and lose your own secure footing. 18Rather, you must grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

All glory to him, both now and forever! Amen.

WELCOME TO

1 JOHN

John writes this letter to believers whom he cares about as a father cares for his little children. He gives them practical instructions for Christian living and provides clear teaching about Jesus to combat the false teachings that are currently circulating. John first emphasizes Jesus' physical incarnation and the relationship Jesus has with God the Father. John also instructs his audience on how they should live in Christ: They must walk in the light and live in love with all other people. Because of Jesus, believers have experienced the love of God, who is himself love. Therefore, John writes, Christians have no need to fear, either in this life or in the life to come.

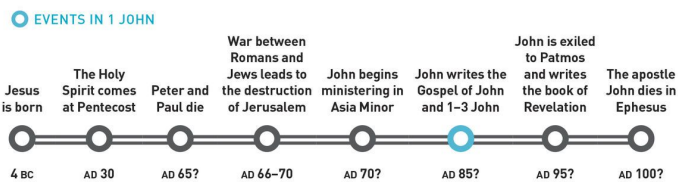
FINDING JESUS IN 1 JOHN

At the beginning of this letter, John describes Jesus as having existed before the beginning of the world, being the Word of life, and being the very essence of eternal life. Yet John also firmly declares that Jesus is truly and fully human (1:1; 4:2). Elsewhere he describes Jesus as the Son of God, the Savior of the world, and the only true God (4:14-15; 5:20). Because Jesus is God, he has fellowship with God the Father (1:2-3). Because Jesus is human, he has made that same fellowship available to us by removing our sin and obtaining forgiveness for us (2:12; 3:5). When we know Jesus, we can have complete fellowship with God the Father just as Jesus does.



JOHN'S LATER MINISTRY

1 John 1

INTRODUCTION

1We proclaim to you the one who existed from the beginning,* whom we have heard and seen. We saw him with our own eyes and touched him with our own hands. He is the Word of life. 2This one who is life itself was revealed to us, and we have seen him. And now we testify and proclaim to you that he is the one who is eternal life. He was with the Father, and then he was revealed to us. 3We proclaim to you what we ourselves have actually seen and heard so that you may have fellowship with us. And our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ. 4We are writing these things so that you may fully share our joy.*

LIVING IN THE LIGHT

5This is the message we heard from Jesus* and now declare to you:
God is light, and there is no darkness in him at all. 6So we are lying if we say we have fellowship with God but go on living in spiritual darkness; we are not practicing the truth. 7But if we are living in the light, as God is in the light, then we have fellowship with each other, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, cleanses us from all sin.

8If we claim we have no sin, we are only fooling ourselves and not living in the truth. 9But if we confess our sins to him, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all wickedness. 10If we claim we have not sinned, we are calling God a liar and showing that his word has no place in our hearts.

1 John 2

1My dear children, I am writing this to you so that you will not sin.
But if anyone does sin, we have an advocate who pleads our case before the Father. He is Jesus Christ, the one who is truly righteous.
2He himself is the sacrifice that atones for our sins—and not only our sins but the sins of all the world.

3And we can be sure that we know him if we obey his commandments. 4If someone claims, “I know God,” but doesn’t obey God’s commandments, that person is a liar and is not living in the truth. 5But those who obey God’s word truly show how completely they love him. That is how we know we are living in him. 6Those who say they live in God should live their lives as Jesus did.

A NEW COMMANDMENT

7Dear friends, I am not writing a new commandment for you; rather it is an old one you have had from the very beginning. This old commandment—to love one another—is the same message you heard before. 8Yet it is also new. Jesus lived the truth of this commandment, and you also are living it. For the darkness is disappearing, and the true light is already shining.

9If anyone claims, “I am living in the light,” but hates a fellow believer,* that person is still living in darkness. 10Anyone who loves a fellow believer* is living in the light and does not cause others to stumble. 11But anyone who hates a fellow believer is still living and walking in darkness. Such a person does not know the way to go, having been blinded by the darkness.

12I am writing to you who are God’s children because your sins have been forgiven through Jesus.*

13I am writing to you who are mature in the faith*
because you know Christ, who existed from the beginning.
I am writing to you who are young in the faith because you have won your battle with the evil one.

14I have written to you who are God's children because you know the Father.
I have written to you who are mature in the faith
because you know Christ, who existed from the beginning.
I have written to you who are young in the faith because you are strong.
God's word lives in your hearts, and you have won your battle with the evil one.

DO NOT LOVE THIS WORLD

15Do not love this world nor the things it offers you, for when you love the world, you do not have the love of the Father in you. 16For the world offers only a craving for physical pleasure, a craving for everything we see, and pride in our achievements and possessions. These are not from the Father, but are from this world. 17And this world is fading away, along with everything that people crave. But anyone who does what pleases God will live forever.

WARNING ABOUT ANTICHRISTS

18Dear children, the last hour is here. You have heard that the Antichrist is coming, and already many such antichrists have appeared. From this we know that the last hour has come. 19These people left our churches, but they never really belonged with us; otherwise they would have stayed with us. When they left, it proved that they did not belong with us.

20But you are not like that, for the Holy One has given you his Spirit,* and all of you know the truth. 21So I am writing to you not because you don’t know the truth but because you know the difference between truth and lies. 22And who is a liar? Anyone who says that Jesus is not the Christ.* Anyone who denies the Father and the Son is an antichrist.*23Anyone who denies the Son doesn’t have the Father, either. But anyone who acknowledges the Son has the Father also.

24So you must remain faithful to what you have been taught from the beginning. If you do, you will remain in fellowship with the Son and with the Father. 25And in this fellowship we enjoy the eternal life he promised us.

26I am writing these things to warn you about those who want to lead you astray. 27But you have received the Holy Spirit,* and he lives within you, so you don’t need anyone to teach you what is true. For the Spirit* teaches you everything you need to know, and what he teaches is true—it is not a lie. So just as he has taught you, remain in fellowship with Christ.

LIVING AS CHILDREN OF GOD

28And now, dear children, remain in fellowship with Christ so that when he returns, you will be full of courage and not shrink back from him in shame.

29Since we know that Christ is righteous, we also know that all who do what is right are God's children.

GOD LOVES YOU 1 JOHN 3:1-10

1 John 3

1See how very much our Father loves us, for he calls us his children, and that is what we are! But the people who belong to this world don't recognize that we are God's children because they don't know him. 2Dear friends, we are already God's children, but he has not yet shown us what we will be like when Christ appears. But we do know that we will be like him, for we will see him as he really is.
3And all who have this eager expectation will keep themselves pure, just as he is pure.

4Everyone who sins is breaking God's law, for all sin is contrary to the law of God. 5And you know that Jesus came to take away our sins, and there is no sin in him. 6Anyone who continues to live in him will not sin. But anyone who keeps on sinning does not know him or understand who he is.

7Dear children, don't let anyone deceive you about this: When people do what is right, it shows that they are righteous, even as Christ is righteous. 8But when people keep on sinning, it shows that they belong to the devil, who has been sinning since the beginning.
But the Son of God came to destroy the works of the devil. 9Those who have been born into God's family do not make a practice of sinning, because God's life* is in them. So they can't keep on sinning, because they are children of God. 10So now we can tell who are children of God and who are children of the devil. Anyone who does not live righteously and does not love other believers* does not belong to God.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER

11This is the message you have heard from the beginning: We should love one another. 12We must not be like Cain, who belonged to the evil one and killed his brother. And why did he kill him?
Because Cain had been doing what was evil, and his brother had been doing what was righteous. 13So don't be surprised, dear brothers and sisters,* if the world hates you.

14If we love our brothers and sisters who are believers,* it proves that we have passed from death to life. But a person who has no love is still dead. 15Anyone who hates another brother or sister* is really a murderer at heart. And you know that murderers don't have eternal life within them.

16We know what real love is because Jesus gave up his life for us.
So we also ought to give up our lives for our brothers and sisters.
17If someone has enough money to live well and sees a brother or sister* in need but shows no compassion—how can God's love be in that person?

18Dear children, let's not merely say that we love each other; let us show the truth by our actions. 19Our actions will show that we belong to the truth, so we will be confident when we stand before God. 20Even if we feel guilty, God is greater than our feelings, and he knows everything.

21Dear friends, if we don't feel guilty, we can come to God with bold confidence. 22And we will receive from him whatever we ask because we obey him and do the things that please him.

23And this is his commandment: We must believe in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ, and love one another, just as he commanded us.
24Those who obey God's commandments remain in fellowship with him, and he with them. And we know he lives in us because the Spirit he gave us lives in us.

1 John 4

DISCERNING FALSE PROPHETS

1Dear friends, do not believe everyone who claims to speak by the Spirit. You must test them to see if the spirit they have comes from God. For there are many false prophets in the world. 2This is how we know if they have the Spirit of God: If a person claiming to be a prophet* acknowledges that Jesus Christ came in a real body, that person has the Spirit of God. 3But if someone claims to be a prophet and does not acknowledge the truth about Jesus, that person is not from God. Such a person has the spirit of the Antichrist, which you heard is coming into the world and indeed is already here.

4But you belong to God, my dear children. You have already won a victory over those people, because the Spirit who lives in you is greater than the spirit who lives in the world. 5Those people belong to this world, so they speak from the world's viewpoint, and the world listens to them. 6But we belong to God, and those who know God listen to us. If they do not belong to God, they do not listen to us. That is how we know if someone has the Spirit of truth or the spirit of deception.

LOVING ONE ANOTHER

7Dear friends, let us continue to love one another, for love comes from God. Anyone who loves is a child of God and knows God. 8But anyone who does not love does not know God, for God is love.

9God showed how much he loved us by sending his one and only Son into the world so that we might have eternal life through him.
10This is real love—not that we loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as a sacrifice to take away our sins.

11Dear friends, since God loved us that much, we surely ought to love each other. 12No one has ever seen God. But if we love each other, God lives in us, and his love is brought to full expression in us.

13And God has given us his Spirit as proof that we live in him and he in us. 14Furthermore, we have seen with our own eyes and now testify that the Father sent his Son to be the Savior of the world.
15All who declare that Jesus is the Son of God have God living in them, and they live in God. 16We know how much God loves us, and we have put our trust in his love.

God is love, and all who live in love live in God, and God lives in them. 17And as we live in God, our love grows more perfect. So we will not be afraid on the day of judgment, but we can face him with confidence because we live like Jesus here in this world.

18Such love has no fear, because perfect love expels all fear. If we are afraid, it is for fear of punishment, and this shows that we have not fully experienced his perfect love. 19We love each other* because he loved us first.

20If someone says, “I love God,” but hates a fellow believer,* that person is a liar; for if we don’t love people we can see, how can we love God, whom we cannot see? 21And he has given us this command: Those who love God must also love their fellow believers.*

1 John 5

FAITH IN THE SON OF GOD

1Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ* has become a child of God. And everyone who loves the Father loves his children, too. 2We know we love God’s children if we love God and obey his commandments. 3Loving God means keeping his commandments, and his commandments are not burdensome. 4For every child of God defeats this evil world, and we achieve this victory through our faith. 5And who can win this battle against the world? Only those who believe that Jesus is the Son of God.

6And Jesus Christ was revealed as God’s Son by his baptism in water and by shedding his blood on the cross*—not by water only, but by water and blood. And the Spirit, who is truth, confirms it with his testimony. 7So we have these three witnesses*—8the Spirit, the water, and the blood—and all three agree. 9Since we believe human testimony, surely we can believe the greater testimony that comes from God. And God has testified about his Son. 10All who believe in the Son of God know in their hearts that this testimony is true. Those who don’t believe this are actually calling God a liar because they don’t believe what God has testified about his Son.

11And this is what God has testified: He has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. 12Whoever has the Son has life; whoever does not have God's Son does not have life.

CONCLUSION

13I have written this to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know you have eternal life. 14And we are confident that he hears us whenever we ask for anything that pleases him. 15And since we know he hears us when we make our requests, we also know that he will give us what we ask for.

16If you see a fellow believer* sinning in a way that does not lead to death, you should pray, and God will give that person life. But there is a sin that leads to death, and I am not saying you should pray for those who commit it. 17All wicked actions are sin, but not every sin leads to death.

18We know that God's children do not make a practice of sinning, for God's Son holds them securely, and the evil one cannot touch them. 19We know that we are children of God and that the world around us is under the control of the evil one.

20And we know that the Son of God has come, and he has given us understanding so that we can know the true God.* And now we live in fellowship with the true God because we live in fellowship with his Son, Jesus Christ. He is the only true God, and he is eternal life.

21Dear children, keep away from anything that might take God's place in your hearts.*

2 John

WELCOME TO

2 JOHN & 3 JOHN

John's second and third letters are quite personal. Second John is written either to a Christian woman whom John knows or to a church that John personifies as a woman. Either way, John writes to encourage true Christian love and to warn against the deceivers who are disputing the humanity of Jesus. John charges his audience not to listen to these lies but to stand for the truth no matter what the cost.

Third John is a personal note from John to his friend Gaius, encouraging him to provide hospitality to the traveling evangelists who preach the truth. He warns Gaius against such men as Diotrephes, who refuses to help spread the Good News. John also commends others, such as Demetrius, for their help.

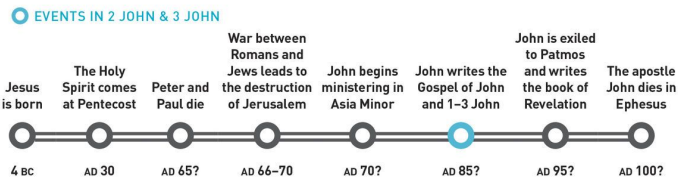
FINDING JESUS IN 2 & 3 JOHN

Jesus is both human and divine. John is adamant that “Jesus Christ came in a real body” (2 John 1:7) and that he is “the Son of the Father” (2 John 1:3). Jesus’ relationship with God is something that he has made available to us because he became human like us. John focuses on Jesus indirectly in 3 John by encouraging others to live in the truth. Jesus is the only source of truth.



GREETINGS

1This letter is from John, the elder.*

I am writing to the chosen lady and to her children,* whom I love in the truth—as does everyone else who knows the truth—2because the truth lives in us and will be with us forever.

3Grace, mercy, and peace, which come from God the Father and from Jesus Christ—the Son of the Father—will continue to be with us who live in truth and love.

LIVE IN THE TRUTH

4How happy I was to meet some of your children and find them living according to the truth, just as the Father commanded.

5I am writing to remind you, dear friends,* that we should love one another. This is not a new commandment, but one we have had from the beginning. 6Love means doing what God has commanded us, and he has commanded us to love one another, just as you heard from the beginning.

7I say this because many deceivers have gone out into the world. They deny that Jesus Christ came* in a real body. Such a person is a deceiver and an antichrist. 8Watch out that you do not lose what we* have worked so hard to achieve. Be diligent so that you receive your full reward. 9Anyone who wanders away from this teaching has no relationship with God. But anyone who remains in the teaching of Christ has a relationship with both the Father and the Son.

10If anyone comes to your meeting and does not teach the truth about Christ, don't invite that person into your home or give any kind of encouragement. 11Anyone who encourages such people becomes a partner in their evil work.

CONCLUSION

12I have much more to say to you, but I don't want to do it with paper and ink. For I hope to visit you soon and talk with you face to face. Then our joy will be complete.

13Greetings from the children of your sister,* chosen by God.

3 John

Introduction 1

GREETINGS

1This letter is from John, the elder.*

I am writing to Gaius, my dear friend, whom I love in the truth.

2Dear friend, I hope all is well with you and that you are as healthy in body as you are strong in spirit. 3Some of the traveling teachers* recently returned and made me very happy by telling me about your faithfulness and that you are living according to the truth. 4I could have no greater joy than to hear that my children are following the truth.

CARING FOR THE LORD'S WORKERS

5Dear friend, you are being faithful to God when you care for the traveling teachers who pass through, even though they are strangers to you. 6They have told the church here of your loving friendship.
Please continue providing for such teachers in a manner that pleases God. 7For they are traveling for the Lord,* and they accept nothing from people who are not believers.*8So we ourselves should support them so that we can be their partners as they teach the truth.

9I wrote to the church about this, but Diotrephes, who loves to be the leader, refuses to have anything to do with us. 10When I come, I will report some of the things he is doing and the evil accusations he is making against us. Not only does he refuse to welcome the traveling teachers, he also tells others not to help them. And when they do help, he puts them out of the church.

11Dear friend, don't let this bad example influence you. Follow only what is good. Remember that those who do good prove that they are God's children, and those who do evil prove that they do not know God.*

12Everyone speaks highly of Demetrius, as does the truth itself. We ourselves can say the same for him, and you know we speak the truth.

CONCLUSION

13I have much more to say to you, but I don't want to write it with pen and ink. 14For I hope to see you soon, and then we will talk face to face.

15*Peace be with you.

Your friends here send you their greetings. Please give my personal greetings to each of our friends there.

Jude

Introduction 1

WELCOME TO

JUDE

Jude's letter to the early Christians is short and to the point. He tells them to stay firm in their faith so that they will be saved on the day of judgment. Jude urges the believers to stand firm against the false teachers who spread false doctrines, such as the suggestion that Christians can sin freely because of God's grace. Jude gives examples of God's judgment on sinners in the past and devastatingly describes the vile lives of the false teachers who "have wormed their way" into churches. Jude closes with a prayer praising God, who keeps believers from falling away and brings them joyfully into his presence.

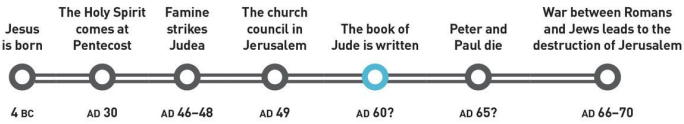
FINDING JESUS IN JUDE

Jesus looms large in Jude's short letter. He is the powerful Savior who in his preincarnate state rescued the Hebrews from Egypt and was the destroyer of the unfaithful Hebrews in the desert (1:5). He is also the resurrected Lord who will return to earth surrounded by a vast entourage to judge and convict the world of sin (1:14-15). Yet, for all his fearsome majesty, Jesus is also the one who protects the faithful, shows mercy to them, and brings them eternal life (1:21). Jude was right, then, to call his half brother, Jesus, "Master and Lord" (1:4).

EVENTS IN JUDE



GREETINGS FROM JUDE

1This letter is from Jude, a slave of Jesus Christ and a brother of James.

I am writing to all who have been called by God the Father, who loves you and keeps you safe in the care of Jesus Christ.*

2May God give you more and more mercy, peace, and love.

AFTERLIFE JUDE 1:3-11

THE DANGER OF FALSE TEACHERS

3Dear friends, I had been eagerly planning to write to you about the salvation we all share. But now I find that I must write about something else, urging you to defend the faith that God has entrusted once for all time to his holy people. 4I say this because some ungodly people have wormed their way into your churches, saying that God's marvelous grace allows us to live immoral lives. The condemnation of such people was recorded long ago, for they have denied our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ.

5So I want to remind you, though you already know these things, that Jesus* first rescued the nation of Israel from Egypt, but later he destroyed those who did not remain faithful. 6And I remind you of the angels who did not stay within the limits of authority God gave them but left the place where they belonged. God has kept them securely chained in prisons of darkness, waiting for the great day of judgment. 7And don't forget Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns, which were filled with immorality and every kind of sexual perversion. Those cities were destroyed by fire and serve as a warning of the eternal fire of God's judgment.

8In the same way, these people—who claim authority from their dreams—live immoral lives, defy authority, and scoff at supernatural beings.9But even Michael, one of the mightiest of the angels, did not dare accuse the devil of blasphemy, but simply said, "The Lord rebuke you!" (This took place when Michael was arguing with the devil about Moses' body.) 10But these people scoff at things they do not understand. Like unthinking animals, they do whatever their instincts tell them, and so they bring about their own destruction. 11What sorrow awaits them! For they follow in the footsteps of Cain, who killed his brother. Like Balaam, they deceive people for money. And like Korah, they perish in their rebellion.

12When these people eat with you in your fellowship meals commemorating the Lord's love, they are like dangerous reefs that can shipwreck you.* They are like shameless shepherds who care only for themselves. They are like clouds blowing over the land without giving any rain. They are like trees in autumn that are doubly dead, for they bear no fruit and have been pulled up by the roots. 13They are like wild waves of the sea, churning up the foam of their shameful deeds. They are like wandering stars, doomed forever to blackest darkness.

14Enoch, who lived in the seventh generation after Adam, prophesied about these people. He said, "Listen! The Lord is coming with countless thousands of his holy ones 15to execute judgment on the people of the world. He will convict every person of all the ungodly things they have done and for all the insults that ungodly sinners have spoken against him.”*

16These people are grumblers and complainers, living only to satisfy their desires. They brag loudly about themselves, and they flatter others to get what they want.

A CALL TO REMAIN FAITHFUL

17But you, my dear friends, must remember what the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ predicted. 18They told you that in the last times there would be scoffers whose purpose in life is to satisfy their ungodly desires. 19These people are the ones who are creating divisions among you. They follow their natural instincts because they do not have God’s Spirit in them.

20But you, dear friends, must build each other up in your most holy faith, pray in the power of the Holy Spirit,*21and await the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, who will bring you eternal life. In this way, you will keep yourselves safe in God’s love.

22And you must show mercy to* those whose faith is wavering.
23Rescue others by snatching them from the flames of judgment.
Show mercy to still others,* but do so with great caution, hating the sins that contaminate their lives.*

A PRAYER OF PRAISE

24Now all glory to God, who is able to keep you from falling away and will bring you with great joy into his glorious presence without a single fault. 25All glory to him who alone is God, our Savior through Jesus Christ our Lord. All glory, majesty, power, and authority are his before all time, and in the present, and beyond all time! Amen.

WELCOME TO

REVELATION

Revelation is a complex book about a simple truth: hope. This book is Christ's revelation to John during John's exile on the island of Patmos. John receives messages and visions of hope for God's people, who face suffering and oppression as they wait for Jesus' return.

There are two major sections in this book. The first is a series of seven letters from Christ to the churches in Asia Minor (chapters 1–3). Christ states what he knows about each church and instructs some of them on how to overcome their weaknesses. He then proclaims either blessings or judgment on each one.

The second section is a series of visions providing a glimpse of spiritual realities that humans don't normally see. John observes the ultimate overthrow of evil, the return of Christ, the last judgment, and the eternal Kingdom. Even though Revelation is a complex book, it's clear about one thing: Jesus wins! The Lamb of God will reign over everything. The message of Revelation gives eternal hope and promise to God's faithful people.

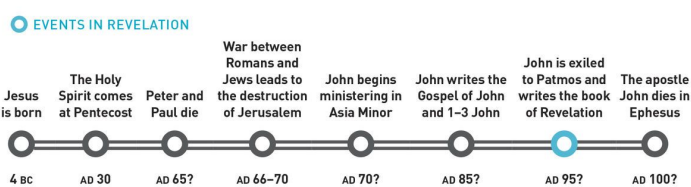
6 STOPS

ON THE SCENIC ROUTE: You'll stop six times in Revelation to read of John's strange and wonderful visions, which include everything from a glorious picture of heaven to the joyous announcement of Christ's imminent return. Your next stop is at Revelation 1:1.

FINDING JESUS IN REVELATION

The book of Revelation is a vision of Jesus the Messiah. It is a revelation that comes from him and focuses on him. In this vision, Jesus is the all-encompassing one. He is described as the “Alpha and the Omega—the beginning and the end” (1:8). Jesus is above all kings and lords (19:16); he is the triumphant Lion of Judah—the king—because he is also the slaughtered Lamb of God—the sacrifice (5:4-10). For all this he is to be praised and joyously awaited. We can be sure of all of this because he is the one who has revealed all these things (1:1). We can also be sure that he is coming again soon (22:20). Come, Lord Jesus!



THE SEVEN CHURCHES

Revelation 1

PROLOGUE

1This is a revelation from* Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his servants the events that must soon* take place. He sent an angel to present this revelation to his servant John, 2who faithfully reported everything he saw. This is his report of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ.

3God blesses the one who reads the words of this prophecy to the church, and he blesses all who listen to its message and obey what it says, for the time is near.

JOHN'S GREETING TO THE SEVEN CHURCHES

4This letter is from John to the seven churches in the province of Asia.*

Grace and peace to you from the one who is, who always was, and who is still to come; from the sevenfold Spirit* before his throne; 5and from Jesus Christ. He is the faithful witness to these things, the first to rise from the dead, and the ruler of all the kings of the world.

All glory to him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by shedding his blood for us. 6He has made us a Kingdom of priests for God his Father. All glory and power to him forever and ever! Amen.

7Look! He comes with the clouds of heaven.
And everyone will see him— even those who pierced him.
And all the nations of the world will mourn for him.
Yes! Amen!

8“I am the Alpha and the Omega—the beginning and the end,”* says the Lord God. “I am the one who is, who always was, and who is still to come—the Almighty One.”

PATMOS

VISION OF THE SON OF MAN

9I, John, am your brother and your partner in suffering and in God’s Kingdom and in the patient endurance to which Jesus calls us. I was exiled to the island of Patmos for preaching the word of God and for my testimony about Jesus. 10It was the Lord’s Day, and I was worshiping in the Spirit.* Suddenly, I heard behind me a loud voice like a trumpet blast. 11It said, “Write in a book* everything you see, and send it to the seven churches in the cities of Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea.”

12When I turned to see who was speaking to me, I saw seven gold lampstands. 13And standing in the middle of the lampstands was someone like the Son of Man.* He was wearing a long robe with a gold sash across his chest. 14His head and his hair were white like wool, as white as snow. And his eyes were like flames of fire. 15His feet were like polished bronze refined in a furnace, and his voice thundered like mighty ocean waves. 16He held seven stars in his right hand, and a sharp two-edged sword came from his mouth.
And his face was like the sun in all its brilliance.

17When I saw him, I fell at his feet as if I were dead. But he laid his right hand on me and said, “Don’t be afraid! I am the First and the Last. 18I am the living one. I died, but look—I am alive forever and ever! And I hold the keys of death and the grave.*

19“Write down what you have seen—both the things that are now happening and the things that will happen.* 20This is the meaning of the mystery of the seven stars you saw in my right hand and the seven gold lampstands: The seven stars are the angels* of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.

Revelation 2

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN EPHESUS

1“Write this letter to the angel* of the church in Ephesus. This is the message from the one who holds the seven stars in his right hand, the one who walks among the seven gold lampstands:

2“I know all the things you do. I have seen your hard work and your patient endurance. I know you don’t tolerate evil people. You have examined the claims of those who say they are apostles but are not.
You have discovered they are liars. 3You have patiently suffered for me without quitting.

4“But I have this complaint against you. You don’t love me or each other as you did at first!* 5Look how far you have fallen! Turn back to me and do the works you did at first. If you don’t repent, I will come and remove your lampstand from its place among the churches. 6But this is in your favor: You hate the evil deeds of the Nicolaitans, just as I do.

7“Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches. To everyone who is victorious I will give fruit from the tree of life in the paradise of God.

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN SMYRNA

8“Write this letter to the angel of the church in Smyrna. This is the message from the one who is the First and the Last, who was dead but is now alive:

9“I know about your suffering and your poverty—but you are rich! I know the blasphemy of those opposing you. They say they are Jews, but they are not, because their synagogue belongs to Satan. 10Don’t be afraid of what you are about to suffer. The devil will throw some of you into prison to test you. You will suffer for ten days. But if you remain faithful even when facing death, I will give you the crown of life.

11“Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches. Whoever is victorious will not be harmed by the second death.

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN PERGAMUM

12“Write this letter to the angel of the church in Pergamum. This is the message from the one with the sharp two-edged sword:

13“I know that you live in the city where Satan has his throne, yet you have remained loyal to me. You refused to deny me even when Antipas, my faithful witness, was martyred among you there in Satan’s city.

14“But I have a few complaints against you. You tolerate some among you whose teaching is like that of Balaam, who showed Balak how to trip up the people of Israel. He taught them to sin by eating food offered to idols and by committing sexual sin. 15In a similar way, you have some Nicolaitans among you who follow the same teaching. 16Repent of your sin, or I will come to you suddenly and fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17“Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches. To everyone who is victorious I will give some of the manna that has been hidden away in heaven. And I will give to each one a white stone, and on the stone will be engraved a new name that no one understands except the one who receives it.

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN THYATIRA

18“Write this letter to the angel of the church in Thyatira. This is the message from the Son of God, whose eyes are like flames of fire, whose feet are like polished bronze:

19"I know all the things you do. I have seen your love, your faith, your service, and your patient endurance. And I can see your constant improvement in all these things.

20"But I have this complaint against you. You are permitting that woman—that Jezebel who calls herself a prophet—to lead my servants astray. She teaches them to commit sexual sin and to eat food offered to idols. 21I gave her time to repent, but she does not want to turn away from her immorality.

22"Therefore, I will throw her on a bed of suffering,* and those who commit adultery with her will suffer greatly unless they repent and turn away from her evil deeds. 23I will strike her children dead.
Then all the churches will know that I am the one who searches out the thoughts and intentions of every person. And I will give to each of you whatever you deserve.

24"But I also have a message for the rest of you in Thyatira who have not followed this false teaching ('deeper truths,' as they call them—depths of Satan, actually). I will ask nothing more of you 25except that you hold tightly to what you have until I come. 26To all who are victorious, who obey me to the very end, To them I will give authority over all the nations.

27They will rule the nations with an iron rod and smash them like clay pots.*

28They will have the same authority I received from my Father, and I will also give them the morning star!

29"Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches.

Revelation 3

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN SARDIS

1 “Write this letter to the angel* of the church in Sardis. This is the message from the one who has the sevenfold Spirit* of God and the seven stars:

“I know all the things you do, and that you have a reputation for being alive—but you are dead. 2 Wake up! Strengthen what little remains, for even what is left is almost dead. I find that your actions do not meet the requirements of my God. 3 Go back to what you heard and believed at first; hold to it firmly. Repent and turn to me again. If you don’t wake up, I will come to you suddenly, as unexpected as a thief.

4 “Yet there are some in the church in Sardis who have not soiled their clothes with evil. They will walk with me in white, for they are worthy. 5 All who are victorious will be clothed in white. I will never erase their names from the Book of Life, but I will announce before my Father and his angels that they are mine.

6 “Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches.

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN PHILADELPHIA

7 “Write this letter to the angel of the church in Philadelphia.

This is the message from the one who is holy and true, the one who has the key of David.

What he opens, no one can close; and what he closes, no one can open:*

8"I know all the things you do, and I have opened a door for you that no one can close. You have little strength, yet you obeyed my word and did not deny me. 9Look, I will force those who belong to Satan's synagogue—those liars who say they are Jews but are not—to come and bow down at your feet. They will acknowledge that you are the ones I love.

10"Because you have obeyed my command to persevere, I will protect you from the great time of testing that will come upon the whole world to test those who belong to this world. 11I am coming soon.* Hold on to what you have, so that no one will take away your crown. 12All who are victorious will become pillars in the Temple of my God, and they will never have to leave it. And I will write on them the name of my God, and they will be citizens in the city of my God—the new Jerusalem that comes down from heaven from my God. And I will also write on them my new name.

13"Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches.

THE MESSAGE TO THE CHURCH IN LAODICEA

14"Write this letter to the angel of the church in Laodicea. This is the message from the one who is the Amen—the faithful and true witness, the beginning* of God's new creation:

15"I know all the things you do, that you are neither hot nor cold. I wish that you were one or the other! 16But since you are like lukewarm water, neither hot nor cold, I will spit you out of my mouth! 17You say, 'I am rich. I have everything I want. I don't need a thing!' And you don't realize that you are wretched and miserable and poor and blind and naked. 18So I advise you to buy gold from me—gold that has been purified by fire. Then you will be rich. Also buy white garments from me so you will not be shamed by your nakedness, and ointment for your eyes so you will be able to see. 19I correct and discipline everyone I love. So be diligent and turn from your indifference.

20“Look! I stand at the door and knock. If you hear my voice and open the door, I will come in, and we will share a meal together as friends. 21Those who are victorious will sit with me on my throne, just as I was victorious and sat with my Father on his throne.

22“Anyone with ears to hear must listen to the Spirit and understand what he is saying to the churches.”

Revelation 4

WORSHIP IN HEAVEN

1Then as I looked, I saw a door standing open in heaven, and the same voice I had heard before spoke to me like a trumpet blast. The voice said, “Come up here, and I will show you what must happen after this.” 2And instantly I was in the Spirit,* and I saw a throne in heaven and someone sitting on it. 3The one sitting on the throne was as brilliant as gemstones—like jasper and carnelian. And the glow of an emerald circled his throne like a rainbow. 4Twenty-four thrones surrounded him, and twenty-four elders sat on them. They were all clothed in white and had gold crowns on their heads.
5From the throne came flashes of lightning and the rumble of thunder. And in front of the throne were seven torches with burning flames. This is the sevenfold Spirit* of God. 6In front of the throne was a shiny sea of glass, sparkling like crystal.

In the center and around the throne were four living beings, each covered with eyes, front and back. 7The first of these living beings was like a lion; the second was like an ox; the third had a human face; and the fourth was like an eagle in flight. 8Each of these living beings had six wings, and their wings were covered all over with eyes, inside and out. Day after day and night after night they keep on saying, “Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God, the Almighty— the one who always was, who is, and who is still to come.”

9Whenever the living beings give glory and honor and thanks to the one sitting on the throne (the one who lives forever and ever), 10the twenty-four elders fall down and worship the one sitting on the throne (the one who lives forever and ever). And they lay their crowns before the throne and say,

11“You are worthy, O Lord our God, to receive glory and honor and power.
For you created all things, and they exist because you created what you pleased.”

Revelation 5

THE LAMB OPENS THE SCROLL

1Then I saw a scroll* in the right hand of the one who was sitting on the throne. There was writing on the inside and the outside of the scroll, and it was sealed with seven seals. 2And I saw a strong angel, who shouted with a loud voice: “Who is worthy to break the seals on this scroll and open it?” 3But no one in heaven or on earth or under the earth was able to open the scroll and read it.

4Then I began to weep bitterly because no one was found worthy to open the scroll and read it. 5But one of the twenty-four elders said to me, “Stop weeping! Look, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the heir to David’s throne,* has won the victory. He is worthy to open the scroll and its seven seals.”

6Then I saw a Lamb that looked as if it had been slaughtered, but it was now standing between the throne and the four living beings and among the twenty-four elders. He had seven horns and seven eyes, which represent the sevenfold Spirit* of God that is sent out into every part of the earth. 7He stepped forward and took the scroll from the right hand of the one sitting on the throne. 8And when he took the scroll, the four living beings and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb. Each one had a harp, and they held gold bowls filled with incense, which are the prayers of God’s people.
9And they sang a new song with these words: “You are worthy to take the scroll and break its seals and open it.

For you were slaughtered, and your blood has ransomed people for God from every tribe and language and people and nation.

10And you have caused them to become a Kingdom of priests for our God.
And they will reign* on the earth.”

11Then I looked again, and I heard the voices of thousands and millions of angels around the throne and of the living beings and the elders. 12And they sang in a mighty chorus: “Worthy is the Lamb who was slaughtered— to receive power and riches and wisdom and strength and honor and glory and blessing.”

13And then I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea. They sang: “Blessing and honor and glory and power belong to the one sitting on the throne and to the Lamb forever and ever.”

14And the four living beings said, “Amen!” And the twenty-four elders fell down and worshiped the Lamb.

Revelation 6

THE LAMB BREAKS THE FIRST SIX SEALS

1As I watched, the Lamb broke the first of the seven seals on the scroll.* Then I heard one of the four living beings say with a voice like thunder, “Come!” 2I looked up and saw a white horse standing there. Its rider carried a bow, and a crown was placed on his head.
He rode out to win many battles and gain the victory.

3When the Lamb broke the second seal, I heard the second living being say, “Come!” 4Then another horse appeared, a red one. Its rider was given a mighty sword and the authority to take peace from the earth. And there was war and slaughter everywhere.

5When the Lamb broke the third seal, I heard the third living being say, “Come!” I looked up and saw a black horse, and its rider was holding a pair of scales in his hand. 6And I heard a voice from among the four living beings say, “A loaf of wheat bread or three loaves of barley will cost a day’s pay.* And don’t waste* the olive oil and wine.”

7When the Lamb broke the fourth seal, I heard the fourth living being say, “Come!” 8I looked up and saw a horse whose color was pale green. Its rider was named Death, and his companion was the Grave.* These two were given authority over one-fourth of the earth, to kill with the sword and famine and disease* and wild animals.

9When the Lamb broke the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of all who had been martyred for the word of God and for being faithful in their testimony. 10They shouted to the Lord and said, “O Sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long before you judge the people who belong to this world and avenge our blood for what they have done to us?” 11Then a white robe was given to each of them. And they were told to rest a little longer until the full number of their brothers and sisters*—their fellow servants of Jesus who were to be martyred—had joined them.

12I watched as the Lamb broke the sixth seal, and there was a great earthquake. The sun became as dark as black cloth, and the moon became as red as blood. 13Then the stars of the sky fell to the earth like green figs falling from a tree shaken by a strong wind. 14The sky was rolled up like a scroll, and all of the mountains and islands were moved from their places.

15Then everyone—the kings of the earth, the rulers, the generals, the wealthy, the powerful, and every slave and free person—all hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains.
16And they cried to the mountains and the rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of the one who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb. 17For the great day of their wrath has come, and who is able to survive?”

Revelation 7

GOD’S PEOPLE WILL BE PRESERVED

1Then I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds so they did not blow on the earth or the sea, or even on any tree. 2And I saw another angel coming up from the east, carrying the seal of the living God. And he shouted to those four angels, who had been given power to harm land and sea, 3“Wait! Don’t harm the land or the sea or the trees until we have placed the seal of God on the foreheads of his servants."

4And I heard how many were marked with the seal of God—
144,000 were sealed from all the tribes of Israel:

12,000 from Judah
12,000 from Reuben
12,000 from Gad
12,000 from Asher
12,000 from Naphtali
12,000 from Manasseh
12,000 from Simeon
12,000 from Levi
12,000 from Issachar
12,000 from Zebulun
12,000 from Joseph
12,000 from Benjamin

AFTERLIFE REVELATION 7:9-17

PRAISE FROM THE GREAT CROWD

9After this I saw a vast crowd, too great to count, from every nation and tribe and people and language, standing in front of the throne and before the Lamb. They were clothed in white robes and held palm branches in their hands. 10And they were shouting with a great roar, “Salvation comes from our God who sits on the throne and from the Lamb!”

11And all the angels were standing around the throne and around the elders and the four living beings. And they fell before the throne with their faces to the ground and worshiped God. 12They sang, “Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and strength belong to our God forever and ever!
Amen.”

13Then one of the twenty-four elders asked me, “Who are these who are clothed in white? Where did they come from?”

14And I said to him, “Sir, you are the one who knows.”

Then he said to me, “These are the ones who died in* the great tribulation.* They have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb and made them white.

15“That is why they stand in front of God’s throne and serve him day and night in his Temple.
And he who sits on the throne will give them shelter.

16They will never again be hungry or thirsty; they will never be scorched by the heat of the sun.

17For the Lamb on the throne*
will be their Shepherd.
He will lead them to springs of life-giving water.
And God will wipe every tear from their eyes.”

Revelation 8

THE LAMB BREAKS THE SEVENTH SEAL

1When the Lamb broke the seventh seal on the scroll,* there was silence throughout heaven for about half an hour. 2I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and they were given seven trumpets.

3Then another angel with a gold incense burner came and stood at the altar. And a great amount of incense was given to him to mix with the prayers of God's people as an offering on the gold altar before the throne. 4The smoke of the incense, mixed with the prayers of God's holy people, ascended up to God from the altar where the angel had poured them out. 5Then the angel filled the incense burner with fire from the altar and threw it down upon the earth; and thunder crashed, lightning flashed, and there was a terrible earthquake.

THE FIRST FOUR TRUMPETS

6Then the seven angels with the seven trumpets prepared to blow their mighty blasts.

7The first angel blew his trumpet, and hail and fire mixed with blood were thrown down on the earth. One-third of the earth was set on fire, one-third of the trees were burned, and all the green grass was burned.

8Then the second angel blew his trumpet, and a great mountain of fire was thrown into the sea. One-third of the water in the sea became blood, 9one-third of all things living in the sea died, and one-third of all the ships on the sea were destroyed.

10Then the third angel blew his trumpet, and a great star fell from the sky, burning like a torch. It fell on one-third of the rivers and on the springs of water. 11The name of the star was Bitterness.* It made one-third of the water bitter, and many people died from drinking the bitter water.

12Then the fourth angel blew his trumpet, and one-third of the sun was struck, and one-third of the moon, and one-third of the stars, and they became dark. And one-third of the day was dark, and also one-third of the night.

13Then I looked, and I heard a single eagle crying loudly as it flew through the air, “Terror, terror, terror to all who belong to this world because of what will happen when the last three angels blow their trumpets.”

Revelation 9

THE FIFTH TRUMPET BRINGS THE FIRST TERROR

1Then the fifth angel blew his trumpet, and I saw a star that had fallen to earth from the sky, and he was given the key to the shaft of the bottomless pit.*2When he opened it, smoke poured out as though from a huge furnace, and the sunlight and air turned dark from the smoke.

3Then locusts came from the smoke and descended on the earth, and they were given power to sting like scorpions. 4They were told not to harm the grass or plants or trees, but only the people who did not have the seal of God on their foreheads. 5They were told not to kill them but to torture them for five months with pain like the pain of a scorpion sting. 6In those days people will seek death but will not find it. They will long to die, but death will flee from them!

7The locusts looked like horses prepared for battle. They had what looked like gold crowns on their heads, and their faces looked like human faces. 8They had hair like women’s hair and teeth like the teeth of a lion. 9They wore armor made of iron, and their wings roared like an army of chariots rushing into battle. 10They had tails that stung like scorpions, and for five months they had the power to torment people. 11Their king is the angel from the bottomless pit; his name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek, Apollyon—the Destroyer.

12The first terror is past, but look, two more terrors are coming!

THE SIXTH TRUMPET BRINGS THE SECOND TERROR

13Then the sixth angel blew his trumpet, and I heard a voice speaking from the four horns of the gold altar that stands in the presence of God. 14And the voice said to the sixth angel who held the trumpet, “Release the four angels who are bound at the great Euphrates River.” 15Then the four angels who had been prepared for this hour and day and month and year were turned loose to kill one-third of all the people on earth. 16I heard the size of their army, which was 200 million mounted troops.

17And in my vision, I saw the horses and the riders sitting on them. The riders wore armor that was fiery red and dark blue and yellow. The horses had heads like lions, and fire and smoke and burning sulfur billowed from their mouths. 18One-third of all the people on earth were killed by these three plagues—by the fire and smoke and burning sulfur that came from the mouths of the horses. 19Their power was in their mouths and in their tails. For their tails had heads like snakes, with the power to injure people.

20But the people who did not die in these plagues still refused to repent of their evil deeds and turn to God. They continued to worship demons and idols made of gold, silver, bronze, stone, and wood—idols that can neither see nor hear nor walk! 21And they did not repent of their murders or their witchcraft or their sexual immorality or their thefts.

Revelation 10

THE ANGEL AND THE SMALL SCROLL

1Then I saw another mighty angel coming down from heaven, surrounded by a cloud, with a rainbow over his head. His face shone like the sun, and his feet were like pillars of fire. 2And in his hand was a small scroll* that had been opened. He stood with his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land. 3And he gave a great shout like the roar of a lion. And when he shouted, the seven thunders answered.

4When the seven thunders spoke, I was about to write. But I heard a voice from heaven saying, “Keep secret* what the seven thunders said, and do not write it down.”

5Then the angel I saw standing on the sea and on the land raised his right hand toward heaven. 6He swore an oath in the name of the one who lives forever and ever, who created the heavens and everything in them, the earth and everything in it, and the sea and everything in it. He said, “There will be no more delay. 7When the seventh angel blows his trumpet, God’s mysterious plan will be fulfilled. It will happen just as he announced it to his servants the prophets.”

8Then the voice from heaven spoke to me again: “Go and take the open scroll from the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land.”

9So I went to the angel and told him to give me the small scroll. “Yes, take it and eat it,” he said. “It will be sweet as honey in your mouth, but it will turn sour in your stomach!” 10So I took the small scroll from the hand of the angel, and I ate it! It was sweet in my mouth, but when I swallowed it, it turned sour in my stomach.

11Then I was told, “You must prophesy again about many peoples, nations, languages, and kings.”

Revelation 11

THE TWO WITNESSES

1Then I was given a measuring stick, and I was told, “Go and measure the Temple of God and the altar, and count the number of worshipers. 2But do not measure the outer courtyard, for it has been turned over to the nations. They will trample the holy city for 42 months. 3And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will be clothed in burlap and will prophesy during those 1,260 days.”

4These two prophets are the two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of all the earth. 5If anyone tries to harm them, fire flashes from their mouths and consumes their enemies.
This is how anyone who tries to harm them must die. 6They have power to shut the sky so that no rain will fall for as long as they prophesy. And they have the power to turn the rivers and oceans into blood, and to strike the earth with every kind of plague as often as they wish.

7When they complete their testimony, the beast that comes up out of the bottomless pit* will declare war against them, and he will conquer them and kill them. 8And their bodies will lie in the main street of Jerusalem,* the city that is figuratively called “Sodom” and “Egypt,” the city where their Lord was crucified. 9And for three and a half days, all peoples, tribes, languages, and nations will stare at their bodies. No one will be allowed to bury them. 10All the people who belong to this world will gloat over them and give presents to each other to celebrate the death of the two prophets who had tormented them.

11But after three and a half days, God breathed life into them, and they stood up! Terror struck all who were staring at them. 12Then a loud voice from heaven called to the two prophets, “Come up here!”
And they rose to heaven in a cloud as their enemies watched.

13At the same time there was a terrible earthquake that destroyed a tenth of the city. Seven thousand people died in that earthquake, and everyone else was terrified and gave glory to the God of heaven.

14The second terror is past, but look, the third terror is coming quickly.

THE SEVENTH TRUMPET BRINGS THE THIRD TERROR

15Then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices shouting in heaven: “The world has now become the Kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ,* and he will reign forever and ever.”

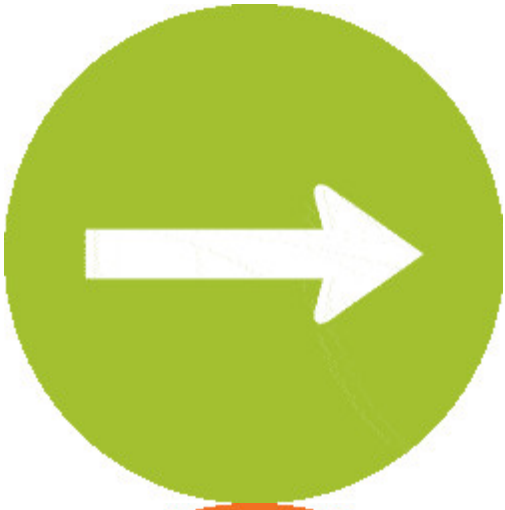
16The twenty-four elders sitting on their thrones before God fell with their faces to the ground and worshiped him. 17And they said, “We give thanks to you, Lord God, the Almighty, the one who is and who always was, for now you have assumed your great power and have begun to reign.

18The nations were filled with wrath, but now the time of your wrath has come.
It is time to judge the dead and reward your servants the prophets, as well as your holy people, and all who fear your name, from the least to the greatest.
It is time to destroy all who have caused destruction on the earth.”

19Then, in heaven, the Temple of God was opened and the Ark of his covenant could be seen inside the Temple. Lightning flashed, thunder crashed and roared, and there was an earthquake and a terrible hailstorm.



VISIONS REVELATION 12:1-18

Revelation 12

THE WOMAN AND THE DRAGON

1Then I witnessed in heaven an event of great significance. I saw a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon beneath her feet, and a crown of twelve stars on her head. 2She was pregnant, and she cried out because of her labor pains and the agony of giving birth.

3Then I witnessed in heaven another significant event. I saw a large red dragon with seven heads and ten horns, with seven crowns on his heads. 4His tail swept away one-third of the stars in the sky, and he threw them to the earth. He stood in front of the woman as she was about to give birth, ready to devour her baby as soon as it was born.

5She gave birth to a son who was to rule all nations with an iron rod. And her child was snatched away from the dragon and was caught up to God and to his throne. 6And the woman fled into the wilderness, where God had prepared a place to care for her for 1,260 days.

7Then there was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon and his angels. 8And the dragon lost the battle, and he and his angels were forced out of heaven. 9This great dragon
—the ancient serpent called the devil, or Satan, the one deceiving the whole world—was thrown down to the earth with all his angels.

10Then I heard a loud voice shouting across the heavens, “It has come at last— salvation and power and the Kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ.*

For the accuser of our brothers and sisters* has been thrown down to earth— the one who accuses them before our God day and night.

11And they have defeated him by the blood of the Lamb and by their testimony.
And they did not love their lives so much that they were afraid to die.

12Therefore, rejoice, O heavens!
And you who live in the heavens, rejoice!
But terror will come on the earth and the sea, for the devil has come down to you in great anger, knowing that he has little time."

13When the dragon realized that he had been thrown down to the earth, he pursued the woman who had given birth to the male child. 14But she was given two wings like those of a great eagle so she could fly to the place prepared for her in the wilderness. There she would be cared for and protected from the dragon* for a time, times, and half a time.

15Then the dragon tried to drown the woman with a flood of water that flowed from his mouth. 16But the earth helped her by opening its mouth and swallowing the river that gushed out from the mouth of the dragon. 17And the dragon was angry at the woman and declared war against the rest of her children—all who keep God's commandments and maintain their testimony for Jesus.

18Then the dragon took his stand* on the shore beside the sea.

Revelation 13

THE BEAST OUT OF THE SEA

1Then I saw a beast rising up out of the sea. It had seven heads and ten horns, with ten crowns on its horns. And written on each head were names that blasphemed God. 2This beast looked like a leopard, but it had the feet of a bear and the mouth of a lion! And the dragon gave the beast his own power and throne and great authority.

3I saw that one of the heads of the beast seemed wounded beyond recovery—but the fatal wound was healed! The whole world marveled at this miracle and gave allegiance to the beast. 4They worshiped the dragon for giving the beast such power, and they also worshiped the beast. “Who is as great as the beast?” they exclaimed. “Who is able to fight against him?”

5Then the beast was allowed to speak great blasphemies against God. And he was given authority to do whatever he wanted for forty-two months. 6And he spoke terrible words of blasphemy against God, slandering his name and his dwelling—that is, those who dwell in heaven.7And the beast was allowed to wage war against God’s holy people and to conquer them. And he was given authority to rule over every tribe and people and language and nation. 8And all the people who belong to this world worshiped the beast. They are the ones whose names were not written in the Book of Life that belongs to the Lamb who was slaughtered before the world was made.

9Anyone with ears to hear should listen and understand.

10Anyone who is destined for prison will be taken to prison.
Anyone destined to die by the sword will die by the sword.

This means that God’s holy people must endure persecution patiently and remain faithful.

THE BEAST OUT OF THE EARTH

11Then I saw another beast come up out of the earth. He had two horns like those of a lamb, but he spoke with the voice of a dragon.
12He exercised all the authority of the first beast. And he required all the earth and its people to worship the first beast, whose fatal wound had been healed. 13He did astounding miracles, even making fire flash down to earth from the sky while everyone was watching.
14And with all the miracles he was allowed to perform on behalf of the first beast, he deceived all the people who belong to this world.
He ordered the people to make a great statue of the first beast, who was fatally wounded and then came back to life. 15He was then permitted to give life to this statue so that it could speak. Then the statue of the beast commanded that anyone refusing to worship it must die.

16He required everyone—small and great, rich and poor, free and slave—to be given a mark on the right hand or on the forehead.
17And no one could buy or sell anything without that mark, which was either the name of the beast or the number representing his name. 18Wisdom is needed here. Let the one with understanding solve the meaning of the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man.* His number is 666.*

MOUNT ZION

Revelation 14

THE LAMB AND THE 144,000

1Then I saw the Lamb standing on Mount Zion, and with him were 144,000 who had his name and his Father's name written on their foreheads. 2And I heard a sound from heaven like the roar of mighty ocean waves or the rolling of loud thunder. It was like the sound of many harpists playing together.

3This great choir sang a wonderful new song in front of the throne of God and before the four living beings and the twenty-four elders.
No one could learn this song except the 144,000 who had been redeemed from the earth. 4They have kept themselves as pure as virgins,* following the Lamb wherever he goes. They have been purchased from among the people on the earth as a special offering* to God and to the Lamb. 5They have told no lies; they are without blame.

THE THREE ANGELS

6And I saw another angel flying through the sky, carrying the eternal Good News to proclaim to the people who belong to this world—to every nation, tribe, language, and people. 7"Fear God," he shouted. "Give glory to him. For the time has come when he will sit as judge. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea, and all the springs of water."

8Then another angel followed him through the sky, shouting,
"Babylon is fallen—that great city is fallen—because she made all the nations of the world drink the wine of her passionate immorality."

9Then a third angel followed them, shouting, "Anyone who worships the beast and his statue or who accepts his mark on the forehead or on the hand 10must drink the wine of God's anger. It has been poured full strength into God's cup of wrath. And they will be tormented with fire and burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and the Lamb. 11The smoke of their torment will rise forever and ever, and they will have no relief day or night, for they have worshiped the beast and his statue and have accepted the mark of his name."

12This means that God's holy people must endure persecution patiently, obeying his commands and maintaining their faith in Jesus.

13And I heard a voice from heaven saying, "Write this down: Blessed are those who die in the Lord from now on. Yes, says the Spirit, they are blessed indeed, for they will rest from their hard work; for their good deeds follow them!"

THE HARVEST OF THE EARTH

14Then I saw a white cloud, and seated on the cloud was someone like the Son of Man.* He had a gold crown on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand.

15Then another angel came from the Temple and shouted to the one sitting on the cloud, "Swing the sickle, for the time of harvest has come; the crop on earth is ripe." 16So the one sitting on the cloud swung his sickle over the earth, and the whole earth was harvested.

17After that, another angel came from the Temple in heaven, and he also had a sharp sickle. 18Then another angel, who had power to destroy with fire, came from the altar. He shouted to the angel with the sharp sickle, "Swing your sickle now to gather the clusters of grapes from the vines of the earth, for they are ripe for judgment." 19So the angel swung his sickle over the earth and loaded the grapes into the great winepress of God's wrath. 20The grapes were trampled in the winepress outside the city, and blood flowed from the winepress in a stream about 180 miles* long and as high as a horse's bridle.

SONGS REVELATION 15:1-4

Revelation 15

THE SONG OF MOSES AND OF THE LAMB

1Then I saw in heaven another marvelous event of great significance. Seven angels were holding the seven last plagues, which would bring God's wrath to completion. 2I saw before me what seemed to be a glass sea mixed with fire. And on it stood all the people who had been victorious over the beast and his statue and the number representing his name. They were all holding harps that God had given them. 3And they were singing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb: "Great and marvelous are your works, O Lord God, the Almighty.

Just and true are your ways, O King of the nations.*

4Who will not fear you, Lord, and glorify your name?
For you alone are holy.
All nations will come and worship before you, for your righteous deeds have been revealed."

THE SEVEN BOWLS OF THE SEVEN PLAGUES

5Then I looked and saw that the Temple in heaven, God's Tabernacle, was thrown wide open. 6The seven angels who were holding the seven plagues came out of the Temple. They were clothed in spotless white linen* with gold sashes across their chests.
7Then one of the four living beings handed each of the seven angels a gold bowl filled with the wrath of God, who lives forever and ever. 8The Temple was filled with smoke from God's glory and power. No one could enter the Temple until the seven angels had completed pouring out the seven plagues.

Revelation 16

1Then I heard a mighty voice from the Temple say to the seven angels, "Go your ways and pour out on the earth the seven bowls containing God's wrath."

2So the first angel left the Temple and poured out his bowl on the earth, and horrible, malignant sores broke out on everyone who had the mark of the beast and who worshiped his statue.

3Then the second angel poured out his bowl on the sea, and it became like the blood of a corpse. And everything in the sea died.

4Then the third angel poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs, and they became blood. 5And I heard the angel who had authority over all water saying, "You are just, O Holy One, who is and who always was, because you have sent these judgments.

6Since they shed the blood of your holy people and your prophets, you have given them blood to drink.
It is their just reward."

7And I heard a voice from the altar,* saying, "Yes, O Lord God, the Almighty, your judgments are true and just."

8Then the fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, causing it to scorch everyone with its fire. 9Everyone was burned by this blast of heat, and they cursed the name of God, who had control over all these plagues. They did not repent of their sins and turn to God and give him glory.

10Then the fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast, and his kingdom was plunged into darkness. His subjects ground their teeth* in anguish, 11and they cursed the God of heaven for their pains and sores. But they did not repent of their evil deeds and turn to God.

12Then the sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great Euphrates River, and it dried up so that the kings from the east could march their armies toward the west without hindrance. 13And I saw three evil* spirits that looked like frogs leap from the mouths of the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet. 14They are demonic spirits who work miracles and go out to all the rulers of the world to gather them for battle against the Lord on that great judgment day of God the Almighty.

15"Look, I will come as unexpectedly as a thief! Blessed are all who are watching for me, who keep their clothing ready so they will not have to walk around naked and ashamed."

16And the demonic spirits gathered all the rulers and their armies to a place with the Hebrew name Armageddon.*

17Then the seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air. And a mighty shout came from the throne in the Temple, saying, “It is finished!” 18Then the thunder crashed and rolled, and lightning flashed. And a great earthquake struck—the worst since people were placed on the earth. 19The great city of Babylon split into three sections, and the cities of many nations fell into heaps of rubble. So God remembered all of Babylon’s sins, and he made her drink the cup that was filled with the wine of his fierce wrath. 20And every island disappeared, and all the mountains were leveled. 21There was a terrible hailstorm, and hailstones weighing as much as seventy-five pounds* fell from the sky onto the people below. They cursed God because of the terrible plague of the hailstorm.

Revelation 17

THE GREAT PROSTITUTE

1One of the seven angels who had poured out the seven bowls came over and spoke to me. “Come with me,” he said, “and I will show you the judgment that is going to come on the great prostitute, who rules over many waters. 2The kings of the world have committed adultery with her, and the people who belong to this world have been made drunk by the wine of her immorality.”

3So the angel took me in the Spirit* into the wilderness. There I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that had seven heads and ten horns, and blasphemies against God were written all over it. 4The woman wore purple and scarlet clothing and beautiful jewelry made of gold and precious gems and pearls. In her hand she held a gold goblet full of obscenities and the impurities of her immorality.
5A mysterious name was written on her forehead: “Babylon the Great, Mother of All Prostitutes and Obscenities in the World.” 6I could see that she was drunk—drunk with the blood of God’s holy people who were witnesses for Jesus. I stared at her in complete amazement.

7“Why are you so amazed?” the angel asked. “I will tell you the mystery of this woman and of the beast with seven heads and ten horns on which she sits. 8The beast you saw was once alive but isn’t now. And yet he will soon come up out of the bottomless pit* and go to eternal destruction. And the people who belong to this world, whose names were not written in the Book of Life before the world was made, will be amazed at the reappearance of this beast who had died.

9“This calls for a mind with understanding: The seven heads of the beast represent the seven hills where the woman rules. They also represent seven kings. 10Five kings have already fallen, the sixth now reigns, and the seventh is yet to come, but his reign will be brief.

11“The scarlet beast that was, but is no longer, is the eighth king. He is like the other seven, and he, too, is headed for destruction. 12The ten horns of the beast are ten kings who have not yet risen to power. They will be appointed to their kingdoms for one brief moment to reign with the beast. 13They will all agree to give him their power and authority. 14Together they will go to war against the Lamb, but the Lamb will defeat them because he is Lord of all lords and King of all kings. And his called and chosen and faithful ones will be with him.”

15Then the angel said to me, “The waters where the prostitute is ruling represent masses of people of every nation and language.
16The scarlet beast and his ten horns all hate the prostitute. They will strip her naked, eat her flesh, and burn her remains with fire.
17For God has put a plan into their minds, a plan that will carry out his purposes. They will agree to give their authority to the scarlet beast, and so the words of God will be fulfilled. 18And this woman you saw in your vision represents the great city that rules over the kings of the world.”

Revelation 18

THE FALL OF BABYLON

1After all this I saw another angel come down from heaven with great authority, and the earth grew bright with his splendor. 2He gave a mighty shout: “Babylon is fallen—that great city is fallen!

She has become a home for demons.
She is a hideout for every foul* spirit, a hideout for every foul vulture and every foul and dreadful animal.*

3For all the nations have fallen* because of the wine of her passionate immorality.
The kings of the world have committed adultery with her.
Because of her desires for extravagant luxury, the merchants of the world have grown rich.”

4Then I heard another voice calling from heaven, “Come away from her, my people.

Do not take part in her sins, or you will be punished with her.

5For her sins are piled as high as heaven, and God remembers her evil deeds.

6Do to her as she has done to others.
Double her penalty* for all her evil deeds.
She brewed a cup of terror for others, so brew twice as much* for her.

7She glorified herself and lived in luxury, so match it now with torment and sorrow.
She boasted in her heart, ‘I am queen on my throne.
I am no helpless widow, and I have no reason to mourn.’

8Therefore, these plagues will overtake her in a single day— death and mourning and famine.
She will be completely consumed by fire, for the Lord God who judges her is mighty.”

9And the kings of the world who committed adultery with her and enjoyed her great luxury will mourn for her as they see the smoke rising from her charred remains. 10They will stand at a distance, terrified by her great torment. They will cry out, “How terrible, how terrible for you, O Babylon, you great city!

In a single moment God’s judgment came on you.”

11The merchants of the world will weep and mourn for her, for there is no one left to buy their goods. 12She bought great quantities of gold, silver, jewels, and pearls; fine linen, purple, silk, and scarlet cloth; things made of fragrant thyine wood, ivory goods, and objects made of expensive wood; and bronze, iron, and marble. 13She also bought cinnamon, spice, incense, myrrh, frankincense, wine, olive oil, fine flour, wheat, cattle, sheep, horses, wagons, and bodies—that is, human slaves.

14“The fancy things you loved so much are gone,” they cry.
“All your luxuries and splendor are gone forever, never to be yours again.”

15The merchants who became wealthy by selling her these things will stand at a distance, terrified by her great torment. They will weep and cry out, 16“How terrible, how terrible for that great city!

She was clothed in finest purple and scarlet linens, decked out with gold and precious stones and pearls!

17In a single moment all the wealth of the city is gone!”

And all the captains of the merchant ships and their passengers and sailors and crews will stand at a distance. 18They will cry out as they watch the smoke ascend, and they will say, “Where is there another city as great as this?” 19And they will weep and throw dust on their heads to show their grief. And they will cry out, “How terrible, how terrible for that great city!

The shipowners became wealthy by transporting her great wealth on the seas.
In a single moment it is all gone.”

20Rejoice over her fate, O heaven and people of God and apostles and prophets!
For at last God has judged her for your sakes.

21Then a mighty angel picked up a boulder the size of a huge millstone. He threw it into the ocean and shouted, “Just like this, the great city Babylon will be thrown down with violence and will never be found again.

22The sound of harps, singers, flutes, and trumpets will never be heard in you again.
No craftsmen and no trades will ever be found in you again.
The sound of the mill will never be heard in you again.

23The light of a lamp will never shine in you again.
The happy voices of brides and grooms will never be heard in you again.
For your merchants were the greatest in the world, and you deceived the nations with your sorceries.

24In your* streets flowed the blood of the prophets and of God’s holy people and the blood of people slaughtered all over the world.”

Revelation 19

SONGS OF VICTORY IN HEAVEN

1After this, I heard what sounded like a vast crowd in heaven shouting, “Praise the LORD!*

Salvation and glory and power belong to our God.

2His judgments are true and just.
He has punished the great prostitute who corrupted the earth with her immorality.
He has avenged the murder of his servants.”

3And again their voices rang out: “Praise the LORD!

The smoke from that city ascends forever and ever!”

4Then the twenty-four elders and the four living beings fell down and worshiped God, who was sitting on the throne. They cried out, “Amen! Praise the LORD!”

5And from the throne came a voice that said, “Praise our God, all his servants, all who fear him, from the least to the greatest.”

WEDDINGS REVELATION 19:6-9

6Then I heard again what sounded like the shout of a vast crowd or the roar of mighty ocean waves or the crash of loud thunder: “Praise the LORD!

For the Lord our God,* the Almighty, reigns.

7Let us be glad and rejoice, and let us give honor to him.
For the time has come for the wedding feast of the Lamb, and his bride has prepared herself.

8She has been given the finest of pure white linen to wear.”
For the fine linen represents the good deeds of God’s holy people.

9And the angel said to me, “Write this: Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding feast of the Lamb.” And he added, “These are true words that come from God.”

10Then I fell down at his feet to worship him, but he said, “No, don’t worship me. I am a servant of God, just like you and your brothers and sisters* who testify about their faith in Jesus. Worship only God. For the essence of prophecy is to give a clear witness for Jesus.*”

THE RIDER ON THE WHITE HORSE

11Then I saw heaven opened, and a white horse was standing there. Its rider was named Faithful and True, for he judges fairly and wages a righteous war. 12His eyes were like flames of fire, and on his head were many crowns. A name was written on him that no one understood except himself. 13He wore a robe dipped in blood, and his title was the Word of God. 14The armies of heaven, dressed in the finest of pure white linen, followed him on white horses. 15From his mouth came a sharp sword to strike down the nations. He will rule them with an iron rod. He will release the fierce wrath of God, the Almighty, like juice flowing from a winepress. 16On his robe at his thigh* was written this title: King of all kings and Lord of all lords.

17Then I saw an angel standing in the sun, shouting to the vultures flying high in the sky: “Come! Gather together for the great banquet God has prepared. 18Come and eat the flesh of kings, generals, and strong warriors; of horses and their riders; and of all humanity, both free and slave, small and great.”

19Then I saw the beast and the kings of the world and their armies gathered together to fight against the one sitting on the horse and his army. 20And the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who did mighty miracles on behalf of the beast—miracles that deceived all who had accepted the mark of the beast and who worshiped his statue. Both the beast and his false prophet were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulfur. 21Their entire army was killed by the sharp sword that came from the mouth of the one riding the white horse. And the vultures all gorged themselves on the dead bodies.

DEMONS REVELATION 20:1-10

Revelation 20

THE THOUSAND YEARS

1Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven with the key to the bottomless pit* and a heavy chain in his hand. 2He seized the dragon—that old serpent, who is the devil, Satan—and bound him in chains for a thousand years. 3The angel threw him into the bottomless pit, which he then shut and locked so Satan could not deceive the nations anymore until the thousand years were finished.
Afterward he must be released for a little while.

4Then I saw thrones, and the people sitting on them had been given the authority to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their testimony about Jesus and for proclaiming the word of God. They had not worshiped the beast or his statue, nor accepted his mark on their foreheads or their hands. They all came to life again, and they reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

5This is the first resurrection. (The rest of the dead did not come back to life until the thousand years had ended.) 6Blessed and holy are those who share in the first resurrection. For them the second death holds no power, but they will be priests of God and of Christ and will reign with him a thousand years.

THE DEFEAT OF SATAN

7When the thousand years come to an end, Satan will be let out of his prison. 8He will go out to deceive the nations—called Gog and Magog—in every corner of the earth. He will gather them together for battle—a mighty army, as numberless as sand along the seashore. 9And I saw them as they went up on the broad plain of the earth and surrounded God's people and the beloved city. But fire from heaven came down on the attacking armies and consumed them.

10Then the devil, who had deceived them, was thrown into the fiery lake of burning sulfur, joining the beast and the false prophet.
There they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

THE FINAL JUDGMENT

11And I saw a great white throne and the one sitting on it. The earth and sky fled from his presence, but they found no place to hide. 12I saw the dead, both great and small, standing before God's throne.
And the books were opened, including the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to what they had done, as recorded in the books. 13The sea gave up its dead, and death and the grave* gave up their dead. And all were judged according to their deeds.
14Then death and the grave were thrown into the lake of fire. This lake of fire is the second death. 15And anyone whose name was not found recorded in the Book of Life was thrown into the lake of fire.

THE FUTURE REVELATION 21:1-8

JERUSALEM

Revelation 21

THE NEW JERUSALEM

1Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the old heaven and the old earth had disappeared. And the sea was also gone. 2And I saw the holy city, the new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven like a bride beautifully dressed for her husband.

3I heard a loud shout from the throne, saying, “Look, God’s home is now among his people! He will live with them, and they will be his people. God himself will be with them.*4He will wipe every tear from their eyes, and there will be no more death or sorrow or crying or pain. All these things are gone forever.”

5And the one sitting on the throne said, “Look, I am making everything new!” And then he said to me, “Write this down, for what I tell you is trustworthy and true.” 6And he also said, “It is finished! I am the Alpha and the Omega—the Beginning and the End. To all who are thirsty I will give freely from the springs of the water of life. 7All who are victorious will inherit all these blessings, and I will be their God, and they will be my children.

8“But cowards, unbelievers, the corrupt, murderers, the immoral, those who practice witchcraft, idol worshipers, and all liars—their fate is in the fiery lake of burning sulfur. This is the second death.”

9Then one of the seven angels who held the seven bowls containing the seven last plagues came and said to me, “Come with me! I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb.”

10So he took me in the Spirit* to a great, high mountain, and he showed me the holy city, Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God. 11It shone with the glory of God and sparkled like a precious stone—like jasper as clear as crystal. 12The city wall was broad and high, with twelve gates guarded by twelve angels. And the names of the twelve tribes of Israel were written on the gates. 13There were three gates on each side—east, north, south, and west. 14The wall of the city had twelve foundation stones, and on them were written the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

15The angel who talked to me held in his hand a gold measuring stick to measure the city, its gates, and its wall. 16When he measured it, he found it was a square, as wide as it was long. In fact, its length and width and height were each 1,400 miles.17Then he measured the walls and found them to be 216 feet thick (according to the human standard used by the angel).

18The wall was made of jasper, and the city was pure gold, as clear as glass. 19The wall of the city was built on foundation stones inlaid with twelve precious stones:* the first was jasper, the second sapphire, the third agate, the fourth emerald, 20the fifth onyx, the sixth carnelian, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth, the twelfth amethyst.

21The twelve gates were made of pearls—each gate from a single pearl! And the main street was pure gold, as clear as glass.

22I saw no temple in the city, for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple. 23And the city has no need of sun or moon, for the glory of God illuminates the city, and the Lamb is its light. 24The nations will walk in its light, and the kings of the world will enter the city in all their glory. 25Its gates will never be closed at the end of day because there is no night there. 26And all the nations will bring their glory and honor into the city. 27Nothing evil* will be allowed to enter, nor anyone who practices shameful idolatry and dishonesty—but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

REVELATION'S OLD TESTAMENT IMAGERY

Revelation 22

1Then the angel showed me a river with the water of life, clear as crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb. 2It flowed down the center of the main street. On each side of the river grew a tree of life, bearing twelve crops of fruit,* with a fresh crop each month. The leaves were used for medicine to heal the nations.

3No longer will there be a curse upon anything. For the throne of God and of the Lamb will be there, and his servants will worship him. 4And they will see his face, and his name will be written on their foreheads. 5And there will be no night there—no need for lamps or sun—for the Lord God will shine on them. And they will reign forever and ever.

6Then the angel said to me, “Everything you have heard and seen is trustworthy and true. The Lord God, who inspires his prophets,* has sent his angel to tell his servants what will happen soon.*”

JESUS IS COMING

7"Look, I am coming soon! Blessed are those who obey the words of prophecy written in this book.*"

8I, John, am the one who heard and saw all these things. And when I heard and saw them, I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who showed them to me. 9But he said, "No, don't worship me. I am a servant of God, just like you and your brothers the prophets, as well as all who obey what is written in this book. Worship only God!”

10Then he instructed me, “Do not seal up the prophetic words in this book, for the time is near. 11Let the one who is doing harm continue to do harm; let the one who is vile continue to be vile; let the one who is righteous continue to live righteously; let the one who is holy continue to be holy.”

12“Look, I am coming soon, bringing my reward with me to repay all people according to their deeds. 13I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the End.”

14Blessed are those who wash their robes. They will be permitted to enter through the gates of the city and eat the fruit from the tree of life. 15Outside the city are the dogs—the sorcerers, the sexually immoral, the murderers, the idol worshipers, and all who love to live a lie.

16“I, Jesus, have sent my angel to give you this message for the churches. I am both the source of David and the heir to his throne.* I am the bright morning star.”

17The Spirit and the bride say, “Come.” Let anyone who hears this say, “Come.” Let anyone who is thirsty come. Let anyone who desires drink freely from the water of life. 18And I solemnly declare to everyone who hears the words of prophecy written in this book: If anyone adds anything to what is written here, God will add to that person the plagues described in this book. 19And if anyone removes any of the words from this book of prophecy, God will remove that person’s share in the tree of life and in the holy city that are described in this book.

20He who is the faithful witness to all these things says, “Yes, I am coming soon!”

Amen! Come, Lord Jesus!

21May the grace of the Lord Jesus be with God's holy people.*

ITINERARY

THE BEGINNING

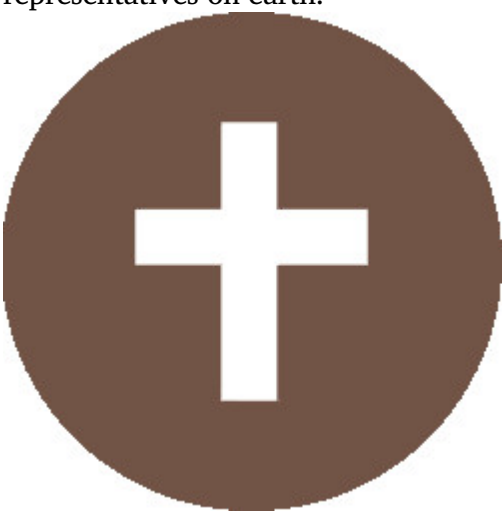
God's story has no beginning or end, but our part in it begins when he creates the heavens and the earth. God has big plans for his creation. He creates humans in his own image, giving them both dominion over all creation and also the privilege of being in intimate relationship with him. The first humans enjoy direct fellowship and conversation with God until they choose to violate God's only commandment. The communion they had with their Creator is gone, and evil permeates God's creation. Things are no longer the way they are supposed to be. God punishes humanity, but he doesn't destroy them. In fact, he already has a plan to restore the relationship he intended to have with them.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

We get glimpses of God's plan even in the earliest stories of the Bible. When creation becomes consumed with sin, God cleanses the world with a flood, sparing the righteous Noah and his family. When it is all over, God sends a rainbow as a sign of his promise to never again send such a catastrophe.

God eventually selects one man, Abraham, through whom he will restore his close relationship with humanity. God promises to bless Abraham and his family by making them his chosen people. They will represent God to the world and demonstrate his desire to reunite with all humanity.

Abraham and his family are far from perfect. In fact, Genesis records the many failures of God's chosen people right alongside the stories of their faithfulness. God is at work in this family, transforming them into the kind of people he wants as his representatives on earth.



JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

Although thousands of years will pass before Jesus Christ comes to earth as a baby, he is present with God even before creation. Christ "existed before anything was created and is supreme over all creation, for through him God created everything in the heavenly realms and on earth" (Colossians 1:15-16). Everything in the Old Testament points the way to Jesus. He embodies God's ultimate plan for restoring fellowship with his people and for renewing his creation.

THE BEGINNING

THE BEGINNING

THE ACCOUNT OF CREATION

Before the beginning there is only God. The story of Creation is a story about God, what he does and how he interacts with his creation. By God's hand, everything comes into existence out of nothing. He builds it all with grandeur, makes each creature with attention and care, and calls everything good. The Creation story shows us how much God loves all that he has made. This is the beginning of the big story—God's story told in the Bible.

GEN 1:1–2:25

OBSERVATION POINT

The first two chapters of Genesis provide the only record we have of a perfect world. This is what perfection looks like. God wanted this world for all of us. Notice the activities that existed before sin invaded. Contrary to what most people believe, work was part of the good creation: God created, blessed, and planted; man tended the garden, watched over it, and named the animals. Man and woman were to be fruitful, multiply, govern the earth, and reign over the animals. God rested, man slept. These were all perfect activities.

EXPLORATION POINT

The climax of God's creation was the formation of humans. Male and female were made in his image. You are like him. Out of all of Creation, you carry his image, breathed into you by his breath of life. No other part of Creation can claim to have his image or his breath. You are infused with his likeness through your moral conscience and spiritual awareness. When you are feeling beaten down and questioning yourself, these truths can be of great encouragement!

Adam and Eve are free to roam, to enjoy the garden and the animals, and to walk and talk with God. They live with only one restriction—to not eat from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. But they choose to defy God and eat the tree's fruit. Then sin enters the world; it divides everything and uncertainty reigns. Adam and Eve are separated from God, but God continues to love them. Even though sin enters the world, changing everything, God's big story continues.

READ:

GEN 3:1-24

OBSERVATION POINT

God settled Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden with a wide variety of fruit-producing trees to satisfy their hunger. He also created two special trees that grew in the middle of the Garden: the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, and the tree of life. God clearly told Adam not to eat the fruit of the first tree, but he didn't restrict the second. Adam and Eve had the opportunity to eat from the tree of life, but the Bible never says that they did. The serpent pointed out God's one restriction, causing Eve to doubt God and then disobey him.

EXPLORATION POINT

The story of how sin came into the world is known as the Fall. It answers the question, “Why is there evil in the world?” Although Eve disobeyed God’s command first by eating the fruit and Adam followed her, Adam is the one who represents all humanity separated from God. Adam’s disobedience and sin separate everyone from God, but Christ’s righteousness and sacrifice reunite us with him. Humanity suffers under God’s indictment and conviction because of Adam’s actions; however, God graciously offers humanity a way of salvation through Jesus Christ (the second Adam).

In the wake of the Fall, Adam and Eve's family begins. In sixteen verses we cover the events that transpire over several years—the concise history of a generation. No lovely recollection of the pregnancies and birth experiences, no talk about first steps, first smiles, or first words. It's a summary that penetrates to the heart of the story: sin's horrible consequences of anger, jealousy, murder, and death.

READ:

GEN 4:1-26

OBSERVATION POINT

Cain and Abel had occupations: One was a farmer, the other a shepherd. The brothers performed a formal religious ceremony of presenting gifts to the Lord at harvest time. Both brought appropriate gifts, but God rejected Cain's gift—not because it was grain rather than a lamb, but because Cain's attitude was all wrong. Cain didn't give generously or willingly. He brought "some" rather than "the best." He worshiped out of obligation, not with a thankful heart.

EXPLORATION POINT

Cain had a choice: to resist sin and do the right thing or to give in and let it overtake him. Like his parents, he gave in to it. God's warning to Cain is for us too: "Sin is crouching at the door, eager to control you." We have a choice: to resist sin and master it, or to give in and let it master us. We don't have to do this by ourselves, by our own strength, or with our own willpower. The power of God through the Holy Spirit helps us stand firm and resist sin.

Over time, people multiply and fill the earth. Sinful thoughts and actions multiply with them. Everything is cursed by the first sin of Adam and Eve, and God regrets what has become of his beautiful plan for his creation. His heart aches as he looks out on the mess the world has become, so he decides to destroy it all and start again. In the middle of sin's ugliness, a glimmer of hope remains—one righteous man named Noah.

GEN 6:1-22

5 OF 285

OBSERVATION POINT

The boat God instructed Noah to build was no beauty; it had no rudder, no sails, no means of navigation. It was built only to float and to protect its precious cargo as long as the floodwaters raged below. God provided the instructions, and Noah started building. For the next 120 years, hundreds of miles from a sea or an ocean, Noah constructed his boat on dry ground. Upon completing it, Noah filled the boat with pairs of every living creature, with food, and with his family.

EXPLORATION POINT

Noah “walked in close fellowship with God.” This explains why he silently and respectfully obeyed God’s outrageous instructions. Noah did not rail against God’s destructive plan for the world; he did not argue or reason with him. Instead, Noah listened carefully and followed God’s instructions perfectly. He remained steadfast and focused on his mission in spite of the probable doubts of his wife, skepticism of his sons, and ridicule of his neighbors. Through Noah’s trust and obedience, God saved the world from annihilation.

The sin of Adam and Eve has spread to all their offspring, and their sin has become a curse to all creation. Everywhere people dream of more and more sin. But God does not give up. God will not allow sin to have the victory in his big story. Instead, in his love he sends a flood to cleanse the world, and he begins again with Noah and his family. He waits until Noah finishes building the boat and everything is ready. Then the rain pours down and the underground waters gush up out of every crevice. Soon everything is submerged.

GEN 7:1–8:22

OBSERVATION POINT

To find out if any dry ground was available, Noah had to send something out of the ark. He first selected the raven, a large, black scavenger that could survive in the harsh post-flood conditions since it ate decaying corpses. The raven's release didn't tell Noah much about the water levels, since it could find places to rest even if the water was still high. Releasing the dove would provide more useful information since this bird refused to rest on floating debris or a corpse. On its second flight, the dove returned with an olive branch, so Noah knew that the olive trees, which grew in the lower plains, were sprouting again.

EXPLORATION POINT

We've all seen flooding; if not firsthand, we've seen it on video clips —spring floods of the Mississippi River, hurricanes on southern coastlines, and tsunamis in Japan. We've also seen post-flood devastation—bloated bodies, mucky debris, broken trees, and colorless vegetation. There's nothing pretty "after the flood." Starting over is difficult. But God's presence and his promise strengthened Noah to persevere; he will strengthen us too during difficult times.

The rains last for forty days, but the floodwaters take much longer to recede. After being cooped up with hundreds of animals for a year, Noah opens the door of the boat and allows the animals to run free. His first priority is to give thanks to God.

READ:

GEN 9:1-17

OBSERVATION POINT

Although this is the first mention of a rainbow in the Bible, it does not necessarily mean this was the first occurrence of this weather phenomenon. After the Flood, the rainbow took on a new significance. It now symbolizes the covenant promise God made to the earth to never again destroy the world with a flood.

EXPLORATION POINT

God made a solemn promise to Noah and all of creation called a covenant. In a covenant, two parties agree to specific conditions and consequences. God initiated covenants with his people to secure peace, harmony, and blessing for them. He made promises in each covenant he established with humans—through Noah, Abraham, Moses, David, and Jeremiah. Throughout the story of the Bible, he kept all his promises. God was faithful. But fulfilling some of his promises took a long time.

After the Flood, Noah and his family settle on dry land to begin life again. The animals leave the ark and scatter across the plains. Shem, Ham and Japheth have large families, fulfilling God's mandate: "Be fruitful and multiply, and repopulate the earth" (9:7). People soon populate the region where Noah's boat landed. Eventually, they migrate east and settle down. That's when the trouble begins.

READ: 11:1-9

OBSERVATION POINT

Babel sounds like a Hebrew word meaning "confused." It can also be translated as Babylon. Babel was the site of one of the earliest attempts humans made to exalt themselves and rebel against God as their divine ruler and authority. The city was probably built from mud bricks and tar because stones were scarce in Mesopotamia.

EXPLORATION POINT

Humans were growing pompous and sure of themselves. Working together, they believed that they could exceed the power of God and live sufficiently without him. In response, God scattered the people across the face of the earth, finally fulfilling Genesis 1:28. Today natural disasters remind us of our weaknesses—cities and suburbs are ripped apart by tornadoes, spring floods threaten towns, and earthquakes rattle nations. Our proud accomplishments can be wiped out in minutes.

GEN 11:27–12:9

OBSERVATION POINT

Oak trees were well-known in biblical lands. The mighty Tabor oak was located in the lower valleys of Canaan. Oak forests once stood in the valleys but were cleared in ancient times; however, stands of trees or even individual oaks remain to this day. The Canaanites regarded the oak tree as a sacred symbol of strength and worshiped their pagan gods there. Abram built an altar at the oak of Moreh, turning a sacred place of the Canaanites into a place to worship the one true God of all creation.

EXPLORATION POINT

Throughout the Bible, God often chose unlikely people to do his work. In this story God selected a childless old man and his wife, promising to make them the parents of a great nation. This sounded crazy and impossible. For God, it was strategic. God wanted to make it clear that his divine power was at work in and through those he chose. Not one of us is disqualified from—or really qualified for—God's call. It is God's power that uses all kinds of people to further his Kingdom.

READ:

GEN 13:1-18

10 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Lot chose a fertile plain south of the Dead Sea. This area contained four major cities: Admah, Gomorrah, Sodom, and Zeboiim. They were densely populated, walled cities, established years earlier because the fertile soil produced a good harvest and water was available nearby. The cities stood along a trade route and near shrines and sanctuaries where the people could worship their gods. Today this area is desolate.

EXPLORATION POINT

Abram was doing more than just being a good uncle by allowing his nephew Lot to claim his land first. Abram was living by faith. Abram trusted that God would provide the very best for him and his family, no matter which section of land he ended up with. We will always have choices to make in life; sometimes a good choice is obvious, sometimes not. No matter what choice we make, God can turn the good or not-so-good decisions into a blessing.

So he finds a new man, Abram, and makes a covenant with him. He promises to bless Abram, and through him, God will bless the whole world. Abram believes and obeys God; as a result his whole life changes. But as God's big story continues, Abram grows anxious that he has no son to inherit God's blessings. Then one day Abram has a vision from the Lord.

READ: GEN 15:1-21

GEN 15:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

Cutting animals in half was a cultural custom of this time and region. It signified a sacred agreement—or covenant—between two parties. Together, both parties divided an animal in half and then walked between the two pieces, sealing the agreement. The act symbolized that a person would die like the animal if he broke the covenant. God used that custom and ritual but expanded it to include a goat, a ram, and two birds. He elevated it to a sacred level.

EXPLORATION POINT

God made covenants with Adam and Eve, with Noah, with Abram, and with others in order to reveal himself to humans and restore the relationship he had with his creation at the beginning. This restoration is God's ongoing plan. Throughout the Old Testament, God made covenants with his people. God's son, Jesus, is the ultimate revelation of God to humans. Jesus inaugurated the New Covenant between God and his people. God connected with Adam, Noah, and Abram by using common cultural signs and rituals that they could relate to. God later connected to all humanity by sending his Son, Jesus Christ, to earth as a human like us.

God had promised Abram that he would have descendants, and they would inherit all his blessings. But that was years ago, and Sarai is still not pregnant. They still have no son. Disappointed and worried, Sarai decides that something must be done. She intervenes, following a common cultural practice.

GEN 16:1-16

OBSERVATION POINT

Childless for ten years after God's promise, Sarai resorted to the local custom—using a surrogate. In the ancient Near East, childless women commonly allowed their husbands to conceive a child with one of their slave girls. Sarai had the legal right to claim any child who was conceived and born in this way as her own. If the child was a male, the husband could officially adopt the boy by merely stating "You are my son" in the presence of the surrogate mother. Sarai's solution was sanctioned by standard social customs and law, but not by God.

EXPLORATION POINT

When God makes a promise, he will come through on it. Like Sarai, we too often become impatient and decide to "help God out," only to mess things up and make our lives more complicated. It's hard to be patient when God's timing does not follow our timetable. God has a place and purpose for each one of us. We are here to bring him glory and to further his Kingdom. When God speaks, things happen. God calls Abram to follow, and Abram's entire life changes, including his name: God calls him Abraham, "the father of many." Abraham's name change isn't a hand-wringing hope, it is a firm declaration: God is going to save the whole world, starting with a baby boy. But thirteen years after God first promised him a son, Abraham's wife Sarah still is not pregnant. So the Lord appears again to confirm his covenant with Abram and reaffirm his promise of a son. The next chapter in the big story starts with the birth of a baby.

READ: GEN 17:1–18:15

GEN 17:1–18:15; 21:1-7

OBSERVATION POINT

In Hebrew culture, names and their meanings had great significance. The name given to a child at birth often had some connection to his or her appearance or birth order (see the footnotes on Genesis 25:25, 26). People's names were sometimes changed when they had a life-changing experience. Changing Abram to Abraham signified a slight variation: Abram means "exalted father," while Abraham sounds like the Hebrew term for "father of many." The change from Sarai to Sarah was just a change in spelling, probably because of differences between the languages of Ur and Canaan; both names mean "princess."

EXPLORATION POINT

It's easy for us to ridicule Sarah's audacity to laugh at God. But aren't we guilty of this every time we doubt that God can handle our conundrums? Unfortunately, we think that God's solution must fit into our paradigms. But God can work outside our most outlandish expectations. Nothing is too hard for the Lord: neither having an old woman get pregnant, nor curing someone of cancer, nor solving a problem that baffles us, nor bringing peace to a war-torn nation. The next time you face something that appears impossible, hand over the situation to God, then wait—you have an opportunity to see how God will handle it. Nothing is too hard for him.

Years before, when Abram and Lot separated, Lot chose to live in the valley of the Jordan River, near the southern end of the Dead Sea. As time passes, the citizens of this region, including the people in the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, become more and more wicked. God is appalled by their social injustice and vile behavior. When he sees all the evil that is going on, he decides to wipe out both cities.

GEN 18:16–19:38

14 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Lot chose to live in Sodom among the morally depraved Canaanites and became a prominent citizen of the city. In that culture, the leaders gathered at the city gate to conduct business, finalize legal transactions, and advise others in moral conduct. Lot continued to believe in God even while living in the corrupt city, and he tried to live differently from those around him. He much preferred the ease and safety of Sodom over living outside the city in a tent. Those conveniences made it difficult for him to leave.

EXPLORATION POINT

Abraham challenged God's intentions toward Sodom and Gomorrah. Although God did not tell Abraham exactly what he was planning to do, Abraham assumed that death would be involved. His dialogue with God, however, was full of reverence and humility, an appropriate approach. As leader of this promised great nation, Abraham knew he needed to lead with justice and mercy. His questions and persistence helped him better understand how God evaluates a situation in order to execute judgment on the wicked and the righteous.

Abraham and Sarah had attempted to fulfill God's promises by their own strategies, but instead it brought resentment and conflict. Now, just as God promised, Sarah becomes pregnant and bears Abraham a son. God's promise to Abraham of many descendants begins with just one—Isaac. Isaac brings laughter to their home. But Abraham and Sarah's first strategy has consequences that linger on: Now there are two boys in the family, and this leads to trouble.

GEN 21:1-34

15 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Isaac was weaned at around age three, which was the cultural norm. A feast commemorated this rite of passage, celebrating the life of the child who had survived the most fragile years of infancy and would now probably live to adulthood. By this time, Ishmael was seventeen. If he had been younger, making fun of his little brother would have been considered typical teasing between siblings, but because of his age it was much more serious than that.

EXPLORATION POINT

The tension in this family was unusual. The boys were too far apart in age to be true rivals: Isaac was a toddler, Ishmael a seventeen-year-old and considered an adult. Each mother wanted to protect her son and secure his position in the family. Each mother loved her son. Both acted in a customary way. The tension and dilemma appeared to have no resolution, but God intervened and blessed both boys. Unfortunately, the tension that began between these two brothers thousands of years ago continues among their descendants even today.

GEN 22:1-18

OBSERVATION POINT

Mount Moriah was located about 48 miles north of Abraham's home in Beersheba. Hundreds of years later, David saw the angel of the Lord near here, poised to destroy Jerusalem. God relented before it could happen. Eventually, Solomon built God's great temple on Mount Moriah inside Jerusalem (2 Chronicles 3:1). Today the Dome of the Rock, a Muslim holy site, is located there.

EXPLORATION POINT

Abraham's response to God is incredible: no discussion or bargaining, as he had done trying to save Sodom. This time he obeyed God's command and prepared for the trip. God's command didn't make sense, but it didn't have to—God was good, just, and in control. Abraham chose to live in faith moment by moment, letting God guide and direct his path. OBSERVATION POINT

Being a woman of hospitality, Rebekah offered the visitor water. But her offer to water the stranger's camels was exceptionally generous. Having traveled across the desert on a long journey, the camels were obviously thirsty, and each one could easily consume 28 to 30 gallons of water. Together, the camels probably drank almost 300 gallons of water, which Rebekah drew out of the deep well with her jug.

EXPLORATION POINT

Everyone involved needed faith in the Lord and trust in each other. Abraham's servant had to honestly believe in his master's god to truly honor Abraham's directives. Rebekah and her family had to trust Abraham's servant for Rebekah to leave her family, travel to a foreign land, and marry a stranger. It would take a tremendous amount of faith for anyone to follow a story-telling stranger to the home of a distant relative you had never met.

Now he and his wife Rebekah wait for 20 years. Once again God intervenes by his power, and Rebekah becomes pregnant, this time with twins. But even before she gives birth, there are signs that conflict is looming.

GEN 25:19-34

OBSERVATION POINT

In biblical times, a woman's worth often centered around her womb. God commanded Adam and Eve, "be fruitful and multiply," in order that they might spread throughout the earth and take care of everything that God had created. The fact that several women of God's chosen line could not conceive without divine intervention emphasizes that God is intimately involved in fulfilling his plan through his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

Isaac was about forty years old when he married. He was sixty when his twin sons, Jacob and Esau, were born. He lived through decades without knowing how God would fulfill his promises. Isaac may have struggled during this waiting.

Today we desire meaning, purpose, and significance in our lives. If we encounter delays or setbacks, we struggle and question and wonder what God is doing. Our purpose feels precarious. READ:

GEN 27:1–28:9

OBSERVATION POINT

Receiving a father's blessing was believed to bring prosperity to the recipient: health and vitality, long life, fertility, and progeny. Jacob had already gained Esau's birthright, which normally ensured that the oldest son would receive double what a younger son would. Now Isaac wanted to salvage what he could by blessing Esau to make him prosperous. With wealth on the line, both Jacob and Esau were willing to compete for their father's blessing, even resorting to deception.

EXPLORATION POINT

Rebekah might have thought she had won by fooling Isaac, but in the end she lost out: Esau was a disappointment, and his wives drove her crazy. GEN 28:10–29:14

20 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

For Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, altars and other memorial stones stood like historical markers, identifying places where God had revealed himself to them. Each altar reminded those who saw them that God was interested in his people and involved in his creation. In Israel, there were four or five such altars: Beersheba, Bethel, Hebron, Moriah, and Shechem. Over time, they would accumulate greater significance as God's people gathered to worship and hear stories of their history. God and history were woven together at the altars.

EXPLORATION POINT

In running from Esau, Jacob left everything behind: the rights of the firstborn that he had secured by trading some stew, and his father's blessing that he had stolen from Esau by using a false identity. Jacob had tried to control his fortunes, but he lost everything. Through the dream, God assured Jacob that everything would turn out okay, that although he had left everything behind, God would still be with him—an incomparable blessing.

READ:

GEN 29:14–30:43

OBSERVATION POINT

Ancient peoples believed that certain plants stimulated fertility. The root of the mandrake plant was highly valued for this purpose. A member of the potato and tomato family, the mandrake has short, fleshy roots about the size of potatoes and light-orange fruit the size of a cherry tomato. The fruit of the mandrake, also sometimes eaten, has stimulating, mood-altering qualities. The mandrake is still common around Jerusalem and throughout Israel.

EXPLORATION POINT

Each of the characters in this story had his or her own kind of suffering. Jacob was separated from his family and had two wives who competed for his attention. He worked hard to rebuild his wealth only to be cheated by his uncle. Leah constantly vied for Jacob's attention; her suffering was eased by the birth of many sons, but she knew she was not his favored wife. As for Rachel, although she was loved, she felt inferior to her sister because she could not get pregnant. Through it all God was present, listening and responding to their prayers.

Laban's sons, however, grow jealous of Jacob's success, accusing him of stealing from their father. Jacob begins to sense conflict brewing, and God confirms that it is time for Jacob and his family to leave.

GEN 31:1-55

OBSERVATION POINT

According to the customs and laws of the region, whoever held the household gods had rights to land and possessions. A father passed these gods on to a son as one would sign over the deed to a property. Jacob believed he was entitled to the possessions he had acquired while working for his father-in-law. Rachel, by taking the idols, felt assured that her father could not take it all back.

EXPLORATION POINT

Wouldn't it be wonderful if God spoke to us as clearly as he did to Jacob? Even so, Jacob had additional indications that things weren't going well: Laban's attitude toward him had changed, and his brothers-in-law were complaining about him and calling him a thief. These alone would be good reasons to get out of the area. God sometimes speaks directly, sometimes indirectly. In God's big story, he will continually fight to be united with those he loves.

GEN 32:22-32

OBSERVATION POINT

Crossing the river at night was strategic. Jacob didn't want anyone to detect his family's movements or how large the group was. He was a very wealthy man with many children, wives, servants, and herds of sheep, goats, camels, donkeys, and cattle. Such a large group would have been easily spotted during the day and open to attack from humans or wild animals.

Jacob had lived up to his name: "deceiver." He had schemed against Esau to get the family blessing. This middle-of-the-night wrestling match put an end to that way of living. By morning, Jacob finally submitted to God's control and trusted God to bless him. Job lives in a distant land around 2000 BC, at about the same time as Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Job is a righteous man who fears God, but he is not one of God's chosen people like Abraham and his descendants. He is a wealthy, successful, devout man when the story begins. Job's tremendous trials and suffering address the universal question, "Why do bad things happen to good people?"

READ:

JOB 1:1–2:13

OBSERVATION POINT

The Sabeans (people of Sheba) were a powerful wandering tribe of raiders from the Arabian desert. Centuries later they became a national power in southern Arabia (modern-day Yemen). They traded gold, gems, slaves, myrrh, and frankincense. The prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah mentioned the Sabeans in their writings (Isaiah 43:3; 45:14; 60:6; Jeremiah 6:20).

EXPLORATION POINT

The opening dialogue between God and Satan helps us realize that Satan is for real. Too often we think of the devil as a comical character prancing around in red, with horns, a tail, and a pitchfork. But he is no joke; he is real. We can learn from Job to understand more deeply the meaning of the phrase from the Lord's Prayer, "Don't let us yield to temptation, but rescue us from the evil one."

Job simply can't understand why he is suffering so greatly. One of Job's friends, Eliphaz, attempts a reply to Job's ranting. He tries to rationalize what has happened to Job.

JOB 3:1–4:21

OBSERVATION POINT

Leviathan was a great mythological sea monster, well known throughout the ancient Near East. The Israelites adopted the myth and referenced it in their stories to explain their understanding of the world. Leviathan came to mean a dreaded large sea creature, dragon, or monster of the deep. Leviathan is symbolic of immense chaos, a force that cannot be controlled by humans but can easily be handled by God.

EXPLORATION POINT

The story of Job contains helpful instructions on what to do and what not to do when a friend is suffering. Job's friends did some good things: They came to be with him, they sat with him, and they listened. Conversation is good, but Job's friends lacked compassion. The first friend was harsh, eager to justify the catastrophe and assign blame. A suffering person needs compassion and understanding, not cold analysis of the situation. At such times, your silent presence may be all that is required.

JOB 19:1-29

26 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Since a monument had longevity, Job wanted his story chiseled in stone. God had written the Ten Commandments on tablets of stone so that future generations would know his instructions for living. Later, Joshua inscribed God's law on a stone altar at Mount Ebal (Joshua 8:32). Great pharaohs of Egypt often had huge monuments inscribed with their accomplishments so that an accurate record of their existence on earth would last for centuries.

EXPLORATION POINT

Job's great testimony of faith that the Lord would redeem him is recorded in 19:25. He knew that he would be found blameless even if he died before he was redeemed on earth. The concept of the redeemer was found in both criminal and civil laws of the ancient Near East. When we face trials and difficulties in life, we too should find hope in Job's statement: "I know that my Redeemer lives, and he will stand upon the earth at last."

JOB 40:1-24

OBSERVATION POINT

Ancient people considered Behemoth to be the fiercest land animal. Scholars have referred to it as a crocodile, a hippopotamus, a wild buffalo, or a mythical creature. Behemoth is an Egyptian word meaning “water-ox” and, like Leviathan, symbolizes extraordinary chaos and power that are beyond the limits of humans but easily within God’s control.

EXPLORATION POINT

Like Job, we often think highly of ourselves and our position in the world. This passage forces us to reevaluate who we are in light of God’s awesome power and majesty as Creator of all things. What is even more amazing is that he loves us, redeems us, and offers us eternal life. He desires to be in a relationship with us.

JOB 42:1-17

OBSERVATION POINT

Job's friends and family brought him gifts to acknowledge his restored position in society and with God, not in an effort to restore his wealth. God had already given Job twice as much wealth as he had had before. The relationships that the gifts represented were far more valuable than money.

EXPLORATION POINT

Job suffered, but he never sinned during his trials. He responded to his grief in the normal human way: stunned silence, disbelief, denial, and finally acceptance. God was present in Job's suffering; he never deserted him. God brought Job through the experience. The hope in any of our suffering is this: We may suffer, but we are not alone. God will be present as we work through grief and sorrow and pain.

Even though he suffered, he remained rooted in his faith in God.

PS 1:1-6

29 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

To the Jews, “the law of the LORD” referred to the first five books of the Old Testament: Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy. Jews call this group of books the Torah. Christians call it the Pentateuch. The second half of Exodus, all of Leviticus, and parts of Numbers and Deuteronomy contain detailed laws or instructions for living a holy life. Exodus 20 and Deuteronomy 5 list the Ten Commandments.

EXPLORATION POINT

Those who follow God’s instructions live happy and joyful lives—exactly the way everyone wants to live. Psalm 1 gives the exact formula for such a life: following God and his instructions. Yet many of us think there are other ways to achieve happiness. We’re too shortsighted or stubborn or both. We want to do it ourselves. But following God’s way ultimately guarantees a life of joy and happiness.

Jacob's favoritism infects his other sons with jealousy and hatred. They retaliate and betray Joseph. Yet God has a plan. He has a big story to write. He is working through Joseph to preserve his chosen people.

GEN 37:1-36

OBSERVATION POINT

What exactly made Joseph's robe so beautiful is uncertain. Traditionally it is called "a coat of many colors," but it may have been more ornate, not just colorful. It probably had long, loose sleeves. The fabric may have been very colorful, embroidered with colored threads or adorned with jewels. Whatever it looked like, it was a very special piece of clothing that indicated Joseph was his father's favorite.

EXPLORATION POINT

Showing favoritism is never constructive, especially in a family. This story shows how bad it can get. Young and naïve, Joseph made matters worse by recounting his dreams to his brothers. Their pent-up anger and jealousy eventually led to violence and attempted murder. Only Reuben wanted to save Joseph, but he was too late. The sins of this family caused great suffering. Extreme love was tarnished by favoritism, jealousy, and resentment. But God used all these sins in his plan for their ultimate good. JUDAH AND TAMAR

Joseph has had magnificent dreams, but nothing in them prepares him for going to Egypt or being sold into slavery. After Joseph's brothers betray him, his older brother Judah moves away and takes a Canaanite wife, even though his ancestors had consistently avoided them. Judah's decision unravels a series of events and his downward spiral continues. His story begins with a young woman named Tamar.

GEN 38:1-30

OBSERVATION POINT

In ancient times, widows were vulnerable to major injustices because they no longer had a husband to protect them. If they did not have a son, they were even more unfortunate. The practice of a brother-in-law marrying his dead brother's wife was called "levirate marriage." This marriage arrangement ensured that the inheritance would remain in the family and that the widow would have a son to protect her. The Hittites and the Assyrians also practiced this arrangement; later it became part of Israel's laws (Deuteronomy 25:5-6).

EXPLORATION POINT

Like so many people today, Judah thought he could get away with his sexual indiscretion, but Tamar was prepared with evidence to prove what had taken place. Although prostitution was a common practice in Israel and the surrounding nations at this time, Judah sinned because he had slept with his daughter-in-law, had broken his promise to her, and had ignored the levirate marriage custom to provide for his son's widow. Judah had failed to protect the helpless under his care.

Overnight, Joseph's life changes. One day he's a son, the next a slave. The Ishmaelite traders bring Joseph to Egypt and sell him to a high-ranking Egyptian officer named Potiphar. Working for him, Joseph exceeds expectations. Potiphar finds Joseph to be exceptionally dependable and assigns him to oversee the entire household. But despite Joseph's faithfulness, a new accusation will change his life again.

GEN 39:1–40:23

OBSERVATION POINT

Joseph was placed in a facility specifically used to retain prisoners of Pharaoh or of the state. The prison was either a round tower or a fortress and was possibly part of Potiphar's house. Pharaoh's cupbearer and baker were high-ranking servants who also ended up there after offending their master.

EXPLORATION POINT

Every time Joseph's life started going well, he got slammed. First, his brothers sold him to Ishmaelite traders, who in turn sold him into slavery. Then, Potiphar's wife accused Joseph of rape, and he ended up in prison. He had reason to be bitter and angry and to curse God, but he didn't. He continued trusting that the prophetic dreams he'd had as a boy would somehow come true. He remained strong in his faith, and "the LORD was with him and caused everything he did to succeed" (Genesis 39:23).

OBSERVATION POINT

Egypt rarely had severe famines, so the thought of a seven-year famine seemed impossible to the magicians and wise men of Egypt. The Nile River flooded annually, providing fertile soil and adequate water for the entire region. Other regions of the ancient world had frequent famines, but Egypt did not suffer as much.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had been preparing Joseph since he was a teenager. His brothers had scoffed at his dreams, but God was training him. Seeing the fates of his fellow prisoners confirmed Joseph's gift. Now he was interpreting the dreams of a pharaoh. Joseph's wisdom saved his family as well as thousands of people living in the region. God used those experiences, those situations, and even a "detour" in Joseph's life to prepare him for his part in God's plan. God does the same in our lives.

Pharaoh frees Joseph from prison, and Joseph's interpretation of the dream begins to come true. At the same time, famine hits Canaan again, along with other nations. Only Egypt, with its large grain reserves, is prepared to endure the famine. Out of desperation, Joseph's brothers travel to Egypt to buy grain for their starving families.

GEN 42:1–38

OBSERVATION POINT

Jacob and his family probably heard about Egypt's adequate grain supplies from traders who passed through Canaan on the trade routes connecting Egypt and the regions to the north and east. Egypt's northern city of Zoan, where Joseph probably ruled, was one of Egypt's cities of administration at this time. By taking the route along the Mediterranean Sea, his brothers' journey to the northern region of Egypt would take only a few days.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people of ancient times faced the threat of starvation all the time. After two years of drought and famine, Jacob's family was desperate, probably in despair. When we read the biblical account, we see years of concern resolved quickly. We see how all things worked together for the good of a whole nation. But Jacob's family didn't know the outcome. Starvation was a real possibility. They probably prayed every day for rain, but no rain came. They had to trust that God was in control and had a plan.

Jacob's sons make several trips to Egypt searching for food. Each trip grows more difficult because the official they have to deal with seems intent on hassling them. They have long forgotten their brother and what might have become of him. Egypt is a large place. Joseph could be anywhere, or dead for all they know. It never crosses their minds that they could encounter him again.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Joseph's brothers would not have recognized him for several reasons. First, Joseph had been seventeen years old when he was sold into slavery. He was now a 39-year-old man. Second, he had acclimated to Egyptian culture. He was clean shaven and wore royal clothing, a gold chain around his neck, and a signet ring. Although he could understand the language of his birth, he used an interpreter to converse with his brothers, convincing them that he was a native Egyptian. Finally, his brothers probably thought he was dead—not the second-highest ruler of all of Egypt.

EXPLORATION POINT

Why did Joseph play all these games? Why didn't he just reveal his identity from the beginning? Seeing his brothers again must have brought a rush of emotions and nightmarish memories: hurt, anger, wonder, fear. He needed time to sort through his confusion, to evaluate the situation, and to resolve his anger.

In today's world Joseph would have spent years in therapy, or he would have chosen revenge. But he gave himself time. He manipulated the situation to test his brothers' integrity and faithfulness, but he still helped them. His compassion eventually led him to forgive all of them and save his family.

Then God speaks, reassuring Jacob that moving is the right thing to do.

READ:

GEN 46:1–47:31

36 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

In ancient times putting a hand under another man's thigh was a gesture of swearing an oath to fulfill what one promised. The intimacy of this gesture demonstrated the high level of trust required between the parties to seal the agreement. The Bible only mentions this unusual gesture twice: here, and when Abraham's servant promised to find a bride for Isaac (Genesis 24:2-9).

EXPLORATION POINT

Eager to see his son Joseph again before he died, Jacob packed up his extended family and headed south toward Egypt. At 130 years old, Jacob had a new lease on life. His life had not always been easy, and he suffered greatly because of Joseph's disappearance. Renewed hope filled him. At Beersheba, God spoke to Jacob once again to reassure him and renew his covenant promises. Eventually Jacob dies, then Joseph and his brothers do too; but the generations after them remain in Egypt.

GEN 49:29–50:26

OBSERVATION POINT

Jacob's funeral illustrates the Egyptians' reverence for the dead. Egyptians embalmed their dead. This preserved the body so that the soul, they believed, had a place to reside after death. Jacob and Joseph are the only two Israelites who underwent this lengthy process. Pharaoh had such a high regard for Joseph and his father that he sent Egypt's highest officials to accompany Joseph back to Canaan for Jacob's burial. Later, when the Israelites left Egypt after their slavery, they took Joseph's mummy with them.

EXPLORATION POINT

Some two hundred years earlier, God had promised Abraham that his descendants would bless the nations. Joseph's own life was not what he had expected, but it had turned out to be a great adventure, a rewarding gift, and a blessing to the nations of the world. God used Joseph not only to save his own family during the famine but also to save the population of Egypt and many thousands more who came to Egypt for food. If we follow God's leading, we may be surprised by how he can use us to be a blessing to others.

WAITING FOR A DELIVERER
God's nation has grown ever so slowly from Abraham and his one son to a third generation consisting of seventy family members. God has faithfully kept his covenant, blessing each generation with more children. He has revealed himself in angelic encounters and even in a wrestling match. His chosen family is not perfect, but they continue to believe and trust in the one true God. Famine forces them to immigrate to Egypt, where God, through Joseph, has prepared a safe place for his people to grow and thrive. God's people, the Hebrews, are safe and at rest for hundreds of years. During this 400-year gap between Genesis and Exodus, God's people become a large and "extremely powerful" group. The Egyptians see this as a threat, so they enslave and oppress God's people. The Hebrews' lives are uncomfortable and full of suffering, but it is all part of God's plan—to ready them for change, to move them from slavery to freedom, and to claim them as his own. The process will be difficult and God's reward is a distant promise, but the Hebrews will not journey alone. God will be with them every step of the way.

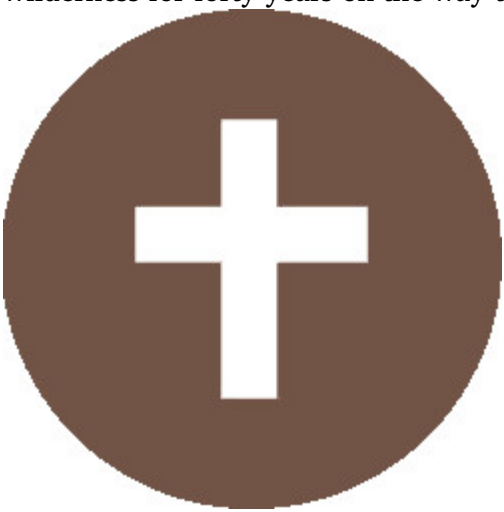
WHERE ARE WE GOING?

As Exodus opens, the Hebrews are slaves in Egypt, living under harsh working conditions. They cry out to God to save them from Pharaoh. God hears them and has a plan, but it will be eighty years before the man whom he has in mind will be ready to lead God's people out of Egypt. When the time is right, God frees his people from human oppression and claims them for himself, promising them a land that overflows with plenty. God's presence surrounds the new nation, providing for the people as they wander in the wilderness for forty years on the way to their new home in Canaan.



JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

Since the beginning of time and the fall of humanity, God has had a plan to reconnect with his people. In Genesis, he revealed more of himself over time to a chosen group of people. Each generation who obeyed and loved him was blessed by his presence and love. It will be a very long time until Jesus comes—almost two thousand years—but with each interaction, each promise, and each leader, God reveals himself a little more and brings his people a step closer to Jesus.

God's chosen family that started with Abraham grows into a powerful minority living in Goshen, Egypt. Four hundred years after Abraham's great-grandson Joseph was forced into slavery in Egypt, God has fulfilled his promise. Abraham has indeed become the father of many, but the many are suffering terrible treatment. The pharaoh of Egypt, threatened by their population, works them hard as his slaves and even resorts to infanticide. But God doesn't let an earthly ruler control his big story. God works through one brave Hebrew mother who dares to defy the royal decree.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hebrews did not become slaves immediately after Joseph died. They were probably a free people living in Goshen for a hundred years. Then a tribe from Mesopotamia, whom the Egyptians called Hyksos (meaning “shepherd kings”), invaded Egypt and took over. When Egypt finally regained its freedom from this invading dynasty, the people were wary of all Semitic tribes, including the Hebrews.

EXPLORATION POINT

Why would a loving God let his chosen people suffer for hundreds of years? We cannot understand it completely. God has a plan that is being fulfilled every day; how suffering fits into his plan is often a mystery to us. Amazingly, the Hebrews remained faithful to the God of their ancestors through all these years of hardship. They remained steadfast in their faith, praying to God, the source of deliverance and salvation. And God proved faithful, too. God often asks us to remain faithful through pain and heartache. When we are faithful, we will see God's own faithfulness in return.

Moses escapes Pharaoh's death decree and is adopted into the royal household. There he grows up, all the while knowing that he is a Hebrew. At thirty years old, embroiled in a murder scandal, Moses flees Egypt and settles in far-off Midian. He spends fifty years there herding sheep before God takes action, lights a fire, and calls Moses to be the leader of the Hebrews. It will require Moses to return to Egypt and face a new pharaoh.

EXOD 3:1–4:17

OBSERVATION POINT

The bush that Moses saw burning was possibly the acacia plant that grows in the desert. Its wood is harder than oak and insect resistant. The fire was certainly from God because it did not need the bush as fuel; even though the bush was engulfed in flames, it didn't burn up. Moses encountered God on Mount Sinai, the same place where God later gave him the law for Israel to live by—including the Ten Commandments (Exodus 19–20).

EXPLORATION POINT

Without his realizing it, Moses' whole life had him trained for leading God's people. He was educated as a royal prince in the palace of Egypt. He showed compassion for his own people and tried to help, but he failed. He intimately knew the desert land of Midian, where he would later lead the Israelites. At eighty years old he was well equipped to be a leader, but he protested again and again that he was not the right person. Sometimes God calls people who don't think they are ready for the task. READ:

EXOD 4:18–5:23

OBSERVATION POINT

In northern Egypt, most buildings were constructed of bricks made from clay and mud. Only the most prestigious buildings were built with stones hauled from the quarries of southern Egypt. For bricks, the mud came mostly from the Nile River. Straw helped to hold together and strengthen the brittle clay of the bricks, much as steel wire strengthens concrete in modern construction. Straw would ensure the stability of the bricks and of the buildings the slaves constructed.

EXPLORATION POINT

We all go through situations that go wrong and leave us perplexed. Moses' return to Egypt didn't go as planned. Moses had the support of God, his brother Aaron, and the leaders of the Hebrews. He was equipped with marvelous wonders to prove God's power. But plan A didn't work. In fact, it created worse conditions for the slaves, who had to do more work with less material. Determined to carry out this plan, God commands Moses to confront Pharaoh a second time, but Moses still has his doubts.

READ:

EXOD 6:1-30

OBSERVATION POINT

The interlude of this genealogy in the middle of the exciting narrative reminds us that Moses and Aaron were integral to God's big plan and chosen family. The genealogy is not complete. It leaves out numerous generations from the 430 years that the Israelites were in Egypt. The connection from Jacob's son Levi to Moses and Aaron is what is most important. Future Israelites would know the Levites as the tribe charged with serving in God's sanctuary. The Levitical family of Aaron would become the priests of Israel.

EXPLORATION POINT

God spoke to Moses with words of assurance and authority, but Moses focused on himself instead of God. He recounted the insecurities and objections he voiced at the burning bush. Opposition from Pharaoh and the discouragement of the Israelites shattered his confidence, but God pushed him to approach Pharaoh again. This scenario is an excellent example for all of us when we stumble or fail after our first try. Instead of obsessing about our mistakes and inabilities, we need to listen for God's promises and look for his power.

EXOD 7:1–25:19

OBSERVATION POINT

Magicians in Egypt were very skilled in their arts. They were able to turn their staffs into serpents, change water to blood, and bring frogs onto the land. But they failed to turn dust into gnats and were awed by “the finger of God” (8:19). After this, the magicians vanish from the story. They aren’t mentioned again until the plague of boils, when they suffer like everyone else (9:11).

EXPLORATION POINT

Pharaoh was the most powerful king of the ancient world. He was not about to let this Moses, from a Semitic tribe in Goshen, tell him anything. This clash of power shows us how God works in the world and remains sovereign over all. He could harden Pharaoh's heart, make him stubborn, and change his mind. No human power—neither the strongest ruler, the most ruthless dictator, nor the most charismatic leader—can match the finger of God. Everyone and everything lives under his command.

But the Hebrews living in Goshen are spared from the ravages of nature while the Egyptians are devastated. God's hand of favor and protection over his people is undeniable.

EXOD 8:20–9:35

OBSERVATION POINT

Plagues were not unknown in Egypt. Throughout the ancient world, different types of pestilence occurred regularly. However, the intensity and timing of these plagues indicated that they were divinely controlled. Pharaoh realized this and appealed to Moses, "Plead with the LORD to take the frogs away" (8:8), and later said, "This time I have sinned. The LORD is the righteous one" (9:27). But his acknowledgment of God's power was shallow, for he quickly returned to his stubborn state as soon as God lifted each plague.

EXPLORATION POINT

In times of great distress, many people suddenly turn to God or "get religion," desperate to understand what is going on and why it is happening. Under normal circumstances, we often rationalize our way through life, content with scientific or psychological explanations. When we confront something we can't explain, though, we think about God. Pharaoh and his officials were no different. Desperation may turn us to God, but faith and trust deepen when we seek him consistently—during the ordinary as well as the extraordinary moments of life.

With the final plagues, Egypt comes to a standstill. The tenth and final plague is a specific attack on every household throughout the kingdom, except the homes in Goshen where the Israelites live.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

The Egyptians had gods and goddesses for every detail of life. Each plague directly challenged the power attributed to one of these gods. For example, the plague of darkness confronted the sun god, Amon-Re, whom the Egyptians worshiped as the source of life, supreme over all other gods. In each plague, God clearly displayed that he alone was master over all things, even life and death.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Lord Almighty, creator of all things, has control over the natural order of the universe. He often works within the natural order but uses it for his purposes. With the plagues in Egypt, he worked within the natural phenomena of winds, water, and pestilence to show his power and control. The highly selective nature of the final plague, the death of the firstborn within families and among animals, remains beyond any scientific explanation.

EXOD 12:1-51

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hebrews left Egypt with their fists raised in defiance (14:8). They were thrilled to be free from hard labor and eager to move toward a new future. The new nation consisted of 600,000 men on foot (12:37); if each of the men had one wife and two children, the total of Israel's population would have been more than double that number. Scholars think that the population might have exceeded two million.

EXPLORATION POINT

Among so many people, emotions must have varied about what lay ahead: excitement about a new future, uncertainty about what was to come, fear of the unknown, exuberance in freedom. For those whose faith in God was strong, the experience was probably exciting. For those who were just going along with the crowd, the experience may have been filled with apprehension. They have begun to taste the freedom of living in God's big story, but God is determined to see them also live by faith in him. Their first faith-test is trusting God to safely move two million people through the Red Sea.

READ:

EXOD 13:17–14:31

OBSERVATION POINT

Strong hot winds, called sirocco winds, are well known in the Arabian Desert. They are strong enough to move large quantities of water aside and expose river beds. Some have wondered if this sort of wind was involved here. However, God's intervention still would have been needed to maintain the walls of water long enough for the people to cross. And the gale-force wind, impossible to walk in, would have had to stop before the Israelites could move forward. God's miraculous timing was also needed to allow the Egyptian army to enter the sea before it closed over them. No natural explanation can fully account for the amazing events that took place that day.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's intent was to display his power to the Egyptians and destroy their entire army. Through this final destruction, God showed Pharaoh that the Lord Almighty was in control—not a powerful pharaoh with his army of horses and warrior-driven chariots. This wall of water awed the people of Israel and inspired them to trust in Moses and God. Unfortunately, they needed constant miraculous signs and wonders to keep on trusting.

But the Hebrews' enthusiastic shouts of freedom soon turn into groans of discontent. Three days after crossing the sea, the Israelites start complaining. Drinkable water and sufficient food quickly turn scarce. God's people begin to wonder if this desert will become their graveyard.

EXOD 16:1-36

OBSERVATION POINT

Manna was a mystery. The people called it manna, which means, "What is it?" This special "bread from heaven" was yellow, crunchy, and sweet tasting. The people baked it, boiled it, and ground it into flour to make small cakes out of it. At first manna was a blessing and satisfied their hunger. After a while, though, the "horrible" food became a source of complaint. God provided manna on every day except the Sabbath for the entire time Israel wandered in the wilderness. On the day the Israelites set foot in the Promised Land, the manna stopped appearing.

EXPLORATION POINT

Although the people complained, God loved them so much that he listened to their cry and responded by giving them food. He did not send a lavish feast, or even some of the familiar foods of Egypt; rather, he provided the basics: bread, meat, water. These were life-sustaining essentials, and they give us insight into the simple request in the Lord's Prayer, "Give us today the food we need." The Lord hears us and provides for our needs.

PS 90:1-17

OBSERVATION POINT

The word “home” here is a very interesting metaphor as a description of God. The Hebrew word literally means “refuge or dwelling place.” The translators’ selection of the English word “home” suggests that they wanted the reader to understand the warmth, intimacy, and care that God provides in this refuge. It is a place of safety, a shelter, where God meets his people and cares for their needs.

EXPLORATION POINT

With God’s guidance and blessing, our plans will succeed. That leads some of us to ask, “If that’s true, how can people who want nothing to do with God succeed?” We all know that they often do, so how can that be explained? Our God is a gracious God: “He sends rain on the just and the unjust alike” (Matthew 5:45). His common grace is for all his creation. But the greatest reward comes in eternity.

EXOD 17:1-16

50 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The deserts of the Sinai Peninsula contain porous limestone that collects water during the rainy season. It is possible that a reservoir in an underground cave could break open, producing a gushing spring of water. Some have supposed that God guided Moses to this kind of reservoir. But the amount of water that came from this rock supplied enough water for an entire nation of two million people and all their livestock. That was truly miraculous.

EXPLORATION POINT

God was testing his people—and the Hebrews were testing God. They would complain; he would provide. God was building his people's trust by meeting their needs: freeing them from Egypt; parting the Red Sea; destroying the Egyptian army; and providing manna, quail, and water. Their faith was shallow and their trust was inconsistent, but they were dependent on God for their very lives. He was proving that they could trust him.

EXOD 18:1-27

OBSERVATION POINT

Jethro was a priest of Midian who honored God. He was also referred to as Reuel. Perhaps these two names distinguished his role as priest from his daily occupation of shepherd. Moses' wife Zipporah, Jethro's daughter, stayed behind in Midian with their two sons while Moses was busy with the events of the Exodus. Now their family was reunited.

God is ready to reveal himself to them and provide them with rules for living as holy people in his presence. The law God wrote down wasn't a set of arbitrary rules or some useful legal code, it described how to live life in harmony with God himself, with his people, and with his Creation. In the big story, God's law provided the details not just for holy living but for thriving in his world.

READ: Exodus 19:16–20:21

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses prepared the people to meet God, instructing them in how to set themselves apart as his people. The people washed their clothes and abstained from sexual relations. They needed time to get into the right frame of mind, to have a proper sense of awe and reverence for God. By following the Ten Commandments and other laws given at Sinai, God's people would learn to live in a vital relationship with their holy God and to establish a just and healthy community.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people gradually learned to know and trust God through the steps they took in leaving Egypt—the Passover and Exodus; their crossing the Red Sea; the supply of water, manna, and quail; and their victory in battle. Those events taught the Hebrews to trust God and know him as their reliable, loving Provider. Now God wanted to reveal more of himself by coming down to Mount Sinai and displaying his presence, glory, and power to the people.

EXOD 23:20–24:18

53 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses, Aaron, Aaron's two sons, and seventy leaders of Israel had the great privilege of being in God's presence and sharing a covenant meal with him. They witnessed God's glory, which was described only by the color of the area where God stood. The shared meal affirmed peace and good will between God and Israel.

EXPLORATION POINT

Spending time with God himself did not have a lasting effect on all the individuals involved. While Moses stayed on the mountain, these leaders returned to camp and within a month were allowing the people to worship idols. Mountaintop experiences and spectacular miracles won't create faithfulness without a lifestyle that supports it.

Moses spends forty days and nights with God on Mount Sinai. During that time, Moses receives the Ten Commandments and detailed instructions for building a dwelling place for God—the Tabernacle. God is preparing his people to live holy lives so they can live in the presence of a holy God. He desires them to be set apart for himself and to have a place where they can know he is living among them.

EXOD 26:1-37

54 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The Ark of the Covenant was an ornate box made of acacia wood and covered with gold inside and out. God's presence dwelled between the wings of the cherubim that adorned the top. Inside were the tablets of the law that Moses brought down from Mount Sinai, a jar of manna, and the staff that budded to confirm Aaron as a priest. These objects reminded the people of God's laws for a healthy community, his constant provision of food, and the authority of the leaders he had chosen.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Tabernacle was a portable structure that housed God's presence. It was not a gathering place for the people to worship, as a church is today. It was a way of connecting the people to God to keep them mindful that the Lord was with them wherever they went. Thus they enjoyed God's presence without being destroyed by his holiness. The Tabernacle was placed at the center of the encampment to symbolize that God was central to the lives of the Hebrews.

God's instructions for his people include what garments the priests would wear. God carefully and purposefully details what their clothing will look like, down to the last precious stone and the final engraved letter. These special garments set the priests apart from the rest of the people, making it clear that they are holy and belong especially to God and his work. The priesthood would bring the people into God's presence.

EXOD 28:1-43

OBSERVATION POINT

The chestpiece of the high priest was set with twelve precious and semiprecious gems, one for each of the twelve tribes of Israel. Two additional stones, the Urim and Thummim, were carried inside the chestpiece. When the people sought special guidance from God, the high priest used these two stones much as we would draw straws or throw dice. Casting lots was practiced among many ancient cultures. For Israel, using these special stones was one of the ways God revealed his will to his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

Even the Hebrews wanted to know, "What's God's will for my life?" Throughout the centuries, humans have continued to seek God's will in discerning what choices to make. In biblical times consulting the high priest and casting lots was the agreed-on method; today we look for guidance from our pastors, from wise individuals, and directly from God's Spirit.

Moses remains with God on Mount Sinai longer than the people expect, making them wonder if he's abandoned them. Filled with distrust, they take matters into their own hands, fashioning a god that's more accessible and less mysterious. The Israelites forget about what God has done for them and about their promise to obey everything the Lord commanded.

EXOD 32:1–35:6

OBSERVATION POINT

Although the Hebrews had been slaves in Egypt, they had received lavish gifts from their neighbors before they departed. Moses had instructed the people to ask the locals for clothing and pieces of silver and gold. God inclined the Egyptians to be generous to the point that the Egyptians were "stripped . . . of their wealth" (12:36). Here the people gathered that fine jewelry to create something deeply offensive to God—a gold statue for the people to worship.

EXPLORATION POINT

Only a short time earlier, the people had unanimously agreed to do all that the Lord commanded. However, their impatience and demand for immediate gratification drove them into their old habits and Egyptian mindset. They reverted to a god that they could see, not one who appeared in smoke, fire, and thunder on a mountain. Their actions might appear ridiculous to us, but we too often put our trust in gold rather than depending on God.

EXOD 33:7–34:11; 34:27-35

57 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses met with God face to face in the Tent of Meeting before the Tabernacle was completed. Inside, God told Moses what he wanted the people to do next, and when and where to travel. The Tent of Meeting served also as the meeting place for the leaders of Israel and for anyone who wanted to ask God for something. After the Tabernacle was completed, the Tent of Meeting and the Tabernacle were one and the same.

EXPLORATION POINT

After talking with God, Moses' face was radiant. However, his appearance was not necessarily pleasant since it frightened the people to such an extent that Moses wore a veil. The outward sign was unmistakable: Moses had been with God. Today we have an even greater privilege than Moses had. We are in God's presence all the time. EXOD 35:30–36:7

OBSERVATION POINT

The supplies for constructing the Tabernacle, its furnishings, and the priests' clothing came from people who were eager to share the precious metals, gems, and cloth they had hauled out of Egypt. These people had an adequate supply for the craftsmen and seamstresses to use. The acacia tree, common in the deserts around Sinai, supplied the wood needed for the construction. Acacia wood, a very hard, durable, and rot-resistant wood, is still used for furniture today.

EXPLORATION POINT

God doesn't simply give us instructions and then leave us to our own efforts. This passage makes it clear that God empowers people to fulfill his plans. Here it says that "the LORD has gifted . . . skilled craftsmen with wisdom and ability" (36:1). Too often we take the credit for our accomplishments. The Tabernacle is richly ornamented, and its furniture is handcrafted. God has made a people and a place for himself. Now they are ready to receive his presence.

EXOD 40:1-38

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses had the great privilege of talking to God on Mount Sinai for forty days and nights. But while Moses would occasionally speak with God after his glory settled in the Tabernacle, this ongoing privilege was generally reserved for Aaron and his sons. Only ordained priests from the lineage of Aaron were allowed this great privilege throughout the history of the Tabernacle and the Temple.

EXPLORATION POINT

Aaron, the leader whom the people had coerced to create a gold calf, was anointed as a priest of the Tabernacle. Although he had sinned gravely against God, God forgave him and placed him in a position of great importance within the Israelite community. Our sin does not make us useless, no matter how great it is. God is willing to forgive us, to use us, and to allow us to know his presence.

Once the Tabernacle is complete and God's presence is with his people, he gives Moses detailed instructions for sacrifices that will put the people in right standing with God. He also instructs them in how to make offerings for worship and thanksgiving.

READ:

LEV 1:1-17

60 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

God accepted several different animals as sacrifices for the burnt offering: cattle, sheep or goats, and birds. A bull without defect was worth much more than a sheep, goat, or bird because raising cattle was difficult in the dry lands of Sinai and Canaan. Sheep and goats were more common. Birds were permitted so that even the poorest individuals could offer a burnt offering to the Lord. Some pieces of the sacrificial animals were given to the priests as payment for their services.

EXPLORATION POINT

The complex rituals of sacrifice were performed throughout Israel's history. The burnt offering, sin offering, and guilt offering were atonement sacrifices. The grain and peace offerings were worship sacrifices. Even Jesus' parents, after his birth, brought birds to the temple as an offering to the Lord. Christ's death on the cross alleviated the need for the various sacrifices described in Leviticus. Instead, people were and still are made right with God through Christ.

God selects the tribe of Levi to serve him as priests and as caretakers of the Tabernacle. Moses anoints Aaron and dresses him and his sons in the priestly garments, following God's commands. By presenting the sacrifices and wearing the holy garments, the priests are set apart from the people to serve God.

LEV 8:1-36

61 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Aaron and his sons Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar were the focus of this ordination ceremony, in which they were set apart as priests. Since they were sinful, the ceremony needed to include the process of sanctifying them, making them holy in the sight of God. The unusual gesture of applying blood to the right ear, the right-hand thumb, and the big toe of the right foot symbolized the purification of every part of the body.

EXPLORATION POINT

Priests had a high calling from God but not a profitable one. Men from the tribe of Levi—called Levites—fulfilled the role of priests, but they did not own land. Instead, they were given some towns to live in. The offerings of the people supported the priests and their families, and they were allowed to eat certain parts of the animal sacrifices. Being a priest was prestigious and important in Israelite society, but it was not the career path to wealth.

God clearly described how priests should conduct every ritual in the Tabernacle. The rules and regulations were clearly written out. Aaron's two sons, who have recently been appointed to serve God as priests, disregard God's instructions. God responds with swift judgment against the two men, clearly making a point that his rules must be obeyed.

LEV 10:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

Nadab and Abihu were two of the men who experienced God's presence on Mount Sinai (Exodus 24:9). They were anointed as priests when the Tabernacle was completed. Now, however, they ignored God's explicit instructions for presenting sacrifices and used fire from an unauthorized source. Their carelessness showed that they took God's holiness and authority lightly. They chose to do things their own way rather than God's way.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's reaction to Nadab and Abihu may seem extreme to us. But God had given his instructions for specific reasons, corresponding to his character. This event assured the people that when he said "you will die" for disobeying his commands, he meant it.

We can become careless about God's commands, too, relegating God's Word to the status of advice. But he provided those commandments to help us live life to the fullest, the way he meant us to.

From there, the purification will spread throughout the whole Tabernacle—to the altar, to the priests, and to the people of God. But before those things can happen, the high priest must first purify himself.

LEV 16:1-34

63 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The wilderness of Azazel is not a distinct geographic location. The meaning of the Hebrew word azazel is uncertain. It could refer to "the goat that goes away," possibly being a form of the verb "to leave." It might be a term for a rocky cliff. Or it could be the name of a demon dwelling in the wilderness. Though we are uncertain of this term's meaning, the point associated with it is clear: One goat is sent far away, carrying with it the sins of the people.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jewish people still celebrate the Day of Atonement but without the sacrifices and the goat. Today it is called Yom Kippur. The service is a way for the people to confess the sins of the past year and seek God's forgiveness. Christians, however, do not observe this particular event since Christ once and for all paid for our sins on the cross. He was the ultimate "scapegoat" who took away all our sins. Now, Christians can regularly confess their sins and ask for God's forgiveness.

Even after God institutes the priesthood and fills the Tabernacle with his presence, the priests and people drift into sinful choices that distance them from him. So God gives Moses detailed instructions for how his people should behave in their everyday lives. His commands include how to handle interpersonal conflict as well as public legal issues. Justice, integrity, and trusting God permeate the requirements that God gives his people.

LEV 19:1-37

OBSERVATION POINT

The concept of gleaning is established here (19:9-10), showing God's deep concern for the poor and powerless and establishing the Hebrews' responsibility to care for such people. By not harvesting the edges of the fields and leaving behind some of the produce in the fields and vineyards, the landowners helped provide for foreigners, widows, orphans, and the poor so that they would not go hungry. In this way, provision was made for everyone in the society.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's righteousness is what sets him apart and makes him holy. As broken people, we can never match God's righteousness, yet we are called to live holy lives. God's people must set themselves apart from the sins of the world—not because we're perfect but because we know how sin ruins our lives. Some of the rules God established for his people have become the norm in Western society, but there are still many ways in which Christians must strive to set themselves apart from others.

THE LOVE OF GOD'S LAW

The people of Israel loved God's law. They respected all of the instructions that God gave Moses on Mount Sinai and during their journey in the wilderness. This psalm, written much later in history, sings of that appreciation and acknowledges that God's wise instructions far exceed any human wisdom.

PS 119:97-120

OBSERVATION POINT

The elders were those who had earned the respect of the community by sharing their wisdom. As the heads of local families, clans, or tribes, elders held an official position in Hebrew culture and other ancient cultures. Duties of the elders included arbitration, judging, sentencing, and leadership in military affairs.

EXPLORATION POINT

Many of the Old Testament laws seem strange, but they all are important for us, even today. Christ, who came to fulfill the law, renewed God's instructions such as the Ten Commandments. He fulfilled some parts of the law (e.g., the offerings and sacrifices) and gave even more radical standards for others (Matthew 5:17-48). Don't make the mistake of thinking we can ignore the law now that Christ has come.

He outlines a plan to allow the land to rest. Once every seven years and again every fiftieth year, each field will go unplanted for an entire year.

LEV 25:1-22

66 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Observing the Sabbath Year and the Year of Jubilee would have established excellent methods for conserving the land, keeping equality in land ownership, and securing justice and freedom for everyone. The book of Joshua records the division and distribution of the Promised Land. After Joshua died, the various tribes split apart. Some tribes moved out of their territories and forgot all about the land regulations. No existing records indicate that the Sabbath and Jubilee years were ever observed during the 1,100 years of Israel's history.

EXPLORATION POINT

Being a holy people included seeking justice. The Sabbath and Jubilee Year practices gave everyone equal rights, freedom, and second chances. Slaves would be freed, and land would be restored to the family that originally owned it. Unfortunately, rich landowners eventually claimed the land, and this plan for equality was forgotten. This injustice is one reason that the nation of Israel did not last. Even today God calls his people to seek justice and mercy for everyone.

After instructing Moses in how his holy people should live, God tells Moses how to organize the people by their tribal divisions. Under God's direction, Moses appoints leaders in each tribe and gives them the task of counting the people. This is Israel's first census since Jacob's family of seventy moved to Egypt four hundred years earlier. Then, they were a family; now, they are a nation.

NUM 1:1-54

67 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Organizing the Hebrews by family and tribe established meaningful relationships for the people and helped to keep track of everyone as they traveled through the wilderness. Knowing how many men were available for battle was important for protection and for the eventual conquest of Canaan. The twelve tribes were named for ten of Jacob's sons and for the two sons of Joseph. Jacob's son Levi was not included since the Levites were set apart to serve God and did not fight or possess land. Organizing the families, clans, and tribes was critical in structuring the nation socially and politically.

EXPLORATION POINT

"Who am I?" "Where did I come from?" The Hebrews asked these questions too. They identified themselves as God's people by identifying which tribe they belonged to. Tracing their ancestry back to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob allowed them to claim the blessings and promises God had made to their forefathers so many years before.

Throughout the Old Testament and into the early life of Christ, genealogies carried great significance for the Jews. Christ's coming eliminated the need to claim God's promises through a genealogy. As Christians we are part of the body of Christ and are heirs to God's Kingdom, promises, and blessings.

The Levites will serve as representatives for all the people of Israel before God.

READ:

NUM 3:1-13, 40-51

68 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The “firsts” of all things were considered sacred—firstborn sons, firstfruits of harvest, and the firstborn animals from the Hebrews’ flocks and herds. These firsts were set apart for God. All males of the tribe of Levi, however, were substituted for the firstborn sons of the entire nation. Because the numbers didn’t match up exactly, money was paid to make up the difference. Who actually put up the money is unclear.

EXPLORATION POINT

Caring for the Tabernacle was a family business. A boy born into the tribe of Levi knew exactly what he was going to be when he grew up. Still, different clans handled different responsibilities. The descendants of Gershon attended to the tent fabric and the ropes. The descendants of Kohath cared for the Tabernacle's interior and the furniture. The descendants of Merari monitored the frames that supported the tent. These groups served for over five hundred years until King Solomon in 960 BC built a permanent structure, the Temple.

Some Israelites choose to devote themselves wholly to God for a period of time. God outlines instructions for people to dedicate themselves to him. The obligations of the vow are strict but voluntary.

NUM 6:1-27

OBSERVATION POINT

We don't know how common it was for someone to take this Nazirite vow. The vow provided a way for Israelites who were not of the tribe of Levi to dedicate themselves to God. Although Israelite men wore beards and let their hair grow long, they did cut it occasionally, but a Nazirite would not. The Bible mentions only three people who took the vow of a Nazirite: Samson, Samuel, and John the Baptist.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Nazirite vow is no longer followed, but when Christians are baptized we similarly show that we are separating ourselves from the world and choosing to follow Christ. The teachings of Jesus often disregard what society deems normal and acceptable. If we follow Christ's ways and live by his Spirit, our choices will be different from those of the world around us.

God is fulfilling his promise to Abraham: His blessings are spreading out through Abraham's descendants and beyond. He reminds them all of his presence through the cloud and fire hovering over the Tabernacle. In God's big story, his people find freedom and blessing by living in his presence.

NUM 9:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

God used familiar sights to show his presence: a cloud during the day that glowed like fire at night. Since leaving Egypt, the people had been protected by God's presence. The cloud had protected them from Pharaoh's army that charged after them, and it had led them through the Red Sea. As the Tabernacle stood in the center of Israel's camp, the cloud hovered over it, signifying God's presence with his people. When the cloud moved, the nation followed; when it stopped, they settled down.

EXPLORATION POINT

Many of us would love to have a sign as visible and obvious as a cloud or a pillar of fire to show us where God was leading. This was an effective way of providing guidance when God's people were all in one place at one time and numbered about two million. Today, we have something better: God's holy Word—the Bible—and God's Holy Spirit, present within us, to guide us.

Yet even in the midst of his discipline, he pours out his Spirit upon their leaders.

NUM 11:1-35, 31-35

OBSERVATION POINT

The appearance of quail can partly be explained by their natural migration through this area. Every year, quail migrate from northern Europe and Asia, across the Sinai Peninsula to Africa, and back again. Millions of birds fly close to the ground due to the strong downdrafts of wind. Yet even though these birds fly through the area naturally, having enough birds to feed two million people would have required God's intervention.

NUM 13:1–33; 14:9

OBSERVATION POINT

Spying was a typical military tactic of this time period. The spies traveled 275 miles north into the new territory west of the Jordan River. The first section of land, the Negev, was dry, bordering the wilderness. Farther north, they entered the hill country of Canaan, which was far more fertile. The grass-covered hills were ideal for milk-producing goats and sheep; the fertile land yielded flower-producing plants and trees, the pollen of which bees turned into honey. It was exactly what God had promised.

EXPLORATION POINT

After living in the wilderness for two years, the Hebrews found the land exactly as God had promised—a land flowing with milk and honey. God had brought them out of Egypt, protected them from Pharaoh's army, miraculously led them through the Red Sea, and provided bread, water, and meat in the middle of nowhere. God's calling to the priesthood was a great privilege. God had

OBSERVATION POINT

In Canaan, almond trees would blossom toward the end of January, reminding people of the rebirth of spring and the hope it brings. Almond blossoms were used symbolically in the Tabernacle. The lampstand was reminiscent of an almond tree in spring, with its seven branches decorated with almond blossoms. Living almond wood is very soft; it hardens and becomes strong enough for a staff only after it has completely dried out. Therefore, for Aaron's staff to sprout buds, blossom, and produce nuts overnight was clearly God's doing.

EXPLORATION POINT

When we select our leaders we normally don't have as clear an indication from God as the Israelites had in confirming Aaron as high priest. Choosing a good leader in business, church, education, or politics is a process that requires our careful judgment and discernment. It also requires trusting God and paying attention to his guidance. God will guide our decisions if we seek his will, pray for his help, and listen for his leading.

When the people, in fear, refused to enter the Promised Land and conquer it, God promised that they would wander in the desert for forty years. After years of wandering, once again the people find themselves thirsty and without water. Once again they complain to Moses about the situation. Once again God instructs Moses in how to provide for the needs of his people. But this time, something is different. And it will change Moses' life.

READ:

NUM 20:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

Aaron's staff was an ordinary object that God had transformed into a sacred one by miraculously causing it to blossom, produce nuts, and thus identify Aaron as the true high priest. Because of the staff's new character, it was kept in the Tabernacle in front of the Ark of the Covenant. It now represented God's authority. Whoever held the staff was speaking for God.

EXPLORATION POINT

The last time the Hebrews needed water, Moses struck a rock and water gushed out. This time, God told Moses just to speak to the rock to produce water. But Moses ignored the details and made the same dramatic display as the first time, raising the staff and hitting the rock twice. His action had severe consequences: God prohibited him from entering the Promised Land. Moses did more than fail to follow instructions—he failed to trust God and reflect his holiness.

After forty years, a generation of Hebrews has grown up in the wilderness, knowing only the taste of manna. They, like their parents, grow sick of it, and like their parents, they complain to Moses, longing for the “good old days” in Egypt that they’d heard about. Their complaining, however, angers God, and he sends snakes to punish them. But he also sends them a way to be saved.

NUM 21:1-95

OBSERVATION POINT

The image of a snake wrapped around a pole is used today to symbolize healing. It dates back to Greek mythology from the sixteenth century BC. Moses' use of the bronze snake on a pole occurred about two hundred years after that time. The bronze snake remained with the Israelites for hundreds of years, and the people eventually worshiped it, calling it Nehushtan. King Hezekiah finally destroyed the symbol during the religious reforms of his reign.

EXPLORATION POINT

The snake raised up on a pole foreshadowed Christ's being raised up on the cross to bring the world salvation. The snake embodied God's grace to the people of Israel, but their salvation lasted only a short time whereas Christ's sacrifice on the cross lasts forever. In both cases, salvation comes through faith. The Hebrews had to believe that by looking at the bronze snake, they would be healed. We too must believe and have faith that Christ's death and resurrection will bring us life.

After their experience with the bronze snake, the people of Israel continue on their way to the Promised Land. As they go, their conquering reputation precedes them. The local kings in the land of Moab are terrified by this mass of people whose victories against other nations are well known. Balak, king of Moab, knows he cannot overpower Israel's warriors, so he decides to attack them spiritually. He hires a man named Balaam for the task.

READ: Num. 22:1-41

OBSERVATION POINT

Balaam was a diviner, a person believed to tell the future and perform spells that affected it. He was well known, and his services were pricey, but when King Balak of Moab saw the mighty nation of Israel entering his country, he called on Balaam to put a curse on the Israelites so he could conquer them. Although Balaam seemed to know the Lord and desired to obey him, he really wanted to get paid. When he realized that it was impossible for him to curse God's nation, he blessed them through four great prophecies (Numbers 23–24).

EXPLORATION POINT

God mocked Balaam and his profession by making the donkey, an animal known for its stubbornness and stupidity, talk. Balaam was supposed to be able to see the future, but it was the donkey that could actually see the angel of the Lord. Balaam saw the angel only after the Lord opened his eyes. Once he was aware of God's presence, Balaam knew that he could only do what God commanded him to do. God made it very clear that he is in control of everything at all times—including diviners and donkeys.

At the Lord's direction, Moses initiates a second census. It has been forty years since the previous census, and the preceding generation has died in the wilderness. Now that the people of Israel have been numbered, they prepare themselves to receive the portion of the land that God has promised them.

NUM 27:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hebrews knew that officially the land was God's and that they were allowed to live there as tenants. Strict laws required that the land allotted to each tribe stay within the family, clan, and tribe. In a patriarchal society, only sons were recognized as rightful heirs, but Zelophehad's five daughters had good reasons for keeping the land within the family. Similar provisions appeared in Sumerian laws and Hammurabi's Code from around the same time.

EXPLORATION POINT

What may appear to us as a logical claim was actually quite unusual at the time. As is still true in many societies today, women in biblical times had few rights of their own. Women were sheltered, protected, and provided for by husbands, fathers, and brothers. These five women were very bold and courageous to approach Moses, Eleazar, and the national leaders to plead their case for securing their father's inheritance. They showed great conviction in coming forward and speaking up.

Meanwhile, the Midianites from the south have traveled north and joined their Moabite allies. While the Midianites are there, the Hebrew men have sexual relations with the local women and worship their pagan god, Baal of Peor. After punishing the guilty people, God commands Moses and the Hebrews to take revenge on the Midianites.

NUM 31:1-54

80 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

This battle exemplified God's intent to provide land and possessions for his people, as he had promised Abraham long ago. The Lord commanded Israel to undertake this holy war and provided the miraculous victory. While every Midianite male was killed, not one Hebrew soldier died in battle. The Hebrews handled the treasures, cattle, and captives—the plunder—according to God's law: Some were dedicated to the Lord, some given to the Levites, and the rest divided among the soldiers. The Hebrews followed the Lord's command to purge Canaan of idol worshipers and showed that the God of Israel was the one true God of all.

EXPLORATION POINT

God never gave Israel permission to wage war indiscriminately; he only allowed them to claim one specific area at one specific time in history. God's goal was for Israel to seize the land, annihilate the pagan cultures, and settle in the land to be a witness—and a blessing—to other nations. The accomplishments of war were not for Israel's sole benefit. Everything, including the land, was dedicated to God. Wars today are completely different than the wars fought for the Promised Land. They are motivated by human sin, greed, and desire for power, not by a desire to fulfill God's promise.

The people of Israel are finally ready to enter and secure the Promised Land—the land God promised to them forty years earlier, the land he had promised to their forefathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob more than four-hundred years before that. The Israelites have already encountered foreign kings and people east of the Jordan River, but now they are preparing to cross west over the river to invade the heart of Canaan. Before they do, Moses has words of encouragement and warnings for them.

DEUT 4:1-43

OBSERVATION POINT

Forty years earlier, the Israelites had camped at Mount Sinai for a year. From Mount Sinai their journey to the Promised Land should have taken about eleven days. But because they did not believe God and were terrified at the reports of giants in the land, God disciplined them by leading them in the wilderness for an additional thirty-eight years. They had looked like aimless nomads the entire time, but they were actually learning to follow God.

EXPLORATION POINT

God always has a plan. He had a great plan for his people, but he frequently had to adjust it to allow for their lack of faith, doubting, and complaining. If they had followed his instructions completely, they would have been "home" in little more than a year. God has a plan for our lives too. Sometimes things don't go exactly as planned: We take a detour or go in circles because we doubt God's goodness or ignore his instructions. The journey might take longer than it had to, but God is faithful. He will keep working in you. Keep trusting—the "promised land" is in sight!

He offers them words of encouragement for the struggles they will face as they enter the land of Canaan.

READ:

DEUT 8:1–20

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses emphasized how God provided manna for the people to keep them alive but, more than that, to remind them that they depended on God for everything: bread, water, protection. Manna was more than food. It represented the word of God. The phrase “people do not live by bread alone; rather, we live by every word that comes from the mouth of the LORD” was quoted by Jesus more than a thousand years later when he confronted Satan in the desert. Jesus himself was aware of his need to constantly depend on his Father in heaven.

EXPLORATION POINT

We often think that we can achieve great things on our own. We easily overlook how everything we have or accomplish comes from God. We are proud of the advancements we’ve made and the knowledge we’ve gained since the days of the wandering Israelites. We may even think that we far surpass the people of the Bible. But we need to remember that God gives us the power to succeed, so that we don't say, "I have achieved this with my own strength and energy." All that we are and have comes from God.

This agreement includes commands for the people to present offerings to the Lord, maintain a healthy diet, and depend on God by giving him one-tenth of their crops and herds. Finally, Moses reminds them to look out for the poor.

DEUT 15:1-18

83 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

God's instructions included careful regulations to provide for the poor, the widows and orphans, and others in need. If the Israelites had followed the rules God gave them at Mount Sinai, poor people would not have existed in their nation. Unfortunately, this state of perfection was never realized. God knew the frailty of his people and thus made additional provision for the poor (Leviticus 23:22). Poverty became a major issue in the nation later on because Israel did not even follow the basic rule of giving generously.

EXPLORATION POINT

Caring for the poor was central to God's laws for his people. This compassion made the Israelite nation different from the surrounding nations. But as the nation grew strong, powerful, and wealthy, the poor were overlooked. Today, Christians should continue to fulfill this law of compassion. Christ often cared for the poor and the downtrodden and taught others to do the same. As bearers of Christ's name, we must strive for justice that will further God's Kingdom here on earth.

Now, before the people invade the Promised Land, Moses instructs the people on the rules of war.

READ:

DEUT 20:1-20

84 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Conserving the trees in Canaan was wise advice because the Israelites would be resettling the land after the enemy was annihilated. They would need mature trees for food and shade. Canaan was rich in trees that produced nuts, such as almonds and pistachios, and typical Middle Eastern fruits, especially olives, figs, dates, and pomegranates. To destroy the trees would be destroying part of God's promise of "a land flowing with milk and honey."

EXPLORATION POINT

The existing nations in Canaan worshiped idols and observed wicked religious rituals, including prostitution and child sacrifice. These practices debased humanity. God wanted these people annihilated so that they would not contaminate his holy people. God had destroyed evil people before, first with the Great Flood and later with fire and burning sulfur. Now he planned to work through Israel to wipe out the nations living in Canaan. Israel wasn't larger, more powerful, or less sinful than these other nations, but God chose them to fulfill his plan. Israel, however, did not follow this plan as completely as God desired.

READ: Deuteronomy 31:1-13

DEUT 31:1-29

85 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Joshua was well qualified to take over for Moses. He had assisted Moses even before God gave the Ten Commandments, learning military strategy and leading the Hebrew troops into battle. He had scouted out the Promised Land and returned confident that God would help them occupy the land. He understood the people, and they respected him. Above all, he had a strong faith in God. Because of this, he was one of only two Hebrews not to die in the wilderness. He was tasked with leading Israel in its conquest of the Promised Land.

EXPLORATION POINT

Change in leadership can be difficult—for a former leader, for a new one, and for the people who have to adjust to a new personality. Joshua was very different from Moses. God chose him for a different leadership task: to conquer Canaan. He was a proven warrior and confident from the start, accepting his new role with no objection. This transition to a new leader who is approved and blessed by the former leader is an excellent example for us to follow.

READ: Deuteronomy 34:1-12

OBSERVATION POINT

Moses had a relationship with God unlike anyone else's in Scripture, allowing him to approach God's holiness without the protection of an intercessor. Only Moses had the privilege of talking to God face-to-face as a friend. Ordinary prophets and leaders received instructions from God through dreams and visions. Moses received God's words clearly, simply, and directly.

EXPLORATION POINT

Throughout the Old Testament, people could not approach God directly. They always needed someone to stand between them and God's holy presence. The high priest or a great leader like Moses acted as their mediator with God. No one was pure and holy enough to approach God on their own. All that changed with Christ's coming to earth. We can now experience the presence of God in prayer and have his Spirit continually with us in our daily lives.

Inside the city, one woman becomes an unexpected ally.

JOSH 2:1–24

OBSERVATION POINT

Flax, used to make linen cloth, was harvested in March or April in Canaan. The entire plant was harvested, bundled, and left to dry either in the fields or on rooftops. To make linen, the stalk was split open, and the fiber threads were separated out with a comb. Then the threads were spun together and woven into linen. It made sense to hide someone under the piles of flax plants drying on the flat rooftop.

EXPLORATION POINT

Many people think they have to be less sinful to be part of God's family. Rahab's story proves otherwise. God chooses people just as they are to further his plan. If God can use Rahab, a foreigner and a prostitute, to do great things for him, he can use us too, no matter how sinful we are. Rahab was such an important addition to God's plan that she is named in Jesus' genealogy (Matthew 1:5). No sin—no matter how vile, hidden, or shameful—is outside the reach of God's forgiveness.

After forty years of quail, manna, tents, and wilderness, God's people are ready to cross the border and officially enter the Promised Land. But first the people have to cross another body of water, the Jordan River—at flood stage—without a bridge or a boat. They need faith and a miracle.

JOSH 3:1–4:14

OBSERVATION POINT

The Jordan River was in its spring flood stage. This stretch of river, which normally flows gently, was raging with the spring run-off from the mountain snows and the regional rainfall. It was probably 90 to 100 feet wide and 10 to 12 feet deep. The priests faithfully stepped into a river that would normally have swept them off their feet and carried them downstream. Instead, God stopped the flow of the river, forming a wall of water as he had in the Red Sea, so the people could walk across on dry ground.

EXPLORATION POINT

A new generation of Hebrews entered the Promised Land. Their parents and grandparents—the ones who had seen the miracles in Egypt and crossed the Red Sea on dry ground—had died in the wilderness. God repeated the miracle—crossing on dry ground—to show this new group that he was the Lord Almighty, who would be with them wherever they went. God has commanded them to drive out the people currently living in the land, but he doesn't send them out to battle alone. The "commander of the LORD's army"—God himself—will lead them. Throughout the big story, God continually makes contact with his people. He appeared to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, and now Joshua. His presence inspires fear, awe, and courage. He gives instructions that require trust and perseverance, and he stays with his people through it all.

READ:

JOSH 5:13–6:27

89 OF 385

OBSERVATION POINT

Capturing Jericho involved both religious rituals and military strategy. Military tactics of this time period included besieging the city, circling around it, and blowing the ram's horn as a signal of battle. Religious practices included following behind the Ark, a symbol of God's presence; using the sacred number seven and its multiples; and shouting to celebrate God's victory. This was a new kind of warfare, led by God.

EXPLORATION POINT

Psychological warfare is nothing new. At Jericho, the Hebrews' shouting would have terrified the people of the city. They were the feared warriors of that time and place. Yet their conflict was won not with weapons but through trust and obedience to God, allowing him to win the battle for his people. This type of warfare was acceptable only in the Old Testament under God's direct command. Christ preached that we should take an entirely new approach to our enemies: love, not hate. We should promote peace as Christ did, not conflict.

Even though God's people are outnumbered, God assures Joshua that he is fighting for them, so they will be victorious.

JOSH 11:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

This battle was the first time that the Hebrews encountered horses and chariots in their conquest of Canaan. The enemy warriors rode in chariots pulled by the horses rather than riding into battle on horseback. Although Joshua was greatly outnumbered and had no chariots, his surprise attack and God's support allowed his foot soldiers to annihilate this massive army.

EXPLORATION POINT

Before the battle, God instructed Joshua to destroy all the chariots and horses that he captured from the enemy. God wanted the nation of Israel to rely on him for their power and strength, not on horses, chariots, or other advanced implements of war. Too often we trust things we can see or control: the latest technology, our bank accounts, a major contract, or an insurance policy. We believe that we can protect ourselves and secure our future. Israel conquers the people of Canaan in two major campaigns, one in the south and one in the north. For Joshua's part, God asks him to give each of the tribes its own territory. He also sets up a few cities as safe places for people seeking to avoid wrongful vengeance: cities of refuge.

JOSH 20:1-9

OBSERVATION POINT

In a time when people routinely sought vengeance for a person's murder, the cities of refuge provided some degree of justice. A person who accidentally killed someone could live safely in one of these cities. If they left the city, however, they risked death by a relative of the person killed. These six cities, established in different regions according to the law (Numbers 35:6-34), were unprecedented in the ancient Near East.

EXPLORATION POINT

Revenge for murder was the law accepted in Israel: “a life for a life” (Exodus 21:23). We don’t follow that law any longer because Jesus taught us something different. He acknowledged the Old Testament law, but in the Sermon on the Mount he altered it by teaching forgiveness and even generosity in response to injustice (Matthew 5:38-42). Jesus taught his followers to willingly give up their personal rights and forgive others as God forgave them.

JOSH 23:1-16; 24:25-33

93 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Joshua set up a huge stone at Shechem to help the people remember that they had renewed God's covenant there. It was probably a large flat stone set upright, perhaps with writing chiseled into it. Numerous stone monuments stood throughout the Promised Land, reminding the people of God's covenant and their need to obey his law. Each one visibly reminded them of all God had done for his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

As long as there was someone alive who could remember all the great things God had done during Joshua's lifetime, the people had a witness to God's miraculous deeds. However, telling the next generation the stories of the past did not always instill belief in the Lord Almighty. Moses and Joshua both emphasized the need to remember all that God had done for the people, but memories alone didn't make faith come alive. POSSESSING THE PROMISED LAND

During Israel's forty years of wandering in the wilderness, God prepared his people to become a nation and taught them to rely on him. Now, at last, Israel is ready to take up residence in the Promised Land. God leads the people into battle, providing victory after victory. After about thirty years, Israel's army has conquered every city-state in Canaan, but they have left many of the local people living alongside them.

Finally, the Hebrews settle down in the areas designated for each of the twelve tribes. The first part of God's promise to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob has been fulfilled: they were living in the land. God is with his people in every region as they enjoy peace and rest. But God's plan is not yet complete—he desires for the people to, in turn, bless all nations. Years pass. Before Joshua dies at age 110, he challenges the Hebrews to serve the Lord, and they unanimously promise to do so. Unfortunately, their oath lasts only as long as the elders who served under Joshua's leadership. In a short time, the people forget about their vow to serve the Lord and obey him alone. They blend their worship of God with the local people's worship of pagan gods. Some desert God completely.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

For the next 325 years, God's people will experience cycles of disobedience, punishment, confession, and restoration: They forget God and worship idols; God allows an enemy to punish them; the people cry to God for deliverance; God sends a judge to save them; they return to obeying and loving God. Then the pattern repeats. Oppressive enemies arise from the areas surrounding the Promised Land, and at different times they attack various Israelite tribes, but not all of Israel at once. Some judges have great influence in one area and not in another. Some judges overlap as Israel's leaders but rule in different regions. Occasionally peace reigns; at other times violence and discord erupts. Twelve judges guide Israel until the people demand a king. Although God is with his people, the people are not with God. They ignore him and his law and instead do "whatever seem[s] right in their own eyes." This moral apathy leaves God's people living in chaos.

JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

God chooses leaders to free his people. Each one foreshadows the ultimate leader, Savior, and Redeemer—Jesus. Like the judges, Jesus will free his people from the bonds of oppressive forces. However, Jesus will not be fighting merely against flesh-and-blood enemies, but against the pervasive powers of sin and death. God raises up the judges to free his people and restore their relationship with him. The judges' work points to Jesus by giving the people a glimpse of what Jesus will accomplish as the ultimate Redeemer and Savior of all.

centuries of regional leadership using a loose governing system. These leaders help ward off enemies and bring the people back to God.

JUDG 2:6–3:31

95 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Baal was the Canaanites' primary deity, a god of rain and fertility. The Canaanites honored Baal for their success in agriculture, animal breeding, and procreation. Ashtoreth, Baal's female counterpart, was a goddess of fertility associated with sacred trees or poles (i.e., Asherah poles). Worshiping these deities involved prostitution and bloodletting, practices that God condemned. In time, the Israelites joined in worshiping these local deities, forgetting that the Lord Almighty was the source of their success. Strife and unrest routinely followed their idol worship, often as a direct result of God's judgment.

EXPLORATION POINT

After the struggle for land was over, the Hebrews settled down. Life got comfortable. By the time a new generation grew up, no one remembered the great things God had done for his people. Parents and grandparents forgot a basic instruction from God: Tell your children (Deuteronomy 6:7). Christians who have followed church traditions for generations often grow lax, forgetting that faith in God isn't inherited. Each individual of each generation must cultivate it personally.

DEBORAH BECOMES ISRAEL'S JUDGE

After Joshua's death, the tribes continue battling for the land God promised them, but they never completely destroy the other peoples. A new generation grows up who never knew Joshua, but judges rise up among them to lead Israel. They save the people from their enemies who invade their land and remind them to follow the Lord. But when each judge dies, the people go back to ignoring God. Their sins mire them until a new judge steps forward.

JUDG 4:1–5:31

OBSERVATION POINT

The milk that Jael offered Sisera was probably goat's milk, curdled or thick like yogurt. Milk is known to have sleep-inducing qualities. For Jael to offer hospitality and then murder the one she sheltered was considered a horrendous crime in this culture. The names of the two heroines in this story are also of interest. Jael means "mountain goat," and Deborah means "bee." Thus Israel, a land flowing with milk and honey, was saved by Mountain Goat and Bee.

EXPLORATION POINT

A woman as a leader in Israel was rare, but not unheard of. Deborah's role and authority grew with each wise ruling and piece of advice, culminating in her leadership of a war led by God. Deborah's strong faith made her fearless against Israel's enemy. Jael was sympathetic to the Hebrews' cause. She bravely and cleverly used her skills—driving tent pegs into the ground to set up a tent was a woman's work—to crush the enemy. Even today God uses an individual's skills and abilities to further his plan for his Kingdom.

After defeating the Canaanites under Deborah's leadership, the people of God enjoy forty years of peace. But in the ease of life, they forget about God and begin blending religions, so God sends another enemy to punish them. Led by the Midianites, these raiders destroy the livelihoods of the Israelites and leave them starving. Finally, Israel turns back to God and cries for help. In response, God calls Gideon.

JUDG 6:1-24, 33-40

OBSERVATION POINT

This is one of the earliest references to using camels in warfare. They were common in the desert of the Arabian Peninsula, where the Midianites lived. Although they were a long way from home, nomadic people like the Midianites migrated into the settled areas of Canaan each spring with their livestock herds. Conflict between the wandering herdsmen and the Hebrew farmers was inevitable and ongoing, but this time the Hebrews suffered extreme oppression.

EXPLORATION POINT

Gideon asked a question that we still ask today: “If the LORD is with us, why has all this happened to us?” The Lord did not give Gideon a direct answer to that question. Instead he told Gideon to go do something about it. He promised to go with Gideon. God will also go with us, but he won’t do the work for us. We must trust and believe that God is with us and that he will provide what is necessary to accomplish his plans.

The Midianites invade and inhabit Israel's territory, destroying their crops and herds. Gideon rallies 32,000 troops from the tribes of Manasseh, Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali to rebuff them. With that many men, victory seems assured. But God commands Gideon to do something unprecedented—drastically cut the number of troops. Eventually Gideon will face Israel's enemies with only a fraction of the number he started with.

JUDG 7:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

The invading army was actually a coalition of forces from Midian, Amalek, and other nations east of the Jordan River. Usually, camels helped to overtake the infantry in battle, but this time the camels became a liability. Gideon's surprise attack, compounded by the noise of the trumpets, the shattering jars, and the light of the torches, panicked the troops and frightened the camels. The combination created bedlam.

EXPLORATION POINT

God frequently selects weak, insignificant, or unlikely people to serve him, and he uses them for great purposes. Moses felt ill-equipped to lead the people, Barak was timid, and Gideon felt insignificant. At other times, God gifts people with great courage, confidence, or leadership abilities and then calls them to harness those natural talents. God can use anyone, no matter what weaknesses other people see in them.

guide Israel, God selects Jephthah, a man from a questionable family, to be the next judge.

JUDG 11:1-40

99 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

A vow was a very serious matter, but Jephthah's pledge was extreme. Jephthah thought his vow would ensure victory, but that was Canaanite thinking. According to Hebrew law, vows were not mandatory, and a wise Hebrew would have known that God vehemently disapproved of human sacrifice. A monetary substitute would have been acceptable (Leviticus 27:1-8). But Jephthah didn't know better, having lived outside Hebrew society. True to his vow, Jephthah sacrificed his only child, thus extinguishing his family name.

EXPLORATION POINT

Prostitution was detestable to God, but he still used people associated with this sin. He used Rahab, a prostitute in Jericho, to save the Hebrew spies, and in turn they saved her. And he used Jephthah, the son of a prostitute, to save his people from the oppression of the Ammonites. God can use anyone for his good purpose, no matter what sins they've committed. During the time when Israel is governed by judges, a famine forces some of the Israelites to emigrate to other nations in search of food. Elimelech, his wife Naomi, and their two sons leave Israel and move to neighboring Moab to avoid starvation. When her husband and sons die, Naomi finds herself distressed and far from home. Her only chance to start over is to leave her daughters-in-law and return to her people in Israel. But even there, her hopes are uncertain.

RUTH 1:1–22

OBSERVATION POINT

Naomi and her daughters-in-law had few options. In the patriarchal society of that time, men provided for and protected their female relatives. A woman without a husband or sons was in a dire predicament. Naomi decided to return to her husband's clan in Israel, where some male relative might possibly look out for her. Ruth had no desire to return to her mother's house. She would be an added burden as another mouth to feed. At best she would serve her brother's wives until she remarried, but the prospects of that were slim since she was no longer a virgin.

EXPLORATION POINT

Ruth devoted herself to Naomi so completely that she was ready to move to a land where she would be despised as a foreigner. She clung to Naomi and vowed in the name of the Lord to stay with her until death. Swearing that oath was her confession of faith in Naomi's God, the God of Israel. God rewarded Ruth for her loyalty and commitment. God is faithful to those who love him even through difficult circumstances. He was faithful to Ruth and Naomi, and he provided for their immediate needs.

Following Naomi's wise advice, Ruth pursues Boaz and asks him to buy Naomi's land so that both she and Naomi will be taken care of. But before Boaz can agree, another man stands in the way.

RUTH 3:1–4:22

101 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The term family redeemer had a specific legal meaning in Israel. According to Jewish law, family redeemers had three major responsibilities: to buy land for a poor relative, to pay the debt for a relative who had become a slave, and to pursue justice for a murdered family member. The family redeemer was obligated to care for any poor family members, to ensure that the family name did not die out, and to keep land in the family because land was a gift from God.

EXPLORATION POINT

This story emphasizes the importance of long-term loyalty—the loyalty of Naomi and Ruth to one another, and the loyalty of God to those who love him. The story beautifully depicts God's providence: He provides for basic needs, and he turns devastation and despair into joy. God is working through the lives of these individuals, guiding their actions and weaving them all into his plan for redemption. His providence is not restricted to Bible stories, though; it extends through all generations, even ours.

God's people settled in the Promised Land more than a century ago, but their tribal loyalties and land allotments did not create unity, harmony, or peace among them. Now the sporadic rule by judges like Gideon has left Israel in chaos—morally, socially, and religiously. The loose political structure means that the people must fend for themselves. They need a strong leader to unite them. Responding to the prayer of a barren woman, God raises up Samuel, the son of a Levite, to lead his people.

5620E386

OBSERVATION POINT

Children were normally weaned after their third birthday, so Samuel was probably around three or four years old when Hannah brought him to the Tabernacle in Shiloh. Hannah's entrusting her son to Eli was an extraordinary gesture. Giving a child away was unusual in Israel because children were God's gifts, and sons secured the family's future. For Hannah, who had spent years longing for a child, the significance was even greater.

EXPLORATION POINT

Some of the people of Israel stayed true to their traditions, believing that God cared about them, that prayer and petition were ways to bring their needs before God, and that God dwelled in the Tabernacle where they could be near him. They believed God was actively involved in every aspect of life, that he opened or closed the womb and allowed pregnancy to occur. These Israelites were right; God was and is actively present in human affairs. He is not distant; he is here among us, hearing the cries of those who suffer and the laughter of those who rejoice, and caring about them both.

God will use Samuel to display his active presence with his people, a rare thing in those days. God has a role for him to play in his big story. He calls Samuel as a young boy to lead his people and make them a nation that will be a blessing to others.

1SAM 3:1–4:11

5 3 0 E 3 6

OBSERVATION POINT

"The lamp of God" refers to the oil lamp that signified God's presence in the Holy Place of the Tabernacle. Every evening at sunset, the Levites filled the lamp's seven branches with the best and purest olive oil so the flame would burn cleanly without producing smoke. The lamp contained only enough olive oil to burn until dawn. Therefore, God called to Samuel sometime before dawn, while the lamp was still giving off light.

EXPLORATION POINT

Hearing a voice calling in the middle of the night can be startling. Anyone who has heard their name called out while they are sleeping knows how unsettling it is. Samuel, who was twelve or thirteen, remained calm through the situation, not cowering in fear nor running to Eli in alarm. Instead, Samuel went to Eli, asking him if he had called. God still speaks to his people today, but usually in more subtle ways. He may communicate through wise counselors, friends, pastors, or even our dreams. Eventually the people return to worshiping idols. God sends a new enemy, the Philistines, who oppress Israel. The Philistines harass them for more than forty years. God then provides another judge, Samson, to guide his people.

JUDG 13:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

The Nazirite vow and its restrictions were clearly stated in the Book of Instruction that God gave Moses (Numbers 6:1-21). The angel, however, didn't assume Manoah's wife would know all the aspects of the law or have access to it. His instructions are in keeping with the Nazirite vow. A Nazirite could not consume anything made from grapes, eat any forbidden foods, touch a dead body, or cut his hair. Samson, however, would violate most, if not all, of these regulations.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Spirit of the Lord was with several judges: Gideon, Jephthah, and Samson. But God's presence didn't reduce their humanness—they still made mistakes and foolish choices. Gideon required reassurance; Jephthah made a vow for the wrong reasons and suffered terribly because of it; and Samson was callous and self-centered. The character flaws of these men clearly testify that God uses people for his good purposes even if they are indifferent to him and blatantly sinful.

Baffled by it, the men ask

Samson's bride to betray him so they can have the answer. In anger Samson retaliates, but behind it all, God is working.

JUDG 15:1-20

105 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The foxes mentioned here were probably jackals. The fox lives alone, but jackals live in packs and are not as cautious of humans as foxes are. Foxes are difficult to catch. Jackals, by comparison, would have been a bit more cooperative so that Samson could corral them. Samson's antics with the "foxes" destroyed the wheat and barley harvest, the grape harvest for raisins and wine, and the olive harvest for olives and cooking oil. This economically devastated the local community.

EXPLORATION POINT

If Samson's story hit the front page of a tabloid, we might label him a mass murderer, a madman, a terrorist, or a traitor. Our desire would be to medicate him or lock him up so he wouldn't harm himself or others. But God chose Samson to be a judge and hero of Israel, and this should make us think differently about whom God can use. Samson certainly wasn't a model leader, but he did accomplish God's purpose. SAMSON'S VENGEANCE ON THE PHILISTINES

SAMSON AND DELILAH

Samson is one of Israel's great judges, helping save God's people from their enemy, the Philistines. But Samson, like the other judges, is far from perfect. Samson has a personal vendetta against the Philistines. He wants vengeance for himself more than he wants liberation for his people. Nearly every motive Samson has is self-centered, and he makes foolish choices that cause his downfall. But God will not let the judge derail his big story. In spite of Samson's selfishness, God uses him for a greater purpose, filling Samson with his Spirit to rescue his people so that they might be a blessing.

JUDG 16:4-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Samson was not merely attracted to the Philistine Delilah—he fell in love with her. But she was more loyal to her people than to her lover. She cleverly entrapped Samson, manipulating him to tell her the source of his strength. Delilah was also attracted to the fortune she would receive for revealing his secret. The payment of 1,100 pieces of silver was extraordinarily high, considering that ten pieces of silver was acceptable as a year's wage (17:10).

EXPLORATION POINT

God is patient with people who misuse his gifts and fail to follow his will. God uses even eccentric, egotistical individuals like Samson. Samson's last prayer to God was selfishly motivated—he wanted to avenge the loss of his eyes, not deliver Israel from the Philistines. God fulfilled Samson's request, restoring his strength. In the end, Samson successfully ruled Israel for twenty years and did indeed begin subduing the Philistines. God loves us as we are. He is working in each of our lives, using our strengths and our flaws for his good purposes.

During the time of the judges, the Philistines frequently raided various territories of Israel. Throughout the judgeship of Samson, they continued harassing the Israelites, attempting to seize some of their territory. By the time of Eli, they are still waging war in the area. Their superstition abounds regarding the Ark of the Covenant. So the Philistines go after the box that they believe contains Israel's god.

1SAM 4:1-11; 5:1–7:2

OBSERVATION POINT

In the past the Israelites followed the Ark as a symbol of God's leading them through the wilderness, across the Jordan, and into battle. But the Ark had become more of a good-luck charm to them than a blessing. Treating the Ark of the Covenant like a good-luck charm was probably an idea the Israelites got from neighboring nations. Other cultures of this time carried their idols into battle, symbolizing the presence of their gods. The Israelites mistakenly trusted a symbol rather than God.

EXPLORATION POINT

What do we put our trust in? Trusting in a sacred box may seem foolish to us, but don't we sometimes trust other strategies or rituals rather than God? We trust leaders or important people to protect our rights. We trust our bank accounts and portfolios to secure our futures and our happiness. We trust our judicial system to administer justice and equality. But all of these things are human systems prone to imperfection and failure. Our ultimate trust must be in God above all.

Having grown up in God's presence in the Tabernacle, Samuel becomes God's prophet and Israel's judge. But the people begin demanding a more powerful leader and a political system that will give them prestige and security. They want a human king like the neighboring nations. Samuel tries to convince the people their choice is unwise, but they insist. Although God allows the people to have their way, he selects the king and gives Saul "a new heart" to lead his people to be part of his big story. As God was with Abraham, Moses, Joshua, and the judges, so he will be with the new king too.

1SAM 9:1-10:25

OBSERVATION POINT

As with Moses and Gideon, God equipped Saul to lead his chosen people. The kings of surrounding nations were poor examples of what God envisioned a leader to be. In fact, most of them oppressed their subjects. God, on the other hand, expected Israel's king to serve the people: doing what was best for them, not necessarily for himself. God desired a leader who was gracious, obedient, just, and compassionate. God didn't expect a human king to handle this challenge alone—he provided a training manual for the king's reference (Deuteronomy 17:14-20), and he filled Saul with his Spirit.

EXPLORATION POINT

Saul had everything a great leader needs: the support of the people, stature and good looks, the holy anointing of the priest, a heart transformed by God, and the presence and power of God's Spirit. Saul even had written instructions. Unfortunately, Saul was still human, still impatient, still able to disobey. God can equip us with talents and use us for his service, but that doesn't make us perfect. We can sabotage it all by resisting, or we can cooperate with him by obeying his direction. Our success in anything is not our own doing, but God's.

Instead of waiting for Samuel to present the sacrifice and ask for God's help in battle, Saul does it himself. God is angry with Saul for disobeying his command, but Saul remains king and continues to fight Israel's enemies throughout his reign.

1SAM 15:10-23

OBSERVATION POINT

God had once promised he would wipe out the Amalekites. Now that time had come. Earlier, during the time of Moses, the Amalekites occupied southern Canaan and the Negev area. As the Israelites approached the Promised Land, the Amalekites attacked the stragglers. They were the first enemies to attack God's people after the people had fled Egypt. So Moses commanded Joshua to fight back against the Amalekites. Moses stood on a hilltop with the staff of God raised above his head. With the help of Aaron and Hur, Moses remained that way until sunset, and Israel was victorious (Exodus 17:8-16).

EXPLORATION POINT

In most of their battles, God commanded his people to destroy the enemy and dedicate part of the plunder to the Lord's service. This time, God commanded Saul to completely destroy the Amalekites and everything they owned because they were godless and had defied God years earlier. Saul, however, chose partial destruction instead of complete annihilation. He obeyed God partially, not completely. Too often that's what we do. We "kind of" obey God and think it's good enough. But God calls us to full obedience even when we have to wait longer than we expected.

King Saul's reign suffers from his ongoing indifference to God's commands. Then he makes an impulsive vow during wartime that puts his soldiers and his own son in danger. Finally, Saul allows his men to keep the spoils of war even though God explicitly instructed him to destroy everything. Displeased with him, God removes his Spirit from Saul and sends Samuel to anoint a new king. Even Samuel is surprised by God's choice.

1SAM 16:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

The practice of anointing people and objects began early in Israel's history. A person of authority poured olive oil over a thing or a person's head to set them apart with a sacred status. Priests, kings, prophets, and objects were anointed for God's service. Jacob anointed a pillar at Bethel (Genesis 28:18), the Tabernacle and its contents were anointed (Exodus 30:26-29), Aaron and his sons were anointed as the first priests (Leviticus 8:12, 30), and Elisha was anointed as a prophet (1 Kings 19:16). The title "Messiah" means "Anointed One" and refers to this ancient tradition.

EXPLORATION POINT

Saul and David, the first two kings of Israel, had several things in common. Neither of them pursued the role. Both were unlikely prospects—Saul was from the least of the tribes, and David was the youngest son. Both were good looking. Both received God's Spirit when Samuel anointed them. Their main difference was what was deep inside: David was a man after God's own heart, but Saul wasn't. The Lord's words to Samuel are timeless advice, applicable to us today. Through David's experiences as a shepherd, God has prepared him to face a new threat. Just as God is present throughout the big story, his presence is a blessing in David's life. Armed with God's Spirit, David fearlessly goes head-to-head with the champion warrior of the Philistines—a giant named Goliath.

READ:

1SAM 17:1-58

OBSERVATION POINT

The stones David selected from the stream were not mere pebbles. They were round and smooth, very hard, and probably a little larger than a billiard ball. A really good slinger like David could make a stone fly at about 100 miles per hour. Even so, the stone that struck Goliath only stunned him, making him crash facedown on the ground. Goliath's beheading by David was what killed him.

EXPLORATION POINT

As a boy, David trusted God's power in facing the impossible. Others thought he was being a foolish child: David's brother mocked him, accusing him of being proud and deceitful; and King Saul was skeptical of David's ability to fight Goliath. But through David's skill with a sling, God affirmed his power over evil and his love for his anointed one. When Saul gets word of David's whereabouts, he sends three waves of troops to bring him in, but their reports back to him seem very strange. Finally, Saul himself goes out to find David.

READ:

1SAM 19:1-24

OBSERVATION POINT

Saul's impulsive attempt to kill David with his spear would have had subtle yet significant implications. In ancient Near Eastern culture, if a dart, javelin, or spear was thrown at a servant and he escaped the attack, the man was freed from any obligations to his master. Therefore, David's actions as a fugitive could not be classified as treason or rebellion against the king. He was at liberty to do what was necessary to save his own life.

EXPLORATION POINT

Saul's character sharply contrasts with David's in this reading. Saul is a manipulative, ruthless liar, oblivious to the laws of God and man. In contrast, David is an obedient servant of the king and of God. He is innocent of any wrong but is wise enough to know when to abandon his responsibilities to save himself. People like Saul and David are in our workplaces, our schools, and even our churches. Dogs in biblical times were sometimes used as working animals to protect homes or flocks of sheep, but most of them were wild and fierce. 1SAM 20:1-42

OBSERVATION POINT

The new moon festival was a religious and civil celebration that occurred on the first day of each month. Under normal circumstances, David's desire to be with his family would have been an acceptable excuse for his absence from the king's table. Families customarily observed this festival together at least once a year. The people celebrated by resting, worshiping, bringing offerings to God, and sharing a sacred meal.

EXPLORATION POINT

In just a few short years together, David and Jonathan had become as close as brothers and took on the responsibilities of brothers: preserving family honor, protecting one another, and providing for one another and for their descendants. Then they were forced to separate in order to survive Saul's anger. After that, they were never together again. When Jonathan died in battle, David's loyalty to and love for him showed that David truly was a man after God's own heart.

After Jonathan and David uncover Saul's motives, David flees with a band of loyal men. Eventually, his brothers, relatives, and other men join him. They move from towns to wilderness strongholds to caves in the hill country. Saul pursues David, leaving a trail of bloodshed. David and his men move to Moab and back again, and they finally hide in the wilderness of En-gedi. When Saul hears of it, he sets out. This time, David comes within arm's reach of his enemy.

1SAM 24:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

Cutting Saul's robe may have been more than just a gesture to prove that David had been close enough to kill him. In that era, people showed their loyalty to a king by touching the edge of his robe; they showed contempt or disloyalty by cutting off a piece. This expression of disloyalty may have been the reason that "David's conscience began bothering him."

EXPLORATION POINT

David had the perfect opportunity to protect himself. With one blow he could quit running for his life. But David's conscience wouldn't let him strike. He submitted to a higher standard—Saul was the Lord's anointed servant. It wasn't for David to decide how to end Saul's life. Our lives are filled with opportunities to exploit a situation, defy authority, or ignore a regulation. We may even get away with it or be applauded by others for our actions. But our responsibility is ultimately to God, who knows everything and holds us to his standards and authority.

In the darkness of a cave, David had the chance to kill Saul and finally stop living life on the run. Instead, David spared Saul. David chose to honor the man whom God had anointed king and to trust in God's timing for his own ascent to the throne. Reflecting on this encounter, David cries out to the Lord in this psalm.

READ:

PS 142:1-7

OBSERVATION POINT

Being on the run to save his life was an exhausting experience for David. His enemies, both the king and the king's men, were attempting to trap and then assassinate him. King Saul had hunted David down wherever he went. Saul's traps forced David to be a fugitive. Although David lamented his current state, he trusted God to give him strength.

EXPLORATION POINT

Even David, anointed by God to be king, was not exempt from stress and hardship. David was in the crosshairs of King Saul's insecurity and hostility, but he relied on God to get him through his hardships. We all experience fear, trouble, loneliness, and overwhelming circumstances, but God assures us of his goodness and provides us with the strength we need. from wandering outlaws, so they ask him to return the favor in the form of provisions. Nabal, however, defies the usual custom of feeding strangers, even though this stranger is a future king. Offended, David takes matters into his own hands.

1SAM 25:1-44

118 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

David's men were insulted that they were not welcomed and fed. Not only had they protected Nabal's shepherds and sheep—an act that naturally called for kindness in return—they were also passing through at sheep-shearing time, which was the usual occasion for feasting and celebration. The custom was to share the festivities and the abundance of food with travelers, the poor, or strangers, unless they had been declared an enemy.

EXPLORATION POINT

Abigail was a wise and unusually independent woman. She recognized her husband's limitations and worked around his foolishness, protecting him and their entire household. Her tact and diplomacy saved her husband's life. She did what she could but knew that she could not control the outcome. She left that in God's hands. Sometimes we too need to do the best we can and leave the rest to God.

THE DEATH OF SAUL

God called Saul, from the beginning of his reign, to save the people from their enemies the Philistines. But Saul and his army need God's guidance and blessing to succeed in defeating them. As his reign progresses, Saul drifts further and further away from God, and his leadership in battle becomes questionable. When the Philistine army attacks the weakened Israelites, Saul and his troops face them without the Lord's presence. During the battle, Saul himself is wounded.

1SAM 31:1-13

119 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Israel's army formally honored the dead and the dying during and after battle. Dying in battle was an honorable death. The armor bearer—a position David once held—was responsible for finishing the job if his commander was mortally wounded. To be improperly buried was a fate worse than death itself. After bravely recovering the bodies, the men of Jabesh-gilead cremated them, a rare practice in Israel, probably because they were decomposing.

EXPLORATION POINT

David was anointed by God, but he had yet to be crowned king over all Israel. Saul's death cleared the path for David to ascend to the throne. The death of Saul's sons, including David's beloved friend Jonathan, eliminated any legitimate objections to David's kingship. David would no longer be a fugitive; he would be king. Even at that time, being appointed to God's service involved two steps: God's call and human affirmation. This two-step process is still applicable today when God calls people to a special ministry or service for the church.

crowns David king. A civil war ensues between Israel and Judah—between those loyal to Ishbosheth and those loyal to David. The war continues for two years, until Ishbosheth is murdered and Israel turns and recognizes David as king.

2SAM 5:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

In the ancient Near East, a king's palace symbolized his status. Thus, by sending supplies for David's palace, Hiram, king of Tyre, acknowledged David as king of Israel. Hiram was the first king to do so, and this gave David international status. The people of Tyre needed a strong, peaceful relationship with Israel to continue using the trade routes that traversed Israel's territory. They also depended on Israel's farmlands for food.

EXPLORATION POINT

Although David was popular and handsome, his success was not his own doing. It came from the Lord. David faithfully consulted with God before battles and credited him with the win. He knew well that his abilities were from God and that God had blessed him with the kingship, children, and his victories in battle. Acknowledging God and remaining close to him were vital to David's success. As David did, we should praise God for making us who we are, giving us talents and abilities, and providing what we have from day to day.

PS 19:1-14

6210E386

OBSERVATION POINT

In the ancient world, the sun was considered a god and worshiped. David clearly refutes the notion that the sun has its own power by stating that it is part of God's creation, not a god itself. The sun is under God's control; he takes care of it by giving it a home in the heavens. The sun conforms to the patterns and purpose God has set for it.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's wisdom is displayed in several ways. We can see, feel, and experience it through his creation. The heavens reveal God's glory; they display his presence, orderliness, and creativity. His law of justice and mercy also show his wisdom and desire for order. David's life is an excellent example of God's wisdom being put into action and permeating every aspect of leadership. God is near to us and reveals himself in many ways. We just need to be more aware of him.

READ:

PS 23:1-6

OBSERVATION POINT

In verse 5 the setting changes from a pastoral scene to a banquet hall, where a gracious host receives his guests. Enemies can only watch from a distance, for the host protects the guest. Another sign of the host's lavish hospitality and welcome is his pouring oil on the guest's head to soothe and refresh him. The host does everything possible to take care of any need the guest might have.

EXPLORATION POINT

In some ancient cultures, people viewed their kings as shepherds. God is more than a shepherd who leads; he is our King. The role of shepherd involves compassion, humility, tenderness, love, and personal sacrifice. Kingship is associated with power, authority, wisdom, justice, and the elicitation of awe and reverence in others. God has all of these qualities. To profess “the LORD is my shepherd” is a testimony of our faith in him.

Almost ninety years ago, while Samuel was still a child, the Philistines defeated Israel in battle and captured the Ark of the Covenant. But God's presence among the Philistines plagued them, and after seven months they returned the Ark. For the next twenty years, the Ark remained in Kiriath-jearim at Abinadab's home under the care of his son Eleazar. During Saul's reign, the Ark wasn't given a second thought. Now, knowing its importance, King David arranges to bring the Ark to Jerusalem.

2SAM 6:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

Uzzah meant well, but he violated the Ark by touching it. God had given the Israelites specific instructions for moving the Ark of God —they were to use two poles inserted through corner rings (Numbers 4:6). Only the Levites were permitted to transport the Ark, and even they were not allowed to actually touch it. This time, however, no one bothered to check with the high priest. Spiritual matters and the details of this procedure were either forgotten or overlooked in the excitement. Months later, David had the Levites properly transport the Ark to Jerusalem.

EXPLORATION POINT

We don't have sacred objects like the Ark anymore, but many things still inspire reverence. We admire great cathedrals. We behave a certain way in a worship service. We bow our heads when praying. But often God's name is not treated as sacred. Our society tends to mishandle his name, taking it lightly or abusing it with swearing. Uzzah mishandled the Ark, the symbol of God's holy presence. We may not be struck dead when we misuse God's holy name, but we will someday be held accountable for it.

PS 96:1-13

124 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The nations around Israel worshiped gods and goddesses who were believed to live in the heavens. To declare that the Lord created the heavens clearly emphasized that God is far superior to any other gods. The God who creates is in control. The gods of the Canaanites did not create; they were merely idols.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is King of the universe. He created the world, and it stands firm under his control. He will judge all the nations, but he will do so fairly and truthfully. This is a reason for everything in Creation to rejoice. God is a fair and just King of kings. As Christians, we have even greater reason to rejoice. God will declare us not guilty because Jesus already took on our guilt and paid the price for it.

With God's help he defeats each one, securing the territory from the Euphrates River to the Brook of Egypt. This was the area God had originally promised to Abraham. Finally, God's people are at peace.

2SAM 8:1-18

125 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Conquered nations showed their submission to the new ruler by paying tributes or taxes. During David's time, the taxes on agriculture could be as high as 12.5 percent of the harvest. The king taxed agriculture as well as any other natural resources he needed to prosper his kingdom. David set aside all the spoils of war and any other diplomatic gifts (such as precious metals) for the Lord. Solomon later used this supply of precious metals to decorate the Temple.

EXPLORATION POINT

God promised Abraham that the land of Canaan from the Euphrates to the Brook of Egypt would be his and his descendants'. That promise was made in 2091 BC. David's final battle to secure the specified territory took place around 980 BC, over 1100 years later! God had been true to his promise, but it was a long time in coming. Why it took so long, we do not know. God fulfilled his plan on his timetable. God shows that he is faithful and worthy of our trust. A banner was a flag or sign carried into battle to identify different army units. It was also used to call the nation together. Throughout the forty years that Israel wandered in the wilderness, the leader of each tribe carried a banner as a visual guide for the people to follow.

When David first entered Saul's service, he and Saul's son Jonathan became immediate friends. Jonathan was more loyal to David than to his own father, even giving up his right to the throne. In return, David's loyalty to Jonathan never wavered. After Saul and Jonathan die in battle, King David seeks out any surviving family members and finds Jonathan's son Mephibosheth. David's care for Mephibosheth displays his character as a man after God's own heart —he does not forget his promises.

2SAM 9:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan and grandson of Saul, was crippled after his nurse dropped him when he was a child (2 Samuel 4:4). His disability was more than just a physical limitation. Crippled animals were not allowed to be offered to God. Disabled priests were not allowed to serve in the Tabernacle. Likewise, Jonathan's disabled prince was not fit to be king.

EXPLORATION POINT

Disabilities do not carry the great social stigma that they used to. Though we are often more aware of and concerned about the limitations of others, David is a role model for his kindness to and care for the disabled son of his friend. He fulfilled his vow and kept the promise he had made to Jonathan when they were young men.

Here David praises God for all he has done. David gives us a glimpse of God's heart and his love for us, as shown by his actions.

PS 103:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

To fear God does not mean to be afraid of him. It means to love God with all your heart, to be in awe of and respect him. A believer's fear of the Lord leads to praise, worship, and freedom. Joined with love and hope, this type of fear eliminates dread or slavish obligations. If we live in this kind of fear, we will live in peace, in confidence, and in a close relationship with God.

EXPLORATION POINT

This psalm is for everyone who thinks God is a big, mean, angry God who waits for an opportunity to catch us doing something

Where others might have shown contempt, King David shows compassion and great generosity to Mephibosheth son of Jonathan. David is a powerful king in the region, and God has blessed him richly. He has all that makes a man prosperous—wealth, peace, wives, children. More than that, his people adore him. But David is still human. When he follows his desire for another woman, a series of sinful choices brings chaos to his life and his family.

2SAM 11:1-27

OBSERVATION POINT

The flat roofs of houses and palaces were used for outdoor living. People often strolled, socialized, or slept there in hot weather. After a hot day, the air would cool off most quickly on the rooftop. It would not have been unusual for the king to take a walk on the roof in the evening. Bathsheba did not consider that bathing on her rooftop would leave her in full view of anyone walking on the nearby palace roof.

EXPLORATION POINT

Often we are unhappy with rules and restrictions that God and society place on us. But David's self-indulgence and unrestrained sexual desire for a beautiful woman created havoc. God's rules about adultery and sex are for our own good. Violating them may give us a moment of pleasure but a lifetime of heartache. David learned all of this the hard way. God knows that our obeying his rules is for our own wellbeing and will bring us the greatest happiness.

When Bathsheba's pregnancy threatens to expose David's affair, David resorts to greater and greater extremes to cover up the truth. Finally, God sends Nathan the prophet to tell the king an allegory that will help him see his deeds in a new light.

2SAM 12:1-25

130 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Prophets were messengers from God who spoke on his behalf. They pointed out the sins of the people, called them back to God's law, and pronounced judgment. As Samuel was a prophet to King Saul, so Nathan was to King David. Many more prophets spoke out during the reigns of later kings of Israel and Judah, when the nation "did what was evil in the LORD's sight."

EXPLORATION POINT

We often justify our actions by thinking that “no one will get hurt.” That’s never the case. Someone is always affected, directly or indirectly, by what we do, even if it’s ourselves. Disregarding the seriousness of our sin is shameful. Nathan confronted David to open his eyes to his sinful behavior. The Nathans in our lives may be coworkers, parents, pastors, or friends. PS 51:1-19

131 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The last two verses of this psalm seem to be a bit out of place since they refer to rebuilding. They were probably added to this favorite song after the Jews returned from exile in Babylon. At that time they were focused on rebuilding the city walls and restoring the traditions of worship and sacrifice.

EXPLORATION POINT

Knowing that God forgives us and washes us “whiter than snow” should bring us great comfort and joy. Once we are forgiven we should live in joy, praising God for his goodness. We shouldn’t dwell on our mistakes. Dragging around our old sins deprives us of joy and the life God wants for us. We need to forgive ourselves, forget our past sins, and move joyfully into the future.

We don't know precisely when he might have written this psalm, but it is clear that David knew his only hope would be found in God. In it David cries to God and pleads for his attention.

READ:

PS 86:1-17

132 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Pagan gods had the opposite character traits of the true God. They were angry and unpredictable and had to be appeased with blood and sacrifices—sometimes with human victims. The gods bore grudges and weren't forgiving. They could be bribed or manipulated to give blessings, but nothing ever satisfied them. Humans exhausted themselves trying to secure their favor. God, however, is the complete opposite; he is to pagan gods as truth is to lies.

EXPLORATION POINT

David prayed that God would remain true to the characteristics that David knew and could count on. We have the joy and comfort of knowing that God's character doesn't change. What he was like to David and the people of Israel thousands of years ago is precisely what he is like today. God's compassion, love, and faithfulness continue through all generations. In revenge, her brother Absalom murders Amnon and then flees the country. After a time, David and Absalom reconcile, but soon Absalom manipulates the people to boost his popularity. He then attempts to seize David's throne.

2SAM 15:1-37

OBSERVATION POINT

Absalom was about thirty years old when he conspired against his father. He was good looking, with long, thick hair (2 Samuel 14:25-26). He was charming but insincere. He was the first nobleman in Israel to put on a great display of royal pomp with his horse-drawn chariot and fifty bodyguards. This show of majesty and wealth probably appealed to the masses. Absalom was good at sympathizing with the people, telling them what he thought they wanted to hear and thus winning them over.

EXPLORATION POINT

Absalom wanted some of his father's power and honor, so he attempted to seize the throne. Like Absalom, we often attempt to seize power from God and place ourselves on his throne. We want to take over his role. We think we can do a better job of running our own lives and determining what's best for ourselves. We don't want to subject ourselves to his rule. Our strategy may appear to work in the short run, but we sacrifice God's grace and blessings.

While he is in hiding, David's loyal supporters battle Absalom's army in the forest of Ephraim.

READ:

2SAM 18:1–19:8

134 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The woods of Ephraim were very dense. In retreat, the soldiers may have gotten separated and lost. If they were on mules, low-hanging branches may have knocked them out or entangled them like Absalom. If they were on foot, the rough terrain, rocks, tree roots, pits, ravines, and dense underbrush could have snared them, causing injury or death. Perhaps they were simply missing in action. The major point is that David's small number of men—no more than 3,000—defeated Absalom's 20,000 troops.

EXPLORATION POINT

Joab and the army had strict instructions from David: Spare Absalom. The unnamed soldier who found Absalom dangling in a tree followed orders. Joab, possibly frustrated with Absalom's uprising and thinking like a warrior, disregarded the king's desire and murdered Absalom. His armor bearers helped him obscure whose dagger actually killed Absalom. As Sarah, Rebekah, and Moses had done before him, Joab took care of the situation his own way. We frequently ignore those in authority, thinking that we know better. We sometimes do the same with God, ignoring his laws and directions for our lives because we don't understand his reasons.

PS 139:1-24

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hebrew word translated “inner parts” (verse 13) is literally the word for “kidneys.” This Hebrew idiom signifies the center of emotions—the inner depth of a person’s moral character. In the English language, this aspect of our inner self is usually referred to as “the heart.”

EXPLORATION POINT

Psalm 139 presents a terrifying proposition or a comforting one, depending on how we view God. If we view him as a harsh dictator and rule enforcer, we must worry about him watching and knowing our every move. If, however, we see him as a loving, caring, and compassionate parent and friend, we find all of this magnificently comforting and reassuring. It can bring us great joy that God cares so much for us.

With King David's rule secured once more, he begins to wonder just how strong his army is.

2SAM 24:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

Taking a census was not unprecedented in Israel. Moses took a census twice at God's command to find out how many were in each tribe of the nation. What was sinful about this census was that God did not request it, and David wanted to confirm how powerful he was. Up until then David had trusted God, not the might of his own armies, to win battles. David was indulging his misplaced trust.

EXPLORATION POINT

It's easy to see David's mistakes in trusting an army rather than God. He was proud of his victories and his mighty men. Today, we don't personally worry about national power or the size of the military—our government leaders do. Instead, we trust in retirement plans, college degrees, or professional success. We trust that our power comes from a corporate title, recognition from our boss, or political position or that our wealth comes from what we know, accomplish, or inherit. In doing so, we are as guilty as David. The first thing we should trust is God. He is the source of everything else.

1KGS 1:1-53

7370E386

OBSERVATION POINT

In the ancient world, some women held positions of authority and had professions. One common occupation was nursemaid. Abishag was a young girl who was not married. Her purpose was to be a nursemaid to King David, caring for him in his declining health. She had to be trustworthy for this high position, given its close proximity to the king. She must have remained a virgin because Adonijah tried to convince Bathsheba and Solomon to allow Abishag to marry him. Only a virgin would be worthy of marriage to a king's son.

EXPLORATION POINT

David had the right to name his successor. The Bible does not record whether he had ever sworn to Bathsheba that Solomon would be king; however, Solomon was his favorite son, and Adonijah probably sensed that. It was the usual practice of kings in the Near East to kill any relatives who might challenge them, so Bathsheba needed David to act quickly or else Adonijah might kill her and Solomon. A SONG FOR SOLOMON'S CORONATION

This psalm is one of only two psalms attributed to Solomon (along with Psalm 127). It may have been written for the day of his coronation as king and read on that day as part of the celebration. Alternatively, it may have been written at a later time during his reign, looking back on that great day. Psalm 72 is a request for God's blessing on the king and his people.

PS 72:1-20

7 8 0 E 3 6

OBSERVATION POINT

If the king was wise and just, he would be a blessing to the people. God would also bless the people with peace, harmony, and prosperity. A just king would be a compassionate father who cared for the poor, the orphan, and the widow. He would be a fair judge who administered justice to his people. Jewish tradition viewed this psalm as a description of the Messiah and his kingdom.

EXPLORATION POINT

In biblical times rulers were seen as representatives of God. They were expected to be wise, just, merciful, and compassionate, just as God would be. Our God is sovereign over all nations and kingdoms. Although the world is extremely complex, God expects us as his followers to respect and obey the leadership of those who have authority over us. The standard by which God judges all leaders is clearly stated in the beginning of this psalm.

DAVID'S INSTRUCTIONS TO SOLOMON

King David has had a long and successful reign under God's guidance. In the process of transferring his power, David gathers the nation's leaders to address them and his son Solomon, the new king. David instructs the leaders to support Solomon. He then provides Solomon with detailed instructions for organizing the kingdom and with the plans for building the Temple.

1CHR 28:1-21

7390E386

OBSERVATION POINT

The writer of Chronicles is recalling “the golden years” of the nation. Writing after the return from captivity in Babylon, the writer recalls the most glorious aspects of David’s reign. The transition from father to son is remembered as a wonderful occasion untarnished by the question of which son would be king. There is no mention of Adonijah’s attempt to seize the throne, or of Bathsheba and Nathan’s scheme to ensure that Solomon would be the next king. Those unglamorous details are left in the history of 1 Kings.

EXPLORATION POINT

David’s speech emphasizes the fact that God is not distant and indifferent. God is actively involved in our lives, knowing all that we do and say. He intimately knows us and cares about us. He is available and eagerly waiting for us to seek him, trust him, and lean on him for strength and guidance. God’s love for us does not change and never will.

THE WAYS OF THE WICKED

Overwhelmed by his own trouble, the psalmist almost loses his faith as he focuses on the good life of evil people. But when he enters God's sanctuary (the Temple), he has an epiphany. By being in God's presence through prayer and worship, the writer gains a new perspective that provides the answer. The Temple was a place of great peace and a sanctuary for the Jews. It was more than a symbol of God's presence with his people. It was the place where God's glory resided.

PS 73:1-28

140 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

David made all the plans for the Temple, including instructions for how the Levites were to share the responsibilities of worship and the maintenance of God's house. David appointed Asaph, a Levite, to be a leader of one of the choirs in the Temple. This was a duty that was passed on to his descendants as well. Many of the psalms of Asaph were probably written by his descendants at a later time in Israel's history.

EXPLORATION POINT

Everyone has been in the same place as the psalmist, asking, “Why do the wicked have it so good?” The answer to this timeless question comes from stepping back and gaining perspective. In the long run, the wicked, who have no faith in God, have nothing that will last. Those who belong to the Lord have his shelter, his peace, and his sanctuary to rely on. Everything in life will crumble, money will be left behind, and power and prestige will fade; but God’s love will last forever.

As Israel prepares to build the Temple of the Lord, King David sets the precedent for generous giving. The commanders of the army, the tribal leaders, and the administrative staff then follow suit by generously donating their own gifts. The people's generosity and enthusiasm for the project is evident in their rejoicing. The dream to have a suitable house for the Lord God of Israel was coming true.

READ: 1 CHRONICLES 29:1-30

OBSERVATION POINT

Huge quantities of gold and silver were needed for the Temple. The cities and nations conquered by King David paid tribute in gold and silver. The Hebrews also set aside the treasures they captured for the Lord's purposes. Decorating the Temple was the perfect way to use these items since the Lord had been the one to lead them into battle and to secure victory for them.

EXPLORATION POINT

The generous giving of the people reflected the generosity of their ancestors. When Moses was preparing to construct the Tabernacle, he called everyone to contribute jewels, gold, fabrics, and their talents. The people gave generously to ensure that God had a lovely dwelling place. We can honor God today by providing for the needs of the church and the body of believers—God's new temple (1 Corinthians 3:16). "God loves a person who gives cheerfully" (2 Corinthians 9:7).

Then he appears to Solomon with an offer. Solomon's response shows great promise. Filled with God's Spirit, Solomon rules Israel with wisdom and justice.

READ:

1KGS 3:1-28; 4:29-34

OBSERVATION POINT

Brothels were common in cities of the ancient Near East, so it makes sense that these prostitutes shared a house. The prostitutes may have been Israelites or perhaps Jebusites, the native people who lived in Jerusalem before David captured it. God's law clearly forbade prostitution (Leviticus 19:29; Deuteronomy 23:18), but it still existed in Israel. Solomon was not judging their occupation; he was judging them as mothers.

EXPLORATION POINT

If someone offered to give you anything you asked for, what would it be? Solomon was about twenty years old when he became king, but he had some idea of how difficult and important his job was. His request was discerning and selfless. His desire for an understanding heart pleased God, who granted him wisdom and blessed him abundantly. Solomon came to realize that the core of wisdom is staying close to God and following his will.

Family was the core of order and the social structure in Hebrew society. Sons would represent and speak for their parents “at the city gates,” where civil law was discussed. The people believed that God controlled conception; therefore, a large number of children in a family showed that a person was morally upstanding and blessed by God.

EXPLORATION POINT

All our attempts to succeed will be in vain if we don’t have God’s support. Without him in our lives, our plans will be useless. We can

THE PURPOSE OF PROVERBS

In his time, King Solomon was the wisest man in the known world.

He was extremely talented in many ways and wrote extensively. He recorded many wise sayings—some of his own, some collected from others. But his emphasis was this: The key to wisdom is “fear of the LORD.”

PR 1:1–2:22

144 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

“Fear of the LORD” does not mean being afraid of God. The kind of fear mentioned here implies awe of and respect for God’s power and person. When we hold God in high esteem, we respect the Creator of the universe and the immense power he has over everything. At the same time, we can still approach him as a loving and caring Father.

EXPLORATION POINT

Being in relationship with God has huge benefits. But first we must do two things: know him and fear him. Those two things are also the key to wisdom. Through a relationship with God we will gain protection, knowledge, understanding, peace, and joy. Wisdom will equip us to ignore evil influences, judge twisted speech, and resist temptation.

OBSERVATION POINT

Wisdom far exceeds the worth of gold, silver, or precious gems. For Solomon to make such a statement about wisdom was significant because he had great wealth, surpassing anyone else in the world. But that wealth was of little value compared to true wisdom.

EXPLORATION POINT

This passage shows that God is actively involved with us in our search for wisdom. God shows us the path to take (verse 6), he heals us and gives us strength (verse 8), he provides for us (verse 10), he corrects us (verse 12), and he is our security (verse 26). We

This marks the beginning of the pithy couplets that make up the bulk of the book of Proverbs. These proverbs of Solomon continue to address a variety of topics, such as godliness, laziness, and the importance of working hard and watching what we say. Throughout, the focus is on learning what wise behavior and thinking looks like.

PR 10:1-32

OBSERVATION POINT

These two-line bits of advice were a popular form of literature in ancient times. The themes and topics vary and are randomly arranged. The lines are in a parallel structure contrasting wisdom and godliness with foolishness and evil. The proverbs found here are similar to Egyptian and Mesopotamian wisdom literature.

EXPLORATION POINT

How we speak and what we say is mentioned in a variety of ways throughout this section of Proverbs. Wise people select their words carefully and think before they allow words to roll off their tongues. It's more than common sense—it's God's advice. The merchant ships mentioned in verse 14 are those of King Solomon's fleet. Solomon had ships in the port at Ezion-geber that sailed south from the Gulf of Aqaba into the Red Sea. These treasures from other countries made Solomon wealthy and the most famous king of his time.

In the later years of his reign, King Solomon—whose wisdom and wealth have become famous throughout the world—expresses his insights into the meaning of life.

ECCL 1:1–2:26

149 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Solomon was the richest king in the world during his lifetime. He had more gold, treasures, wives and concubines, palaces, and horses than anyone else alive. Yet he realized that all those things did not guarantee happiness, purpose, contentment, or fulfillment. This observation has been around for centuries, yet no one seems to want to take Solomon's word seriously. Christians and non-

Christians alike continue even today to strive for money and for stuff that doesn't satisfy.

EXPLORATION POINT

King Solomon invoked extremes to make his point: Being wise or foolish, rich or poor, leads to the same end. So why bother? His conclusion is this: All work and striving has no meaning or purpose unless we have God at the center of our lives. When we focus on God and believe that everything we do is to further his Kingdom and give him glory, we will find satisfaction in life.

Solomon addresses every area of life in this famous passage.

OBSERVATION POINT

This poem is beautifully structured. Each line contains a pair of opposites: fourteen of them in seven verses. The first couplet examines the largest extreme, birth and death. Most of the comparisons are easily understood, but discerning the proper time for anything is the challenge of wisdom. The last pair, war and peace, brings the poem full circle: back to the stark juxtaposition of death and life from the opening line. All of these things are outside human control.

EXPLORATION POINT

What appears to be chaotic and meaningless to humans is purposeful and meaningful, even beautiful, to God. Fretting and worry are a waste of our time. Therefore, we should follow the advice of the writer—to be happy and enjoy ourselves by focusing on the good in the present, by being assured that God is in control, and by enjoying the gifts we have received from him.

EXPLORATION POINT

The conclusion (12:13-14) is an excellent summary of the wisdom found in Ecclesiastes. In the ancient Near East, raisin cakes and apples were considered aphrodisiacs. These apples were not the same as the apples we know in North America, since the climate of the region is too warm to grow apples. Perhaps the tree referred to here is an apricot tree since it had fragrant blossoms, sweet fruit, and a full crown of leafy branches that produced shade.

EXPLORATION POINT

This erotic poem is included in the Bible as a testament to God's desire for human love to be beautiful, pure, and holy. God created and values human sexuality, love, and the union of a man and a woman. It is how God intended all love relationships to be. OBSERVATION POINT

Extensive excavation work flattened and increased the size of the hilltop where the Temple was being built. On the eastern and southern sides of the Temple area, massive walls of concrete were constructed to support the site. Another project secured water to supply the Temple area, carving numerous cisterns out of the rock to hold thousands of gallons of water. Builders completed the Temple in Solomon's eleventh year as king, but it stood vacant for almost another year until it was dedicated.

EXPLORATION POINT

We want all the details when we hear of something new and exciting: a new relationship, a wedding, a new car, a baby. The construction of the Temple in Jerusalem was the most exciting and highly anticipated project in the history of God's people. Mourning clothes were simple garments made of sackcloth, a coarse, dark material (similar to burlap) made from goat or camel hair. It was stolen by the Philistines and later recovered, but eventually David moved it to Jerusalem and placed it in a special tent. Now Solomon moves the Ark one last time, into the Temple he has built —the house of God.

READ:

1KGS 8:1-21, 54-66

155 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The Ark originally contained the two stone tablets of the law given to Moses, a golden jar of manna, and Aaron's budded staff. The stone tablets were a reminder to live under God's covenant. The jar of manna was a reminder that God had provided the Israelites with food every day while they wandered in the wilderness. And Aaron's staff was a reminder not to rebel against God's chosen leaders. At the dedication of the Temple, only the stone tablets are mentioned. Perhaps the other items had been lost or stolen during the Ark's wanderings.

EXPLORATION POINT

Over 400 years earlier, God presented himself to the Israelites in a pillar-like cloud during the day and a fire at night so they would see his presence with them as they traveled in the wilderness. The people at the Temple dedication had heard about this phenomenon, but they had not seen it. The cloud of God's glorious presence filling the Temple must have awed them. of Sheba, intrigued by these stories, plans a visit to Israel to see for herself if this king is as remarkable as the tales that are told about him.

1KGS 10:1–29:13

OBSERVATION POINT

The queen of Sheba is thought to have come from ancient Arabia. She asked Solomon hard questions and “talked with him about everything she had on her mind.” The hard questions were probably posed in the form of riddles. Arabian literature at the time was typically filled with difficult riddles and proverbs. The Arabs used these elements to test for wisdom. Solomon answered and clarified even the most puzzling questions. The queen was overwhelmed by his responses.

EXPLORATION POINT

Centuries later, Jesus commended the queen's desire for knowledge and truth (Matthew 12:42). Solomon's life testified to her that his God was the source of his greatness. Solomon did not have to share the entire story of the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. His wisdom and his wealth showed her enough. THE KINGDOMS OF ISRAEL AND JUDAH
Although God wanted to be the only King for his people, he allowed them to crown a human king and establish a monarchy. God specifically chose Israel's first three kings—Saul, David, and Solomon—who were then each anointed by a priest. These kings ruled over the twelve tribes of Israel, united as one nation, for 120 years. During Solomon's reign the people experienced peace and prosperity. When God's Temple was completed, God's glorious presence filled the Temple, affirming to the people that God himself was with them.

After Solomon dies in 931 BC, his son Rehoboam becomes king over all Israel. But there is conflict brewing. Jeroboam, one of Solomon's labor managers, leads ten tribes to rebel against the king and start a second kingdom. Now there are two nations: Israel is the northern kingdom, consisting of ten tribes; and Judah is the southern kingdom, consisting of two tribes.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

The kingdoms of Israel and Judah run parallel with each other for two hundred years, until Israel is conquered by the Assyrian Empire in 722 BC. The kingdom of Judah continues on for about 150 years until the Babylonians destroy it in 586 BC. To keep these two histories clear, we'll follow them separately.

First we will follow the kings and prophets of Israel. Nineteen kings reign over the course of two hundred years; then in 722 the kingdom falls because most of its kings "did what was evil in the LORD's sight." God continues to speak to his people through the prophets, but they do not listen. As a result, their lives decline morally and spiritually until their downfall.

Then we will backtrack two hundred years to follow the kings and prophets of Judah from 931 BC until the kingdom's demise in 586 BC. Judah is ruled by nineteen kings (and one queen) over 345 years. Some of Judah's kings fear God and closely follow God's law. Others allow idolatry to creep into the people's religious practices. Although the prophets preach about the consequences of disobeying God, their warnings are not often heeded. Judah's sinfulness becomes too great, so God allows the Babylonians to invade the kingdom three times, taking captives and eventually destroying Jerusalem. Despite the kingdom's destruction, God promises that a remnant—a small group of God's people—will someday return to live in their land again.

JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

During the time of the two kingdoms, God's representatives on earth are kings, priests, and prophets. These human leaders are expected to obey God and his laws. By being obedient, they can represent God accurately and faithfully to the people. Most prophets are faithful, bringing news of hope and promises of a savior. But only some of the priests and kings follow the ways of the Lord. Their human weaknesses, their desire for power, and their undisciplined lives get in the way. Because of this, their roles are only shadows of the One who will ultimately obey God perfectly. Jesus Christ will come and accomplish all that prophets, priests, and kings have been called to do, but his coming is still hundreds of years in the future.

Unfortunately, the splendor and greatness of King Solomon's reign does not last. As he ages, Solomon becomes lax in his relationship with God, marrying foreign wives and allowing them to introduce idol worship to the kingdom. Once, God had promised Abraham that his descendants—now the kingdom of Israel—would be a blessing to all nations. Now, Solomon's sin has led to political conflicts in the kingdom that seem to be swamping God's promise. Far from having the global impact God had planned for them, the Israelites are an insignificant regional ethnic group heading for trouble.

1KGS 12:1-33

OBSERVATION POINT

The struggle between the northern and southern tribes was nothing new. During the time of the judges the people identified with and were loyal to their tribe, not their nation. Although the twelve tribes united under David and Solomon, jealousy and animosity continued to simmer, especially between the two largest tribes—Ephraim in the north and Judah in the south. The northern tribes disliked that Jerusalem, the center of politics and religion, was located in Judah's territory. The kingdom split in two: To the north was Israel, ten tribes led by Jeroboam; to the south was Judah, two tribes led by Rehoboam.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jeroboam intentionally set up new worship centers to secure his political power and position, but he was ignoring what God wanted for his people. The new centers were convenient for worship, but they led the people to worship idols, which violated God's first commandment. Gradually the people forgot all about the true God and drifted into worshiping the local deity, Baal. Convenience won out over what was true and right. We too must carefully choose what is right and true over what is current, popular, or most convenient.

After Israel splits into two kingdoms, God's people continue to pursue life apart from God. King Jeroboam lures the people into worshiping local idols rather than the one true God. Meanwhile, God reminds his people of the big story—of who he is and what he has done for them—through his prophets. From time to time, they repent and turn back to God, but their kings continually go back to their pagan practices. Eventually, a particularly wicked king, Ahab, rises to power over Israel. But God never deserts his chosen people. He speaks to them through the words of his prophet Elijah.

READ:

1KGS 16:29–17:24

OBSERVATION POINT

Jezebel was a Phoenician princess and a high priestess of the cult of Baal. Her father Ethbaal, king of Sidon, was high priest of the cult of Ashtoreth, or Asherah. When Jezebel married Ahab, she converted him and much of the kingdom of Israel to the worship of Baal and Asherah. She supported 450 prophets of Baal and 400 prophets of Asherah. Jezebel assumed a major political and religious role as queen of Israel and had a great influence on Ahab's decisions.

EXPLORATION POINT

Elijah, whose name means “my God is Yahweh,” prophesied for the God of Israel. He courageously declared his faith before King Ahab, who had made Baal worship the kingdom’s official religion. Elijah was in the minority. Other prophets had remained true to the Lord, but he was not aware of them and felt abandoned. Sometimes we may feel alone in our faith, too. Family or friends may have lost touch with God and drifted into complacency or other beliefs. Reading the story of Elijah encourages us with the reminder that God does not abandon his people.

KING AHAB AND THE PROPHET ELIJAH

THE CONTEST ON MOUNT CARMEL

After three years of drought, the prophet Elijah receives word from God that rain is coming to revive the land of Israel. Rain would be God's gift to the Israelites, for the people had long since forsaken God and chosen to worship Baal as the giver of rain. As God instructs him, Elijah appears before King Ahab and challenges his prophets to an unprecedented contest on Mount Carmel.

1KGS 18:1-46

85 00 E2 86

OBSERVATION POINT

Pagan worshipers believed their gods had human characteristics and needs. Priests of Egyptian deities actually woke up their gods by feeding, washing, and dressing the idols. Elijah's sarcasm appropriately derided the belief that a god could be preoccupied with human-like activities.

EXPLORATION POINT

The majority of Israel got swept up in the pagan rituals and worship of Baal, Canaan's most popular god. Everyone wants to be associated with the strongest, the prettiest, the smartest, or the best in any category. But sometimes we settle for a god that isn't. We worship wealth, position, or power instead of pursuing the true God —the Lord Almighty, the supreme God of gods and King of kings. He's patiently waiting for us to come to him.

The prophet Elijah has just engaged in the biggest battle of his life. He has boldly confronted the prophets of Baal and proved whose god was supreme: God won! But Elijah is afraid and discouraged—Queen Jezebel is threatening his life.

OBSERVATION POINT

Great forces of nature can represent God's majesty and power, but God didn't use them in responding to Elijah. God had demonstrated his control over nature at Mount Carmel. The fire from heaven had consumed the sacrifice, and the rain had come after a three-year drought. God was not out to create awe and fear; instead, he wanted to reassure and comfort his prophet. God showed Elijah that he was not only powerful—he was also personal.

EXPLORATION POINT

Living in God's presence and knowing he is with us does not always eliminate our fear when we are directly threatened. Being human, Elijah panicked when he received Jezebel's death threat. Whenever we feel discouraged by life or depressed, we can take some tips from Elijah's actions. First he slept; then he had something good to eat and drink. Most importantly, he talked to God to feel his presence and find out what God wanted him to do next.

OBSERVATION POINT

A whirlwind is a violent, swirling wind like a tornado. It is common in Israel during the rainy season (May–October) but also occurs along the Mediterranean coast in early winter. In the Bible this natural phenomenon is associated with divine action: God often speaks from the whirlwind or uses it to display his power. But this occasion is the only time that a whirlwind serves as transportation to heaven.

EXPLORATION POINT

The process of dying is something we all have to face. Even Elijah, a faithful servant of God and a famous prophet of Israel, did not stay on earth forever. He was taken to heaven in a dramatic way that has never been repeated. Our departure from earth will be much more ordinary, but thanks to Jesus, the destination can be the same.

The prophet Elisha begins prophesying soon after King Ahab's reign ends. God called Elisha to declare to Israel's kings and people that God, not Baal, was the one true God. Through Elisha's ministry, God wanted to reveal his character to all of Israel. Elisha's miracles showed them God's power and compassion.

READ:

2KGS 4:1-37

OBSERVATION POINT

In Bible times, olive oil was very valuable and was used for cooking; for lighting; and in medicine, salves, and cosmetics. Households typically had large storage jars that could hold six gallons of water or oil each. The widow's son collected these jars from the neighbors and then filled them with olive oil. This quantity of oil, when sold, would be enough to eliminate the widow's debt.

EXPLORATION POINT

Elisha's miracles met the immediate needs of people. These miracles, especially the feeding of a crowd with only a few loaves of bread, anticipated Jesus' miracles and his ministry. The miracles not only displayed God's power but also his compassionate understanding of the everyday needs of the people. God is not distant. He is here with us, active in the daily routines of our lives. Every day he provides us with our "daily bread."

His miracles testify that God isn't simply a regional deity—he is the all-powerful and only true God, the Lord Almighty.

OBSERVATION POINT

Biblical leprosy is not identical to modern leprosy, which is called Hansen's disease. The leprosy described in Leviticus 13 and 14 shares only some of the characteristics of Hansen's disease as it is known today. What the Bible calls leprosy encompassed a variety of infectious skin diseases, including the more common ailment psoriasis.

EXPLORATION POINT

God exhibited his sovereignty over all nations by giving victory to Naaman's army, whose soldiers were not of God's chosen people. God's power is unlike the power of the world that was displayed in armies, horses, and chariots. Nothing is outside his sovereign will. We only see a small part of his plan, but we can rest in the knowledge that a loving God, the Creator of all, is in control.

With the Baal worshipers gone, Jehu reforms Israel's religious practices, bringing the people back to God. In doing so, however, he has left a trail of blood and bodies behind him.

READ: 2 Kings 9:1-13, 30-37; 10:1-7, 18-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Decades earlier, King Ahab had built a large temple to Baal in the capital city of Samaria. Inside this temple was a sacred altar to Baal and an Asherah pole. The "innermost fortress" of the temple was a recessed area in a wall that contained an engraved stone image dedicated to Baal. Previously Elijah had killed off the Baal prophets; now Jehu completely destroyed all other aspects of Baal worship in Israel.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jehu rooted out Ahab's family exactly as God had told him, but he made one big mistake—he kept the national religion of worshiping gold calves at Bethel and Dan. Instead of breaking that age-old tradition, Jehu allowed the idols to stand—this was his downfall. Sometimes we get hung up on traditions and continue doing things out of habit. From time to time it's important to examine those traditions to be sure they line up with what God requires.

The Lord is furious at his people for once again forgetting him and all he has done for them. To punish them, he sends other nations to attack them. Eventually, Jehoahaz's son Jehoash, a victorious warrior, comes to the throne. With God's power he is able to fight off the invaders and delay the total destruction of Israel a little longer.

2KGS 13:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

The Bible's inspired historical record is not an exhaustive account of the accomplishments of the kings of Israel and Judah. The Bible mentions eighteen other records of the deeds of kings and prophets. These documents consisted of poetry, royal court records, and records by the prophets. Among them were The Book of Jashar (Joshua 10:13), The Book of the Acts of Solomon (1 Kings 11:41), and The Book of the History of the Kings of Israel (1 Kings 14:19). All have been lost to antiquity.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is patient with his people. Jehoahaz kept idol worship alive, but turned to God in prayer when things got really bad for Israel. God graciously answered him. God rewards obedience and responds even to small acts that acknowledge him and show love for him. He answers the earnest prayers of his people, even though we are sinful. He is "a God of compassion and mercy, slow to get angry and filled with unfailing love and faithfulness" (Psalm 86:15).

The Israelites also reclaim some of their lost territory, secure their northern borders against Assyria, and enjoy peace.

READ:

2KGS 14:23-29

OBSERVATION POINT

The prophet Jonah mentioned here is the same Jonah who ran from God and ended up in the belly of a great fish. Although Jonah is best known for his prophecy to Israel's enemies, the Assyrians in Nineveh, he also prophesied to Israel around the same time as Amos and Hosea, who warned against the greed and corruption of the wealthy that resulted in injustice for the poor.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's compassion and love for his people continues through all generations. Although Jeroboam II worshiped idols, God remained faithful to the covenant promises he had made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. He used Jeroboam's skills to restore stability and prosperity to Israel for a time. God's compassion and care for his people is greater than his need to correct or punish them. This is still true today: "The LORD is compassionate and merciful, slow to get angry and filled with unfailing love" (Psalm 103:8).

Long ago God promised Abraham that his descendants would be a blessing to all nations. Jonah was one of God's prophets who was sent to a foreign nation with a clear warning: Change your sinful ways or God will punish you. Throughout the big story, God has love and compassion for all people of every nation. He gives fair warning to everyone that their actions will be judged. God summons Jonah to warn the Assyrians of Nineveh to repent or face impending doom.

JON 1:1–2:10

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hebrew phrase used here for “great fish” could refer to any large animal that lives primarily underwater. The exact species of animal or fish referred to is unknown. Perhaps it was a unique fish God made for just this purpose, or perhaps it was a type of shark or whale. The great white shark, the whale, and the whale shark all have throats large enough to swallow a human.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jonah was startled and angry to think that God could care for or love Israel's worst enemy, Assyria. Jonah was sure that it wasn't fair that the bloodthirsty Assyrians would get a chance at God's salvation. God's radical forgiveness did not fit Jonah's paradigm of justice. But this was a glimpse of what God had in mind for the world: a salvation that came from his grace alone, available to all—rich and poor, righteous and wicked.

The leafy plant that grew quickly to provide shade for Jonah may have been a castor oil plant or a cucumber vine. The castor oil plant is a shrub that grows to be over twelve feet high, with very large, wide leaves. God miraculously caused the plant to grow to its full height overnight.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is always eager to save those who willingly and openly receive his word, recognize their sin, and repent. God was making a huge statement to Jonah—that his compassion and grace extend beyond the Israelites to people that they saw as the worst and the most sinful people in the world. Salvation is by God's grace alone; it is his gift to us, and we can do nothing to deserve it.

Like other prophets of his day, Hosea preaches against the excesses of the rich and their oppression of the poor. Most poignantly, Hosea's personal experience with an unfaithful wife is a living prophecy that represents the relationship of God with his unfaithful people, Israel.

READ:

HOS 1:1–2:5

OBSERVATION POINT

In ancient societies, prostitution was more acceptable than it is today, but in Israel it was a disgraceful profession of outcasts. The imagery of prostitution used in Hosea and in Ezekiel implies judgment and shame. Israel was to live by different standards than the people around them. But they committed spiritual adultery by pursuing sin and the idols of other nations. The Israelites' "other lovers" were the Canaanite gods, especially Baal and Ashtoreth.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Israelites were guilty of spiritual adultery: following the sinful ways of other nations even though God had called them to be faithful to him alone. We are sometimes guilty of spiritual adultery as well. Too often we want to follow the trends of the culture we live in rather than standing out and standing up for the Lord. We should carefully examine our lives to ensure that we are being faithful to God.

OBSERVATION POINT

In other passages in Hosea, God is described as a lion who attacks Israel to do it harm (5:14; 13:7). Here the image is used to portray God as a lion who roars to protect his people and to announce his coming to help them.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had initiated a covenant relationship with his people, but they were unfaithful to that relationship. God would punish them for this by sending them into exile, but his plan went beyond the punishment stage. He promised a time of restoration and renewal because of his great love for his people.

Amos lived and preached at the same time that God called Jonah to preach to Nineveh. Amos cannot ignore God's roar or the visions of judgment that God gives to him. He is compelled to share God's message of punishment with Israel, Judah, and the surrounding nations.

AMOS 1:1-2; 2:4-16

172 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

A poor person would use his cloak as security for a loan. The law of Moses required the holder of the cloak to return it by dusk, since nights were cold and the cloak kept the debtor warm. It was also against the law to take any clothing at all from a widow. The rich in Israel were abusing this law; not only would they keep cloaks longer than was allowed, but they also openly flaunted their collection of cloaks at religious festivals.

EXPLORATION POINT

The social, moral, and religious structure of Israel had completely disintegrated. The people ignored justice and forgot about mercy; they were callous, ruthless, and corrupt. God was not going to tolerate Israel's callous abuse of his law. Judgment inevitably followed. God wants his people and his Kingdom to reflect his desire for justice, mercy, and compassion. As Christians, we must promote justice and mercy in all aspects of life to ensure that God's will is done on earth as it is in heaven.

Amos continues his prophecy, which is filled with vivid imagery describing Israel's many perversions of justice and proper worship. He is appalled by the rich who exploit the poor in order to support the lavish lifestyles they have grown comfortable with. He detests the people's worship practices, which have become empty rituals and actions with no heartfelt meaning.

AMOS 4:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

God had designated the Temple in Jerusalem as the only appropriate place for worship. But Israel set up their own places of worship at Bethel and Dan, and they worshiped local deities in other cities like Gilgal. They prided themselves in their pious acts, offering sacrifices every morning and tithing every three days. They thought God would acknowledge their religiosity, but their worship was hollow and insincere. Their excessiveness was an empty show.

EXPLORATION POINT

God desires sincere worship that comes from genuine love for and devotion to him. He expected the Israelites to uphold his standard, and he expects the same from us today. The number of times we show up at church or the amount of money we give means nothing to him if we are not sincere. Pious acts and thoughtless rituals are just a show for others if our motivation is not from our hearts.

These experiences help him to see as well as hear what will happen to the kingdom of Israel. He knows that God is angry with the people of the northern kingdom and that he will punish them for their sinful living.

AMOS 7:1–17

OBSERVATION POINT

The sycamore-fig tree was a large tree that grew fig-like fruit. It was common in the region, often planted along roads for shade. It was a high-yielding tree that provided several crops of fruit each year. The fruit had to be carefully cared for in order for it to develop correctly, ripen, and be edible. Fruit that was poorly cared for or rotten was used as cattle feed.

EXPLORATION POINT

God built his people Israel in perfect alignment with a “plumb line”—the laws he gave them at Mount Sinai. Now God was measuring the lives of the people of Israel against those laws and finding them lacking. We too know the way of right living and what God expects of us. God's message to us has been carefully preserved in the Bible. We are already made right with God through Christ, but we too must strive to live according to the "plumb line" of the Bible.

over again, seizing many cities and deporting the people.

2KGS 15:8-31

175 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The kings of Israel and Judah were routinely compared to the earlier kings of the nation. King David was a good king after God's own heart; all good and God-fearing kings were compared to him. But Israel's kings were compared to King Jeroboam and his "evil ways": building pagan shrines, appointing priests from the common people, placing gold calf idols at Bethel and Dan, and creating a religious festival to worship the calves.

EXPLORATION POINT

God was slow to become angry with his people. He sent his prophets to warn them to change their evil ways, but the people didn't listen and the leaders didn't enforce change. God's patience would eventually run out. We tend to avoid making changes in our lives, especially if we don't suffer immediate consequences. But we need to listen for God's voice and realign our thinking and actions with his way.

Numerous prophets warned the leaders that destruction was coming if they did not seek God, shun idolatry, and show mercy. But eventually the prophets' voices cease. God abandons the kingdom of Israel to face the ruthless Assyrians alone. Pounded by Assyria, the people of Israel finally prove to be too weak to ward off their invaders.

READ:

2KGS 17:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

Israel, the northern kingdom, consisted of ten tribes: Ephraim, Naphtali, East and West Manasseh, Asher, Zebulun, Issachar, Reuben, Gad, and Dan. When the kingdom of Israel was conquered, it disappeared. Afterward, it was often referred to as the ten lost tribes of Israel. Not only did the Assyrians take the people captive and move them north to their nation, but they also transplanted other captive peoples into the territory of Israel. Mixing up nationalities like this prevented unity and possible uprisings against the conquerors.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had clearly stated the terms of his covenant to his people: Obedience would bring blessings and joy; disobedience would bring anguish and punishment. God used judges, kings, and prophets to remind the people to follow him and obey the terms of the covenant, but the people didn't listen or follow. They chose to join the Canaanites in worshiping idols. Being flexible and adjusting to those around us can be good, but we need to choose wisely and remain committed to obeying God above all.

Meanwhile, Jeroboam, a former supervisor of Solomon's labor force, returns from hiding in Egypt and crowns himself king of the ten northern tribes. War breaks out between Jeroboam's Israel and Rehoboam's Judah, and conflict will continue sporadically for the next two centuries. We already followed the history of Israel; now we turn back to experience the history of Judah.

READ:

2CHR 11:1-23; 12:13-16

OBSERVATION POINT

The migration of the Levites and the faithful followers of the Lord from the northern kingdom to the southern significantly affected Judah. These people immigrated for multiple reasons. Spiritually, these Levites and devoted followers of God did not want to live in a nation of idol worshipers; practically, the Levites were unemployed and unsupported. The Levites lived on the tithes of the people. True Levites depended on God and kept alive the knowledge and service of the Lord. By contrast, Jeroboam's government paid its new priests to say what the king wanted to hear.

EXPLORATION POINT

The writer of Chronicles is clear about what is important in the long run—a king's relationship with God. Rehoboam was faithful to God for the first three years of his reign. God responded by blessing him with success: building projects; an influx of faithful priests, Levites, and other people from the north; and a large family. But Rehoboam goes down in biblical history as an evil king because "he did not seek the LORD with all his heart." His worldly accomplishments are lost to history. The only thing that is remembered is his relationship with God—or lack thereof.

Rehoboam has carefully scattered his other sons throughout the kingdom, giving them power and responsibilities in other areas to keep them content and away from Jerusalem.

2CHR 13:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

Abijah and his priests were devoted to God. By bringing priests and trumpets into battle, Abijah showed that he trusted God, not the size of his army, for a victory. The use of trumpets marked this occasion as holy. Abijah clung to God's promise to Moses: "When you . . . go to war against your enemies who attack you, sound the alarm with the trumpets. Then the LORD your God will remember you and rescue you from your enemies" (Numbers 10:9).

EXPLORATION POINT

God intended the Promised Land to be a place of peace, calm, and rest for his people. Those conditions had been realized during Solomon's reign, but even the "golden age" was tarnished by sin. God's Kingdom is characterized by peace, not war; by justice, not injustice. Christ has shown us a new way to live and to promote God's Kingdom. READ: 2 Chronicles 14:1–16:14

2CHR 14:1-15

95 OF 215

OBSERVATION POINT

The word translated as “grandmother” could refer to any female relative. But “queen” refers to the biological mother or grandmother of the existing king, not to the woman he married. The queen mother or grandmother held a position of great influence within the kingdom, although she had no formal political power. Asa was so dedicated to God that he was willing to punish his own relative to demonstrate the seriousness of worshiping idols.

EXPLORATION POINT

Religion in Judah was more than mere acts of worship. It represented relationships, with God and with other humans. The king represented God on earth. His behavior was to mimic God's righteousness. The biblical accounts that have endured long after the royal records—such as The Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel—give the kings credit for only the things they did that were worthwhile in the Lord's eyes. The king's relationship with God and his treatment of the people were all that mattered.

2CHR 17:1-19; 19:4-11

96 00 E2 86

OBSERVATION POINT

Solomon and Rehoboam fortified numerous cities to protect Judah from its enemies. Since Judah was at war with Israel sporadically for fifty years, Jehoshaphat continued fortifying cities, especially along the northern border with Israel. A fortified city was surrounded by a stone wall, sometimes two. Each one was 15 to 25 feet thick and at least 35 feet high. Trenches were dug outside the walls. Every city entrance was secured by towers and gates and occupied by soldiers equipped with swords and shields.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jehoshaphat was the only king of Judah who sponsored national religious education. He hired traveling teachers, priests, and Levites to educate the people about God and his laws. God wanted his people to live well—exhibiting peace, justice, and mercy. Jehoshaphat was determined to inform the people about how God wanted them to live. The marriage brings peace to the two kingdoms, but it also reintroduces idol worship into the kingdom of Judah because Athaliah has worshiped idols her whole life. Jehoram's reign undoes his father's reforms to the kingdom.

READ:

2CHR 21:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

The prophet Elijah named here is the same Elijah who confronted King Ahab and Queen Jezebel in the northern kingdom of Israel. He predicted no rain would fall until God said so, and he challenged the prophets of Baal on Mount Carmel (1 Kings 17–18). This was all happening around the same time as King Jehoram's reign in Judah.

EXPLORATION POINT

King Jehoram was really, really bad, not only toward God but also toward the people. The wars, the invasion of Judah, and Jehoram's agonizing disease and death were the result of his disobedience to God. In the Old Testament the common belief was that disaster and disease were directly correlated with punishment for sin. While Jehoram's life shows that this can be true, Christ reminded us when he healed a blind man (John 9:1-34) that disease and death are not always God's punishment for specific sins.

QUEEN ATHALIAH RULES IN JUDAH

King Jehoram reigns for eight years in Judah with his wife Athaliah. Then his only surviving son, Ahaziah, comes to the throne, but he reigns for only one year. When Ahaziah is killed by Jehu, his mother, Athaliah, seizes power and murders the rest of Judah's royal family, even her own grandchildren. She intends to wipe out any trace of David's descendants, but in God's great providence, one royal grandson survives.

READ:

2CHR 22:10–23:21

OBSERVATION POINT

Hiding the baby Joash in the Temple was ingenious. Athaliah, a Baal worshiper, would never go near God's holy Temple. And the Temple was large—surrounding the sanctuary on three sides was a three-story building that contained ninety storerooms. These rooms were used as bedrooms for the priests and as storage for Temple supplies, spears and shields, musical instruments, and treasures seized after battle. The high priest, Jehoiada, was well aware of the plan to hide the royal prince and helped protect him for six years.

EXPLORATION POINT

The royal family of David had shrunk down to one infant—Joash. By protecting this prince, God kept his promise to David that David's kingdom would last forever. Because the baby was rescued secretly, many people of Judah may have thought the royal line of David was extinguished. It appeared to be a hopeless situation. For humans, it was, but not for God. Even today, God's plan cannot be thwarted by people. The preservation of this baby beautifully illustrates God's absolute faithfulness to his people and his promises.

After a series of good and bad kings ruled Judah, Joash, a seven-year-old boy, ascends to the throne. He has survived the killing spree of his wicked grandmother, Athaliah, and is the only child from David's line to survive. His reign casts a ray of hope into the dismal history of Judah. God's promise to King David was almost snuffed out, but God's big story had never been in doubt—God would win. David's dynasty is secure in the hands of this seven-year-old and his protector, Jehoiada, the high priest of God Almighty.

2CHR 24:1-27

OBSERVATION POINT

The Temple was 140 years old at the time Joash became king. It had been abused and neglected by the people of Judah during the many years they worshiped Baal and Asherah, so it was in dire need of cleaning and restoration. Joash's first attempt to collect taxes for Temple maintenance didn't work, so he instituted a voluntary gift program to provide the funds for restoring the Temple to its original splendor.

EXPLORATION POINT

Joash was a God-fearing king until the death of his great adviser,

Jehoiada. When his advisers changed, his focus veered away from God. The people forgot Joash's religious reforms and restored idol worship. The influence of his advisers made all the difference in Joash's rule. We need to surround ourselves with godly advisers and friends. Those who influence our thoughts and actions can lead us either away from God or toward him.

Joel doesn't give any definite historical references to date his prophecy, but many think he was a prophet in Judah at about the time of King Joash's reign. Joash fears God (at least at first) and promotes religious reform in the nation. But the many years of idol worship and neglecting the one true God are difficult to overcome. Joel prophesies that a plague of locusts will come as God's way of punishing the people for forgetting him for so long.

JOEL 1:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

Joel spoke literally about a plague of locusts. The locusts devastated four key crops of the region: grapes that became raisins and wine, fig trees that grew fruit twice a year, olive trees that grew olives for food and for oil, and grain. The extent of the plague threatened the people and animals with starvation. It was so harsh that the offerings of grain and wine at the Temple stopped.

EXPLORATION POINT

Almost every generation has one major historical event that impacts their lives: a war, a natural disaster, a recession, or an assassination of a national or religious leader. The people of Judah experienced a natural disaster—a plague of locusts that destroyed their lives. The hardships of such catastrophes are undeniable, but they should not define our lives. How wonderful it would be if Christians made a miraculous blessing from God their special remembrance to "pass down from generation to generation"!

Joel's message warns the people of the coming plague. The day of the Lord is a frightening thought, but Joel reports that there is still time to turn back to God. Punishment will come, but it will not last forever. Joel closes his prophecy with a message of great hope for the future, when God's Spirit will come and live in all of God's people.

JOEL 2:18–3:21

185 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

This great prophecy came true on the day of Pentecost in AD 30, when God's Spirit descended on the gathering of believers in Jerusalem. Christ had returned to heaven but had promised his disciples that he would send them an Advocate to be with them. On the day of Pentecost, the apostle Peter quoted this passage to show that what was happening was a fulfillment of God's plan.

EXPLORATION POINT

God promises to fill his people with his Spirit rather than leaving them alone and in despair. The people of Judah didn't comprehend how or when this bright future would come. After a prophecy has been fulfilled, such as the Spirit's arrival, it is easy to understand how it all works; but until God reveals a fulfillment, prophecies remain clouded in mystery. Through faith we can believe and trust in God's promises.

2CHR 26:1-23

2CHR 26:1-23

101 OF 215

OBSERVATION POINT

Uzziah undertook massive construction projects to repair damage from an earthquake that occurred during his reign (Zechariah 14:5). He built towers throughout the country to protect his people from wandering bandits and invading armies. He also expanded Judah's territory. Judah controlled the coastal highway to the west. To the south, they recaptured the port of Elath on the Gulf of Aqaba and rebuilt it. They also captured territory in the east and built towns to secure the area.

EXPLORATION POINT

God blessed Uzziah and made him a great ruler whose fame spread. God has no problem with rulers' greatness and power, but he is concerned with their attitudes. When Uzziah became proud and overstepped his responsibilities, God did not tolerate his pride and greed. God struck him immediately with leprosy, a disease that stripped him of his greatness. God is the source of all wealth, greatness, and fame; he gives, and he takes away. It's important to receive such blessings as a gift and not as an entitlement.

Isaiah becomes a prophet to the nation of Judah when King Uzziah dies in 740 BC. Isaiah's prophetic ministry will span sixty years, through the decline and fall of Judah's sister nation, Israel. He warns the people of Judah that they too will be destroyed if they don't turn back to God. The book of Isaiah contains only a few details about Isaiah's personal life, but perhaps the most significant detail is that he responds when God asks, "Whom should I send?"

ISA 6:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

Seraphim are fiery angelic beings of supernatural origin. This is the only mention of seraphim in the Bible, but they seem to correspond to the "living beings" mentioned in Revelation 4:6-9. They are situated around the throne of God, attending him and praising him continually. They have six wings: two to cover their faces so they will not gaze on the glory of God, two to cover their feet, and two with which to fly.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's question to Isaiah, "Whom should I send?" is timeless and universal. God is still looking for individuals to follow his call and spread his message throughout the world. God needs every one of us in one way or another to tell others about his love, his saving grace, and his desire to have a relationship with the people he created. No act is too small to do great things for God's Kingdom.

But Ahaz rejects God, so God sends enemies to punish him and the kingdom of Judah. Aram, Israel, Edom, Philistia, and Assyria all battle Judah during Ahaz's reign. For sixteen long years, the kingdom reels in turmoil, and the people suffer greatly because of Ahaz's sin.

READ: 2 Kings 28:1-27

188 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Because Ahaz worshiped foreign gods, he had little interest in the glorious Temple, God's house. It was useless to him. He closed up the sanctuary and left it sealed during most of his reign, but he continued to use the courtyards that surrounded the main building to sacrifice offerings to other gods. The only good thing about Ahaz's actions is that he merely neglected the Temple; he didn't destroy it.

EXPLORATION POINT

For a time God allowed wicked nations, including Israel, to pour punishment, humiliation, and shame on Judah. But he then used other peoples to judge these wicked nations. Aram and Israel were conquered by the Assyrians in 722 BC while Ahaz was still king of Judah. Assyria was conquered by the Babylonians in 612 BC. Edom was crushed and Philistia overrun by the Babylonians.

Nations rise to greatness and then collapse. Empires control territories and then are conquered by others. God is the supreme judge and ruler of the entire earth forever!

He then gives the king God's promise for the future.

READ:

ISA 7:1-25

189 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The prophecy “the virgin will conceive a child” was ultimately fulfilled when Christ was born seven hundred years later. However, a partial fulfillment occurred soon after it was announced, either in the birth of Ahaz’s son Hezekiah, who became king of Judah, or in one of Isaiah’s children. Immanuel, meaning “God with us,” was a sign of assurance that God was present with his people, protecting them no matter what happened.

EXPLORATION POINT

God’s words through Isaiah gave the people hope for the future.

They could endure the pain of the present—the threat of war, desolation, and captivity—if they knew God would stay with them through it all and that someday their nation and beloved city would be restored. God always provides hope for us today too, no matter what circumstances we currently face. All trials and suffering, no matter how difficult, will end.

After seeing God's judgment on Israel for her unfaithfulness, Judah will face judgment themselves. But Isaiah also has words of hope: a light breaking into the darkness from an unexpected place.

READ:

ISA 8:1–9:7

OBSERVATION POINT

"The army of Midian" (9:4) refers to the nation that had been an enemy of Israel for generations. Hundreds of years earlier, when the Israelites were on the march to the Promised Land, they fought against the Midianites, who had seduced the people into idolatry. Later, during the time of the judges, Gideon battled with the Midianites again. In all their encounters with this enemy, the Israelites were victorious with God's help. This passage is a reminder of the great things the nation was able to achieve by trusting the Lord.

EXPLORATION POINT

Isaiah's famous words enlightened the people living in a world of darkness and despair. Israel was about to face destruction, and the forecast was the same for Judah. The glory of God's chosen people was tarnished. In the middle of the bad news, Isaiah spoke the words that throughout time have brought hope and instilled joy in the hearts of those who hear them: "A child is born. . . . And he will

But not everything he says is doom and gloom. He also provides visions of a delightful future time filled with peace, calm, and joy for all of God's creation.

READ:

ISA 11:1-16

OBSERVATION POINT

The nation of Israel is compared to a forest that will be cut down but not destroyed. From a tree stump will come a shoot and a branch that will bring new life to David's dynasty. Both the oak and the terebinth trees, the two most common trees in the region at that time, were symbols of stability and longevity. The oak tree grew up to 80 feet high and lived as long as 300 years! The terebinth tree was associated with God's presence and was frequently used to mark a place where someone had encountered God.

EXPLORATION POINT

Isaiah's words were sweet for people who were facing judgment and exile. His message brought visions of paradise, where everything would be peaceful and all Creation would live in harmony. Justice would prevail and fairness for all would be the norm. Some of this message was fulfilled with Christ's birth and ministry, but this ideal time will arrive fully when Christ comes again to rule the earth and establish his Kingdom. MIC 1:1-16

OBSERVATION POINT

The prophets regularly used prostitution as a metaphor to describe the people's persistent attitude toward God. They had abandoned God and committed adultery with pagan gods. The worship of Baal and Ashtoreth in particular actually did include sexual activity with shrine prostitutes, so the people were both figuratively and literally guilty of adultery.

EXPLORATION POINT

Shortly after God's people escaped from Egypt, God told them to have nothing to do with the neighboring cultures in the Promised Land. He commanded the Israelites to annihilate the Canaanites because they were extremely wicked. The Israelites, however, left many of the Canaanites alive. Over centuries the Israelites forgot God's warning and adopted the cultural and religious practices of the Canaanites. Today Christians face a similar dilemma. We need to carefully examine and select what contemporary practices are acceptable to our faith and are pleasing to God.

Hezekiah, a God-fearing man, transforms the kingdom with religious reforms, hoping to turn the people back to God. Since the Temple has been closed for some time, Hezekiah's first act as king is to reopen and rededicate it as the house of the Lord. Under Hezekiah's godly rule, Judah becomes a prosperous and peaceful nation again.

2CHR 29:1-36

OBSERVATION POINT

After being closed up for years, the Temple was filthy. Two phases were required to restore the Lord's house for proper worship. First, the Temple's contents and interior had to be purified with water or with fire. The second stage involved rededicating the priests and the Temple to God. Repairs to the neglected or damaged structure and furnishings were also included in the process. Once everything was ready, God's Temple was ready for worship and sacrifice.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is always willing to forgive and restore his people. After the years of idolatry and turmoil under King Ahaz, the people and the priests rededicated themselves to God. In response, God restored Judah to its former glory, a glory that the kingdom had not experienced since the time of Solomon. God assures us that after punishment comes restoration; after exile, he restores peace and wholeness to his people. After restoring God's Temple, King Hezekiah reinstitutes the celebration of Passover for both Israel and Judah. The people of Israel have not celebrated Passover in such great numbers since they entered the Promised Land with Joshua about 400 years earlier. The joint religious celebration symbolizes restoration and honors their mutual history as God's chosen people: the Exodus from Egypt. It is a momentous and joyous occasion.

READ:

2CHR 30:1-27

195 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Passover was a carefully structured holy day. It was a grand celebration—the Israelites' "Independence Day," a day to remember their freedom from slavery in Egypt. For the people left in the fallen northern kingdom, the idea of celebrating in Jerusalem was a source of hope. They had been invited to share in a celebration that exhibited the glory of the southern kingdom! Having lived their entire lives in a nation that worshiped Baal, the number of people who would remember this God-ordained festival may have been pretty small. But they made the pilgrimage to Jerusalem and rededicated themselves to God.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people left in Israel had grown up in a heathen, Baal-worshiping society. Now a new generation could observe the festivals decreed by God. Celebrating Passover marked a new beginning for spiritual renewal among the people of Judah and the few who remained in Israel. Throughout the history of the church, God's Spirit has moved people to seek spiritual renewal and revival. Renewal can happen locally, regionally, or nationally, but we don't have to wait for others to respond. We can choose to renew our relationship with God each day.

2CHR 32:1-23

Hezekiah and the people of Judah were terrified of the Assyrians, who had destroyed Israel twenty years earlier. Now the Assyrians were terrorizing the cities near Jerusalem and breaking down their walls. Anticipating an attack, Hezekiah and his army prepared to defend Jerusalem. As a spokesperson for God, Isaiah sometimes conveys messages to the people about the future. He addresses the people and the nations in general but also speaks directly to the king. He is closely connected to the events in the royal palace during the reign of King Hezekiah. He is a confidant of the king and acts as liaison between him and God when Hezekiah becomes ill.

READ:

ISA 38:1–39:8

OBSERVATION POINT

While lying on his bed, King Hezekiah could see the sundial of Ahaz. His father, King Ahaz, built it during his own reign as a way to determine the time. The sundial measured time through the shadow that stationary objects cast on it. The shadow would move up each step as the sun set. How the sun's shadow reversed itself is not known; it is one of the mysterious miracles of the Bible.

EXPLORATION POINT

King Hezekiah displayed his wisdom as he turned to God and received a longer life, but later he foolishly bragged to the king of Babylon about his wealth and military. Suddenly Hezekiah cared only about what happened in his lifetime, not the future suffering of his descendants or the destruction of the nation. God will not only comfort his people with words of hope while they are in exile, but the future will bring even greater comfort: the personal presence of God, and the restoration and renewal of everything that has been broken.

ISA 40:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

The image of a flat, accessible road reflects the Near Eastern custom of preparing a safe and convenient way for royal travel. Royal representatives traveled the road ahead of the king to ensure that it was as smooth and even as possible. Workers removed stones, leveled out rough spots, filled in holes, and cleaned up trash and litter. A Greek legend tells of a queen who ordered hills removed to level the roadway. The flat road was costly, but it made her words famous and her trip shorter.

God will send a special servant who will suffer and know the deepest grief, but this servant will ultimately prosper and be exalted.

ISA 52:13–53:12

OBSERVATION POINT

Isaiah spoke about a servant who would lead God's people, but the servant's appearance would be in shocking contrast to what was expected of great rulers of the time. God's power would manifest itself in the servant's humility and helplessness. The Israelites would be expecting a powerful savior-king like David, who would overpower their enemies and bring peace and prosperity. When he arrived, Jesus was not recognized by many as this servant. He was not what they had anticipated, but he was exactly what God had planned.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had a wonderful, surprising plan. The servant would restore the relationship between God and humans that was destroyed in the Garden of Eden. Humans would turn their backs and look the other way because they wouldn't understand how a weak and insignificant person could be of any help to them. When the exiles heard the words, “I will create Jerusalem as a place of happiness. . . . OBSERVATION POINT

In the ancient Near East, human sacrifice was a widespread practice for appeasing the gods or ensuring safety during a national crisis. Archaeologists have uncovered evidence of child sacrifice occurring between 400 BC and AD 400. In his law, God clearly prohibited human sacrifice. Children were entrusted to parents for protection and nurturing. God expected his people to be radically different from all other nations—to illustrate God's love and kindness to his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

When people repent, God extends mercy and forgiveness. King Manasseh, seeing the error of his ways in worshiping idols, confessed his sin. God forgave him and restored him to his kingdom. With thanksgiving, Manasseh cleared out idols, shrines, and altars to the local gods, attempting to undo all the wrong he had done in the kingdom. But Manasseh's change of heart did not eliminate the consequences from years of sinful living. Our sins have consequences that we have to face. God forgives us for our sinful ways, but he does not always make the consequences of our actions disappear.

King Hezekiah and his son Manasseh both died peacefully, but King Amon's officials conspired against him. The people then crown his son Josiah king of Judah. The new king is only eight years old, but Josiah follows God like his ancestor King David. At an early age he introduces major religious reforms to the nation. In the process of restoring the Temple, officials find an old manuscript and bring it to the king. When they read it to him, Josiah knows what he must do. For the 31 years of Josiah's reign, the kingdom of Judah experiences stability and renewal.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

By the time Josiah had been king for twelve years, the Assyrian Empire had lost much of its power, leaving the territory of Israel unsupervised. Josiah was able to expand his religious reforms into the former tribal regions of Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon, and Naphtali. When officials found the Book of the Law in the Temple and read it to Josiah, the king had the authority to renew the covenant for all of Israel and Judah. The custom generally was that whatever the king believed and did, the people followed.

EXPLORATION POINT

Josiah was mortified when he realized how his ancestors had neglected God's law. Because Josiah loved God, God promised him that he would not see the destruction of the nation. God extended his mercy a little bit longer, delaying the punishment that Judah deserved. But what about the righteous people who reformed under Josiah? They still eventually suffered at the hands of the Babylonian invaders. Sin has a nasty way of affecting both current and future generations. The consequences of our actions often impact others in unexpected ways.

During the thirteenth year of King Josiah's reign in Judah, Jeremiah receives his call from God to be a prophet. He will relay God's pronouncements against Judah and Jerusalem. He predicts the fall of the holy city and the seventy-year exile in Babylon, but he also imparts a message of hope. For most of his life, Jeremiah will live and work in Jerusalem, and he will be a consistent voice for God during the final years of the nation of Judah.

JER 1:1-19

OBSERVATION POINT

The almond tree was common in the region. It grew as tall as twenty-five feet and blossomed in late January with a display of pink or white flowers. The tree held divine significance: God had Aaron's staff bud, blossom, and form mature almonds to identify Aaron as high priest (Numbers 17:8). The almond branch is used here as a sign to Jeremiah that the Lord was watching. The image suggests a play on the Hebrew words shoqed ("watching") and shaqed ("almond tree").

EXPLORATION POINT

God chooses individuals for specific tasks even before they are born. He may call us to do great things for him when we are young (Jeremiah, Daniel, and Mary were all teenagers), when we are old (Abraham, Sarah, and Moses were over eighty), or any time in between. God has our place and purpose in life planned for us. Just as he assured Jeremiah that he would provide him with the necessary skills, God will provide us with what we need as well.

Jeremiah is appalled by the people's unjust ways, inhuman practices, and idol worship. He first tries to convince the people of Judah to repent of their sins and turn back to God. When his initial efforts fail, he speaks about God's anger and the judgment that is certain to come. He knows that God will not let the people's evil go unpunished.

JER 7:1–8:3

206 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Judah's idol-worshiping neighbors believed that a symbol was virtually identical to what it represented. This idea crept into Israelite thinking early on and stuck. In earlier days the people considered the Ark of the Covenant and the Tabernacle to be magical or charmed objects that would protect them. Now they thought the Temple would protect them from the onslaught of the Babylonians, even though they had ignored God and rebelled against him.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's people lived in total chaos, worshiping heathen gods, blatantly violating God's law, and naïvely believing that no enemy could destroy them. God spoke to them through Jeremiah, but they didn't listen. It may be easy for us to condemn their behavior, but we shouldn't be so quick to judge. First we need to take a good look at ourselves in comparison with how God wants his church to act in the midst of a godless society.

But as dismal as the future appears, Jeremiah also shares God's promise of hope for a new beginning.

READ: Jeremiah 16:1-21
207 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The Israelites had various ways of mourning their dead: They dressed in sackcloth, covered their heads with ashes, wailed in distress, and sat with the mourning family. Cutting themselves and shaving their heads were practices that were prohibited in God's law (Deuteronomy 14:1). Their new practices showed how far the people had drifted from God's instructions for holy living. They had abandoned God's law and adopted the heathen practices of their neighbors.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people had abandoned God for idols. For hundreds of years God's prophets had called the people to repent and change their ways. God's judgment was sure. But he wasn't going to abandon them forever; he promised to renew them during their time in exile and eventually return them to Jerusalem. God never leaves us in

The conversion of the population didn't last through several generations. Nineveh, representing the Assyrian Empire, has become as wicked as ever, and Nahum speaks of the city's coming destruction.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

The phrase “wicked counselor” (1:11) refers to the current king of Assyria. God already had dealt with an Assyrian king earlier, during Hezekiah’s reign in Judah. When Sennacherib attempted to capture Jerusalem in 701 BC, he failed because an angel of the Lord entered the Assyrian camp at night and killed 185,000 soldiers. Frightened, Sennacherib packed up and returned to Nineveh. As strong as the Assyrians thought they were, they were no match for God. Nineveh was later destroyed in 612 BC by the Babylonians.

EXPLORATION POINT

No empire, nation, or ruler is beyond God's judgment. God is ruler of the nations, the sovereign and mighty King of creation, of all that was and is and will come to be in the course of human history. Josiah will ultimately prove to be a good king, but his reforms have not yet taken hold in wicked Judah. Zephaniah—a contemporary of Jeremiah, Nahum, and Habbakuk—lives in an unsettled time and must share an unsettling message.

READ:

ZEPH 3:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

Judah's leaders, prophets, and judges were guilty of violence and crime in Jerusalem. The people were led astray because they lacked godly wisdom and guidance. The leaders abused their power, killed innocent people, and stole their wealth. False prophets spoke of fanciful visions rather than God's true message. The judges did not seek justice, and the priests never bothered to teach God's law to the people. Virtually everyone in a leadership position was doing the complete opposite of their God-given responsibility.

EXPLORATION POINT

Isaiah, Nahum, Habakkuk, and Zephaniah all spoke of judgment and of hope. They told the people that God's judgment was inevitable but that judgment would not be the end. The people and their nation would not disappear. God would restore his people; he would bring them back to their land and rebuild the nation. He would give them hope and a future. In Judah, King Josiah's obedience to God was a rest stop in the southern kingdom's long-term decline. The prophets Jeremiah, Isaiah, and Zephaniah had pointed out the nation's sins and encouraged God's people to change. But the people had disobeyed God's law for too long; they had to be held accountable for their deeds. In the final twenty years of Judah's history as a kingdom, a quick succession of evil kings, including Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim, propel it toward its ultimate demise.

2KGS 23:31–24:7

OBSERVATION POINT

In the ancient Near East, people would change their names to reflect a great life event. Abram, Sarai, Jacob, and Joseph all had their names changed for this reason. Similarly, conquering rulers often changed the names of captives to demonstrate their power and control over them. They chose names that would irritate the captive peoples. Thus, the king of Egypt changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim; King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon changed Mattaniah's name to Zedekiah; and Daniel's and his friends' names were changed when they were captives in Babylon.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's patience had run out. His people had consistently disobeyed his law, worshiped idols, tolerated greed, and overlooked injustice. The new kings appointed by foreign rulers were mere figureheads and did not correct the judges or priests. Evil controlled everything. Decline was inevitable. Today, God's Spirit empowers each of us to know right from wrong. When we see injustice, corruption, or abuse of power, we have the capacity to speak up and fight for change. That is our responsibility as citizens of our nation and as members of God's Kingdom.

During the reign of King Jehoiakim, Jeremiah preaches God's message through various symbolic demonstrations. His methods, however, do not make him popular, especially with Jehoiakim and the other leaders of Judah. They intentionally find ways to make his life miserable. The people do not want to listen; they're content to live in their customary evil ways. Yet Jeremiah continues to preach.

READ:

JER 18:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

The visit to the potter was a symbol of what God was about to do. God (the potter) decided how to mold the people (the jar). Since the jar did not meet the potter's standards, he destroyed it and started over. God had provided the people with his Book of Instructions (the law). Having failed to follow the instructions, Judah faced judgment. God was going to destroy the nation and start over.

EXPLORATION POINT

Sometimes we're as guilty as the people of Judah who didn't want to hear the truth. We flock to preaching that satisfies us and makes us feel good; we shun preaching that reveals God's truth, holds us accountable for our actions, and leaves us uncomfortable. God's truth and our accountability to it may hurt, but it is our responsibility to listen and to analyze our motives, actions, and responses.

But Jeremiah shares good news too: God's anger won't last forever. Judah will be restored, and the nations who have violated Judah will be punished.

JER 25:1-38

OBSERVATION POINT

Many of the nations listed here had opposed God's people at one time or another in their history. The king of Egypt had invaded during Jehoahaz's reign, changed the replacement king's name, and demanded high payments for tribute. The Philistines had been Judah's enemy for hundreds of years—since the time of the judges. Edom, Moab, and Ammon had been enemies since the Israelites traveled to the Promised Land. All of these nations would be conquered by the Babylonians and absorbed into the huge Babylonian Empire.

EXPLORATION POINT

People think God is angry and wrathful because of passages like this one. But the point here is that God is really a God of justice. God will not tolerate wartime atrocities, lawlessness, and the conceit of rulers who glory in their own power. He is the Creator and Sovereign Ruler of the universe who has the right and the power to judge all that he has created. No injustice will go unpunished. They listen to his message, but their response is not repentance and obedience. Instead, they form an angry mob.

JER 26:1-24

213 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

City gateways were places for officials to hold court hearings, sign legal documents, and negotiate agreements. These gateways were double gates in the city walls (which were six to ten feet thick) and resembled a short tunnel. The city elders would gather in the gateway to offer their years of wisdom to the officials and recall history. In this busy thoroughfare, the crowds could also voice their opinions and help enforce the final decision.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jeremiah's proclamation of the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple put him in direct conflict with the crowd. No one wanted bad news or to hear that they needed to repent. They took Jeremiah's decree not as the word of the Lord but as a threat from a political troublemaker. Even today we bristle at those who challenge our cultural norms. But we need to listen closely and consider that the directive or discipline could be from God.

KING JEHOIAKIM BURNS THE SCROLL

Jeremiah's entire ministry has been spoken out loud in the Temple courts. Now God wanted a written account of all that he has said through Jeremiah. It is easy for leaders to ignore or silence the verbal ramblings of a prophet; it is harder to ignore those same words written out and recorded for future generations. Once the words are recorded, there is no excuse for not knowing about God's anger and coming judgment.

JER 36:1-32

OBSERVATION POINT

Baruch, Jeremiah's scribe, wrote God's words down with ink on a papyrus scroll. We know the scroll was made of papyrus because the king cut it up and threw it into a fire. A leather scroll is difficult to cut and would give off a terrible stench. The ink Baruch used was probably made by mixing the black carbon from soot or the leavings of oil lamps with oil or a gum substance from trees or animals. This is the only time that ink is mentioned in the Old Testament.

EXPLORATION POINT

King Jehoiakim completely misjudged the importance of the scroll.

He thought it just contained the rantings of old Jeremiah, but it was really the words of the Lord. Destroying the scroll did not stamp out God's word. The second scroll endured for generations and its contents are readable today. The king did not have the power or authority to stop God and his message. Habakkuk is disgusted with Judah's behavior and wants to know what God is going to do about it. When told, he is appalled by the answer. His own views about the way God should interact with the world are challenged significantly.

HAB 1:1–2:20

OBSERVATION POINT

The language of nets and hooks that Habakkuk uses in this section is a creative mix of literal and metaphorical language. We know from the literature and art of the time that the Assyrians sometimes used literal hooks inserted through the lip or nose of captured people to lead them away from their homeland into exile. The language of fishnets is probably intended to suggest the utter helplessness of God's people as they are caught up in the overpowering force of a conquering army.

EXPLORATION POINT

Everything is under God's control. He may use one nation's power to punish another, but in the end no person or nation will escape God's attention and judgment. We may not always understand what God is doing, but we can be sure of one thing and take comfort in it: Our loving and compassionate God is in control. He closes with a great profession of his faith in the Lord, recognizing that he can rest in God's plan for the world rather than expecting things to happen a certain way.

HAB 3:1-19

OBSERVATION POINT

In verses 8-15, Habakkuk draws from the history of God's people, focusing on some of God's miracles. He makes references to one of the ten plagues in Egypt, when God turned river water into blood; to God's parting of the Red Sea so the people could cross on dry ground; and to the sun standing still during the Israelites' battle with the Amorites, which was one of their first conflicts after entering the Promised Land.

EXPLORATION POINT

Habakkuk makes a beautiful statement of faith at the end of this chapter. He clearly states that even if all that makes his society prosperous—fig and olive trees, grapes and wheat, flocks and cattle—disappear, he will still praise the Lord and be joyful. It is good to praise God for the blessings he gives us, but ultimately we should praise him because he is our loving God who created, cares for, and saves us.

After bringing them back to Babylon, he indoctrinates them in the ways of his nation. Four young men—Daniel and his three friends—are among this first group of captives.

DAN 1:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

Daniel and his friends were selected for an elite and rigorous education. Babylonian literature was a vast collection of wisdom writings, mythological stories, magic chants, legal documents, ancient histories, letters, dream and vision records, mathematical books, and astrology charts. Many Babylonian records, such as contracts, inscriptions, and the Babylonian Chronicles, have been discovered and are available to historians today.

When the usual court attendants can't satisfy the king's request for an interpretation of his dreams, chaos threatens the royal court. Before the king slaughters all his wise men, Daniel hears of the problem and comes to everyone's rescue.

DAN 2:1-49

OBSERVATION POINT

While most of the Old Testament is written in Hebrew, Daniel 2–7 and parts of the book of Ezra were written in Aramaic. The Babylonian and Persian empires, because they encompassed so many smaller cultural and linguistic communities, utilized Aramaic as a common language for commercial and official communication. It eventually replaced Hebrew as the main language for exiled Jews.

Nebuchadnezzar's vision offers a panoramic view of history, showing God's sovereignty. When we get preoccupied by our narrow section of time, fretting over our purpose in the world, we can find peace and comfort in remembering that God is in control at all times, working his plan moment by moment. He demands that everyone in the kingdom bow down whenever they hear the royal musical interlude. But Daniel's friends, now called Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, remain true to God and refuse to worship the idol.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Nebuchadnezzar's statue was tall and slender, perhaps similar to the Egyptian obelisks that recorded the accomplishments of a ruler. The 10-to-1 ratio of height (90 feet) to width (9 feet) would not create a human shape, so an obelisk is possible. It may also have been a human form raised up on a high pedestal. Either way, the image was huge and impressive: as tall as an eight-story building and overlaid with gold!

EXPLORATION POINT

Daniel's friends were singled out for not bowing down to the image while thousands of other officials obliged. Their courage and faithfulness to God is commendable. Obeying God was important to them; they were willing to die rather than disobey the King of the universe. Sometimes we are tempted to go along with the crowd or follow a trend that violates our faith and values. We need to slow down and evaluate the situation in light of what we believe.

Conditions get worse as King Nebuchadnezzar lays siege to the city of Jerusalem.

2KGS 24:8-17

OBSERVATION POINT

Nebuchadnezzar took about 10,000 people captive from the city of Jerusalem. This was his second round of deporting people from the city. The first group, consisting of royalty and the educated, was led away to Babylon about eight years earlier. This time he captured commanders and soldiers, craftsmen and artists. Shortly after this event, God sends Jeremiah a vision about good figs and bad figs to help explain the situation.

READ:

JER 24:1-10

OBSERVATION POINT

Around this time, the groups of deported Israelites living in Babylon took on the name “Jews.” The Jewish community in Babylon was still under God’s covenant, but they lived in exile. The people in exile and those still in Jerusalem had conflicting views of which group was blessed and which was rejected by God. Jeremiah’s vision helped clarify that issue.

EXPLORATION POINT

God’s thinking can be completely opposite from human thinking. He revealed this to Jeremiah in the vision of the figs. What appeared to be a blessing—living at home in Jerusalem—was a curse. What appeared to be a curse—exile and captivity in a foreign land—was a blessing and a guarantee of hope for the future. God creates a future using those whom the world classifies as useless and without value.

Ezekiel is in Babylon living with the people who have been captured and taken into exile. Although the two prophets are in different places, they both receive visions from God that contain important messages for God's people.

EZEK 1:1–28; 10

OBSERVATION POINT

Ezekiel was taken to Babylon in 597 BC, during the second major deportation of people from Judah. After being in captivity for five years, Ezekiel received a call to be a prophet. Ezekiel was from a priestly family; if he had been back in his homeland he probably would have served in the Temple. God used him instead to preach to the Jews who lived far from home.

EXPLORATION POINT

God did not need the Temple or the homeland of Judah; he was in all places at all times. Because the sinful Jews had taken on the pagan belief that gods were confined to a worship area or a piece of land, God needed to clarify that he was everywhere—in the foreign land with the exiles, in Jerusalem with their loved ones, and in every place in between.

His symbolic acts reflect only a fraction of the suffering going on back in his homeland of Judah, but they are a steady reminder to the Jews who are already in exile that they are living under judgment for their national sins.

EZEK 4:1–5:17

OBSERVATION POINT

Ezekiel's outlandish actions were vivid object lessons that reinforced his messages from God. He acted out what was happening to the people back in Jerusalem, hundreds of miles away. These play-acts seemed as ridiculous to the people then as they would be to us today. But Ezekiel's behavior got everyone's attention even if they didn't care to listen. What Ezekiel said and did probably caused plenty of discussion among the exiles.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people were exiled in Babylon because they had broken their covenant with God. At Mount Sinai, God had clearly told his people the rules of the covenant. The Israelites didn't uphold their end of the agreement; they forgot about the God who cared for and loved them, worshiping local idols instead. In an earlier vision, Ezekiel witnessed a profound desecration of God's holy place in Jerusalem. He saw idols in the Temple sanctuary and people openly worshiping the sun in the Temple courtyard. This blatant idol worship infuriated the Lord. Ezekiel's next vision is equally shocking. It reveals that God will abandon his Temple by withdrawing his presence from that holy place.

EZEK 10:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

The Ark of the Covenant, located in the Most Holy Place of the Temple, was protected by two large statues that represented winged angelic creatures called cherubim. Ezekiel's vision gives us a fantastic, detailed description of these spectacular creatures that guard the Ark. They had four faces, four wings, four hands, and were completely covered in eyes! Strange and spectacular creatures indeed.

EXPLORATION POINT

Throughout the Exodus and the wanderings in the desert, God was present in a cloud by day and in a fiery pillar at night. When the Tabernacle was completed, his presence was visible as a cloud that hovered over the tent. After Solomon completed the Temple, God's glory filled the building in a cloud (1 Kings 8:11). THE LORD'S GLORY LEAVES THE TEMPLE

SIGNS OF THE COMING EXILE

When God sends Ezekiel another set of instructions for his next message, Ezekiel's still in Babylon with the exiles. Back in Jerusalem, Zedekiah is king. The Babylonians have again invaded Judah, overrunning most of the Judean countryside and the towns outside Jerusalem. The army is closing in on the capital city. The end is near, and Ezekiel acts it out for all to see.

READ:

EZEK 12:1-28

225 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

God's commands to Ezekiel to tremble while he ate and to shake while he drank were indications of what the people in Jerusalem were feeling. They suffered tremendous anxiety and fear as the Babylonians tightened their siege on the city and threatened total destruction. The messages God gave Ezekiel all were fulfilled exactly as God said.

EXPLORATION POINT

Exile was not what God wanted for his people. He had planned for them to live in a land of plenty and to have peace, prosperity, and harmony—if they loved him and kept his commandments. While the nation had periods of devotion and obedience to God under great spiritual leaders, their tendency to embrace local religions eventually displaced loyalty to God. God had promised life if they stayed faithful; he had promised punishment if they strayed. God was faithful to his promise.

For the third time, the Babylonian army invades the nation of Judah and heads straight toward Jerusalem. King Zedekiah realizes that maybe everything Jeremiah has been telling him is going to come true. The king's men ask Jeremiah to intercede with God for them. They expect that Jeremiah's influence with the Almighty will save everyone at the last moment. They still expect God to graciously and miraculously save the city. Jeremiah has surprising news for them.

READ:

JER 21:1-14

226 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The “mighty miracle” that is referred to here is God’s defeat of the Assyrian army during the reign of King Hezekiah—an angel saved Jerusalem by killing 185,000 Assyrian soldiers in the middle of the night. But there was a big difference between that situation and this one: Hezekiah himself prayed to God, and he believed that God could save his people. King Zedekiah had no such belief and thought that others could manipulate God into doing some magic.

EXPLORATION POINT

God offered one last chance for salvation to the people in Jerusalem. That choice, however, required amazing trust in God because his command was to surrender to the enemy. God’s command made no sense, but he was in complete control. Only a few followed his instructions. They were taken captive, but at least they were alive to hope for a better future. Putting ourselves completely in God’s hands and being obedient to him no matter what the circumstances will ensure the best possible outcome.

Jeremiah has been a tireless preacher, but several times God has called on him to physically act out his prophecies rather than simply to deliver a speech. This time, God instructs Jeremiah to actually wear a heavy wooden yoke while he proclaims his message of judgment on Judah and on five countries in the surrounding area. The prop is sure to get everyone's attention.

JER 27:1-22

227 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

When a prophet foretold doom, kings looked everywhere for a second opinion. False prophets made predictions on behalf of the idols. Fortune-tellers claimed to discern the future by examining animal livers or viewing the stars. Interpreters of dreams told what dreams meant for future events. Mediums believed they could talk to the dead, and sorcerers recited incantations as curses or blessings. But none of them had any clue as to what was going to happen.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had not given up on his people. He tried again to get their attention by making Jeremiah wear a yoke as a symbol of the Babylonians' control over Israel. God speaks today through pastors, teachers, mentors, and friends. God may not require them to be as dramatic as Jeremiah or to incorporate grandiose gestures into their messages, but hopefully we are more receptive to their words of wisdom than the people of Judah were to Jeremiah. God still speaks.

RACHEL'S SADNESS TURNS TO JOY

Through years of ministry, Jeremiah hounds God's people with messages of doom, despair, and destruction. As long as he believes there is a way to make the people repent, he warns them. Once Babylon begins to take the people away into exile, God tells Jeremiah to share a different message with the people. The Lord's message reassures them that the future holds peace and hope after judgment.

JER 31:1-40

OBSERVATION POINT

God made a major covenant with his chosen people at Mount Sinai. Each generation had to teach their children the instructions that accompanied those old covenant promises (Deuteronomy 6:4-9). But God's new covenant with his restored people (those who returned to Jerusalem after the Exile) would be different: God would write his instructions on the people's hearts. Everyone would know the Lord, but this isn't simply a matter of facts and theology. It is a vibrant internal relationship.

EXPLORATION POINT

After all the warnings and the words of doom and destruction, God's love for his people shines through. Once again we see that God does not leave his people trampled by despair. He lifts them up and promises them a future of hope, restoration, peace, and happiness. Whenever we feel discouraged or depressed, we should turn to God for assurance that after a time of difficulty, trial, and instruction, God will rejuvenate us and restore peace and joy to our lives.

Jeremiah's lifestyle itself is a part of his various messages to the people of Judah. He actually purchases a piece of property to show the people that he truly believes God will do exactly as he says. He knows that God will bring the people back from Babylon to the area where they currently live. Although things look bleak now, someday that land will be valuable again.

JER 32:1-25

229 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Jeremiah's cousin Hanamel asked him to buy a field that was part of the family land in the town of Anathoth. He was following the law of Moses, which stated that a family member had to buy a piece of property for sale by a relative to ensure that the land stayed in the family (Leviticus 25:25-28). This was a bizarre thing for Jeremiah to do, since the land was already under the control of the Babylonians.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jeremiah put his money where his mouth was. He had declared over and over again that God promised a life back home for the exiles after their stay in Babylon. This purchase of a field demonstrated Jeremiah's faith in God's words. It can sometimes be difficult to believe that God will fulfill his seemingly impossible promises, but like Jeremiah, we need to trust him—and act accordingly.

Time is running out. After two previous invasions, the Babylonians once more swarm over the Judean countryside, capturing cities just a few miles away from Jerusalem. All that Jeremiah predicted is about to come true. No last-minute miracle is going to take place. The fate of the people and Jerusalem is sealed. Jeremiah delivers a message to King Zedekiah with some bad news and some good news.

JER 34:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

The Lord promised to protect King Zedekiah during the Babylonian attack, siege, and plunder of Jerusalem. This was a soothing promise for the king to cling to as the enemy invaded; however, significant details about his future were missing. The king did die peacefully, but he was first captured and tortured by the Babylonians, then dragged into exile (see 39:5-7).

EXPLORATION POINT

The judgment of Judah was set. The Babylonians were making a clean sweep through the nation. Yet God was compassionate to the one who sat on David's throne. He sent a message of hope saying that the king would experience a peaceful death. God will never leave his children in total despair. He provides a glimmer of hope that will sustain us through our most difficult times.

The Babylonian army backs out of Judah's territory to confront the Egyptians. There is a temporary calm, but Jeremiah tells Zedekiah this is only a short reprieve and that the Babylonians will eventually triumph. This is not what the king wants to hear, and Jeremiah is punished.

JER 37:11388283

OBSERVATION POINT

Cisterns, like the one Jeremiah was thrown into, were used to collect rainwater during the winter rainy season for use in the dry months (May through September). The cistern was empty of water, but was still wet enough to have deep mud at the bottom. The officials who threw Jeremiah in were intent on killing him by starvation or suffocation if he slowly sank deeper into the mud. Although Jeremiah was saved from the depths of the cistern, he stayed in prison until the fall of Jerusalem.

EXPLORATION POINT

Judah's king and officials wanted Jeremiah to tell them about their future, but when they didn't like what they heard, they punished Jeremiah. God was speaking, but no one was listening. Too often we don't want to listen to wise and godly words of advice, direction, or correction. When we challenge God to speak to us, perhaps we need only to listen more closely to those around us.

The final kings of Judah—Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah—are mere puppets in the hands of invaders. Egyptian and Babylonian rulers subjugate the kings until Nebuchadnezzar destroys Jerusalem in 587 BC. Over twenty years, encompassing the reigns of Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, and Zedekiah, Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon invades Jerusalem three times and carries off the city's elite, educated, and influential people. The third time, his army burns and utterly destroys the great city. The kingdom of Judah is dead.

2CHR 36:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

At Mount Sinai, God prescribed a time of rest, called a Sabbath year, for people and for the land (Leviticus 25:1-12). Every seventh year, the people were to let the land rest, eating only what the uncultivated vineyards and fields happened to produce. However, the people never observed this law for all the years they lived in the Promised Land. Now that they were going into exile, the land at last would have its long-overdue Sabbath rest. For the next seventy years, the land would be at peace, undergoing restoration and renewal.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people who were carted off to Babylon considered exile the worst punishment of all. They felt alone and deserted by God. But God had not left his people. Speaking through his prophet Ezekiel, God promised them a future hope. After a time of discipline and exile, he would bring his people back to their land and restore Israel's former glory. Today God still promises a future of hope. He assures us of light and hope for the future no matter what difficulty, pain, or suffering we currently face.

God has sent prophets to plead with them to turn back to the Lord. He has sent foreign invaders who wage war on Judah, even taking the people into captivity, but those hints of coming judgment do not change anything. Now the nation of Judah is scattered and its capital city, Jerusalem, is destroyed.

READ:

JER 52:1-30

2 Kings 24:18-25:26

OBSERVATION POINT

The Babylonian siege made the residents of Jerusalem prisoners in their own city. The Babylonians captured and cut off all roads, and food and supplies ceased to arrive in the city. The enemy would normally have cut off all sources of water into the city as well, but King Hezekiah had previously secured the water supply from the Gihon Spring. The siege began on January 15, 588 BC, and ended July 18, 586 BC, two and a half years later, when the Babylonians' battering rams broke down a section of the city wall.

EXPLORATION POINT

Time was up, and God's patience had run out. He had to restore justice. The people suffered the consequences of disobedience exactly as God had told Moses and recorded in the Book of Instructions. But God's covenant with David remained intact. David's kingdom would not end; a remnant would endure. The nation was destroyed, but God gave his people hope through the words of his prophets. Jeremiah the prophet, who wrote Lamentations, is one of these few survivors who remain. He weeps as he views the smoldering ruins of God's holy city.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Every year the Israelites celebrated seven major festivals: Passover; First Harvest; the Festivals of Unleavened Bread, Harvest, Trumpets, and Shelters; and the Day of Atonement. The priests were the primary officials overseeing all the festivities. Since the Temple was now in ruins, the priests no longer had any purpose. They were jobless and destitute like so many others.

EXPLORATION POINT

In Lamentations 1:22, the destroyed Jerusalem (personified as a woman weeping over the suffering caused by sin) offers a prayer to God for justice. God's justice is orderly. His promise of forgiveness is sure, but he must punish, cleanse, and refine his people before he can restore them and their city. God's forgiveness blots out our sins but not all the consequences of our actions.

He asks God to have mercy on the people and restore the joy they once had.

LAM 5:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

The phrase “hanged by their thumbs” alludes to Babylonian war atrocities. Impaling captives on stakes was the standard method of execution at this time in history. The victors also tortured Judah’s leaders, and sadistic soldiers raped the women. Many people were slaughtered, most were exiled, and a few were left to struggle for survival in a land with no food, no shelter, and little protection.

PS 137:1-9

OBSERVATION POINT

The nations of Edom and Israel had been rivals ever since their origins, when Esau and Jacob were rivals. When the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem, the Edomites rejoiced while the city burned and encouraged the Babylonians in their ruthless destruction. This psalm was a cry to God for retaliation.

After the fall of Jerusalem, the prophet Obadiah preaches a message of judgment on the nation of Edom. The Edomites had been an enemy of the Israelites since the time of Israel's early journeys in the wilderness. The king of Edom had refused to allow Moses and the Israelites to travel through his country on their way to the Promised Land.

OBAD 1:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

The nation of Edom was descended from Jacob's twin brother Esau, and it was an obvious rival to the nation of Israel. During the reign of Jehoram, the Edomites, who were subjects to Judah, rebelled and declared independence. When the Babylonians later attacked Jerusalem, the Edomites sided with them. Later, Edom was destroyed by invaders, just as Obadiah predicted.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is Lord of all. Every nation in the world belongs to him and is under his control. They are subject to his judgment whether or not they acknowledge him. The Edomites were a proud people who felt secure in their homes high on the cliffs of their nation. EZEKIEL AS ISRAEL'S WATCHMAN

The Babylonian army captured and destroyed Jerusalem in the summer of 586 BC. It takes months for the news to reach the exiles already living in Jewish towns throughout the Babylonian Empire. Some of the exiles have been living in enemy territory for twelve years, but they still don't understand what is going on. God gives Ezekiel another message to preach to the people to help them recognize their sin and ask for forgiveness.

OBSERVATION POINT

The watchmen of a city would announce the approach of an enemy or any other threat. They were positioned at the city gates, on the city walls, or in towers built just for this purpose. They also patrolled the city streets at night, and at harvest time they would guard the fields and vineyards. As soon as they spotted danger in the distance, the watchmen would sound the alarm—usually a loud blast on a ram's horn.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Jews didn't understand God's anger. They didn't see a reason for their loss. They didn't repent, they didn't change, and they didn't think it was their fault. They blamed God for being unjust and for allowing a wicked nation to overrun their way of life. They discussed Ezekiel's message as if he were an eccentric new lecturer in town, not the spokesman of God himself. God assured Ezekiel that the people would eventually get the message and know that he was God's messenger.

God's plan was to love and be in relationship with his people. He had promised Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob that he would bless them and their descendants. He had promised David that his kingdom would never end. But the kingdom of Judah has been devastated. Only a small group remains faithful while in exile. The big story appears to be in jeopardy. But it is not over. Ezekiel gives hope to the Jewish exiles in Babylon through a strange vision of bones. This vision reveals a promising future, the next chapter in the big story: a new life, a new people, and a new unified nation.

EZEK 37:1-14

OBSERVATION POINT

Dry bones and skeletons are usually considered creepy. Stories of skeletons never seem to end well. This one is different because God is in control of it all. Ezekiel's vision describes a two-stage resurrection. First, flesh appears and covers the dried-out bones. But bones and flesh are still lacking: They need the breath, or Spirit, of the Lord in them to be fully restored. By the end of the story, the dried-out bones have come to life!

EXPLORATION POINT

God was about to do something amazing. He was going to restore the dead, dried-up, disillusioned group of exiles into a lively, Spirit-filled people. Just as he had saved his chosen people from the "death" of slavery in Egypt and had given them a new identity and life in the Promised Land, so now he would restore the exiles to a new life in their homeland. He would renew their strength and revive their spirits. God promises that renewal and restoration will come after exodus or exile. It did for God's chosen people; it will for us too.

Although God's glory had departed from Jerusalem in judgment, God would return and bring great hope.

READ:

EZEK 43:1-12

240 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Ezekiel had been in exile for twenty-five years when he had his Temple vision. The four chapters dedicated to the grand dimensions and details served two purposes: (1) God's people would be ashamed of their sins, which had caused the destruction of the first Temple; and (2) the people would be motivated to return to God and go home to rebuild the new Temple. The total area dedicated to the Temple and priests was 28 square miles—18,000 acres!

EXPLORATION POINT

The Jews returned to their homeland and rebuilt the Temple in Jerusalem, but not to the grand specifications recorded in Ezekiel. Some believe that the Temple in Ezekiel's vision is the great Temple that will be filled with God's glory as Christ sits on the throne during his thousand-year reign on earth. Others see the Ezekiel's grandiose language being fulfilled theologically in the person of Jesus, who extends the presence of God on earth beyond any physical boundaries.

DAN 4:1-37

241 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Nebuchadnezzar was struck with a mental illness called boanthropy, in which a person believes himself to be an ox or cow. This illness, though rare, has been observed in individuals in modern times as well. Nebuchadnezzar lived outside the city like an animal for seven years. Historical records of the king's affairs are void of any entries from 582 to 575 BC, suggesting that this event did take place. God used the illness to make Nebuchadnezzar acknowledge that the Lord Almighty was sovereign over all kingdoms of the world.

EXPLORATION POINT

God rules the world. He builds kingdoms, "gives them to anyone he chooses," and destroys them according to his timing. No power; no president, dictator, or terrorist; no war machine or nuclear armament is outside of God's control. God's presence and control permeates every level of society and government. Nebuchadnezzar ruled the Babylonian Empire for forty-two years. After his death the empire endured years of turmoil, murder, and deterioration, with four different kings in less than a decade. The empire finally enjoyed some internal peace under Nabonidus and his son, Belshazzar. Belshazzar ruled over the province of Babylon while his father, who was king of the entire empire, was living in Arabia. These events occur on the evening of October 12, 539 BC, when Daniel was about eighty years old.

DAN 5:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

At the time of this banquet, the city of Babylon was under siege by the army of the Persian Empire. Belshazzar had stored plenty of supplies inside the city and felt confident that the massive walls of Babylon would keep the enemy out. He was able to control his fear of the invading army, but he could not hide his terror when the mysterious hand of God wrote on the wall. God was able to accomplish in four written words what an entire army could not do.

EXPLORATION POINT

Belshazzar repeated the mistakes Nebuchadnezzar made. He did not acknowledge that God was the ruler of the universe, and he did not humble himself before the Lord. God gives gifts to every human—life, talents, and abilities—and therefore nothing we are or do is outside of God's authority. Daniel, a teenage prince of Judah, was taken into captivity to the city of Babylon where he became a great leader. Many years passed. Daniel is now an old man. The Persian Empire has swallowed the Babylonian Empire, and a new ruler, Darius, is in control of the province of Babylon.

READ:

DAN 6:1-28

OBSERVATION POINT

In biblical times, lions inhabited Asia Minor, Syria, Mesopotamia, and Persia. Asian lions differed from their African counterparts in that they were smaller and had thicker coats and thinner manes. Lions were often trophies of kings and nobles, who kept them in captivity or used them in executions of political prisoners. Lions became extinct in the Middle East hundreds of years ago, but they could still be found in the area around the Euphrates River until the 1800s AD.

EXPLORATION POINT

What happened to Daniel was simple: He was set up. The officials were jealous of this Jewish immigrant who had risen to a high government position, and they were out for revenge. Daniel had climbed the royal ranks, adjusting to the changes of three administrations, but he had never altered his stance with God. Daniel remained firm in his faith, and God always protected him. The final chapter of Daniel begins in the middle of an ongoing vision concerning the very end of time.

DAN 10:1–11:1; 12:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

God is described as keeping many books throughout the Bible. Daniel mentions books three times (7:10; 10:21; 12:1). These books contain God's plans (Psalm 139:16), people's sufferings (Psalm 56:8), the names of the righteous (Exodus 32:32-33; Psalm 69:28; Malachi 3:16-18; Revelation 20:15), and even deeds that require judgment (Revelation 20:12-14). We can be sure that God knows precisely what is happening in the world, especially as it pertains to his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Jewish exiles did not understand this prophecy, but they found comfort and hope in it. We have the privilege of reading this book after much of the prophecy has been fulfilled. WAITING FOR RESTORATION

When Israel and Judah were conquered by foreign empires, the people were exiled and scattered. Assyria obliterated Israel, and Babylon devastated Judah. Years of war and invasions have left the "land flowing with milk and honey" ravaged, scorched, and largely deserted. Jerusalem is now a pile of burned-out buildings and broken-down walls. God's holy Temple has been stripped of its beauty, ransacked of its treasures, torn down, and torched. Clusters of survivors live as best they can amid the devastation, the destroyed vineyards, and the overgrown pastureland.

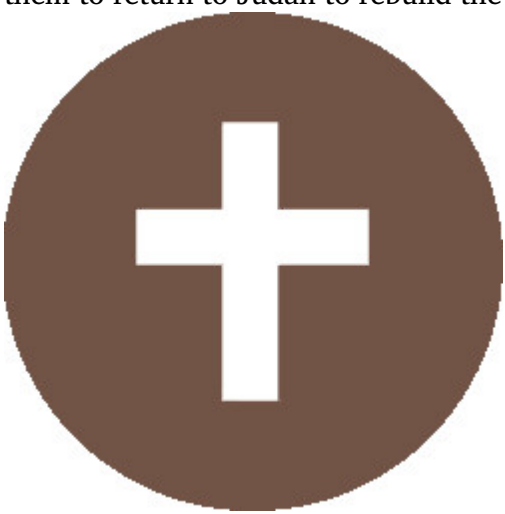
God has remained in control even as foreign empires destroyed the kingdoms of Israel and Judah. He proves his power by working miracles not just in Israel, but also in Babylon. He reveals his presence no longer in the Temple but by speaking through the prophets. He wants the people to know that he is still with them, even though they are far from their homeland. Through his prophets, God promises to protect, preserve, and bless his people even while they are in captivity.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

The Babylonian Empire is eventually overtaken by the Persians. Although they still exercise control over the entire region, the Persian kings tolerate many religions and desire to return people to their own homelands. In God's timing, a Persian king named Cyrus will rise to power, release the Jews from captivity, and encourage them to return to Judah to rebuild the Temple in Jerusalem.



JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

God's prophets provide words of hope to the people—hints that a savior is coming. A king of David's line will take the throne again. More than any other prophet, Isaiah promises the people that God will rescue Israel, but other prophets also describe a future hope. Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, Hosea, Micah, Zechariah, and Malachi promise a future for the exiles. The people are uncertain about who the prophesied savior-king will be and when he will come, but the prophets remind them that it is God in whom their hope rests. So they continue to wait for him—the promised one, Jesus.

OBSERVATION POINT

About 50,000 Jews, under the leadership of Sheshbazzar and Zerubbabel, journeyed west to Jerusalem. Most of the these Jews were from Jerusalem and the surrounding towns; very few priests and Levites responded to the opportunity. Many more people chose to remain in their adopted country. They had no interest in a four-month journey back to a dangerous area and a ruined city. The lists of the returning exiles in Ezra were an important record to verify who was an authentic Jew, worthy of a position in the reestablished society.

EXPLORATION POINT

God was true to his promise: A remnant of his chosen people returned to their homeland. Zerubbabel, from the family of King David, led the diminished group. Everyone was part of a new beginning—a new branch from the line of David. From this surviving group of exiles would come the Messiah, the King of kings! Throughout history, God has used the insignificant, the humble, and the weak to do great things. He continues to work through a wide variety of people, using their talents and limitations.

THE PEOPLE BEGIN TO REBUILD THE TEMPLE

The Jewish exiles who return to Judah go home to towns and villages scattered throughout the region. For some this means returning to Jerusalem, but many people only gather in the city occasionally for worship. They first rebuild the altar in the Temple courtyard to present sacrifices to God. Then they plan to start reconstructing the Temple. God was never far from his people even though they were far away from their land. His promise through the prophets to return the people to the land with new hope and new hearts is now being fulfilled.

EZRA 3:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

The exiles feared and shunned the “local residents,” the foreigners who were resettled in Israel (the northern kingdom) by the Assyrian king Esarhaddon after he conquered Israel in 722 BC. Some of these transplants moved south into Judah and Jerusalem during the seventy years that the Jews were in captivity. These foreign residents knew about God but only worshiped him along with their pagan deities. A pagan altar may have been located on the sacred spot of the original altar. If the people of Judah had to destroy it before rebuilding God’s altar, they might encounter retaliation.

EXPLORATION POINT

God graciously gave his people another opportunity to be his holy nation by bringing them back from captivity in Babylon. Once settled, the people rightly focused on God and on observing the law of Moses. Building an altar and then the Temple foundation testified to the fact that they had listened to the prophets during the Exile and had learned from the experiences of their ancestors. They were determined not to waste this opportunity to be restored.

A CALL TO REBUILD THE TEMPLE

Fifteen years after constructing the foundation for the Temple, the Jews, who returned from exile, still have not finished the building. In 520 BC God sends the prophets Haggai and Zechariah to encourage the people in Jerusalem in their work. Haggai points out the people's neglect of God and renews their enthusiasm for finishing the building project.

OBSERVATION POINT

Sometimes there is a direct correlation between everyday events and God's judgment or blessing. Haggai tells us that the drought that yielded a poor harvest was the direct result of God withholding his blessing on the people for their sinful behavior. The people had forgotten that curses as well as blessings were attached to God's covenant (Deuteronomy 28:22-24, 38-40). Haggai reminded them of these conditions of their agreement with God. When the people put God first, his blessings would return.

EXPLORATION POINT

Haggai's message is uncomfortably relevant to our circumstances today. We are so concerned about our own homes, comfort, and lifestyles that we neglect to put God first in our lives. God's prophets today are our preachers who remind us to shift our priorities and put God first. With God's purposes first in our lives, we won't lack anything we need.

OBSERVATION POINT

Myrtle trees grew in abundance in the Kidron Valley, which was located to the east and southeast of Jerusalem. These large, fragrant evergreen shrubs with dark shiny leaves and white flowers grew abundantly along rivers and streams. The branches, leaves, and berries from these trees were used for perfumes, medicine, and decoration. This prophetic messenger is coming from a place of symbolic abundance and peace.

EXPLORATION POINT

Zechariah's vision declares that God is in control of everything, including small nations and mighty empires. He guards and protects his chosen people and the city of Jerusalem. God was in control during the darkest period of Israel's history. God gave hope and, as we know, brought that hope into the world hundreds of years later with the coming of Jesus. He was faithful to his promises. He still is.

problems and personal distractions. The prophets Haggai and Zechariah not only renew the people's enthusiasm for the project but also renew their hearts, reviving their love for and devotion to God. Now the people are eager to complete their work of reconstructing God's Temple and restoring proper worship.

EZRA 6:1-22

OBSERVATION POINT

When the Persians conquered the Babylonian Empire, it was the king's practice to reestablish displaced people and their gods in their original homes. Darius, reading the decrees of Cyrus, proclaimed that the Persian government would provide everything the people needed to rebuild the Temple: daily food, construction materials, and animals for sacrifices. The king's motivation was simple—if he helped the relocated people, they would be loyal to him and would pray that whatever god they worshiped would grant long life to the king.

EXPLORATION POINT

What had seemed impossible to the Jews in Jerusalem—finding enough supplies and money to finish the Temple—became possible. Haggai's announcement that the Persian Empire would pay all the expenses for the Temple (Haggai 2:7) came true! God is a God of the impossible. He is always at work: He works through his own people who are faithful to him, and he works through kings and rulers who know nothing about him. He is a sovereign God with authority over the ways of the mighty and the lowly. Nothing is outside his ability or control.

During the seventy years of the Jews' captivity, the Babylonian Empire has been overtaken by the Persians. These powerful conquerors from the east destroyed Israel's dreaded enemies. The Persians firmly control all lands and peoples. While some Jewish exiles have returned to their homeland under Zerubbabel's leadership, others remain in cities throughout the empire. Esther, a Jewish orphan adopted by her cousin Mordecai, settles in Susa. Soon she, like Daniel, rises to a royal position, and she will help save the Jewish nation.

ESTH 1:1–2:23

OBSERVATION POINT

Seven major feasts are included in this story. The king gave a 180-day banquet that probably included strategic planning to invade Greece. At the same time, Queen Vashti gave a separate banquet for the women. Then the king held a seven-day banquet for the people in Susa. When Esther became queen, he honored her with a banquet and declared a holiday, meaning that he reduced taxes, freed slaves, canceled debts, and suspended requirements for military service. Esther gave two private banquets for the king. The story concludes with the national celebration—the Feast of Purim.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is never mentioned in this book, yet his presence and his control are clearly evident. This story has no coincidences; the events all fall under God's providence. God's sovereign will moves people into positions of power at just the right time. He works through cultural practices and political intrigue to bring about his will. God continues to protect and provide for us too, no matter our current circumstances. He is always in control of all things in heaven and on earth.

Immediately he relays the news to Esther, who informs the king. The plot is foiled, the guards killed, and the event recorded in the king's book. Meanwhile, the ambitious and ruthless Haman rises to prominence in Xerxes' royal court, and a confrontation with Mordecai sets an ominous plan in motion.

READ:

ESTH 3:1–4:17

OBSERVATION POINT

Some Bible translations use the word “hang” rather than “impale” in Esther, but the punishment of hanging was not practiced in biblical times. Impalement was a means of torture, a form of execution, or a method for displaying a corpse. A sharpened pole was thrust through the body and then erected for display. It was a common practice in ancient times to warn others of the consequence of a crime.

EXPLORATION POINT

The threat to the Jews was critical. If Haman got his way, God’s chosen people would be massacred, and the hope for restoration of the royal line of David would abruptly end. Since Persian edicts could not be reversed, the situation looked hopeless from a human point of view. Mordecai was certain that God would not allow his covenant people to be snuffed out; someone (if not Esther) would come to the rescue. He trusted that God could handle this impossible situation.

When the fast is over, Esther daringly enters the inner court of the king, even though it is a great risk. She hopes that King Xerxes will welcome her and allow her to speak. In light of the dangerous nature of her actions, her request of the king is surprisingly mundane: an invitation to dinner.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

The king was protected from any unwanted people and unpleasant news. No one in mourning was allowed past the outer gate of the palace, and an individual had to be summoned to come near the king. Although being queen offered Esther some authority and power, it did not grant her unfettered access to the king. Since Xerxes hadn't called to see her for a month, Esther had no idea where she stood with him. She was taking an enormous risk.

EXPLORATION POINT

God's hand is at work in all this court intrigue. These many “coincidences” are his work, not a random set of circumstances due to chance. Haman was full of himself, bragging to family and friends of his honorable position with the king. Then in one day Haman’s puffed-up pride was completely deflated. His dreams of glory gave way to a humiliating experience. Haman’s excessive pride exemplifies Proverbs 16:18: “Pride goes before destruction, and haughtiness before a fall.”

The servants in the room at this banquet obviously had been watching Haman's moves closely since they knew he had recently set up the sharpened pole. They were glad to follow through on the king's order to execute Haman since Haman's pompous acts and self-centered administration had created many enemies within the royal courts.

EXPLORATION POINT

Once again we see that God exalts the humble and weak (the Jews) and humbles the pompous and mighty (Haman). Ever since God selected Abraham to be the father of his chosen nation, he had been saving his people: from famine in Canaan, from slavery in Egypt, from starvation in the wilderness, from enemy nations in Canaan, and now from a plot of annihilation. ESTH 9:1–10:3

255 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The Festival of Purim was named after Haman's use of the purim (a method of casting lots) to determine the exact date of execution (March 7, 473 BC). The purim became symbolic of the fact that God is in control, even if people don't realize it. The festival was decreed by Esther and Mordecai and was added to the festivals already listed in the law of Moses. This celebration was and is commemorated annually with feasting, giving gifts, sharing with the poor, and giving thanks to God for salvation.

EXPLORATION POINT

God will do anything to preserve and protect his people. No law or nation can harm, kill, or capture God's chosen ones apart from his plan. God made it clear that he was in control, allowing Assyria and Babylon to capture his people and overrun their land. He allowed his people to fight for their lives against their enemies. God is sovereign over all that happens, both good and evil, in the past, the present, and the future.

This is a badge of honor for a Jewish person of this time period. It proves Ezra's identity as an authentic Israelite and provides authority to lead. As an important official to the Persian king, he visits Jerusalem in 458 BC.

READ:

EZRA 7:1-10; 8:15-36

OBSERVATION POINT

Ezra's group of 5,000 people traveled from Babylon to Jerusalem—almost 900 miles—in four months. A more direct route of only 500 miles was impossible since it went straight through the desert. Instead, Ezra's group went northwest along the Euphrates River, then south into Judah. The trip was slow because the group consisted of women, children, and the elderly. It was treacherous because robbers would be tempted by their gold and silver. God spared the group from other obstacles as well: sickness, danger in fording rivers, and wild-animal attacks.

EXPLORATION POINT

The preparation for the journey to Jerusalem consisted of physical, practical, and spiritual readiness. Ezra knew that even the best plans were insufficient; the group needed to rely on God for safe travels. He understood that power came from God working through his people. On our own, we are weak; supplied with God's power, we can accomplish great things. The group's practice of fasting and praying before a journey is an excellent example for us to follow.

NEHEMIAH'S CONCERN FOR JERUSALEM

While Ezra counsels the returned Jewish exiles in Jerusalem, Nehemiah remains in Susa serving King Artaxerxes of Persia as a cup-bearer. Although far away, Nehemiah is concerned about the Jews who have returned to their homeland. He is greatly disturbed by a report from Judah that Jerusalem is unprotected and vulnerable to attack. In 445 BC (thirteen years after Ezra's return to Jerusalem), Nehemiah receives the king's permission to return to his home country with another group of Jewish exiles. They are given instructions to rebuild Jerusalem's city wall.

READ:

NEH 1:1–2:10

OBSERVATION POINT

Nehemiah knew he would need large timbers to construct and fortify the gates of Jerusalem, so he asked the king for a letter to secure wood from the king's forest. Some scholars believe this refers to the great forests of Lebanon, known for tall cedars and evergreen trees. But it more likely referred to Solomon's gardens in Etham, six miles south of Jerusalem. Local oak, terebinth, or poplar wood would be used for constructing the city gates.

EXPLORATION POINT

Nehemiah appealed to God for help, knowing that only God could orchestrate the details needed to rebuild the wall around Jerusalem. Nehemiah used his position and power to move his plan forward, but he knew he needed more than the permission and influence of an earthly king to make progress. He prayed and humbly asked the King of heaven and earth to make his plans successful. We can accomplish very little on our own. We need to constantly rely on God.

REBUILDING THE WALL OF JERUSALEM

Just a few days after arriving in Jerusalem, Nehemiah secretly makes a circuit around the city. Under cover of darkness, he inspects the crumbled walls and studies the burned city gates. No one knows what he is planning or thinking about on this mysterious venture. In spite of various obstacles, he continues to make a plan for the walls' reconstruction.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Nehemiah relied on God to rebuild Jerusalem's wall. He prayed and planned; he recruited a variety of workers and organized them; he accepted various levels of involvement; and he recorded the names of the participants. God's amazing power was at work in the people; 42 groups of workers completed the immense project in 52 days. However, we are not sure how high and wide the new wall was, since Herod the Great's renovations in 20 BC obscured what was done in Nehemiah's time.

EXPLORATION POINT

The wall around Jerusalem was more than protection from enemies, robbers, and vagabonds; it held great religious, political, and social significance for the residents. The ruined walls were a constant reminder of past sins, God's wrath, and the punishment of exile. Rebuilding the wall would symbolically take away the shame of the past and identify the returned exiles as God's chosen ones. Today we don't need symbols like a strong city wall to assure us that God takes away our shame and forgives our sins. Jesus has taken away our sin and guilt once and for all.

Nehemiah addresses the civil needs of the city: He rebuilds the wall, registers the people, and increases the treasury. With Ezra's help, Nehemiah also addresses the spiritual needs of the people. Reading the law of Moses unifies the Jews in Jerusalem and starts a spiritual revival that transforms their society.

NEH 8:1-18

OBSERVATION POINT

The leaders set aside six hours for reading the Law because it was far more than a reading. Gathering in small groups, the people listened to the words in Hebrew first, then to a Levite who translated the Law into Aramaic, the common language acquired in Babylon. Jewish leaders eventually translated large portions of the Law from Hebrew into Aramaic so the people could read and study the Law in their own language.

EXPLORATION POINT

Ezra's reading of the Law changed everything. The people gathered in Jerusalem in the fall to celebrate the Festival of Trumpets, according to custom. But hearing God's law before and after the festival dramatically reminded them that God was central to their lives and their nation. Religious revivals throughout history have one thing in common: people reading and studying God's Holy Word. Now that the Jews have heard the exact words of the law of Moses, Nehemiah seizes the opportunity to provide instructions for living it out. Over the years, the people have forgotten many of the rules for living as a holy people in the presence of God. With their new awareness, they enthusiastically support the idea of following the law. But they soon realize that obedience will result in some unpleasant adjustments.

READ:

NEH 13:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Eliashib the priest had gotten lax about the laws of God and had done a favor for Tobiah, an enemy of the Jews. The priest allowed Tobiah to take over an area of the Temple, using valuable space allocated for Temple treasures, general storage, tithes to support the Levites, and gifts. An enemy was actually living in the house of God! He was violating sacred space. Once Nehemiah knew of the situation, he immediately took action and threw Tobiah out of the Temple.

EXPLORATION POINT

The returned exiles were falling into the same trap as their ancestors, including King Solomon—they married foreign women from among the enemies of the Jewish community. The outsiders worshiped other gods and merely included Israel's God with the rest. Nehemiah corrected this sin and reinstituted Sabbath observance, which also had been neglected. While an emphasis on rules can quickly become too legalistic, we should occasionally review how our lives measure up to the instructions God has given us for holy living.

When they returned, they found the prospects of settling back into their land and rebuilding Jerusalem to be daunting. Zechariah's message of a great king, a restored people, and lasting peace gives them hope for the future.

ZECH 9:9–10:12

OBSERVATION POINT

The description of a king riding on a donkey recalls the days of King David and foreshadows the coming Messiah. David and his sons would often ride a mule (2 Samuel 18:9; 1 Kings 1:33). The donkey contrasts sharply with the warhorses and chariots that characterized the power that other Israelite kings sought after (Zechariah 9:10). Jesus, the greatest King of all, fulfilled this prophecy when he entered Jerusalem at the Triumphal Entry.

EXPLORATION POINT

God had promised his people hope for the future and restoration for their land. Now that those promises had developed into reality, God gave his people another vision for the future—a king who would bring peace. Zechariah acknowledged the growing threat of the Greeks but reminded the Jews that the Lord would fight for his people to protect them. God does the same for us. OBSERVATION POINT

The Festival of Shelters was a seven-day festival during which the people gave thanks for the harvest and commemorated Israel's wandering in the wilderness. The Israelites had lived in tents (sukkot) as they traveled through the wilderness. Today, devout Jews commemorate this day by "dwelling in tents" outside their home. They build a sukkah for their community or family and eat at least one meal together in it to remember their agricultural roots and their ancestors' wandering in the wilderness.

EXPLORATION POINT

On the day of the Lord, the Lord will rule triumphantly and reverse all the suffering his people have experienced. Nations will provide gold and silver for the Lord's Temple (14:14), and Jerusalem will become a great and glorious city again. After the time of judgment, God will gather the nations for celebration and praise in Jerusalem. It is a testimony of God's compassion and care for his people, even when they have experienced hardships like a forced exile.

PS 121:1-8

OBSERVATION POINT

The people sang psalms on their pilgrimage to Jerusalem. They would have to look up and see the hills of Judea as they approached the city because Jerusalem itself was built on a series of hills, 2,500 feet above sea level. Once rebuilt, the Temple was at the highest point inside the city. Wide staircases led to the Temple courtyards that surrounded the sanctuary.

EXPLORATION POINT

The answer to the question “Where does our help come from?” is a statement of faith. A person’s reply to the question would indicate their faith in the Lord or their faith in the idols worshiped in the hills. This question challenges us as we contemplate the answer. Does our help come from our bank accounts, our power, our jobs, other people, or God? Other things are insignificant without God. He is the ultimate source of our help and strength.

They ignore the requirements of the law for sacrifices. Worship has become merely a mechanical ritual and obligation, and the people are cynical and disillusioned.

OBSERVATION POINT

God called his people to remember their roots—the very beginning of the covenant made with their ancestors Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. God chose Jacob to be the father of the twelve men whose descendants became the twelve tribes of Israel. In doing so, God rejected Jacob's brother Esau, whose descendants became the enemy nation of Edom.

EXPLORATION POINT

God has always loved his people, but his people have not always loved and respected him. In postexilic Jerusalem, the people were going through the motions of worship. But instead of bringing the best of their flocks and herds to offer to God, they were sacrificing sick and injured animals. BETWEEN THE TESTAMENTS: WAITING FOR THE MESSIAH
Since the beginning of time God has desired to have a relationship with his creation. He chose to share the joys of his created world with humans made in his likeness. He has been present with humans since he made them: He walked and talked with them in the Garden of Eden; appeared to them in dreams and visions; and revealed himself in clouds, a fiery pillar, and laws written in stone. He demonstrated his presence with them through the Tabernacle and the Ark of the Covenant. His Spirit worked through their leaders, judges, priests, prophets, and kings, who all represented him on earth. God's presence and blessing continued through the Exile as he protected his people.

At the end of the Old Testament, God's people have become a scattered people, living in Egypt, Judea, Syria, and Persia. In a world pervaded by Greek thought and culture, they preserve their own history and zealously fight for independence. For four hundred years, they hold faithfully to the messages of the prophets, the laws of Moses, and the rituals of the Temple. The Jews wait with great anticipation for God's promise to come true, for the great king of David's line to arrive.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

The whole Old Testament has prepared us for this moment. We are reaching a major turning point in the history of the world. Soon God will come to earth as a man. He will be Immanuel, which means "God with us." For thousands of years, the Tabernacle, the Temple, the priesthood, the prophets, and the kings all foreshadowed God's ultimate goal. Now he will physically be with his people. Jesus Christ will be born as a human.

But even as God's plans culminate in Jesus, many of the Jews who have been waiting for this very moment will completely disregard him as the king they have yearned for. They will miss the King of kings and Lord of lords who walks and talks with them during everyday tasks: working in the fields, raising families, baking bread, drawing water. Some will have their eyes opened and will believe that Jesus is the promised Messiah. Others will keep looking elsewhere, hoping for a powerful ruler who will liberate their people through military force.

JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

Very soon now, Jesus will come. After the end of the Old Testament era the Jewish people faced tumultuous times, being conquered and oppressed first by the Greeks and then by the Romans. They endured persecution and even rebelled against their oppressors for a time, but they still awaited the Messiah—the one God promised who would free them from tyranny and fulfill the righteous hopes of the people. Jesus will be that Messiah. But he will not be the warrior-king they're expecting, but rather a humble infant. Nonetheless, he will change the world. He will show the world who God is—nothing will ever be the same.

Thousands of years of waiting are about to end. In the big story, God promised to restore his relationship with his people. He continued to remind his people of his promise over and over again. Now it is about to be fulfilled in a matter of months. At first only a few individuals know what is coming. The angel Gabriel first brings great news to Elizabeth and Zechariah—they will have a son whose name will be John. Gabriel then visits Mary, declaring that she also will have a son, who will be called the Son of the Most High.

LUKE 1:5-56

OBSERVATION POINT

Although Mary was probably in her early teens, she revealed her maturity and faith in God through her song of praise. This psalm came to be known as the Magnificat, from the first word in the Latin translation of this passage. Some English translations render the opening line as “My soul magnifies the Lord,” reflecting this Latin root. This poem expresses Mary’s great joy at being chosen as the mother of the Messiah and celebrates God’s faithfulness and mercy to his people.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus’ conception was miraculous. We know no details of how this occurred, only that the power of the Most High came upon Mary and she became pregnant, carrying Jesus in her womb in an otherwise normal pregnancy. The Virgin Birth is a critical belief of the Christian faith. We believe that Jesus is completely human and yet fully God. Mary conceived and gave birth to the Son of God so that God could truly become one of us and restore his relationship with his people. The virgin birth remains a mystery in some ways, but there is no mystery about its importance.

explains everything and reveals how he should handle the situation.

MATT 1:18-25

OBSERVATION POINT

In Jewish society, an engagement was more than a pledge to be married. It actually required a legal process to terminate it, very similar to the requirements for a divorce. When Mary became pregnant, she would have been found guilty of adultery if Joseph had proceeded with a divorce. This could have resulted in Mary's death according to Jewish law (Deuteronomy 22:23-27).

EXPLORATION POINT

Joseph played an important role in the life of Mary's son. He was the boy's earthly father and the one who named him Jesus, thus accepting the baby as his own. His ancestry provided this child with a place in the royal line of David. Because he believed the message from the angel, Joseph lovingly supported Mary and her son.

The birth of John, the son of Elizabeth and Zechariah, is an occasion for celebration. Everyone rejoices with them for several reasons: It is their first child, it is a son, and the baby and mother are healthy. Elizabeth had thought that she was barren, so the blessing of a son in her old age is even more reason to praise God. This child will become a mighty prophet, preparing the way for the long-awaited Messiah.

READ:

LUKE 1:57-80

269 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Traditionally, a firstborn son was named after his father. Although Elizabeth announced that the child's name would be John, the people turned to Zechariah for his opinion. Since he had been stricken mute, Zechariah confirmed his son's name in writing. Zechariah's obedience to the angel Gabriel (see 1:13) confirmed his faith, and his voice was restored. The circumstances of John's birth and his unusual name gave the people throughout the region something to talk about!

EXPLORATION POINT

This story again shows that God is faithful to his promises and answers prayers. As a faithful priest, Zechariah probably prayed for the Messiah of Israel to come; as a faithful husband he would have prayed for a child for his family. Zechariah's song of praise explained the significance of John's birth and the role he would play in announcing the Lord's coming. In a few months another baby would be born: Jesus Christ, who would bring "light to those who sit in darkness."

Every event so far in the big story has been leading up to the greatest event in history. The moment that millions waited for is here. These people lived their entire lives waiting for God's promise to come true, but they died still hoping that the Promised One would come. Now the time is right for the birth of a King who will save the world. Yet there are no trumpets, no fanfares, no feasts to mark the occasion. The King of kings is born in an ordinary place when everyone is too busy to notice. Only some shepherds know that something special has occurred.

LUKE 2:1-52

OBSERVATION POINT

Natural and man-made caves are common in the Holy Land because of the deposits of limestone, chalk, and sandstone found in the hills of the region. These minerals are relatively soft, making it easy to enlarge existing caves and carve out new ones. Throughout biblical history, caves were used as living quarters for humans and animals, places of refuge during war, or final resting places for the dead. It is possible that the stable used for shelter for Mary, Joseph, and Jesus was a cave located behind the inn, used to shelter animals.

EXPLORATION POINT

Determined to restore his relationship with his creation and show his love for his people, God sent his Son to earth. Jesus Christ was the King of kings, but he did not enter on a charging white stallion or in a chariot preceded by a hundred foot soldiers. He came as a lowly, dependent infant. From these humble beginnings he grew to become part of the everyday world, building a relationship with others on love, not fear; on fellowship, not power.

While Mary and Joseph rejoice at the birth of a healthy son, wise men from a land far to the east of Judea begin a journey to meet the child who was born to be king of the Jews. These men have studied the stars, and they have seen a spectacular star in the sky that signifies the birth of a king. After a journey that lasts many months, these men arrive at the home of Joseph and Mary to worship King Jesus and present him with gifts.

MATT 2:1-23

OBSERVATION POINT

The star that attracted the wise men's attention and brought them to Bethlehem may have been a unique phenomenon, or it may have been a conjunction of planets in the constellation of Pisces, which occurred around 7 BC and would have given off the light and brightness of a great star. After the time of Christ, Pisces came to have a reputation among some astrologers as the constellation of the Jews.

EXPLORATION POINT

The wise men, who were from a far-off eastern country, acknowledged the greatness of Jesus. They knew this child was born a king and was already worthy of their worship and extravagant royal gifts: gold, frankincense, and myrrh. They were willing to travel hundreds of miles to kneel down and worship a baby who did not belong to their ethnic group, religion, or nationality. We should try to see the Christ child through the eyes of these wise men who worshiped the new king in wonder and awe.

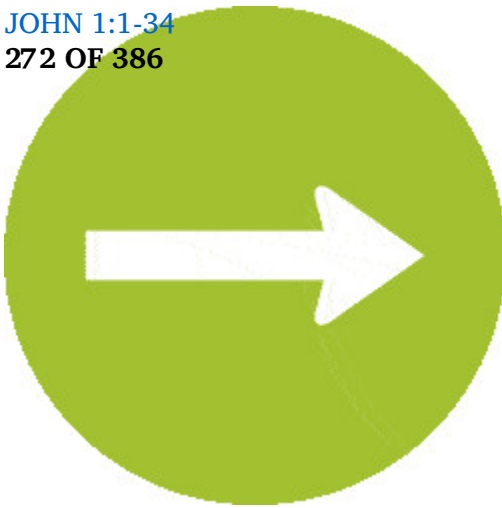
Jesus is the Word, giving light and life to everyone.

JOHN 1:1-34

272 OF 386



JOHN 1:1-34

144 OF 215

OBSERVATION POINT

Many Jews were stuck in a certain way of thinking. They wanted to force Jesus into their own preconceptions. For hundreds of years they had believed that the Messiah would bring political redemption as well as spiritual leadership to Israel. Many couldn't let go of their traditions to embrace the reality that Jesus was the Messiah. Their stubbornness made them miss the joys of seeing God's promise fulfilled and of having a relationship with the Son of God.

EXPLORATION POINT

Because Jesus is the Word and sent from the Father, he is fully divine and yet fully human. This concept is foundational to the Christian understanding of who Jesus is. He needed to be fully human to represent us. He needed to be fully divine in order to forgive our sins. Because he is both, he restores our relationship with God. Understanding this great mystery comes through faith. But it is important to know that Jesus was real—a real human who was rooted in a real time and a real place.

John lives a solitary life in the wilderness before he begins his ministry as a prophet. He calls the people to repent of their sins and turn back to God, just as the Old Testament prophets had done for the kingdoms of Israel and Judah long ago. He announces that the Lord is coming soon.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

John wore clothes made from coarse camel hair gathered around his waist with a leather belt. He survived by eating locusts and wild honey. His clothes were reminiscent of the garments that the prophet Elijah wore (2 Kings 1:8), and his practice of baptizing his followers may have originated with Old Testament purification rites (Leviticus 8:6).

EXPLORATION POINT

John's preaching and call to repentance prepared the hearts and minds of the Jews to believe that Jesus was the Messiah. Many Jews relied on their traditions and ancestry to save them. They needed time to change their thinking and prepare themselves for the way of salvation. Today the Holy Spirit does this preparatory work, opening people's hearts and minds to receive faith and to believe in Jesus and his holy Word.

In the big story, God spoke through the prophets, sometimes revealing details about the coming King of the Jews. In the birth of Jesus, many of those prophecies were fulfilled. Now, after living in a small town and working at Joseph's trade for about thirty years, the King steps out into the world to begin the work he has been sent from God to do. Jesus is ready to preach, teach, heal, and declare the good news—God is present with his people!

MATT 3:13-17

OBSERVATION POINT

At Jesus' baptism all three persons of the Trinity were actively present: the Father (the voice from heaven), the Son (Jesus), and the Holy Spirit (the descending dove). The Christian doctrine of the Trinity declares that God is one essence but at the same time is three persons. This great mystery of the faith is worth thinking about deeply, even if we can't fully understand it. The eternal unity of God in loving relationship with himself as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit is a beautiful image to ponder.

EXPLORATION POINT

In his usual humble way, Jesus sought the appropriate sanction before beginning his ministry. He went to John the Baptist, a well-known preacher of that time, to be baptized. Jesus' approval for ministry came not from John but from God the Father and the Holy Spirit. He was now ready and ordained for his life's calling to minister God's love to his people, and to tell them that God's promise to restore his Kingdom was being fulfilled.

John continues his prophetic ministry of calling people to repentance and pointing them toward the Lamb of God. Meanwhile, the Holy Spirit leads Jesus into the Judean wilderness for a time of testing.

READ:

LUKE 4:1-13

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus' temptation began after he had been in the wilderness for forty days and forty nights. Satan tested him first in the wilderness; then in Jerusalem, miles to the west; and finally on a mountain near Jericho that was roughly ten miles northeast of Jerusalem. The mountain from which Satan and Jesus could see "all the kingdoms of the world" might be Mount Quarantania, a steep wall of rock 1,500 feet above the plain.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus' character was being tested during his time in the wilderness.

Satan tried his best to lure Jesus into sin by tempting him to submit to Satan's will instead of God's will. Jesus rejected the traditional perks of leadership—power, influence, and conquest—in favor of the nontraditional role of being a servant-leader. Jesus could not sin, but he had to endure the devil's power and taunting.

been completely depleted. Although most people at the wedding don't realize what is happening, Jesus begins to reveal his life-giving power by turning water into wine.

JOHN 2:1-11

OBSERVATION POINT

In Roman times, the master of ceremonies at a feast may not have been a party guest but a hired servant. He was responsible for a variety of tasks to ensure the celebration's success. He supervised the other servants, maintained liveliness among the guests while preserving order, arranged the proper guest seating, tasted the wine, and controlled the amount of wine served. By resupplying the wine without the other guests' knowledge, Jesus saved him from embarrassment.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus performed his first miracle reluctantly and privately—only the servants knew what happened—but it clearly displayed God's presence and power in him. This miracle was a sign that Jesus was the long-awaited Messiah who would bring forth a Kingdom whose "mountains will drip with sweet wine" (Joel 3:18). As with all of Jesus' miracles, this one displayed God's glory and character to all observers.

Jesus is in the city, Nicodemus, a Jewish religious leader, approaches him after dark to speak with him.

JOHN 3:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

Nicodemus belonged to an influential group of religious leaders called Pharisees. This Jewish group was extremely strict about following the rules for living as a pious Jew, which they drew not only from the law of Moses but also from oral traditions gathered over the centuries. The Pharisees in general did not approve of Jesus because they saw him as lenient about observing the law. Nicodemus met Jesus secretly because he feared the disapproval of other Pharisees.

EXPLORATION POINT

Nicodemus did not understand that Jesus' talk of being born again referred to a spiritual, not a physical, rebirth. Jesus used the analogy of wind to describe the work of the Spirit: You cannot see the Spirit; you can only see the effects of its work. Born-again Christians will still battle sin, but if we yield to the Spirit, his gifts will be obvious in our lives.

People in ancient Israel made clear distinctions between “dead” water—standing water that was stored in cisterns from winter rains—and “living” water, which came from streams, rivers, springs, and fresh rain. Jesus used a common term—“living water”—and filled it with special meaning. He offered more than high-quality well water—he offered the Holy Spirit, who would quench spiritual thirst and give eternal life.

Shortly after John the Baptist is arrested, Jesus moves his ministry hub from Nazareth to the town of Capernaum. Although he travels often and has no permanent home, Jesus spends a good deal of time in this busy town on the shores of the Sea of Galilee. While there, he spends time with some local fishermen whose lives are about to be changed forever. Peter is one of those men.

LUKE 5:1-11, 27-32

OBSERVATION POINT

Fishing was a common trade for someone living near the Sea of Galilee. Fishermen usually fished at night from small wooden boats. In the morning they were busy drying, salting, and packing the fish for sale; and they would clean, repair, and hang up their large nets to dry in preparation for the next fishing excursion. Fish met the food requirements of Jewish law, but much of what was caught in the Sea of Galilee was exported rather than eaten locally.

EXPLORATION POINT

Following Jesus came at a cost. Peter himself was a working fisherman, yet he hauled up his boat and put down his nets to give his attention to this amazing teacher. For the twelve men closest to Jesus, discipleship required them to sacrifice their careers and their families. They left their homes and followed Jesus all over the countryside and into Jerusalem. They were now completely focused on learning from Jesus—a very different kind of life. Would we be willing to make radical lifestyle changes in order to follow Jesus?

where he is preaching. Several men arrive with their paralyzed friend, desperate to get Jesus' attention because they are sure that he will heal their friend if given the chance. They creatively find a way to reach Jesus in the overly crowded house.

MARK 2:1–12

OBSERVATION POINT

Homes in Galilee and the surrounding areas had flat rooftops, often accessible by an exterior staircase. These roofs provided shade and shelter from the elements, but they were also used as an extension of the living space or for storage and drying items. The roof would have been flat, constructed of layers of mud, thatch, and branches. By digging through the various layers, the men created an opening in the roof to gain access to the room below.

EXPLORATION POINT

The people crowded into the house knew of Jesus' ability to heal the sick and cast out demons. But this time they were in for an additional surprise. This time Jesus took care of the man's greatest need—forgiveness. The teachers of religious law silently objected. Only God can forgive sins; Jesus' claim to forgive this man's sins was an implicit claim of divinity. The teachers were shocked, but it was true—Jesus was divine, he was the Son of God.

Now he presents his most famous sermon with images of common objects and everyday events. Large crowds gather from all over the region to experience Jesus' healing touch and to hear him speak.

READ:

MATT 5:1-16, 38-48

OBSERVATION POINT

The nine opening statements that begin with “God blesses” are called the Beatitudes. The word “beatitude” is taken from the Latin word beatus, meaning “blessed” or “fortunate.” The rhetorical device of giving a blessing as encouragement was common in Greek and Jewish literature of the first century. Although the sermon’s structure would have been familiar to the disciples, its message challenged their long-standing attitudes and values.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus’ sermon advocates new values for his followers, and his words of two thousand years ago are as relevant today as they were then. Although his standards for ethical and moral living are very high, we are not expected to achieve them on our own. When we are filled with God's powerful Spirit, we will be able to cultivate these Christ-like characteristics and further God's Kingdom.

His teaching on the subject of prayer is clear and succinct. He even provides an example of prayer that continues to be recited by Christians around the world today.

READ:

MATT 6:1-34

282 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Many Jews of this time prayed regularly at 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., frequently in public. Some even made sure they put on a show by praying out in the street to display how pious they were. Additionally, many of these people would ramble on for a long time, repeating a name or a phrase as though it were magical. Jesus warned against this kind of hypocrisy, stressing sincerity over showing off or magical thinking.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus' prayer in verses 9-13 is a gift from God, presented to all believers by his Son. The opening phrase clearly indicates that God is our Father. We are blessed with that intimate relationship because of our relationship with Christ, the Son. This passage serves as a simple and clear example of a quality prayer that we can easily follow.

Throughout the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus has been talking about God's Kingdom. In the Beatitudes, he tells us what kind of people will inherit the Kingdom of Heaven, and in his model prayer he teaches us to ask for God's Kingdom to come. Now he instructs his disciples in proper behavior for servants of God. As Jesus concludes his sermon, he also indirectly provides information about the characteristics of God's Kingdom and how a person enters into it.

MATT 7:1-29

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus preached differently than the Jewish leaders who regularly spoke in the synagogues. Those teachers relied heavily on the authority of earlier teachers, often quoting rabbis and Jewish leaders from earlier generations. Jesus' material was obviously original and authentic, infused with divine wisdom. The crowds were in awe. They recognized the uniqueness and authority of Jesus' presentation and content.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus warned against false prophets who appear to be followers of the faith. These prophets cause problems because their evil intentions mislead "the sheep" or destroy them. The way to tell true prophets from false ones is by paying careful attention to what they do and say. Their behavior should be pleasing to God, and nothing they say should contradict God's holy Word.

One of Jesus' favorite methods for revealing the secrets of God's Kingdom to his followers is by telling stories called parables. He uses various illustrations from everyday life to communicate spiritual truths to this diverse audience. Jesus refers to farmers, fishermen, and merchants as he draws ideas from their occupations. Not everyone understands what he's teaching, and sometimes even his closest followers need Jesus to explain the meaning of his parables.

READ: Matthew 13:1-58

OBSERVATION POINT

Indirect teaching using illustrations from everyday life is a more gentle method of instruction than direct, fact-based discourse. Memorable stories are also easier to reflect on later; the images help to make abstract concepts more accessible. The meaning of Christ's parables, however, was not clear to everyone. Jesus said that understanding of the mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven comes from God, not from our own intelligence, ability, or willpower.

EXPLORATION POINT

The parables of Jesus are memorable and impactful, but we need to be careful when attempting to extract meaning from them. Jesus himself explained many of the parables to his disciples, and we should pay close attention to these explanations when we interpret what Jesus is teaching us through his other parables. Look for one central point; don't try to find significance under every rock!

MARK 4:35-41

OBSERVATION POINT

In 1986, a fishing boat dating back to the first century was discovered buried in the mud on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee. It measured about 27 feet long, 7.5 feet wide, and 3.9 feet deep. It had an elevated stern and could have accommodated up to fifteen people. It's likely that the boat Jesus and his disciples used in this story was similar.

EXPLORATION POINT

Severe storms can be terrifying while on land, but even more so out on the water. The disciples' fear was a typical human reaction to a life-threatening moment. In Jesus' time, almost everyone believed that evil spirits could possess a person and cause physical and mental distress. The man in this story is an extreme case, afflicted by many demons. He suffered terribly; he was an outcast from society who had lived a torturous existence. The host of demons did not deter Jesus; he had compassion on this man.

Crowds follow Jesus to hear his words of hope or see his hands heal. They gather in the marketplaces and follow Jesus to remote regions. Excitement fills the air wherever Jesus travels as the crowds expect to witness wonders in his words or actions.

JOHN 6:1-14

OBSERVATION POINT

The loaves of bread were small flat barley loaves, similar to pita bread. They were inexpensive and most often eaten by the poor. The fish would have been dried and salted; two fish and five loaves would have made an average-sized meal for one person. The baskets for the leftovers were readily available because many Jews carried small baskets containing food for the day so they would not have to eat the food of the Gentiles. Late in the day, those baskets would have been empty.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus had compassion for the crowd. He wanted to take care of them before sending them home. Creating food out of thin air was possible but not his style. He worked with something that was available and made it more than enough. The disciples gathered what they could—five loaves, two fish—and Jesus turned it into enough supper for everyone. OBSERVATION POINT

Ephphatha is an Aramaic word meaning “be opened.” Aramaic was the common language of the region during the time of Jesus and was closely connected to Hebrew. Aramaic originated with the Arameans in northern Syria around the ninth century BC. Over time it became the universal language of the ancient Near East. The language continued to be used in various dialects for centuries, until the Arabs conquered the region in the seventh century AD. Jesus probably spoke a dialect of Western Aramaic.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus told people not to talk about him or tell others what he had done because he did not want to attract attention. Massive crowds already gathered when he showed up unannounced in a village or city; he didn’t want people to see him as simply launching a political revolution. But once they met Jesus and witnessed his ability to heal and preach, they were in awe. They could not help but talk about Jesus after they had witnessed what he could do. He was extraordinary!

PETER'S DECLARATION ABOUT JESUS

Jesus removes himself far from the teeming crowds who adore the teacher and healer. While traveling through the northern region of Caesarea Philippi, he takes the opportunity to have an important discussion with his disciples. He asks them a question that has great significance. He wants to know what everyone is saying about his identity and, more importantly, who do his disciples think he is? Peter's answer speaks volumes.

READ:

MATT 16:13-28

OBSERVATION POINT

Peter was the spokesperson for and leader of the apostles. The phrase “keys of the Kingdom” refers to the authority of the one holding the keys to open doors. Jesus was indicating that the knowledge about the Kingdom that Peter displayed permitted him to speak with great authority. Peter would later display this authority shortly after Pentecost, when he preached a stunning sermon.

EXPLORATION POINT

Many of Jesus’ followers weren’t yet aware that he was the long-awaited Messiah. Some of the twelve disciples believed that he was the Messiah, but they didn't necessarily recognize him as God's Son. They were still thinking that the Messiah would lead the charge for Jewish independence from the Romans. Peter's answer was right on. He knew that Jesus was the Messiah, who would save people from sin and death because he was God's Son. The two-part answer was critical.

Not long after Peter states his faith in Jesus, Jesus invites him, along with James and John, to come on a brief journey. The four of them ascend a mountain outside Caesarea Philippi in order to pray.

There they witness an amazing sight that confirms the glory of God and his Son. Jesus has just promised that some of his disciples would see the Son of Man coming in his Kingdom, and Peter, James, and John get a glimpse right here.

MATT 17:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus' appearance changed on the mountain: His full identity was revealed to his disciples, and they caught a glimpse of his glory. Moses and Elijah, two Old Testament figures, were witnesses to the transformed Jesus, who fulfilled everything written in the law and the prophets. Moses' presence signified the Old Testament covenant and law, and Elijah's symbolized all the words of the Old Testament prophets who told of the Messiah's coming.

EXPLORATION POINT

At Jesus' baptism, God proclaimed that Jesus was his Son. He identified Jesus as his Son again at the Transfiguration. The three disciples who witnessed this event would later testify that they heard the voice of God identifying Jesus. The disciples witnessed a glorious sight, heard and saw Moses and Elijah, and were alive to tell about it later. If any of them had ever had any doubts about Jesus' identity, they could now be certain that he was indeed God's Son. They had heavenly witnesses and had heard it from God the Father himself!

Jesus finishes his time in Galilee and starts his journey back to Jerusalem, traveling through Samaria. As he travels he continues to preach and teach. He also sends a large group of disciples out ahead of him to the towns he plans to visit, involving his disciples in spreading the message of the Kingdom of God. Along the way, he seizes the opportunity to tell a story in reply to the question, “Who is my neighbor?”

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

The Jewish priest and the Temple assistant refused to help the wounded man. Because he was bloody or perhaps dead, touching him would make them ceremonially unclean and prevent them from performing their Temple duties. It was the Samaritan who helped, even though Samaritans were shunned and hated by the Jews. Jesus' audience would have been appalled to hear that the Samaritan was the good guy, the hero. The unexpected twist in the story would have made it stick in their minds.

EXPLORATION POINT

Being an expert in Jewish law, Jesus' questioner was asking for a definition of "neighbor." Instead of getting trapped in a war of words, Jesus told a story that clearly indicates that anyone in need is our neighbor. We are expected to drop any prejudices or differences and put our own agendas aside to care for anyone who needs us, regardless of race, religion, or color. If we all take Christ's command to love our neighbors as ourselves seriously, we can change our world.

Jesus and his disciples continue their journey back to Jerusalem. Before arriving in the great city, they make a stop in the small town of Bethany to visit Jesus' close friends Mary and Martha. Mary and Martha's hospitality is welcome, and Jesus and his disciples enjoy some time there, resting. While Jesus is with them, he uses a minor conflict as an opportunity to talk about priorities.

READ:

LUKE 10:38-42

OBSERVATION POINT

Since everyone was in her home, Martha felt responsible for showing hospitality to Jesus and his disciples. She generously opened her home to Jesus whenever he came that way. Preparing a meal for the group was a major undertaking, and Martha cannot be faulted for attending to her guests. Her mistake was that she was overly concerned about the preparations, rather than seizing the opportunity to learn from Jesus.

EXPLORATION POINT

Students of rabbis sat attentively at their teachers' feet to listen closely to what they said. In Jewish culture at the time, women were not usually students of rabbis, so Mary's posture was highly unorthodox. Martha, on the other hand, played the traditional role of caring for the physical needs of her guests to ensure their comfort. Regardless of cultural norms, Jesus wanted women to be instructed in the Good News so they could be his disciples and share that news with others.

Crowds gather around Jesus wherever he goes. With compassion, he sees their needs and seeks to care for them. He cares for their physical needs by healing their diseases and casting out oppressive demons. He cares for their spiritual needs both by preaching the Good News to them and by instructing them on how to live. Here, Jesus gives his disciples some timeless wisdom concerning money and possessions.

LUKE 12:1-59

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus' message here is full of references to birds and flowers. He mentions ravens in verse 24 because the Jews classified them as unclean (Leviticus 11:15). Ravens had no status at all; they were the lowlifes of the avian world. Yet God cares for and feeds even them. Lilies were extremely common, the equivalent of wildflowers; yet God dresses them more magnificently than the wealthiest king in Jewish history—King Solomon.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus' statement "Sell your possessions and give to those in need" is a radical teaching about how we should handle our wealth. It is not wrong to be wealthy; wealth is a gift from God. But it is wrong to be obsessed with gaining more and holding on to it for selfish reasons. Everything we have is a gift from God and should be used to serve him and his people.

God created people in his own image in order to have a relationship with them. One of the purposes of the big story is God's revealing himself to his people, a little at a time. The greatest revelation is through Jesus. During his ministry, Jesus performs many miracles, including miraculous healings. The primary purpose of these miracles is to reveal that Jesus is the divine Son of God. Miracles aren't magic; rather, they demonstrate the power of the Almighty God working through the Son. Jesus' miraculous healing of a blind man combined a significant spiritual teaching with physical reality.

JOHN 9:1-41

OBSERVATION POINT

Roman writers and Jewish rabbis of this time period considered saliva an effective medicinal treatment. Jesus was more than capable of healing the man's blindness without the saliva-and-mud mixture, but he incorporated the use of the simple materials on hand. One possible explanation for this is that Jesus used dirt to heal this man as a reminder that God originally created humans from the dust. In the end the man's spiritual sight increased as his physical sight was restored.

EXPLORATION POINT

We cannot assume that a handicap or illness is punishment from God. This belief was common in Jesus' day and has persisted to some extent in modern times. The complaint "What did I do to deserve this?" is similar to the question the disciples asked in verse 2. Sometimes innocent people suffer because we live in a sinful world. If God relieved his followers of all suffering, some would become Christians just for the guarantee of comfort, convenience, and opportunity, not out of love for and obedience to God. Jesus provides us with a new perspective from which to view our difficulties.

While in Jerusalem, he continues to teach the crowds. He often uses familiar images to illustrate deeper truths about his identity. Sometimes his teaching creates controversy and division among the Jews. But he always makes an impression.

OBSERVATION POINT

Sheep were important domesticated animals in this society. They were used as sacrifices, and they also provided milk, meat, fat, wool, hides, and horns for various uses. Many people tended sheep on a part-time or full-time basis. Good shepherds cared for their sheep and could account for each one in the flock. Shepherds were willing to sacrifice their own comfort, but they were never expected to die for their sheep.

EXPLORATION POINT

In the Psalms, God was called "Shepherd" (Psalms 23, 80). Throughout the Old Testament, Israel's leaders and kings were referred to as shepherds. Good leaders loved and cared for God's people and kept them focused on God and his Word. Bad leaders abandoned the people when tough times came, or else they led the people away from God and forgot God's Word.

When a large crowd gathers around him, he addresses them with a teaching about costly discipleship.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus' popularity was at an all-time high. He healed sick people, he told entertaining and enlightening stories, and he accepted you as you were. He could cast out demons and even bring someone back to life! There was no reason not to be attracted to this highly unusual teacher. It might have seemed easy to be a disciple, but that was all about to change. Jesus wanted to be sure that his disciples knew the cost of being true to him.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus openly offered the Good News to anyone who would hear—Pharisees and social outcasts, Jews and Gentiles. It was completely free, but it came at a price. Believing in and following Jesus requires the discipline to put him first in every aspect of life. Devotion to him must come before our love for anyone or anything else, including our own lives. Jesus doesn't always mandate that we give up everything, but we must be willing to do so if following him requires it.

Jesus welcomes anyone and everyone to stop and listen to his preaching. He never turns anyone away. Along with religious leaders and upstanding citizens, he welcomes prostitutes, shady tax collectors, and individuals who have been classified as unacceptable. Those whom society rejects, Jesus seeks out. When some religious leaders comment on his undiscriminating taste in company, Jesus tells three stories that reveal God's heart for anyone who is lost.

LUKE 15:1-32

OBSERVATION POINT

The lost-son story is full of social taboos. Sons never insulted their fathers by asking for their inheritance while their fathers were still alive. To squander the family inheritance among Gentiles was unspeakable, and to be reduced to living with pigs was the lowest possible existence for a Jew. The father running out to meet his son was unimaginable; typically, an older Jewish man would never behave in such an undignified way. The extreme actions of the story's characters would have shocked Jesus' audience yet also grabbed their attention.

EXPLORATION POINT

These stories clearly emphasize that God's salvation is not just for insiders—it's for all the lost people of the world, including those who are in danger, who are considered useless, who are outcasts. Christ came to save the lost souls of the world. He rejoices when each one of them has been found and brought back within the fold, the purse, the family. No one is ever too far gone for God. keep their distance from Jesus as required by law, but in desperation they call out to the one who they believe can heal them.

LUKE 17:1-19

300 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The skin disease these men had is called leprosy, but it was probably a different disease than modern-day leprosy (Hansen's disease). This ailment was thought to be an awful punishment from God that caused the person to be an outcast from social and religious communities. The afflicted were required to keep their distance from people and towns, to cry out, "Unclean," and to cover their faces. They could not formally greet anyone since the cultural custom was to greet others by embracing them.

EXPLORATION POINT

This episode shows that God can do more than we can ask or imagine. One grateful man returned to thank Jesus for physically healing him. But then Jesus did so much more for him—he healed the man spiritually. The physical healing was apparent on an outward level, restoring this man to a new life on earth; but he was also spiritually healed, which restored his soul to life as well.

waits two days before traveling back to Bethany, where he will dramatically display the power of God.

JOHN 11:1-44

OBSERVATION POINT

According to a popular Jewish belief, the spirit of a person lingered near the burial site for three days hoping to be restored to the body. On the fourth day, the spirit would depart. Friends and relatives visited the burial site for the first three days in order to be close to the deceased person's soul. Therefore, it was very significant that Jesus didn't arrive until the fourth day after Lazarus was in the tomb. There could be no doubt that God was powerfully at work.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus knew that his friend Lazarus had been dead for days, so he chose to display God's glory through a miracle. Jesus had the power to bring people back to life. He had done it before (Matthew 9:23-25), but this was the first time the person had been buried and in a tomb for three full days. Divine authority can overcome any earthly circumstance. During his travels around Jerusalem, Jesus is approached by a group of parents with many children. They eagerly present their children to this great rabbi so that he can bless them. The disciples think that Jesus should not be bothered by these little ones, but Jesus had a different attitude. He uses this situation to teach his disciples about the kind of faith he wants his followers to have.

MARK 10:13-21

OBSERVATION POINT

We don't know how many children came to Jesus or what their ages were. The Greek word paidia, translated as "children," can refer to a child ranging in age from eight days to around twelve years. In any case, it was customary for rabbis to bless children and pray for them. Laying hands on them was part of the blessing ritual begun early in the Old Testament. The children's fathers and mothers were almost certainly present at this event.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus taught that we should have childlike characteristics in order to belong to the Kingdom. Children are very dependent on others for care. They are humble and accepting and think simply. This group of children immediately had a warm relationship with Jesus, trusting that he had their best interests in mind. It's a good reminder for us that entrance into God's Kingdom is wide open if we keep it simple.

He still shows great compassion for others, without regard for the suffering he will face soon. On this occasion he zeroes in on a little man named Zacchaeus, who is ostracized and hated by his fellow Jews.

READ:

LUKE 19:1-10

OBSERVATION POINT

Tax collectors were generally disliked throughout the Roman world. But the Jews especially hated them because they mingled with Gentiles and worked for Rome. They were hired to collect taxes for the government and had to be sure to pass on the required amount of money to the Romans, but they were allowed to collect a little more for themselves to make a profit. Many men abused the system to become very wealthy. They lived on the fringes of Jewish society since no one wanted to associate with them.

EXPLORATION POINT

He sought out and cared for people who needed a way out of their sinful lives. Jesus stayed focused on his purpose in life even when others shook their heads in disbelief as he broke the social taboos of the day. His friends' gracious hospitality includes a banquet to honor him.

JOHN 12:1-19

OBSERVATION POINT

Mary's actions were dramatic. She poured an expensive perfume on Jesus that cost as much as a year's wages. Nard, a fragrant oil taken from the stems and roots of herbs, was imported from what would become Nepal. It was kept in an alabaster jar or box until a very special occasion. Mary then dried Jesus' feet with her loose long hair, an extravagant gesture that startled the disciples. Jewish women only let their hair down in front of their husbands, never in public.

EXPLORATION POINT

While the disciples saw Mary breaking several social taboos, only Jesus saw the love that motivated Mary to stay focused on her Master and Lord. She showered him with love in the way she knew best. Jesus did not judge her actions, although the other men in the room did. He knew her motivation was sincere and her love for him was pure. Mary gave her most precious possession to honor Jesus. They seem to be ready to recognize Jesus as the Messiah who was promised in the Old Testament. Their shouts echo the words of Psalm 118—but the joyful cheering won't last long.

READ:

MATT 21:1-11

OBSERVATION POINT

By riding into Jerusalem on the back of a donkey, Jesus was fulfilling a clear messianic prophecy from the book of Zechariah. In doing so, he identified himself as the long-awaited Messiah. Some of the people along the road might have recognized this, but many were probably just caught up in the excitement of the crowd. Jesus, the famous prophet from Galilee, had arrived for the Passover celebrations!

EXPLORATION POINT

The crowds in Jerusalem celebrated Jesus' arrival with real excitement, laying down their coats and palm branches to acclaim him as King. But their enthusiasm for him soon evaporated. Just because some people consider Jesus a great teacher or get excited about what he might be able to do for them doesn't mean they are truly Christians. It is the week before Jesus' crucifixion, and he teaches them with urgency.

MATT 25:14-30

OBSERVATION POINT

The word translated here as “bags of silver” has traditionally been transliterated as “talents.” A talent was originally a unit of weight; in Roman times it was equivalent to about seventy-five pounds. When measuring silver, a talent represented a huge sum of money, roughly equivalent to twenty years’ labor for an average person. The modern English word “talent,” meaning ability or skill, has its roots in this parable.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus expects his followers to be faithful to the tasks they have been given, until he comes again. On Thursday evening, Jesus gathers his disciples in an upper room for their Passover meal. He begins the evening in a very unexpected way, showing his disciples once again that he is no ordinary rabbi.

JOHN 13:1-38

OBSERVATION POINT

In Greek and Jewish culture it was necessary to wash one's feet often, since everyone wore open sandals without socks and the streets were dirty. A good host showed honor and hospitality by providing a servant to wash the feet of his guests when they came in from the dusty streets. This was a lowly and humbling task, assigned only to a slave. Foot washing was part of the daily routine in every household. A wife would sometimes wash her husband's feet, and children might wash their parents' feet; but most often each individual did it themselves.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus knew that showing his disciples how they had to serve others would make a deeper impression than words alone could. Jesus set an example: If we believe and follow him, we must serve and love one another as he did during his time on earth. We will never be greater than Christ, our Teacher and Lord, and yet he humbled himself and took on the role of a lowly servant. His gesture provides us with an example of Christian leadership. God's revelation of himself to humans through Jesus the Son continues in the big story. As his ministry progresses, Jesus reveals more and more about God through his actions and words. Jesus performs miracles to demonstrate God's power, and he relates to people in ways that clearly display God's love. His disciples, however, do not fully grasp the fact that Jesus is in fact God himself, the second person of the Trinity. In this farewell speech, Jesus clearly and emphatically states this astonishing fact: Anyone who has seen him has seen the Father.

READ:

JOHN 14:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Jesus' statement that he was one with the Father (10:30) declared that he, a human, was also God. This would have rattled his Jewish audience, who out of respect never allowed themselves even to pronounce God's name. To hear that Jesus, obviously a human being, claimed to be God would have been outrageous! Jesus' claim is one big reason why some people have opposed Christianity throughout history. The incarnation of God is not feasible to them. The early Christian church wrestled with how to understand this mystery for over four hundred years.

EXPLORATION POINT

Since the beginning of time, God has been revealing himself to his people little by little. Throughout the Old Testament he showed himself to his people in visions, dreams, miracles, angelic sightings, and visible manifestations of his glory at the Tabernacle and the Temple. When the time was right, he came to earth as a human to openly reveal himself to his creation, to walk with and teach his people, and to build an intimate relationship with them. He had become what he had long ago promised through the prophets: Immanuel, “God with us.”

He also startles them by offering them some bread and wine with a message about his body and blood that they don't quite understand.

MATT 26:17-30

OBSERVATION POINT

The Passover was a special supper commemorating deliverance from slavery in Egypt. Each type of food symbolized an event: The unleavened bread symbolized the hasty departure from Egypt; the bitter herbs represented living in slavery; salt water was a reminder of the tears shed and of the Red Sea crossing; and the roasted lamb was a reminder of the lamb's blood smeared on the doorposts. Wine mixed with water was drunk to celebrate God's blessing recorded in Exodus 6:6-8.

EXPLORATION POINT

During the Last Supper Jesus discussed the new covenant. It replaced the old covenant God had made with his people, signified by the lamb's blood on oorposts, which saved their firstborn from death. Through Christ's blood shed on the cross, the new covenant would free all people from sin and death. The disciples did not fully understand what Jesus was saying. After Jesus' resurrection and the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, they understood more clearly.

Following the tradition for celebrating Passover, Jesus and his disciples closed the meal by singing a hymn. READ:

PS 118:1-29

310 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The Hallel Psalms were chanted or sung before and after the Passover meal in a private setting. Psalms 113–114 were sung before the meal and Psalms 115–118 after the meal. These psalms were called “the Egyptian Hallel” because they were chanted in the Temple while the Passover lambs were slaughtered, recalling the flight from Egypt. The Levites, standing in front of the altar, would chant it verse by verse, and the people would respond by repeating the verse or by shouting hallelujah.

EXPLORATION POINT

God is faithful. In this psalm, the people of Israel are recalling the many times God saved them from their enemies throughout their history. As a community and individually the people recall all the wonderful things God has done. As you read this psalm, try to recall all the things God has done for you; then read the words of Psalm 118:6-7, 17-18, 22-24 again, keeping in mind their great significance for Jesus as he was about to face his trial and death.

READ:

MARK 14:27-52

OBSERVATION POINT

Christ's humanness is evident in this account of his anguish. Jesus knew exactly what was going to happen. Judas would betray him. He would be accused falsely, humiliated, tortured, and killed. While he prayed he was in agony. His suffering was so great that Luke states that his "sweat fell to the ground like great drops of blood." Finally, Jesus sought reassurance and comfort from his dearest disciples but found them asleep.

Christ's experience in Gethsemane is brimming with anguish, abandonment, and rejection—the very worst of human feelings. He pushed through the agony and submitted completely to the Father's will. As a human he struggled with reality; as God he knew it was good. Christ models for us how to submit to God's will. OBSERVATION POINT

The Jewish high council, or Sanhedrin, was a powerful group that had its own armed guards with which to arrest Jesus. A crowd of priests, captains of the guard, and synagogue elders gathered at the home of Caiaphas, the high priest, for a trial. The Sanhedrin gathered to handle "the Jesus issue" even though it was the middle of the night. According to Jewish law, they should have conducted this hearing during the day, but they were afraid that the daytime crowds would create a problem.

EXPLORATION POINT

Peter was curious enough to want to see what happened to Jesus, but he was not bold enough to defend him. In fact, even mild questioning about his being with Jesus set him off. he denied knowing Jesus; he cursed his name and swore an oath that he did not know Jesus. he was deathly afraid of the consequences of admitting that he was one of Jesus' disciples. It's easy for us to judge Peter, but we often behave similarly when we are ashamed of our faith.

THE DEATH OF JESUS

The climax of the big story has come. God's plan to bring his people back to himself is about to unfold. After three years of ministry, Jesus knows he is about to give the world the greatest gift of all—himself. His body will be the sacrifice, once and forever, to save people from their sins. He has come to earth as a human in order to be among his people and restore a right relationship with them. His life and ministry has drawn them close and built their understanding and faith in God. But his death begins to reveal his ultimate purpose in becoming human.

MARK 15:1-47

OBSERVATION POINT

Crucifixion was a widespread Roman punishment for military and political offenders, particularly slaves, rebels, and insurrectionists. The sheer cruelty and public spectacle of crucifixion worked as a powerful social deterrent. Victims were flogged and then crucified naked, adding to the humiliation. It was seen as the most painful of possible deaths, involving intense suffering, exposure to weather and insects, and suffocation. The cross consisted of a vertical post in the ground, with a horizontal crossbeam often attached. A person was either affixed to the beams with ropes or, as with Jesus, nails between the bones of the wrists.

EXPLORATION POINT

We can hardly comprehend the agony Christ endured on the cross for us—rejection, mockery, harassment, torture, humiliation, isolation. In addition to the physical and mental anguish, Jesus also suffered the unimaginable pain of taking on our sin. We all have experienced suffering, but Christ's suffering for the entire world was infinitely greater. He knows every aspect of suffering. He has endured it himself. Through his death, Jesus not only secured forgiveness for our sins, he also demonstrated decisively that he shares in our suffering—regardless of what it may be.

Three agonizing days pass (Friday evening, all day Saturday, and early Sunday morning). For three days Satan thinks he is victorious. Jesus is dead and out of the way. Then the most spectacular event takes place—Jesus shows up alive! The big story is not over. God's plan ends in victory, not death. Jesus has conquered the powers of death and hell, not just for himself but for everyone! The barrier between God and his people has been shattered; sin is defeated!

READ:

LUKE 24:1-12

OBSERVATION POINT

The four Gospel writers concur that at least one figure appeared in or near Jesus' tomb. Matthew mentions an angel (Matthew 28:2); Mark mentions a young man (Mark 16:5); Luke describes two men in dazzling robes, whereas John refers to them as angels (Luke 24:4; John 20:12). Angels sometimes appeared on earth as male figures in white robes, but the Bible never mentions wings or halos, despite popular modern depictions. One common responsibility of angels was to bring good news.

EXPLORATION POINT

Shortly after Adam and Eve sinned, God graciously promised that he would send someone to crush Satan (Genesis 3:15). That promise was fulfilled in Christ's resurrection. Satan "struck" Jesus with suffering and a torturous death. But the true victory was God's—Jesus was alive! He had conquered death, the powers of hell, and Satan himself. God's plan worked, and he freely shares the victory with all of us.

After his bodily resurrection, Jesus selectively shows himself to groups of believers. He appears first to some women. Later in the day, he appears to two followers walking home along the road to Emmaus. That night he appears to a gathering of his disciples back in Jerusalem. He proves to them that he has a real, living body; he is not a ghost or a bodiless spirit.

LUKE 24:13-53

OBSERVATION POINT

It was not surprising that the disciples did not believe the women's story that the tomb was empty. Although Jesus always thought highly of women and included them in his ministry, the society of the time did not regard women highly at all. Women did not have the right to testify in a court of law—their testimony was not considered trustworthy, so it was logical that the eleven disciples would doubt their story.

EXPLORATION POINT

Although the disciples were still stunned that their Lord had had to suffer and die, Jesus shared an amazing insight with them. He pointed out to them that this was truly God's plan. It occurred just as the prophets hundreds of years earlier had said it would. His death fulfilled the words of the Old Testament prophets from the time of Moses on. The message of the prophets—and the entire Old Testament—points to Jesus.

JESUS APPEARS TO SEVEN DISCIPLES

After his resurrection, Jesus remains on earth for forty days. We get only a few glimpses from the Gospel writers of what he was doing during this time. Paul tells us that Jesus appeared to over five hundred people after his resurrection, so we know there are more stories that aren't recorded in the Gospels. Before Jesus ascends into heaven, he appears specifically to seven of his disciples on the shores of the Sea of Galilee and shares breakfast on the beach with them.

JOHN 20:19–21:25

OBSERVATION POINT

Fishing on the Sea of Galilee was often most successful before dawn, but the disciples' excursion was a complete failure until Jesus appeared and called out his strange instructions. Although several of the disciples in the boat were seasoned fishermen, Jesus' miracle immediately accomplished what their skill and experience had not. The catch of "153 large fish" was extraordinary and profitable.

EXPLORATION POINT

The story of Peter and Jesus on the beach reassures us that God will forgive and restore us when we fail him. God loves us. He knows that we are weak and continue to sin despite our faith and our desire to follow him. Peter had vehemently denied Jesus three times; he now affirmed three times that he loved Jesus. With the help of the Holy Spirit, he went on to faithfully follow Jesus' commands. Christ calls us to do his work on earth. Through the power of the Spirit we, too, are capable of doing great things!

Jesus' time on earth is about to end, but the big story continues. Jesus sends the disciples to proclaim the Good News to the ends of the world. Jesus is returning to the Father and the Holy Spirit will come to be with his disciples. But the disciples do not want to lose him. They don't realize that the indwelling Holy Spirit is far more powerful than they can imagine.

ACTS 1:1-26

OBSERVATION POINT

Throughout Israel's history, clouds often indicated the presence of God. A pillar of cloud led the Hebrews out of Egypt and through the wilderness. A cloud appeared on Mount Sinai when God gave Moses the law; it filled the Tabernacle and, later, the Temple. A bright cloud appeared at Jesus' transfiguration, and God spoke from within it. At Jesus' ascension the location (a high mountain), the upward movement, and the cloud all indicated that Jesus was ascending into God's presence in heaven, where he would sit at his right hand.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus' ascension into heaven concluded his time on earth. By restoring God's relationship with his creation, he had accomplished all that the Father had sent him to do; now it was time for him to return to the Father and sit in a position of honor at his right side in heaven. In no way was Jesus abandoning his followers; the Holy Spirit would come to give them the power and ability to establish the church and spread the Good News throughout the world. The Spirit continues to be present with us today.

The Spirit's presence will be a comfort and a strength to every believer throughout the world until Christ comes again.

ACTS 2:1-47

OBSERVATION POINT

Pentecost was an annual Jewish festival that was established during the time of Moses. Originally it was an agricultural celebration called the Festival of Harvest, falling on the fiftieth day after Passover. During the Hellenistic period (300 BC–AD 300), the Jews dropped the agricultural association of Pentecost and viewed it instead as a day to give thanks for the law of Moses (the Torah). After the coming of the Holy Spirit on this day, Christians designated it as the start of the church. Both Jews and Christians continue to celebrate Pentecost today.

EXPLORATION POINT

Jesus came to earth to restore God's relationship with his people. Adam and Eve had destroyed their relationship with God in the Garden; subsequently, everyone continued to reject God through sinful living. But no one and nothing can ever stop God from fulfilling his plan for the human race. By sending the Holy Spirit to fill believers, God made it possible for us to have fellowship with him until Christ comes again. God sent his Son to restore his relationship with his people, which was lost long ago when Adam and Eve disobeyed his command. He came to save the world and to fulfill the promise that all people would be blessed through Abraham's descendants. Jesus was present in a human body, and he chose to minister primarily to people whom he could make direct, often physical, contact with. After his ministry and purpose for coming to earth came to an end, he victoriously returned to his Father in heaven.

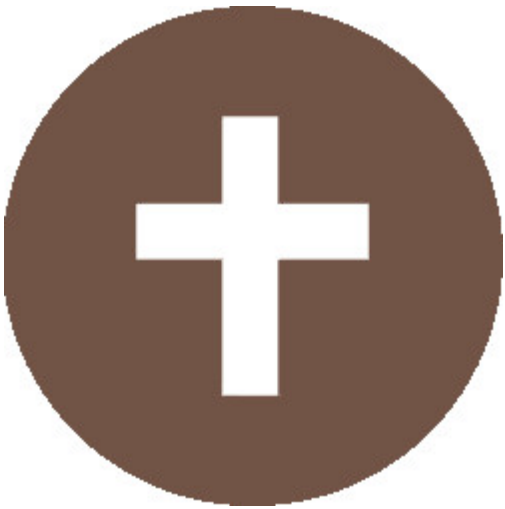
Jesus' disciples—witnesses to Jesus' life, death, and resurrection—take up Jesus' commission to "go and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit." They believe in Jesus; they have seen his miracles and heard his teachings. As soon as God's Spirit fills them at Pentecost, they are prepared to go out and share the Good News with others.

WHERE ARE WE GOING?

God's people, now equipped with God's Spirit and called the church, preach boldly, heal the sick, and cast out demons in the name of Jesus. God is present with them, and membership in the new church explodes. Thousands believe. Both Jews and Gentiles believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, whose death and resurrection have saved them. The church will grow: first in Judea and Samaria, next into Asia Minor and Greece, and then into Italy, Spain, and other parts of Europe. But challenges will come as the church grows and the Good News spreads.

Wherever Christianity goes, it begins to uproot long-standing cultural traditions and practices. People fear and resist these changes. Many Jews hold firmly to the law and the old ways, and many Gentiles violently resist giving up their old lifestyles. But God's church will prevail, and Christianity will be firmly established.



JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

The Spirit of God is the heart of the new church. Christ's followers take on his name and are called Christians. Because of his work—coming to earth, preaching, healing, dying, and rising again—the apostles' message is one of hope. Filled with the Holy Spirit, the apostles proclaim that Jesus is Lord and Caesar is not. When Saul begins killing Christians for corrupting Judaism, Jesus appears to him and sets him on a new course. Transformed, this man will explain to the world just how Jesus fulfilled God's laws and set the world free from slavery to sin.

He provided food and water for his people while they wandered in the wilderness. He displayed his power through the Old Testament prophets and, most clearly, in his Son Jesus. Now that same power is with the apostles. The apostle Peter, one of Jesus' original twelve disciples, continues the tradition of performing miracles, displaying God's power in Christ's name. He then boldly preaches in the Temple about Jesus' life and death.

READ:

ACTS 3:1-26

OBSERVATION POINT

In Jewish society, imperfection of any kind made a person an outcast. In the Old Testament, God commanded his people to sacrifice only animals that “have no defect of any kind” (Leviticus 22:21). God also required priests to be without blemish. God’s law held other people to a high standard as well, but over the centuries Jewish culture had generalized these rules in a way that was harsh and unrealistic. A person had to be practically perfect to be part of the Jewish community. Peter’s healing was a great gift. It restored this man physically and socially.

EXPLORATION POINT

Peter and John had been empowered by the Holy Spirit and were energized to see God working through them to spread the Good News. God's power flowed through them so that Peter even healed a lame man in the name of Jesus Christ. This is a wonderful example of how God can do more than we can ask or imagine. The beggar was merely hoping for a coin or two to help him survive one more day. The possibility of being whole again and walking out of the Temple didn't even enter his mind. But it happened. God can, will, and does do what we perceive as impossible.

THE EARLY CHRISTIAN CHURCH

In its early days, the church is a unified group of believers who share their time, their energy, and even their money and possessions. They generously take care of one another and provide for the apostles, who are focused on preaching and prayer. This ideal community structure, however, doesn't work out perfectly for long. The early church still consists of sinful people who can be distracted from the work of Christ because of their own desires.

READ: Acts 4:32–5:42

OBSERVATION POINT

Barnabas's contribution to the church was an example of how we should give—generously, willingly and from the heart. The story of Ananias and Sapphira illustrates the opposite. They were not forced to sell their property or to share the proceeds with the church. It was their choice to do so, but they did it with the wrong attitude. Ananias and Sapphira intentionally lied to the church to make themselves look good in the eyes of other believers, but they could not hide their intentions from God.

EXPLORATION POINT

Although extreme, Ananias and Sapphira's punishment was necessary to emphasize that God would not tolerate dishonesty, hypocrisy, and deceit within the church. As shocking as this instantaneous punishment was, it made the current believers realize that they had to be forthright and pure, and it declared to others that this new group was held to very high standards. Giving to the church—whether we give our time, our talents, or our income—must be sincere and motivated by love.

The church is growing. The core group of believers shares the Good News of Jesus in the Temple, in homes, and everywhere they go. Many people believe and join the group, but the Jewish leaders oppose this new teaching. They bring the apostles to trial, flog them, and throw them in jail. Some particularly zealous Jews, fearful that hundreds of years of traditions could be wiped out by this message about Jesus, take extreme measures to preserve their Jewish identity and way of thinking.

ACTS 6:8–8:3

322 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Under Roman rule, the Jewish authorities (the Sanhedrin) did not have the right to execute anyone. The violent mob interrupted Stephen's trial, dragged him through the city streets, and illegally stoned him to death outside the city. They followed only a portion of the Old Testament law regarding the consequence for blasphemy (Leviticus 24:11-16). Stoning had to take place outside the city, but only after a careful judicial examination, which they failed to conduct. In their blind rage they failed to carefully uphold their own traditions.

EXPLORATION POINT

God calls prophets, apostles, teachers, and ministers to preach his Word truthfully and sincerely. As representatives of God himself, they are required to say what God wants them to say rather than what the crowd desires to hear. This is exactly what Stephen knew he was called to do. He was not about to tell these people what they wanted to hear. He was telling them what God inspired him to say. The consequences were great, but Stephen was happy to sacrifice his life for the name of Christ.

ACTS 8:26-40

OBSERVATION POINT

When the Assyrians and later the Babylonians invaded their homeland hundreds of years earlier, the Jews scattered to other countries. Some fled to Africa, settling in Egypt and possibly farther south in the Upper Nile region (then part of Ethiopia). The Ethiopian in this story may have been familiar with the writings of Isaiah because of the Jews in his country. He might have gone to Jerusalem to bring the Lord gifts, just as Isaiah had prophesied (Isaiah 18:2, 7). On his journey home, he encountered Philip on the road to Gaza.

EXPLORATION POINT

Every Christian is called to share the gospel with others, just as Philip did. The great commission calls us to preach and teach anyone, at any time, and in any place. Philip made a special trip, even though he did not know where he was headed. He was open to the call. We must be just as willing as Philip to share Jesus' name and salvation wherever we are and with whomever we encounter. A person's race, religion, or sexual orientation should not stop us.

Many of the Jews rejected Jesus, but others believed in him. After Jesus' return to heaven, Saul, a devoted Jew, vehemently opposes anyone who believes in Jesus. But God transforms this strong and forceful leader. He turns Saul's energies away from evil and toward spreading the Good News throughout the world, first to the Jews and then to the Gentiles.

READ:

ACTS 9:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Light of any kind illuminates and makes sight possible. The bright light that initially blinded Saul did exactly that in a spectacular fashion. This was no ordinary phenomenon. Unlike a bright ray of sun or a flash of lightning, it was supernaturally brilliant and seems to have been localized around only Saul. It was a unique heavenly light, created for this particular event. And while it temporarily blinded Saul physically, it allowed him to finally see Jesus for who he really was: the Son of God.

EXPLORATION POINT

Most conversions to Christianity are not as dramatic as Saul's. A conversion can come as a sudden and radical change or as a gradual coming to faith over years. There is no single "right" way to come to know Christ. The method of receiving Christ may vary, but the result is the same: true faith in Christ as our Lord and Savior. This kind of faith will inevitably change our perspective on the world, and the indwelling Holy Spirit will change the way that we live as a result.

When Jesus came to earth, everything changed. God's gift of salvation is for everyone. The early church struggles with this concept. To help clarify this issue, God sends a vision to the apostle Peter while he is in Joppa. At about the same time God also sends a vision to Cornelius in Caesarea. God wants to be certain that people of every race and religious background hear of his great gift.

READ:

ACTS 10:1-48

OBSERVATION POINT

The law of Moses clearly stated which animals were impure or unclean (Leviticus 11). For centuries the Jews had carefully followed these laws, eating only certain animals and not even touching some birds, reptiles, and animals. The instructions given in Peter's vision represented a radical new way of thinking, not just about food but about the Jewish laws in general. Peter now realized that he should no longer consider anyone impure or unclean. Everyone is saved by God's grace, not by adherence to the law.

EXPLORATION POINT

In the vision he gave to Peter, God made it very clear that he showed no favoritism. Jesus was Lord of all. He saw no differences between the Jews—God's chosen people—and the Gentiles who were outside the Jewish heritage. Jews and Gentiles were equally welcome to the message of salvation and to the church. Christ had fulfilled all the obligations of the law of Moses, so the new believers did not have to follow those requirements. The Good News was for everyone who believed in Jesus.

In the middle of the night, God does what appears to be impossible.

READ:

ACTS 12:1-19

326 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

God released Peter from prison for reasons besides keeping him safe from King Herod's injustice. God displayed his power over the Roman guards and chains and declared Peter "not guilty" of any government charges. By freeing Peter from prison, God also demonstrated that his will could not be hindered by human powers. When Peter preached and healed in Jesus' name, he was being obedient to the divine authority of God; the commands of King Herod did not discourage him.

They believed in the power of prayer and held firm to Jesus' promise: "Ask me for anything in my name, and I will do it!" (John 14:14). They travel inland to Antioch of Pisidia and preach the Good News in the Jewish synagogue. This is Paul's first missionary journey.

READ:

ACTS 13:4-52

OBSERVATION POINT

Devout converts to Judaism were called proselytes. These were Gentiles who chose to follow the laws of Moses and serve God as revealed in the Old Testament Scriptures. The men also submitted to the rite of circumcision to become full members of the Jewish community. The Jews were jealous when Paul's message in their synagogue drew large crowds; they recognized that he was preaching a different message and possibly "stealing" their converts.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Jews embraced much of what Paul said: the summary of their history as God's chosen ones, and the idea of being made right with God. But they clung fiercely to their traditions and didn't like the idea that Gentiles could be included among God's people without converting to Judaism. Just as the Jews had to realize that the Good News was for all people, not just those of the Jewish tradition, so too must modern Christians remain open to welcoming others into our churches and communities of faith.

A short time after establishing churches in the Galatian towns of Iconium, Derbe, Lystra, and Antioch, Paul writes a letter to these churches to address some controversies. Some teachers have come behind him, calling the authority of his preaching into question and asking believers to take a few more steps—following the law of Moses in addition to having faith in Christ. Paul proves that he is a true apostle of Christ and that his message is the true Good News. He emphasizes that Gentiles do not have to become Jews before they become Christians.

READ:

GAL 1:1–2:10

328 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul was directly called by God on the road to Damascus. The Bible doesn't mention what occurred in Arabia. We assume that Paul grew in knowledge and understanding of the Good News during his time in the desert. He knew the Old Testament Scriptures because he had been educated as a Pharisee (Acts 26:5). He also knew the claims of the first Christians, but he never was commissioned by the church in Jerusalem, nor did he initially consult with other apostles. God called him to believe and the Holy Spirit, through the church of Antioch, commissioned him to preach.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul's example shows that there are various roads to ministry. Some people follow a traditional route of training and commission through an established church. Others, like Paul, are called by God, set apart and gifted as ministers to proclaim the Good News. Paul's time with Peter in Jerusalem proved that his message was the true gospel, in sync with the established Jerusalem church and with the apostles who had been with Jesus. Paul's calling was exceptional, but his message was compatible with others'. God calls and uses different people in different ways to grow the church.

LIVING BY THE SPIRIT'S POWER

As Paul continues his letter, he explains to the churches what it really means to live in Christ, free from the law. The burden of following the Jewish law has been lifted by Christ, who fulfilled the law entirely. This is the joy of Christianity. Paul writes that we are free to live out the love of God through the power of the Spirit, experiencing joy and peace as we trust in Christ completely for our salvation.

GAL 5:16–26

OBSERVATION POINT

The Galatians thought they would please God more if they followed the law while believing in Christ. They had it all wrong. Christ had freed them from the obligations of the law. By his grace, his free gift, they were saved. Salvation is free. God gives it to us out of love for us, not because of what he gets out of us in return. In response to his generosity, we live a life of gratitude and thanksgiving to glorify him.

EXPLORATION POINT

Christians are free from the law, but we do not have a license to keep on sinning. We have a choice, either to rely on the Holy Spirit or to yield to our sinful nature. The power of the Spirit within us will guide us to a life filled with peace, love, and joy. If we allow our sinful nature to dominate us, we will live in chaos, strife, and bitterness. Around the same time that Paul writes his letter to the churches in Galatia, James, the brother of Jesus, writes to the “twelve tribes.” Although James did not follow Jesus before the Resurrection, he quickly became a leader in the early church and was apparently the head of the Jerusalem church. He writes this letter of exhortation to Jewish Christians who are scattered throughout the Roman world.

OBSERVATION POINT

Many Jewish Christians left Jerusalem shortly after Stephen was stoned for his faith. As persecution intensified, these believers scattered to established Jewish communities in Judea, Samaria, Phoenicia, Syria, Cyprus, and beyond. The people of Israel had been dispersed throughout the world during the Exile, and only a portion of the exiles returned to live in Judea. Some Jewish Christians fleeing persecution in Jerusalem settled in those distant Jewish communities.

EXPLORATION POINT

Early Christians needed to know what an active faith looked like. James's letter placed a strong emphasis on the importance of practicing personal virtue. Every aspect of our lives should testify that we are followers of Christ: what we say, how we treat others, how we spend money, how we exhibit humility. Look at your life; others should easily be able to see Jesus living in you.

CONTROLLING THE TONGUE

One of the key points in James's letter is that what Christians say matters. Controlling the tongue is critical to putting faith into action. What comes out of a Christian's mouth in tone and word choice reveals what's inside his or her heart. James reminds his readers again and again that faith and actions are intricately connected. The way a person speaks provides a clear window into that person's inner life.

READ:

JAS 3:1-18

331 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

James uses six different images to illustrate his point about the danger of the tongue. These diverse images allow everyone to connect with the idea in some way: the bit in a horse's mouth, the rudder of a ship, a spark that starts a forest fire, a water spring, and a fruit tree. Used correctly and wisely, the tongue can do great things; but unrestrained and tainted by evil, it will destroy and wreak havoc.

EXPLORATION POINT

Just as we need to maintain our health with regular checkups, we should also “check up” on what comes out of our mouths. Often our language gets careless, we begin to use God’s name casually, and our kidding turns into hurtful comments. Nobody is shocked because “everyone is doing it.” Backbiting, gossip, and rumors are the norm. But Christians are called to be different. We carry Christ’s name, and everything we do and say reflects on him.

CONTROLLING THE TONGUE

THE COUNCIL AT JERUSALEM: CONFLICT OVER GENTILES

The successful missionary work of Paul and others among the Gentiles is a cause for the new church to rejoice! The Good News is spreading all over the world, just as God had always planned in the big story. But for some early Jewish Christians, this raises some difficult questions. God had always worked through his chosen people, the Jews. Many believe that Gentiles, in addition to believing in Jesus, should be required to convert to a Jewish lifestyle in order to be saved. This is a significant issue for the leaders of the early church, and they gather in Jerusalem to address it.

READ: Acts 15:1-35

ACTS 15:1-35

OBSERVATION POINT

Circumcision had religious significance for Jews as the sign of the covenant that God had established with the people of Israel. It was normally performed on the eighth day of a male infant's life, but adult converts to Judaism were required to get circumcised, too. Circumcision became a metaphor for the renewal of a person's relationship with God. But after Jesus' resurrection and the gift of the Holy Spirit, faith in Jesus was all that would be required to be in right relationship with God. Jesus fulfilled the requirements of the Jewish law, and now all people everywhere relate to God through him.

EXPLORATION POINT

Ethnic background has no impact on how a person relates to God. Faith in Jesus is the only way to have a right relationship with God, and the presence of the Holy Spirit in a person's life is clear evidence of that relationship. During their missionary travels, Paul and Barnabas gave clear testimony of the transforming presence of the Holy Spirit in the lives of Gentiles. Peter reminded everyone in Jerusalem that, years earlier, he had been sent by God to preach to a Gentile, Cornelius. No matter where you come from, trust in Jesus! He is the only way to God.

PAUL'S SECOND MISSIONARY JOURNEY

After spending some time at his home church in Antioch, Paul sets out on his second missionary journey. He travels with his friend Silas to the churches in Galatia that he established on his first journey, and a young man named Timothy joins them there. The Spirit then instructs Paul to go to Macedonia (northern Greece) to preach the Good News. He travels by boat from Troas to the port of Neapolis, then hikes ten miles over mountain roads to Philippi.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

During his missionary travels to new places, Paul usually began by preaching in the local synagogue. In Philippi, he couldn't do this. A city was only able to have a synagogue if ten Jewish men lived there, and the Jewish population in Philippi was too small. Without a synagogue, those who worshiped God gathered outside near running water to pray. Paul located a group down at the river on the Sabbath and preached to them there.

EXPLORATION POINT

God needs all kinds of people to build his church. The church in Philippi was founded on three unlikely individuals: a woman (Lydia), a jailer, and a slave girl. Societies may have different criteria for who best can establish their institutions, but God uses everyone—the rich and influential as well as the weak and the outcasts. Christianity in the first century was for everyone; it's the same today. It is not limited by gender, ethnicity, or social boundaries.

Paul and Silas leave Philippi and travel through the mountains, moving southwest. Their destination is the city of Thessalonica, where there is a synagogue that they plan to preach in. Although there is a paved Roman road, the Egnatian Way, connecting the cities, their journey is long and difficult, especially by modern standards. Arriving in the city of Thessalonica, Paul locates the synagogue and begins to preach the Good News of Jesus to all who will listen to him.

ACTS 17:1-35

OBSERVATION POINT

Roman rule both helped and hindered the spread of the gospel. The world was at peace and the Romans had constructed roads on which Paul could easily travel. But the influence of the imperial cult was problematic. Everyone was expected to submit to Roman authority and even worship the emperor, who was considered divine. Paul's preaching about "another king, named Jesus" aroused the suspicion of the Roman citizens, who did not want their benefits and privileges threatened in any way.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul met resistance to the gospel message because it would change everything. This was a scary thought to the Jews who prided themselves on thousands of years of tradition as God's chosen people. They were also jealous that some Greeks who had been drawn to Judaism were now drawn to Paul's message. Even today, change is difficult. Resistance to change is inevitable. Our discernment of the truth according to Scripture should temper any emotional reaction to a different way of thinking or to a change in tradition.

Paul and Silas escape from an angry mob in Thessalonica and hurry to Berea, about nineteen miles away. After sharing the Good News there with great success, Paul is pursued by some enemies from Thessalonica, so he decides to move on again. He sails south to Athens to avoid the twelve-day overland trip. Finally he journeys west to Corinth to preach. He remains in that city for the next eighteen months.

ACTS 18:1-17

OBSERVATION POINT

The Jews were so hostile to Paul and his message that God comforted and encouraged him through a special vision. God appeared to Paul on at least two other occasions: on the road to Damascus (Acts 9:3-6), and in the Temple in Jerusalem (Acts 22:17-18). As a result of God's direct encouragement, Paul persevered in his ministry at Corinth and established a strong church in that city.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul often experienced open hostility to his message. Repeatedly he had to flee a city to protect himself, but his message always stuck with a few people to create a solid foundation for the church. God assured Paul that he didn't preach the Good News alone—God's Spirit was working in and through him, and in other people as well. Sharing the gospel message can be as challenging today as it was for Paul. But we too can be assured that we don't do God's work alone. His Spirit will provide comfort and strength.

While Paul is preaching and planting a church in Corinth, Timothy brings him an encouraging report about the church in Thessalonica, where Paul had been run out of town by the synagogue leaders after a brief time of ministry. In response Paul writes a letter to the Thessalonian Christians to encourage them and provide some new teaching.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul praises the Thessalonians for their actions that testify to their new Christian beliefs: They have stopped worshiping idols; they serve and worship the true God; and they look forward to Christ's return (1:9-10). These three characteristics are clear indications that the Thessalonians were truly converted and believed in Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Thessalonians had eagerly accepted the Good News, but ridicule, doubt, and persecution soon made their lives difficult. We sometimes doubt our faith when we encounter hostility or injustice. We might find ourselves thinking, “Where’s God in all this mess?” The Thessalonians were able to remain faithful to God even in such difficult circumstances because they knew that the Good News was true and that God was at work in them.

He encourages the Thessalonians to live holy lives for Christ and instructs them about the promise of Christ's return, explaining the right way to look forward to that great day.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul tells the Thessalonians about Christ's coming again as a way of encouraging them during their time of trial and persecution. He knew that their conversion to Christ had a radical effect on their lifestyle. It left them open to ridicule and contempt. He assures them that their suffering on earth is not the end. The important thing is encouraging them in the present, not providing details about future events.

EXPLORATION POINT

The end times and Christ's second coming are popular discussion topics. Many authors provide detailed speculations that are more fictional than biblical. We should find comfort and joy in knowing that Christ will come again to rule victoriously. We shouldn't speculate or argue about the details. Instead we should rejoice that we will be raised from the dead and will reign with Jesus.

demonstrate a strong Christian faith in the midst of their difficulties. He also addresses some problems that have come up as a result of false teachers who are saying that the day of the Lord has already come. Paul gives the believers instructions on how to live until Christ comes again.

2THES 2:13–3:18

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul told the Thessalonians about Christ's second coming to encourage them during their suffering and persecution. Some believers twisted this teaching into an excuse to stop working and "wait it out." Paul corrected them, reminding them that he had always worked when he was with them. He pointed out that idleness leads to other problems: meddling in other people's affairs, laziness, and dependence on the generosity of the church. Even though Jesus could have returned at any time, Paul encouraged the Thessalonian believers to work hard and hold on to their belief in Christ.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Thessalonians lived in a city of diverse cultures and ungodly beliefs. They were tempted to throw away their new faith and revert to their old traditions. We are tempted by a similar culture that invites us to live for ourselves and to focus on money, power, or prestige rather than God. The world's conflict and unrest threaten to shatter our lives. Paul's words encouraged the Thessalonians to stand firm in the faith. Those words can encourage us as well. Paul's blessing calms us and gives us hope that we will experience the Lord's peace "at all times and in every situation."

After his lengthy stay in Corinth, Paul completes his second missionary journey by sailing to Ephesus, then to Caesarea, and finally to Antioch of Syria. He begins his third missionary journey by traveling the northern interior road through the region of Phrygia, eventually arriving back in Ephesus. During his three-year stay there, Paul establishes a strong Christian church in a city known for its pagan superstitions and magical practices.

ACTS 19:1-41

OBSERVATION POINT

The Greek goddess Artemis (also known as Diana) was the patron deity of Ephesus. The Ephesians prided themselves on being the temple keepers for this goddess. The temple in her honor was exceptionally large and was known as one of the Seven Wonders of the World. Paul's gospel preaching threatened the Ephesians' traditions, the status and prestige of their city, and a substantial part of their economy.

EXPLORATION POINT

Humans are more valuable than money. When he drove demons into a herd of pigs at the region of the Gerasenes, Jesus destroyed two thousand valuable animals (Mark 5:11-13) but restored the life of a demon-possessed man. In Philippi, Paul relieved a slave girl of her demonic spirit, infuriating her owners (Acts 16:16-19). Now in Ephesus, Paul's preaching threatened the income of silversmiths and encouraged sorcerers to burn their magic books. Even in the ancient world, some individuals desired to make a profit at the expense of others. Christianity challenges that perspective.

He also answers a number of questions from them, providing guidance on Christian living. His timeless approach to these practical issues has instructed Christians for centuries.

READ:

1COR 7:1-40

340 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

As a major city between two active ports, Corinth hosted many travelers and was infamous for prostitution and other vices. The sins of this city were so well known throughout the Greek world that a special Greek verb meaning “to act like a Corinthian” (korinthiazomai) was used to refer to sexual immorality. The influences of the general population filtered into the church, creating problems that required Paul to provide instruction on appropriate sexual conduct for Christians.

EXPLORATION POINT

Throughout its history, the church has struggled with issues related to sexual immorality. Societies often take a liberal stand or else look the other way. The practice of marriage comes under attack as either old fashioned and confining or as simply a social contract signifying commitment. For the church, this passage serves as more than just a handful of suggestions. They are God's words, his principles, given through Paul on how we should live.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

The church in Corinth had a great interest in spiritual gifts—the special abilities for serving the church that are given to believers by the Holy Spirit. However, they apparently placed too much emphasis on the more spectacular gifts, such as prophecy and speaking in tongues. Paul corrects that type of thinking, clearly explaining that the Spirit unites us all but gives different abilities to each individual. One type of gift is not above another; all gifts are required to serve the body of Christ, and they all must be grounded in love.

1COR 12:1-31

OBSERVATION POINT

Each gift from the Spirit comprises a broad array of abilities. The gift of prophecy, for example, encompasses more than the ability to predict future events. It can involve receiving a spontaneous message from God and sharing it with other believers, preaching the gospel and sharing the Good News, or delivering a sermon that is carefully prepared and Spirit-inspired. Paul lists nine gifts to represent the variety of abilities the Spirit provides and uses within the church.

EXPLORATION POINT

The Spirit empowers every member of Christ's body with some gift to build up the church and expand God's Kingdom. No believer has the right to say, "I don't have a gift." If we are Christians, Christ lives in us, and the Spirit provides the gifts to display God's work. To function the church needs all of its members with their different gifts, so don't let your gift be wasted. If we all recognize and use our gifts, no matter how great or small, God will do great things through us.

LOVE IS THE GREATEST

After his conversion, Paul brings the Good News to Asia Minor and Europe. He establishes churches in many cities and later stays in touch with the new believers by writing letters. This section of the letter he writes to the Corinthian church contains the great message that God has been conveying throughout the big story: He is a God of love. Everything he has done and continues to do for his people comes from his love for us. When God loves us and his Spirit lives in us, we naturally should display love to others.

1COR 13:1-13

49200E285

OBSERVATION POINT

Mirrors in Paul's day were usually made from hammered and highly polished bronze. These metal mirrors were round with handles carved from wood, ivory, or bone. They resembled contemporary handheld mirrors but did not give a clear image of the viewer as glass mirrors do today. Because they were never perfectly flat and reflective, they provided a reflection that was distorted and unclear.

EXPLORATION POINT

Love is at the core of God's commandments for living: first, to "love the LORD your God"; and second, to "love your neighbor as yourself." Love is central to Christianity. God loves us, forgives us, and cares deeply for us. Because of God's love for us, he sent his Son to be with us, take on the punishment we deserve for our sins, and conquer death. Out of gratitude and love for all that he has done for us, we who bear the name of Christ must willingly and openly love God, ourselves, and others.

THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD

Some members of the Corinthian church had doubts about a future resurrection of the dead. Paul addresses this concern by providing detailed information about the importance of believing in Christ's resurrection. That event is the first sign of what is to come for all believers—a future resurrection of the body.

1COR 15:1-58

OBSERVATION POINT

Many people in the early church were skeptical about the concept of the bodily resurrection because it didn't match their way of thinking. The resurrection of the body contradicted the Greek philosophy that the body was unimportant and only the soul had value. The Greeks believed in the immortality of only the soul. Paul, however, preached that Christ's bodily resurrection was the beginning of what was in store for all believers.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul doesn't tell us how our dead bodies will be transformed and resurrected. But he does tell us that they will be spiritual bodies raised in glory. These new bodies will never die and will inherit the Kingdom of God. When life is difficult and living for Christ brings stress, conflict, and suffering, we can take comfort in knowing that Christ will give us the victory and that we will rise transformed to live and reign with him forever.

In spite of all those troubles, Paul is able to give thanks and praise to God, who provides comfort and

2COR 1:1-11

344 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The exact nature of the hardships that Paul mentions is uncertain. He faced opposition in Ephesus, which caused a riot and obliged him to leave the city. He may have been referring to a physical ailment that occasionally bothered him, or even to the conflict between him and the Corinthians. No matter what kind of trouble or suffering we face, the comfort and encouragement Paul refers to is available to us as well.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul was strong and independent. But when things got so bad in his ministry that he “expected to die,” he knew to rely completely on God. When we have such moments in our lives, we must place our confidence in God as Paul did. We need to hand over our troubles, problems, and impossible situations to God, then rest in the confidence that he will work it out for our good.

Paul continues to challenge the Corinthian church by reminding them that it is God's power that works in and through them. Christians are called to share the news of salvation and speak as God's representatives. But appearances can be deceiving; even a person who appears weak and troubled, as Paul sometimes did, bears a precious message. The power of God is displayed through the message of the Good News, not the impressiveness of the person delivering it.

READ:

2COR 4:1-18

OBSERVATION POINT

Clay pots, jars, and vessels were common objects in ancient times. People stored grain, wine, oil, and water in large clay jars. They also hid their jewels and coins in such containers. Even the precious Dead Sea Scrolls were stored in clay jars. These ancient biblical scrolls, found in the mid-twentieth century, were stored in jars and buried in desert caves.

EXPLORATION POINT

God has entrusted the message of salvation to people who are the equivalents of fragile clay containers. The important thing is not the container but the contents. Salvation is a glorious and gracious gift from God. The individuals who proclaim the Good News do so through God's power, not their own. The focus should not be on themselves but on God, who works and lives in them.

Without being legalistic about their giving, he reminds them of their original enthusiasm and their obligation to fulfill their commitment.

2COR 9:1-15

346 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Collecting money for the suffering Christians in Jerusalem set a precedent for the church to help fellow believers despite differences. Some Jewish Christians were strongly opposed to Paul and the message he preached to Gentiles. The collection put into practice several biblical truths: (1) Do good to those who persecute you; (2) both Jew and Gentile are one in Christ; and (3) the unity of Jewish and Gentile believers promotes the Kingdom of God.

EXPLORATION POINT

As the church grew and encompassed different cultures and ethnic groups, differences and disputes arose. The same is true today. The church still faces divisions and controversy, but Christ calls us to put our differences aside and help our fellow Christians in need, regardless of race, denomination, or nationality. God also wants us to give generously and joyfully, knowing that all we have comes from him.

But Paul turns this on its head: He claims that he has suffered more than anyone else in his efforts to preach the Good News throughout the world, and that this shows clearly that God is working through his ministry.

2COR 11:16–12:10

347 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul's life as a missionary was difficult. Roman roads connected many cities and made travel somewhat easier, but the terrain was still mountainous. Rough seas were the norm, and the winter cold arrived at the usual time. Paul was beaten in Philippi and stoned in Lystra. According to the church father Clement of Rome, Paul was imprisoned seven times. The shipwrecks Paul mentions here are not mentioned in Acts. The shipwreck on the journey to Rome was still in the future.

EXPLORATION POINT

God truly loved Paul. When God called Paul to be the apostle to the Gentiles and to take the Good News far beyond the areas where Jesus preached, he did not guarantee him an easy life. The challenges Paul faced forced him to rely on God's strength as he traveled and established churches. Paul had his suffering; we have our own. ACTS 20:1-38

OBSERVATION POINT

We are given few details about Eutychus, who is not mentioned elsewhere in Scripture. Eutychus was a common name among freed slaves. The primary focus of the story is the miracle itself—this is the only person Paul raised from the dead. Eutychus might have fallen asleep for several reasons: Paul's preaching went on for hours, it was midnight, and the lamps in the room (20:8) might have given off fumes and heat that caused drowsiness.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul, the greatest missionary of all time, makes a profound statement: “My life is worth nothing to me unless I use it for finishing the work assigned me.” He had a passion for sharing the Good News. He was convinced that this was his only purpose in life. Most of us will not be world-traveling missionaries like Paul, but God has called each of us to be a witness, wherever we live and whatever we do. ROM 3:1-31

349 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

God's rules and regulations, given to Moses and collected in the first five books of the Bible, were the core of Jewish law. Over the centuries the law expanded to include oral laws created by Jewish teachers (rabbis) to explain and interpret the laws of Moses. The law came to include hundreds of rules about religious and social living that formed the heart of Jewish life; it was difficult for them to understand that faith in Christ completely fulfilled God's requirements.

EXPLORATION POINT

Many people today believe that humanity is basically good, not evil. We prefer to focus on great technological advances, scientific progress, and humanitarian efforts rather than on the evil that lies deep within us. But the reason we need a Savior is that not one of us is good. We all have rebelled against God and are separated from him. We all need Jesus to “clean us up” so we can be united with God and live forever in his Kingdom.

These are not merely interesting ideas; they are life-changing realities that lead to lasting hope and joy.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

Suffering was the status quo for many first-century Christians. They believed in the one true God in spite of a society that was full of superstitions, mythical gods and goddesses, and emperor worship. The Roman emperor Nero used Christianity as a scapegoat for the problems in the empire. They imprisoned, tortured, and killed Christians for sport. Paul acknowledges the difficulties faced by the church, but he assures the believers that God will use the evil of others for good.

Life is hard. No one goes through life unscathed by hardship, sorrow, guilt, or pain. But for Christians there is hope in every difficulty. READ:

ROM 8:1-39

OBSERVATION POINT

When Paul talks about our sinful nature, he is referring to the inclination of our natural desires toward sin. All humans are born with a sinful nature. God, however, did not create people this way. He created them perfect, without sin; but sin came into the world through Adam and Eve, who disobeyed God. Humans are sinful and God is perfect; we need Jesus to make us sinless again in God's eyes.

Paul's message to the Romans contains one of the most comforting passages in the Bible. He clearly states, in different ways, that nothing can separate us from God's love. The people on Malta believed that justice was a personified deity who judged and punished the guilty. When a snake bit Paul, the locals thought he was a murderer who was being punished for his crime. In gratitude, the islanders met the missionary's needs and provided supplies.

Paul was determined to preach in Rome. The unexpected shipwreck

In our results-oriented society we often perceive such things as a waste of time. Paul's sojourn in Malta shows us how best to use an unplanned delay in our lives for God's glory. The Christians in Rome knew that Paul was coming, though the Jews did not. They traveled long distances to greet him outside the city. Although they knew he was a prisoner, they welcomed him like a dignitary and gathered around him to lead him into Rome on the main highway, the Appian Way.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul did not let his status as a prisoner distract him from his mission of sharing the gospel. For two years while he was under house arrest, he boldly preached and wrote letters to churches he had established. Too often we come up with excuses for why we can't share the gospel or demonstrate Christ's love. The city of Ephesus had many different religious communities. Many people worshiped the pagan goddess Artemis, were highly superstitious, believed in the occult, and practiced magic to communicate with evil spirits. In ancient Roman society, husbands ordinarily mistreated their wives and abused their slaves. People were highly immoral, lewd, and sexually promiscuous. Paul's instructions to Christians would contrast sharply with the lifestyles of the majority of the population.

EXPLORATION POINT

Today the church is highly diverse. In spite of all its variety and personalities, the church must remain focused and united on Paul's statement: "There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, in all, and living through all." If we focus on that, we will see the church unified in spite of its diverse denominations, personalities, and worship styles.

In his letter to the church in Ephesus, Paul includes detailed instructions for Christian living. He encourages the Christians there to be a shining example in a society that is extremely tolerant of evil. He writes of God's great power and authority, above all other powers, to encourage them in the midst of great spiritual warfare. Paul provides them with insights on how to honor God in everyday relationships by relying on the Holy Spirit to transform their behaviors and attitudes.

OBSERVATION POINT

Evil was alive and conspicuous on the streets of Ephesus. Magicians and exorcists practiced their techniques in the marketplace. Pagan worship and communicating with evil spirits were common. At festivals the people paraded an oversized statue of Artemis through the streets. Marble statues that honored emperors and dignitaries lined the avenues of the city. The Christian lifestyle appeared as a beacon of light in the darkness of this city. The Christian converts, however, needed Paul's encouragement to live out their Christianity within their culture.

EXPLORATION POINT

Ephesus was a highly cultured and sophisticated city that was consumed by the dark traditions of worshiping idols and human leaders, especially the Roman emperor. A small but strong church existed in the midst of this darkness. Many of us live in similar surroundings today. We can be the light in a dark world, or we can allow the darkness to engulf us. Paul's instructions for Christian living are as important today as they were centuries ago in Ephesus. Our faith must shine through our words and actions for everyone to see.

While traveling throughout the Mediterranean world, Paul continues to write letters in order to teach the churches he started. He writes to the church in Philippi while he is under house arrest in Rome. Out of concern and love for the members of this church, Paul encourages them in their Christian life. In the big story, God continually wants to be in close relationship with his people. In humility, he became human in the person of Jesus and even suffered death for our sins. Paul calls Christians to follow Christ's example of humility as we live in the power of the Spirit.

READ:

PHIL 2:1-18; 2:1-18

OBSERVATION POINT

The Greeks had a high regard for competitive sports, particularly chariot-, horse-, and footraces. Paul used sports as a metaphor for the Christian life, describing it as a strenuous contest or even combat against evil and former practices. He often used athletic language (“I did not run the race in vain”) as a way of illustrating the concepts he was teaching. Because athletic analogies would have been familiar to the new believers, Paul used them to make his teaching about Christian living more vivid and memorable.

EXPLORATION POINT

Philippians 2:6-11 is often called the Christ Hymn because most scholars think Paul is actually quoting something widely used in the worship of the early church. It reveals the early church's belief in Christ's nature: fully human yet fully divine. It declares that although he was God, Jesus humbled himself, became human, and died for the sins of all human beings so that we could be restored to relationship with God. The church remains unified in these beliefs and waits with eager anticipation for the day when Jesus will come again. On that day, every knee should bow at the name of Jesus.

Paul writes letters to real people who are dealing with real issues. Sometimes this entails giving specific instructions directed at individuals in a specific church. Paul obviously cares about them and wants them to live the way God calls them to live in every situation. Even though he is addressing specific issues, Paul's advice on Christian living is as applicable in a modern context as it was for the people named in the Bible text.

PHIL 3:12–4:23

OBSERVATION POINT

The Book of Life (4:3) is mentioned only eight times in the Bible: once in Psalm 69:28, here in Philippians, and six times in Revelation. This book contains the names of those who will survive God's wrath on the day of the Lord and will have citizenship in the Kingdom of God. It includes true believers of all times and ages. According to Revelation 21:27, only people named in this book will enter the new Jerusalem.

EXPLORATION POINT

We are saved by God's grace, not by what we do or don't do. But in gratitude to God, we should strive to live godly lives. As we grow spiritually and become mature in our faith, we trust and obey God more. Doing good deeds does not perfect us because we are already declared perfect in God's eyes through Christ. God refines and transforms us as we strive to do good deeds. Our ultimate perfection will come when Christ returns.

The churches that Paul established on his journeys need Paul's instructions and encouragement, but Paul's influence goes beyond just the cities that he has visited. He never visited Colosse, but while Paul is imprisoned in Rome, a friend named Epaphras visits him and describes the difficulties that Christians in Colosse are facing. Paul writes a letter to teach and encourage this young Gentile church, which is being led astray by false teachings about Jesus and the Christian life.

COL 1:1–2:5

OBSERVATION POINT

The “well-crafted arguments” that Paul spoke against were similar to a belief system that became known as Gnosticism (from gnosis, a Greek word for “knowledge”). This heresy valued knowledge but stated that knowledge about God was a secret accessible to only a few believers. Gnostics considered the body evil, arguing that Christ could not have been human but only seemed as if he were. Paul clearly states who Christ is: the supreme ruler of creation who came to earth in a physical body.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul provides an excellent model of how to pray for others (1:3-11). We can follow Paul's method of praying for the Colossians when we pray for friends, church workers, pastors, and missionaries: (1) Thank God for them; (2) pray that they discern God's will; (3) ask God to provide them with wisdom; (4) pray that they honor and please God; (5) pray that they come to know God better; (6) pray for their endurance and patience; and (7) ask that they be filled with joy and thankfulness.

Paul’s practical teachings range from basic principles about the source of Christian ethics to very specific instructions for Christian families. There is no part of human life that remains unaffected by the transforming power of the gospel.

READ:

OBSERVATION POINT

False teachers in Colosse believed that a person could experience the spiritual world apart from God and his Word. These teachers supposedly had visions and contacted angels who would be messengers to God on their behalf. This attitude might have sounded humble ("We are not worthy to approach God on our own"), but it was false and dangerous, leaving people vulnerable to Satan's influence. Paul reminded the church to stay focused on Christ.

EXPLORATION POINT

We live in a world that bombards us with new ideas, theories, and religions. Paul's cautionary words help us discern what is the truth and what is mere human thinking. By looking to God's Word and the life of Christ rather than human words and actions, we can discern whether or not popular trends are truly Christian. Instead of living by human wisdom, we must be faithful to the truth as revealed in Scripture.

While under arrest in Rome, Paul comes to know Onesimus, a runaway slave. Paul knows Onesimus's master, Philemon, a Christian from the town of Colosse. Paul writes this very personal and convincing letter to ensure that Philemon will welcome Onesimus home.

PHLM 1:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

Slavery was common throughout the Roman Empire. Although Onesimus was a Christian, he was still Philemon's slave. Paul didn't demand that Philemon free his slave; he requested that Philemon treat him with kindness. Runaway slaves who were captured and returned to their masters usually faced cruel treatment: branding, whipping, or death.

EXPLORATION POINT

This letter to Philemon emphasizes that Christians should view fellow believers as equals. Paul's request was astonishing for that time period; slaves were positioned far below their masters in the social hierarchy, with little or no rights. His letter is an excellent reminder for us today to treat everyone with love and respect.

False teaching is threatening the church, and Paul discusses many important issues that Timothy needs to address with the people in his care.

1TIM 2:1–3:16

361 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

The direct advice for conduct in relationships found here and in Ephesians, Colossians, Titus, and 1 Peter are called the household codes of the New Testament. These lists of responsibilities for men, women, children, slaves, and masters were similar in many ways to the social customs of Greco-Roman culture. Paul did, however, encourage a transformed attitude for people in any social situation: respect, gentleness, and servanthood. These attitudes would clearly set Christians apart from the rest of society.

EXPLORATION POINT

Issues of church structure can be contentious among Christians, and finding good leaders requires wisdom. Paul's timeless advice on the issues that Timothy faced in the first century is still valuable to us in the twenty-first century. The places and people have changed, but the issues of prayer, personal conduct, and leadership remain the same. Discerning God's truth is critical for Christians who are seeking to know God's will for their lives.

READ:

1TIM 4:1-16

OBSERVATION POINT

Paul speaks against some teachers who advocated excessive self-denial. This teaching grew in popularity and shared much in common with Gnosticism, which included the belief that matter was evil and the spirit was good. It suggested that the body's desires for sex and delicious food were bad, and that those who abstained from both would be at a higher spiritual level than those who didn't. Paul corrected this false teaching with the reminder, "Everything God created is good."

EXPLORATION POINT

Christians today often “waste time arguing over godless ideas and old wives’ tales” as much as the church in the first century did. Petty arguments, judgmental opinions, and virulent disagreements frequently dominate our conversations, especially with people from different denominations. Such discussions have no place in the Christian community. If we focus on Christ and heavenly things, we won’t be distracted by human personalities or bogged down in pettiness.

READ 1 TIM 6:2-21

OBSERVATION POINT

The early Christian church was plagued by individuals who viewed preaching and teaching as a profitable way to promote their own ideas. The Greco-Roman world prided itself on intellectualism and philosophy, and some teachers used their rhetorical skill to cause great confusion within the church. They would combine their personal beliefs with Christian truth and distort the clear teaching of Jesus and the apostles.

EXPLORATION POINT

As Christianity has spread through the world, individuals have often shared their interpretations of Scripture. Some ideas have moved the church forward and been a great blessing, but others have distorted the true teachings of God's Word. False teachers are still with us. Each of us must carefully discern whom to listen to. We must evaluate new ideas by testing them against Scripture with the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Crete was saturated in Greek mythology. The Cretans believed the god Zeus was once a human who lived and died on Crete. He achieved divine status through his great deeds. The Christian teaching that God humbled himself and became human in Jesus Christ was a radical new way of thinking. Salvation based on God's mercy and grace was also an entirely new concept.

EXPLORATION POINT

Paul stresses the importance of proper Christian behavior in his letter to Titus. Our actions and attitudes show others that we are followers of Christ. We should treat others as God has treated us—with love, mercy, and kindness. The signature characteristic of Christianity is that we imitate God in our love for one another. Doing so is a testament to our faith.

Timothy's grandmother, Lois, and mother, Eunice, were Jews who had converted to Christianity. They had raised Timothy in the Jewish faith, so he was well versed in Old Testament teaching, but he had not been circumcised because his father was Greek. Timothy joined Paul's missionary team while Paul was ministering in the province of Galatia during his second missionary journey. Timothy was a "young disciple" from Lystra who was highly regarded by the Christian believers in that city and in Iconium.

Paul encourages Timothy to "never be ashamed to tell others about our Lord." This commission is for every Christian in all times. We have a tremendous gift from God that is absolutely free. It revolutionizes and revitalizes our lives. Yet we frequently keep it to ourselves. In Iconium a crowd planned to stone Paul and Barnabas, but they managed to escape before that happened. In Lystra the people stoned Paul after mistaking him for a god. Timothy was also from Lystra, so he was well aware of the persecution to which Paul referred.

Much of Paul's advice in chapter 2 centers around the importance of constructive speech and discussion. In an increasingly divisive world, we would do well to heed Paul's words. He advises believers to avoid inflammatory speech and cautions us against becoming embroiled in "useless arguments." culture and lifestyle. These Romans mistreat the Christians, hoping that they will deny their faith.

OBSERVATION POINT

The persecution that Peter refers to affected many aspects of a Christian's life. The general public, not the government, was the source of the opposition. Christians were falsely accused of misbehavior and were often brought to court. They were discriminated against and endured unfair treatment that affected their families, their employment, and their relationships with friends and acquaintances.

EXPLORATION POINT

Our Christian identity is secure. As believers we are a chosen people: a royal priesthood and a holy nation (2:9). We serve as priests before the King of kings and Lord of lords. The hairstyles and clothing of Greco-Roman women in the first century were very elaborate. Sometimes the women wove gold threads through their braids. A wealthy Roman woman's slaves might spend the entire day perfecting her appearance prior to a social event. Peter advised against this excessive adornment because it was time consuming, expensive, and attracted the wrong kind of attention.

EXPLORATION POINT

Peter advises Christians, "Keep a humble attitude. Don't repay evil for evil. Don't retaliate with insults." But many of us, even Christians, applaud the exact opposite behavior in other people. Drama, angst, and turmoil are inevitable in life, but we should not seek such things. God's desire is for us to live in harmony, love, and peace with others. He reminds them that persecution is not a cause for shame but an opportunity to rejoice, because it proves that they are living for Jesus.

1PET 4:1–5:14

OBSERVATION POINT

Peter reminds his audience that the devil is very real. Throughout the Bible the devil is depicted as various vicious animals: a serpent (Genesis 3), a roaring lion (1 Peter 5), and a dragon (Revelation 20). These are dangerous, powerful, cunning creatures. We should keep these images in mind and be on guard against the presence of evil, which is crouching at our doors, eager to control us (Genesis 4:7).

EXPLORATION POINT

Peter acknowledges that Christians are vulnerable to slander from people who live the “old” way. Slander is probably the most common kind of suffering that Western Christians experience today. We may be mocked for being naïve, old fashioned, ridiculous, prudish, or narrow minded. Persevering may be difficult for us now, but Peter reminds us that all people will eventually face God and answer for their actions.

He offers a sharp warning to the believers about false teachers whose teachings are threatening the church. He also encourages Christians to grow in God's grace.

2PET 1:1-21

OBSERVATION POINT

Verses 12-15 are a good example of a popular Jewish literary genre called a “testament.” Near the end of his life, a highly respected Jewish leader would share his testament with others, which included blessings for family members, predictions of their futures, final instructions, and moral teachings. Other testaments in the Bible include Jacob’s blessing of his twelve sons (Genesis 48–49) and David’s instructions to Solomon (1 Kings 2).

EXPLORATION POINT

According to Peter, all Scripture is true. We can trust every part of the Old and New Testaments to be accurate and authentic. The Scriptures are not just a collection of myths and stories handed down from one generation to the next. They form a unique category of literature inspired by the Holy Spirit. Jude, the brother of James and half brother of Jesus, writes this very brief letter to the Christian church around AD 65. This letter has a single focus: to warn believers against succumbing to false teaching. Jude encourages believers to stay true to the faith by painting a grim picture of these false teachers and their ultimate destiny. Jude's reminders of the dangers of false teaching are especially important in a culture that has so many distorted ideas about Christianity.

JUDE 1:1-25

OBSERVATION POINT

The prophecy of Enoch that Jude quotes in verses 14-15 refers to the book of 1 Enoch, which was written during the 400-year time period between the end of the Old Testament era and the birth of Jesus. This book belongs to a genre of Jewish apocalyptic literature that arose after the Old Testament era and that used the names of famous Old Testament figures as pseudonyms. Even though these books are not Scripture, they provide excellent insight into Jewish thinking.

EXPLORATION POINT

For centuries the teachings of Christianity have been analyzed, summarized, and clarified. Some thinkers have changed the church for the better. They have created unity and have kept the church's teachings true to Scripture. Others have created dissension, confusion, and division. False teachers are as prevalent today as in the first century. Christians need to know what they believe. Offering something between a sermon and a letter, the author of Hebrews addresses a community of Christians, probably living in Rome, who are very familiar with Jewish theology. These Christians seem to be struggling with uncertainty about the adequacy of faith in Jesus, so the author of Hebrews reminds them clearly that Jesus is the only way to have a relationship with God.

READ:

HEB 1:1-14

OBSERVATION POINT

Angels held a prominent place in Jewish theology. The Old Testament often mentions angels but provides little explanation about them. During the exile in Babylon, some Jews became more interested in angels, picking up ideas from other cultures. In popular thought, angels helped to bridge the huge gap between the human and the divine. By the first century, believing in angels was natural and taken for granted, though one Jewish group, the Sadducees, did not believe in angels at all.

EXPLORATION POINT

The writer of Hebrews clearly states Jesus' significance. Jesus is divine as well as human. He created the universe, radiates God's glory, reveals God's character, and sustains all things by his powerful command. We have the privilege of being in a personal relationship with him, the Son of God. We are friends with a caring God who controls the universe yet is also aware of every hair that falls from our heads.

As the letter to the Hebrews continues, its author calls Jewish Christians to faithfulness and reminds them of their history as a wandering people in the wilderness. The writer reassures them that God's promise of rest still holds true and that Christ is their High Priest. But these believers are in need of some reminders about even more fundamental things. The author addresses their current spiritual condition and calls on them to move toward spiritual maturity.

HEB 5:11–6:20

OBSERVATION POINT

The “baptisms” mentioned in chapter 6 probably refer to the various forms of baptism we see in the New Testament era: John the Baptist’s baptism, the baptism for new converts to Judaism, and the baptism that Jesus commanded. The laying on of hands also had several different purposes. The New Testament connects it with healing, receiving the Holy Spirit, blessing others, and commissioning someone for ministry. These were common and accepted practices within the church and did not require additional explanation and discussion.

EXPLORATION POINT

The writer calls the believers “spiritually dull” because they were being dimwitted and lazy in their approach to faith. The condition of these first-century Christians can befall us today. Sometimes our walk of faith becomes so routine to us that we get lulled into a state of spiritual apathy. If this happens, the answer is not to go looking for trendy new ideas, but to develop a deeper understanding and appreciation for the fundamental truths of our faith.

He provides many reasons why the way of Jesus is superior to the ways people related to God in the past. Jesus is a better High Priest, offering a more lasting sacrifice than the priests of the Old Testament law did.

Because Jesus is the only way forward, we must be careful not to go backwards.

HEB 10:19-39

374 OF 386

OBSERVATION POINT

This passage of Hebrews uses the Temple's Most Holy Place and the old requirements for offerings and sacrifices as illustrations of Christ's work. Water was necessary for purification rites. Sprinkling blood was necessary for the sacrifice for forgiving sin. The Most Holy Place was separated from the larger area of the Tabernacle by a curtain. Christ's coming changed everything. His death on the cross replaced the need for sacrifices. At his death, the curtain in front of the Most Holy Place ripped in half, indicating that all believers could now enter God's presence directly.

EXPLORATION POINT

It is possible that persecution led some believers to stop worshiping together for fear that their gathering would draw attention and cause problems. But worshiping as a community was vital. They needed to support and care for one another. Our circumstances today are quite different, but it is still vitally important for believers to worship together. We must make every effort to gather with other believers regularly to worship and to support one another in our faith. The church of Christ is one body with many members who need one another.

In the big story, God has always wanted his people to rely on him and demonstrate their faith by the way they lived. There are many examples of these faithful people throughout the Bible. The writer of Hebrews regularly refers to Jewish history in order to connect with the audience and keep their attention. Now the writer focuses on the great heroes of Jewish history who remained strong in their faith. This passage expounds on the lives of well-known historical figures as examples of those who believed in God's promise.

READ:

HEB 11:1-40

OBSERVATION POINT

Many heroes are mentioned by name; others are not. The phrase “shut the mouths of lions, [and] quenched the flames of fire” probably refers, respectively, to Daniel in the lions’ den and to Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the fiery furnace. The prophets Elijah and Jeremiah both escaped death by the sword, and Elijah and Elisha brought people back from the dead. But faith doesn’t guarantee good outcomes. It is believed that Jeremiah was stoned to death and that Isaiah was sawed in half. Almost two centuries before Christ’s birth, many faithful Jews suffered and died in a struggle against Antiochus IV.

EXPLORATION POINT

These Old Testament heroes are examples of faith for Christians to follow. They were not perfect; they were flawed humans, and yet Hebrews holds them up as worthy of our recognition and emulation. They persevered as they clung to God's promise, even though they died long before the promise was fulfilled. We live knowing that God did keep his promise to send the Messiah and save the world. Allusions to athletic activities were common in letter writing during the first century. Physical contests, particularly races, were very popular in Greco-Roman culture. Spectators would line the course and fill the stadium, but the runners would stay focused on the goal by fixing their eyes on the judges at the finish line. Athletes ran in races unhindered by excess clothing to avoid even the slightest encumbrance.

John wrote about matters he knew well, matters that changed his life forever.

EXPLORATION POINT

Just as it was in John's day, the church is bombarded with ideas and philosophies that alter or dismiss the basics of the Christian faith. Christ is the only way to the Father. Don't be distracted by other options. Live your life as Jesus did: in love and in the light. Don't wander toward the darkness to which the world beckons you.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER

John continues to instruct the Christians of the first-century church, calling on them to live lives marked by the love that Jesus has given them. But he mixes the uplifting words with cautionary advice about the ongoing presence of antichrists, false prophets, and incorrect teachings. John reminds his audience that they must be diligent in both their theology and their love for one another.

1JN 3:18–4:21

OBSERVATION POINT

John refers to the story in Genesis 4. Cain and Abel, the sons of Adam and Eve, had different occupations: Cain was a farmer, Abel a shepherd. When they brought sacrifices to God, Cain brought just "some" of his crops while Abel brought the "best" of his flock. God accepted Abel's sacrifice, but rejected Cain's because of his attitude in bringing an inferior sacrifice. As a result Cain hated his brother and killed him.

EXPLORATION POINT

Christianity is more than just a philosophy—it's a way of life. We can't confess our faith in worship services and then set it aside when we leave the building. Our faith goes with us. It permeates our thoughts and actions every day of the week. This is a high standard to follow, but we aren't alone. Jesus "lives in us because the Spirit he gave us lives in us." Through the Spirit's power we are able to confidently show our faith through our actions.

The apostle John writes these two short letters around the same time as the first one. Second John is addressed to a specific church and its members and cautions them to avoid those who spread false teachings about Jesus. Third John is a personal note to John's friend Gaius, and it highlights the importance of supporting those who preach the Good News. Both letters provide valuable advice and insights.

2JN 1:1—3JN 1:14

OBSERVATION POINT

Hospitality in the late first century was expected of believers. To welcome someone into your home indicated that you approved not only of the person but of the message that person proclaimed. Through the practice of hospitality, the church was established in homes where gracious hosts and hostesses received early missionaries and believed the gospel. But being hospitable to itinerant teachers and preachers also made church members vulnerable to false teachings. They needed to judge quickly if a new teaching fit with the basic truth of the Christian faith: Christ is God himself in the flesh.

EXPLORATION POINT

The importance of hospitality is evident throughout the New Testament. Although hosting overnight guests may not be as great a necessity now as it was in the first century, all Christians need to promote godly fellowship with one another by inviting one another into their homes. Being with other Christians makes us strong in our faith and less prone to wander from the truth. We shouldn't let pride get in the way of entertaining others. Sharing what we have, no matter how simple or elegant, will keep our faith and fellowship strong.

JOHN'S MESSAGE TO THE CHURCHES

The apostle John, "the disciple Jesus loved," is being persecuted for his faith. He has been sent into exile on the desolate island of Patmos. While there, he receives strange and fantastic visions from the Lord. God instructs John to write letters to seven prominent churches in Asia (modern-day Turkey) to share his visions, give them hope, and call them to repentance.

REV 1:1–2:29

OBSERVATION POINT

Various heresies threatened the early Christian church. Not much is known about the Nicolaitans (2:6, 15), but they seemed to be linked with people who ate food sacrificed to idols and who were involved in sexual immorality. While the church in Ephesus strongly rejected the Nicolaitans, some believers in the church of Pergamum accepted their teaching and practices, and in Thyatira the followers of Jezebel might have also been Nicolaitans.

EXPLORATION POINT

The church in Ephesus faced a problem familiar to many of us. When they were new Christians, they enthusiastically received the faith. But after a time their fervor waned, and they became complacent. John reminds them and us that although we work hard and remain loyal to God, we do not always maintain the enthusiasm we had when we were new to the faith. We must continue to renew our faith and our devotion to God.

JOHN'S MESSAGE TO THE CHURCHES

WORSHIP IN HEAVEN

After transcribing the messages for the seven churches in Asia, John changes his focus. Now he describes in detail the setting for the drama that he sees in his vision of heaven. The events that John describes are a heavenly drama that highlights the significance of God's agent (the Messiah) in world events. Heavenly realities are directly connected to the things that happen here on earth.

READ:

REV 4:1–5:14

OBSERVATION POINT

The drama that unfolds in Revelation takes place in God's heavenly throne room. The description here stretches our imaginations to help us envision God enthroned in power and majesty, surrounded by living creatures who continually worship him in awe. John does not describe God because no one can see him, but he gives us vivid images of precious gems and glistening light, radiance and splendor. These images help us visualize a throne that surpasses any royal seat on earth.

EXPLORATION POINT

Few of us will ever be in the presence of a monarch, president, or head of state. But we have the opportunity for a much greater encounter. Through God's Son Jesus, we have the privilege of direct access to the Almighty, the Creator of the universe. What a blessing and inspiration to know that we are his children and that he loves us. Knowing this and reading John's descriptions of God's throne room should empower us to persevere in faithfulness to God.

THE WOMAN AND THE DRAGON

The stage for the drama is set, and the action begins to heat up. John has described how the Lamb opens a scroll by breaking open the seven seals of judgment. Then seven angels sound the trumpets of judgment. These judgments make it clear that God does not take sin lightly. And now John's vision takes another dramatic turn: A great conflict begins with a confrontation between a woman and a large red dragon.

REV 12:1-18

OBSERVATION POINT

The images in this vision could represent the realities of what was occurring in history. The Roman government was promoting the divinity of the emperor and coercing its people into worshiping him. Participation in the imperial cult was required throughout the empire. Jews and Christians alike struggled against the norm and were persecuted for their beliefs. John's vision of conflict in heaven made first century believers aware of the spiritual realities underlying their struggles and reassured them of Christ's ultimate victory.

EXPLORATION POINT

For those who keep God's commands and continue to believe in Jesus, the battle will be fierce, but the faithful will win in the end. Chaos and power-hungry people may threaten us, but they will not win. God doesn't shield believers from suffering, persecution, or death, but he does provide strength to fight off spiritual attacks and endure suffering. God is on his throne. He is in control. Do not be afraid. Nothing is greater than our Creator.

The conflict between the dragon and the woman ends, but new monsters appear: a beast from the sea and another from the earth. Both monsters are servants of the dragon. The beast from the sea brazenly blasphemes God and attacks believers, while the beast from the earth threatens to kill those who don't worship the first beast. But the Lamb from heaven will be victorious.

REV 14:1-20

OBSERVATION POINT

The number 144,000—the 12,000 individuals from each of the twelve tribes of Israel in chapter 7—represents all faithful Christians who belong to God. The original twelve tribes were scattered across the world after being conquered by the Assyrians and the Babylonians centuries earlier. Only a small remnant from the tribe of Judah returned to their homeland. The early Christian church viewed itself symbolically as the tribes of Israel—God's chosen people.

EXPLORATION POINT

The harvest of the earth and then of the grapes is symbolic of God gathering the people of the world to stand before him and be judged. The scene depicted here is tumultuous and frightening; perhaps it will be. But those who believe in Jesus have nothing to dread. We will stand before God to answer for our deeds, but we will be shielded from his wrath. Because Jesus has already taken upon himself the punishment we deserve, God will declare us innocent.

THE NEW JERUSALEM

While in exile on the island of Patmos, John experiences amazing visions. These visions give the early Christian church great hope that God will be victorious in all things. God's big story has always been a story of hope for the future. God made covenant promises with his people—for a son, a great nation, a homeland. He provided hope even in times of despair—hope for restoration, renewal, and a Messiah. God continues to promise a future of hope for his church. He shows John his plans through this vision, and God has preserved it to share with the world.

READ: Revelation 21:1–22:6

REV 21:1–22:6

OBSERVATION POINT

The description of the holy city contains imagery from the Garden of Eden, the city of Jerusalem, and the Temple. The Eden imagery is seen in God's dwelling among his people, the springs of the water of life, and the tree of life. The city of Jerusalem is depicted in the imagery of foundation stones, gates, and massive walls. And the shape of the city (a perfect square) corresponds with that of the Most Holy Place, the innermost sanctum of the Temple. An actual Temple is no longer needed because God's presence permeates the entire holy city.

EXPLORATION POINT

God created humans so that he could be in loving relationship with them. Ever since sin shattered that intended relationship, God has been working toward restoration. Covenants, promises, commandments, and the incarnate presence of his Son have all been steps in the process of showing humans his great love for them. The day will come when God will make all things new again. His creation will be restored, and his relationship with his children will be perfected. On that day, sin will be completely eradicated, and every human will bow before him and call him Lord!

As the Christian church grew, so did opposition to the new Christian beliefs and their new way of living. The persecuted churches needed hope to persevere. The vision God gave to the apostle John provided great comfort for the early church, and it has continued to do so for the church through the centuries. That story of God's hope continues today. The big story that started at the beginning of time is not over yet. God will reveal himself in Christ the conquering King, and he will unite himself with his followers for all time.

READ:

REV 22:7-21

OBSERVATION POINT

In 22:16, Jesus clearly identifies himself and ties the past to the future. Long ago God promised his people that a star would come from Jacob (Numbers 24:17). To Isaiah he promised that a shoot would come from “the stump of David’s family” (Isaiah 11:1). When Jesus walked the earth, people knew he was the son of David (Matthew 22:42). What was promised so many centuries before has come true. In one statement, Jesus unites thousands of years of prophecies and history.

What a triumphant ending! God promises to come again to earth to be with his people. We can rejoice—there's a happy ending to God's big story. And we are all going to be part of it!

WAITING FOR CHRIST
The story of God's chosen people did not end with the Revelation of John; it continued through the centuries to the present. Although the writings of the early church fathers are not included in the Bible, they contributed to the church's foundation and its beliefs. The beliefs established and recorded during the early centuries of church history are expressed in the creeds and confessions that are based on the biblical canon and have guided the church for ages. In the two thousand years since Jesus came to earth, his followers have spread the Good News to every continent of the world. Christianity has greatly shaped Western civilization, influencing law, ethics, social practices, philosophy, the arts, and politics. Much of the modern West is steeped in Judeo-Christian beliefs, first formed in the Old Testament and renewed by Jesus Christ. Today, over two billion people call themselves Christians and are waiting for Christ's glorious return to earth.

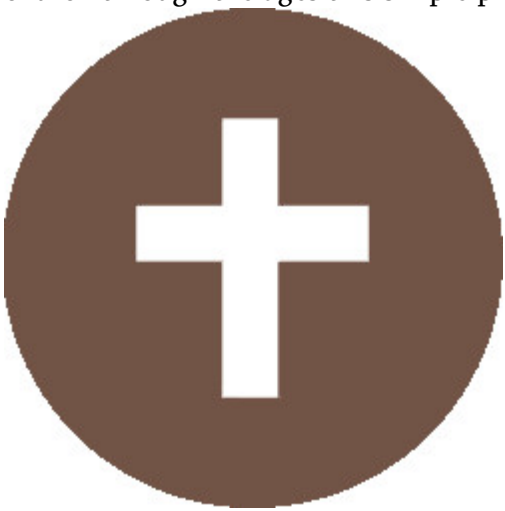
WHERE ARE WE GOING?

Just as all believers in the past have waited, we too wait for God to fulfill his promise that Jesus will come again to reign in glory. We do not know when he will come, but we live in faithful anticipation of his triumphant return. As we wait, we live in faithful obedience to God, doing what he has called us to do in life to bring him glory and promote his Kingdom. With expectation, we pray with the church through the ages this simple prayer: "Come, Lord Jesus!"



JESUS AS TRUE NORTH

From the time of Creation, Jesus has been present in the world. He was present when the universe was set in place, and he was present with the chosen people of the Old Testament. He came to earth as a human baby and lived with his people for thirty-three years. He suffered and died for the sins of the world, then he conquered death when he rose again—all so that he could be with the people and creation he loved. After he ascended into heaven, he gave his Spirit to his people, comforting them and enabling them to boldly share the Good News with others. Jesus' followers live for him, worship him, and bring him glory. At a time known only to God, Jesus will come again to earth and reign in glory over the new creation. He will be with us forever.

WHERE IN THE WORLD ARE WE?

Gen 2:8-9

GARDEN OF EDEN

The exact location of the Garden of Eden remains a mystery, but we do know its general vicinity. The Tigris and Euphrates Rivers are the clearest landmarks. We also know that early civilization centered in the Fertile Crescent, the area sweeping through modern-day Kuwait, Iraq, Syria, and Israel. Eden was located either in the northern mountains around the source of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, or in the southern delta region, closer to the Persian Gulf.

Gen 4:17

THE CITY OF ENOCH

Cain might have built this city in order to defy God's punishment—the curse that Cain would always be wandering. Or God may have used the city to protect Cain as he promised. Walls surrounded the city to protect its inhabitants. The city, named after Cain's firstborn son, Enoch, is the first city mentioned in the Bible. This Enoch is a completely different person than the one who walked with God and never died (Genesis 5:22-24).

Gen 8:3-4

THE MOUNTAINS OF ARARAT

The mountains of Ararat may be the same mountain range that today is located southeast of the Black Sea near Lake Van. This mountain range spreads across parts of modern-day Turkey, Armenia, and Iran. A Mount Ararat is located in eastern Turkey, but the Bible refers to a range of mountains, not one specific summit.

Gen 10:32

NATIONS OF THE WORLD

The descendants of Noah's three sons—Shem, Ham, and Japheth—became the great nations of the ancient Near East. Shem's descendants went to northern Arabia and Mesopotamia, Ham's descendants headed into Africa and southern Arabia, and Japheth's family scattered to Asia Minor and Europe. The stories of the Old Testament focus on Shem's descendants and the enemy nations that collided with them.

Gen 11:4

TOWER OF BABEL

The tower was likely a much larger version of the ziggurats of ancient Mesopotamia. The ziggurat was a common temple structure in ancient Babylonia, built in the center of a city to encourage deities to come down to earth. The people believed the deities would then enter the temple and bless those who worshiped them. This temple-tower did produce the expected result—God indeed came down from heaven, but he did not give them his blessing.

Gen 11:28

UR OF THE CHALDEANS

Ur was an important city in Mesopotamia, established centuries before Abram was born. It had a complex system of government and trade, as well as a writing system that was used for issuing receipts, making contracts, and drafting other legal documents. Sir Leonard Woolley's excavation of Ur in 1922–1934 disclosed that the civilization was highly developed. The city itself contained streets, drains, two-story houses, a temple tower, and roads linking it with other cities in the region.

Gen 13:1

THE NEGEV

The Negev was the desert region southeast of the fertile area in Canaan. The region's economy depended primarily on herding sheep, goats, and camels. Major trade routes also ran through the Negev.

Gen 18:1–19:38

SODOM AND GOMORRAH

Sodom and Gomorrah were located on the south end of the Dead Sea in the Jordan Valley. In Abraham's time, this area was densely populated and very fertile, with a major water source. The exact location of these cities is uncertain because the area became desolate over time. Some believe that the ruins of the cities lie in the shallow waters of the Dead Sea.

Gen 34:1-31

SHECHEM

The city itself was fortified by massive earth embankments topped with walls made from bricks and sitting on a stone foundation. Inside the city was a palace temple complex consisting of many rooms. The population was substantial, but it is uncertain how many men were slaughtered or how many women and children were captured.

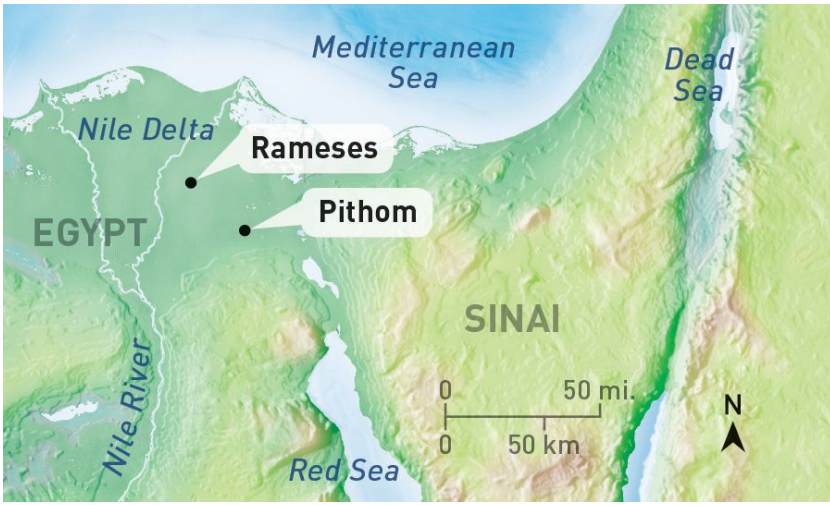
Egypt was a powerful nation and an influential culture. God used Joseph's move to Egypt to shape his family and their descendants in ways that even Joseph never dreamed.



Exod 1:11

PITHOM AND RAMESES

The modern cities of Tell el-Maskhutah and Qantir are located where Pithom and Rameses once stood. These ancient cities were located in the northern region of Egypt, in the Nile delta. Both were built during the Late Bronze period when the Hebrews were living in Egypt (1550–1250 BC).

Exod 2:15

MIDIAN

Midian was the region just east of the Gulf of Aqaba—beyond the southern Sinai Peninsula on the western edge of the Arabian Peninsula. Southern Arabia was connected to Egypt by a trade route that passed through this desert region. Living in Midian prepared Moses to lead the Hebrews when they later traveled through this area.

Exod 7:20-25

THE NILE DELTA

The Nile River was and continues to be the great river of Egypt, providing water and thus life to this otherwise dry region. Because the Nile flows north from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean, the Nile region in the south is called “Upper Egypt.” The yearly flooding of the river brought minerals and silt as well as water to the delta, creating a vast fertile plain.

Exod 15:27

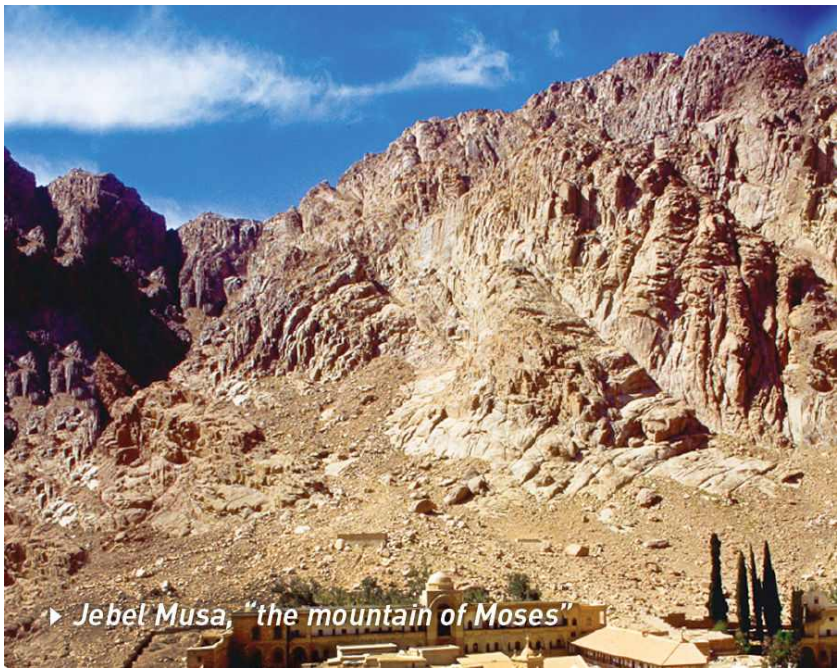
ELIM

Elim was an oasis in the desert that had twelve springs and seventy palm trees. This was the second stop for the Hebrews after crossing the Red Sea. It is thought to be located seven miles south of modern-day Ain Hawarah in the fertile valley of Gharandel.

Exod 19:1-2

WILDERNESS OF SINAI

The wilderness of Sinai is a small region located in the south-central area of the Sinai Peninsula. It is a mountainous area containing Mount Sinai. The highest peaks of these granite mountains reach eight thousand feet above sea level and are snow covered in winter. The Israelites camped in this region for over a year.



Jebel Musa, "the mountain of Moses"

Exod 19:3-8

MOUNT SINAI

Mount Sinai is a mountain in the southernmost part of the Sinai Peninsula. It is also called Mount Horeb or the mountain of God. God first spoke to Moses here in the form of a burning bush. Later, on the same mountain, he gave Moses the law and the Ten Commandments while the Israelites camped below on the desert plain.

Lev 7:37-38

MOUNT SINAI

Mount Sinai was a peak in the mountain range of the southern Sinai Peninsula. The mountain is also referred to as “Horeb” and “the mountain of God.” Two major revelations from God happened here: He declared his name, “Yahweh,” to Moses in the burning bush; and later, he presented the Ten Commandments and the law to Moses. Some scholars believe that Jebel Musa, a 7,363-foot granite mountain rising high above the plain below, is likely the modern-day site.

Num 6:22-27

THE PRIESTLY BLESSING

This simple but elegant Hebrew blessing has comforted millions of believers since the time of Moses. In 1979 excavators discovered two silver scrolls in a rock tomb in Ketef Hinnom, southwest of the original city of Jerusalem. These scrolls contained phrasing very similar to the blessing recorded in Numbers 6:24, demonstrating the timeless relevance of these sacred words.

Num 8:1-4

THE LAMPSTAND

The lampstand symbolized the light of God's presence among his people. Bezalel had originally fashioned it after almond branches with buds and petals holding each lamp. It was made of pure gold and weighed seventy-five pounds.

Num 12:16

THE WILDERNESS OF PARAN

The Hebrews camped in the wilderness of Paran while the spies explored the land. Little did they know that they were already inside the territory that God had promised to them. Their campsite eventually became part of the territory of the tribe of Judah and was known as Kadesh-barnea. About 400 years later, when David ruled the entire kingdom, Kadesh-barnea was located along the southernmost boundary of the kingdom, about fifty miles southwest of Beersheba.

The "king's highway" was a well-known trade route connecting Damascus to the Red Sea. Anyone traveling from one end to the other had to go through Edom. Edom still distrusted Israel. It was a nation of people descended from Esau, the brother of Jacob, and the resentment between these brothers was carried on by their descendants, turning two rivals into two warring nations. Today, the King's Highway in modern Jordan follows part of this 5,000-year-old route.

Num 33:11

WILDERNESS OF SIN

The Ten Commandments are the climax of the laws God gave to Moses on Mount Sinai. They clearly and succinctly state what humans must do to be in a relationship with a holy God. They are unique among all the other Old Testament laws, and are some of the only laws that appear twice in the Bible, first in Exodus 20 and again in Deuteronomy 5. These ten rules for living reflect God's character and speak to all people of every age.

Hazor was an exceptional city north of the Sea of Galilee. At its peak, it may have been home to as many as 40,000 people. But when Israel conquered the region, Hazor was the only city that Joshua burned to the ground (11:13). The excavated site clearly shows that the city was destroyed by fire in the latter part of 1200s BC, reinforcing the biblical account. By the time of Solomon, two hundred years later, the city was rebuilt and well-fortified and stood for almost three hundred years. Today, the site is known as Tell el-Qedah.

Shechem was a major site in Canaan, centrally located in the Promised Land. Jacob had purchased land near it (Genesis 33:18-19), leading to tragedy when his daughter Dinah was raped by the men of Shechem and Jacob's sons avenged her. Eventually Jacob gave the land to Joseph as an inheritance, and Joseph's burial in Shechem confirmed what God had promised—this land would belong to Abraham's descendants (Genesis 12:6-7).

Judg 3:8

BETWEEN THE TWO RIVERS

Aram-naharaim literally means "Aram of the two rivers." It was a region in northwestern Mesopotamia between the Euphrates and Balih Rivers. Some scholars say that Aram-naharaim refers to all of Mesopotamia—the region located between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. Isaac's wife, Rebekah, and Jacob's wives, Leah and Rachel, came from this area. Balaam the prophet also came from the land between the two rivers.

Judg 3:12

THE MOABITES

The Moabites lived across the Jordan River, southeast of the Promised Land. At this time, however, they were encroaching on Israel's territory west of the Jordan River as far as Jericho. God's people warred with the Moabites to drive them back into their own territory.

Judg 4:14

MOUNT TABOR

Mount Tabor is a 1,900-foot-high mountain located beside the Jezreel Valley. Barak's troops safely hid in the dense forests of this mountain until they were ready to attack the enemy.

Judg 6:1

THE LAND OF MIDIAN

The land of Midian was located to the south in the Arabian Peninsula and farther to the east, past the Gulf of Aqaba. Moses had fled to this region, married the daughter of Jethro, and lived there as a shepherd before the Exodus. These Midianite raiders were a long way from home and had joined forces with other Canaanites to harass God's people.

Judg 6:33

The valley of Jezreel was a popular battlefield during the time of the judges. Deborah and Barak had defeated Sisera in battle here. Now, years later, Gideon would face the Midianites in the same valley.

Judg 11:4

AMMON

Ammon was a nation located east of the Jordan River and outside the boundaries of the Promised Land. God had prohibited the Hebrews from taking the land of the Ammonites because he had designated it for the descendants of Lot (Deuteronomy 2:16-19). Contrary to the king's complaint, the Hebrews had not stolen his land because, at the time, another people, the Amorites, had lived there.

Judg 13:25

MAHANEH-DAN

Mahaneh-dan was Samson's hometown. It was either a small town or a temporary settlement about fifteen miles west of Jerusalem, in the valley of Sorek. It was situated at the pass that led into the territory of the Philistines, who had recently come to occupy the area.

Ruth 1:2

THE LAND OF MOAB

Moab was the country southeast of Israel on the opposite side of the Dead Sea. Because of its location, Moab usually received rain when Israel experienced drought. The Israelites despised the Moabites, calling them a cursed race (Deuteronomy 23:3-6). The Moabites descended from Lot's son Moab.

1 Sam 1:3

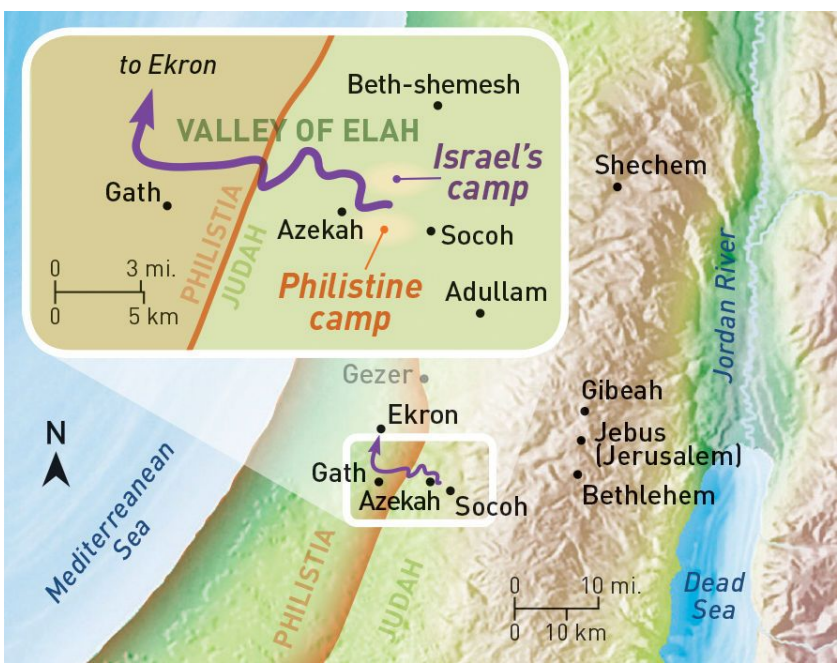
THE CITY OF SHILOH

Shiloh was a town in the territory of Ephraim, about 8.5 miles north of Bethel and 12 miles north of Jerusalem. Joshua placed the Tabernacle of God here (Joshua 18:1). It remained there for at least two hundred years until King David moved the special tent to Jerusalem.

1 Sam 5:6

THE CITY OF ASHDOD

Ashdod was one of the five major Philistine cities. From Gaza, it was located up the Great Trunk Road along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea. When the Philistines captured the Ark of the Covenant, they took it to the temple of Dagon here, and God sent a plague on the city.



1 Sam 17:19

THE VALLEY OF ELAH

The valley of Elah, located south and west of Bethlehem, stretched out over ten miles. The Israelite army camped in the mountains on the north side of the valley, and the Philistines in the mountains on the south side near Azekah and Socoh in Judah's territory. After defeating the Philistines, the Israelites chased them back into their own territory along the Mediterranean Sea.

1 Sam 19:18

THE CITY OF RAMAH

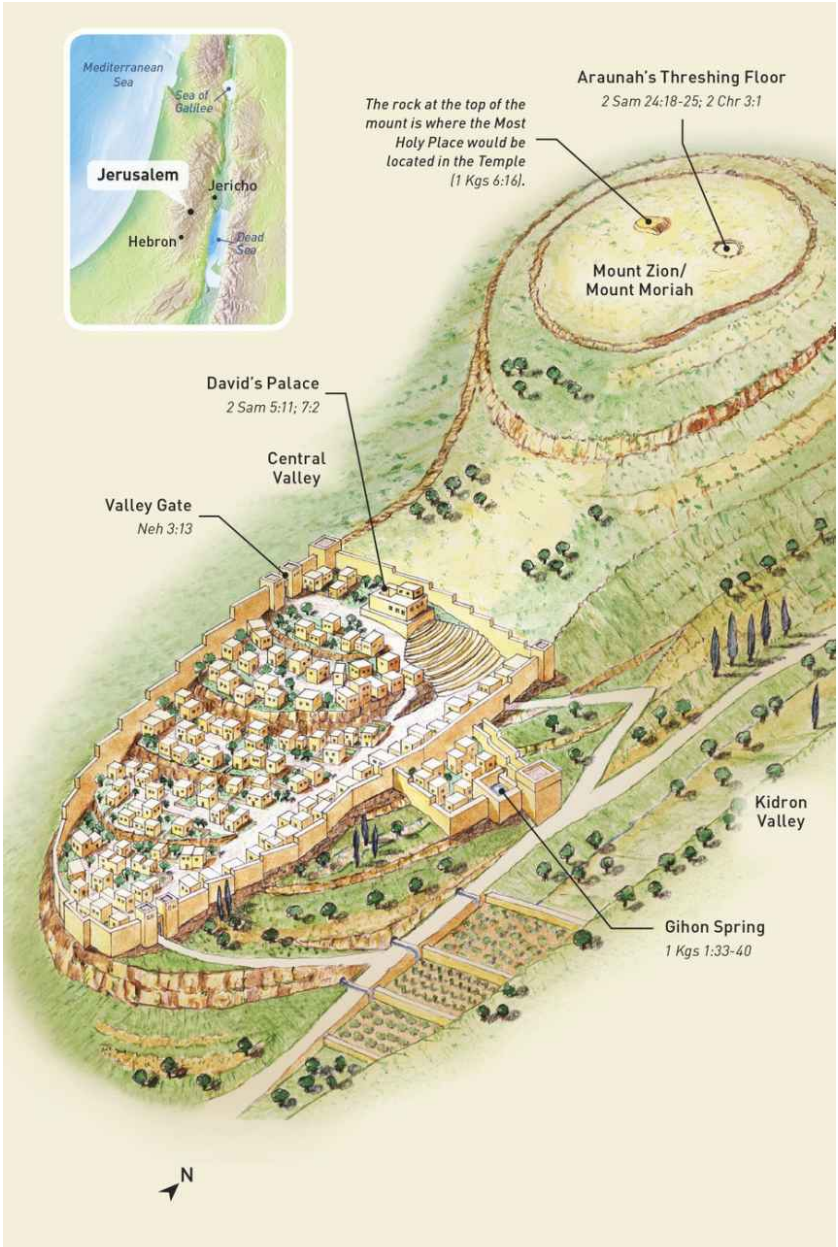
hundreds of people. The residents of En-gedi used the caves as homes and as burial sites.



2 Sam 5:6-7

JERUSALEM: THE CITY OF DAVID

Jerusalem was a well-established city four hundred years before David captured it from the Jebusites and made it Israel's capital. As the political and spiritual capital of Israel, Jerusalem was a walled fortress situated on a mountaintop, surrounded by valleys. Its location made it almost impregnable. Only three invaders successfully captured the city in the Old Testament: David (1004 BC), King Jehoash of Israel's northern kingdom (about 791 BC), and Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon (605 BC).

2 Sam 15:23

THE KIDRON VALLEY

The Kidron Valley runs north and south, separating Jerusalem in the west from the Mount of Olives in the east. The valley turns to the southwest for about 200 meters before turning south again, and the Temple and royal palace were situated in this crook. During Absalom's coup, David fled Jerusalem by crossing through this valley, and his descendent Jesus passed through this valley, too, crossing over to the Mount of Olives before his crucifixion. For these reasons, the Kidron Valley symbolizes suffering to this day.

2 Sam 18:18

ABSALOM'S MONUMENT

Absalom erected a pillar to remind people of his name and his presence on earth, since he did not have a son to carry on his memory. (Absalom did have three sons, but since their names are never given, scholars assume that they died as infants.) Much later in history, a second monument was placed in the valley east of Jerusalem to remember Absalom. It is still there today.

2 Sam 18:23

THE CITY OF MAHANAIM

The city of Mahanaim was located near the Jabbok River and east of the Jordan River. For increased security, this city had double walls with gates in each wall. Any invader would exert twice the effort to invade the city. David situated himself between the gates in the two walls, waiting for news of the battle. There was a small room above this gateway. From the roof of that room, the watchmen could see a great distance and announce a runner's approach.

THE CITY OF GIBEON

The city of Gibeon was located six miles northwest of Jerusalem. One of the most important places for worshiping God was here. Its huge bronze altar could accommodate the large royal sacrifices that Solomon made to the Lord. The Tabernacle from the time of Moses was also located here, but the Ark of the Covenant, which was normally housed in the Tabernacle, remained in Jerusalem in a special tent.

THE TEMPLE

Solomon's Temple stood on the site of the threshing floor of Araunah, which David had purchased. This is also the location of Mount Moriah, where Abraham had prepared to sacrifice his son Isaac to God. The Temple was located in the northeastern corner of Jerusalem, in a new section of the city that Solomon had fortified and built up so that a large flat area could accommodate the Temple. Today this area is known as "the old city" and surrounds the Dome of the Rock, an Islamic holy site.

1 Kgs 10:1-13

SHEBA

Sheba was a prosperous commercial center located in southwestern Arabia (modern-day Yemen). The people of Sheba traded extensively throughout Africa, India, and Syria. Sailors on the merchant ships told tales of Solomon's vast wealth and wisdom, spreading the news along the trade routes of the ancient world.

The region of Samaria

1 Kgs 16:29-32

SAMARIA

Samaria, the capital city of the northern kingdom of Israel for 150 years, was established by King Omri as the new capital when he relocated the seat of government from the city of Tirzah, which was farther east. Samaria, centrally located in the northern kingdom, rose 300 feet above the fertile valleys below. Extensive excavations in the twentieth century uncovered the remains of a palace built there during the time of Omri and Ahab.

1 Kgs 18:1-40

MOUNT CARMEL

Mount Carmel crowns a mountain ridge at the entrance to the Jezreel Valley in what was once the tribal territory of Asher. It was a prime location for challenging Baal worship. The mountain rises 556 feet above the Mediterranean Sea, overlooking the harbor of the modern-day city of Haifa.

Hazor, near Israel's border with Aram

2 Kgs 5:1

THE LAND OF ARAM

Aram, once part of David and Solomon's kingdom, was a nation northeast of Israel. Damascus, its capital city, was established at an oasis watered by the clear Abana and Pharpar Rivers. Throughout its history, Aram battled with Israel's kings. The kingdom of Aram ended in 732 BC when the Assyrians conquered the entire region.

2 Kgs 23:33

THE CITY OF RIBLAH

Riblah was a fortified city in Aram that served as a political and military administration center for armies controlling that territory. Political prisoners and captives of war were detained and judged here. It was sixty miles northeast of Damascus on the Orontes River. Pharaoh Neco imprisoned King Jehoahaz of Judah in Riblah until he transported him to Egypt as a prisoner.

1 Chr 29:4

THE LAND OF OPHIR

Some of the descendants of Noah's son Shem inhabited a region called Ophir. It was located either somewhere in India, Arabia (possibly present-day Oman), or on the east coast of Africa (possibly present-day Somalia). Famous for its gold mines, it may also have been a stopping point for ships sailing the trade route to India. Gold is no longer mined there.

2 Chr 13:4

MOUNT ZEMARAIM

Mount Zemaraim was probably located on the border between the tribes of Ephraim and Benjamin—that is, between the northern and southern kingdoms. Its mountain range was north of the city of Mizpah, near Bethel. Mount Zemaraim shared its name with a town in the northern part of Benjamin's territory.

2 Chr 21:10

THE TOWN OF LIBNAH

Libnah was a town located at the western end of the Valley of Elah and bordering Philistine territory. Joshua originally captured it and designated it for the Levites and as a city of refuge for all the people. The town fought for its independence while King Jehoram was busy fighting the Edomites some seventy miles to the southeast, on the edge of the kingdom of Judah.

2 Chr 30:5

BOUNDARIES OF ISRAEL

Beersheba was the southernmost city in the Promised Land. Dan was the city farthest to the north. Mentioning these two cities implied that Hezekiah's invitation was sent to the farthest points of what had once been the united kingdom, even if those cities were now controlled by other nations.

2 Chr 32:30

HEZEKIAH'S TUNNEL

King Hezekiah's tunnel (see 2 Kings 20:20) was a famous engineering feat in the ancient world. He commissioned a tunnel to be dug under the city through solid rock to transport water into Jerusalem, even if the city was under siege. Fresh water from the Gihon Spring flowed through the tunnel to the pool of Siloam. The tunnel was six feet high and almost a third of a mile long. In 1837 Edward Robinson explored the tunnel. Later, in 1880, children found an inscription on the tunnel wall marking the spot where the workers met after digging from opposite ends.

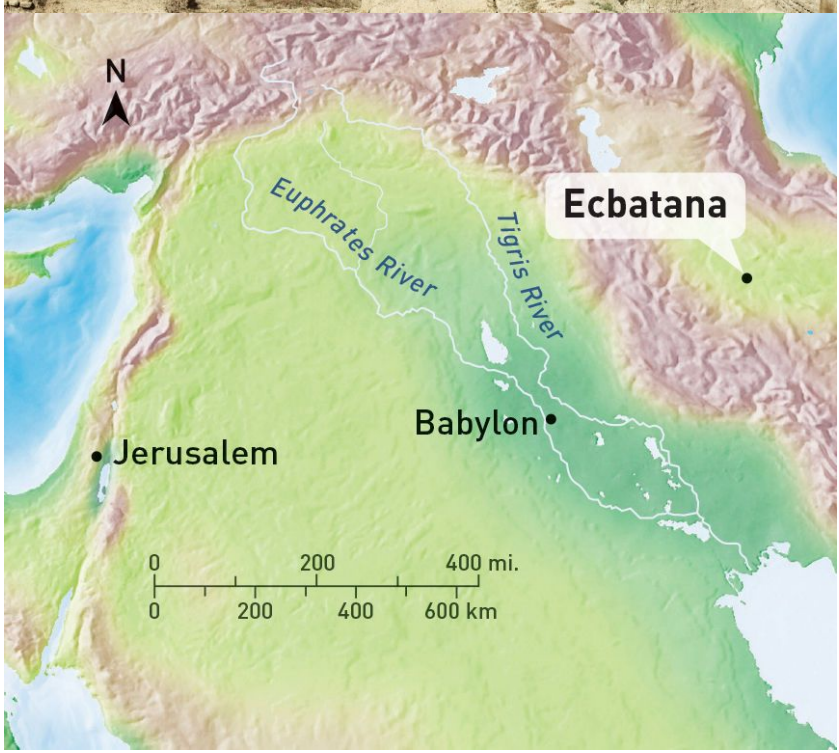
Excavation at Ecbatana



Ezra 6:2

THE CITY OF ECBATANA

The city of Ecbatana, about 300 miles northeast of Babylon, was the location of the Persian king's summer home. It was one of four capital cities in the empire, along with Babylon, Persepolis, and Susa. Today Ecbatana is the Iranian city of Hamadan. The ancient city's ruins have not yet been fully excavated.

Ezra 8:15

THE AHAVA CANAL

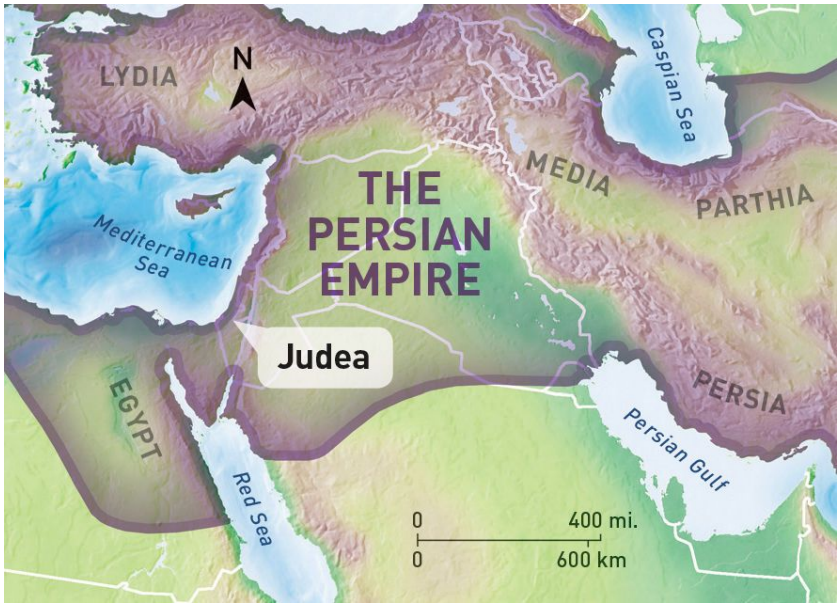
The Ahava Canal was a waterway near Babylon that flowed from the Euphrates River, bringing water to areas throughout the Persian Empire. Its exact location is not known.

The prophet Daniel's tomb in Susa, Iran

Neh 1:1

THE CITY OF SUSA

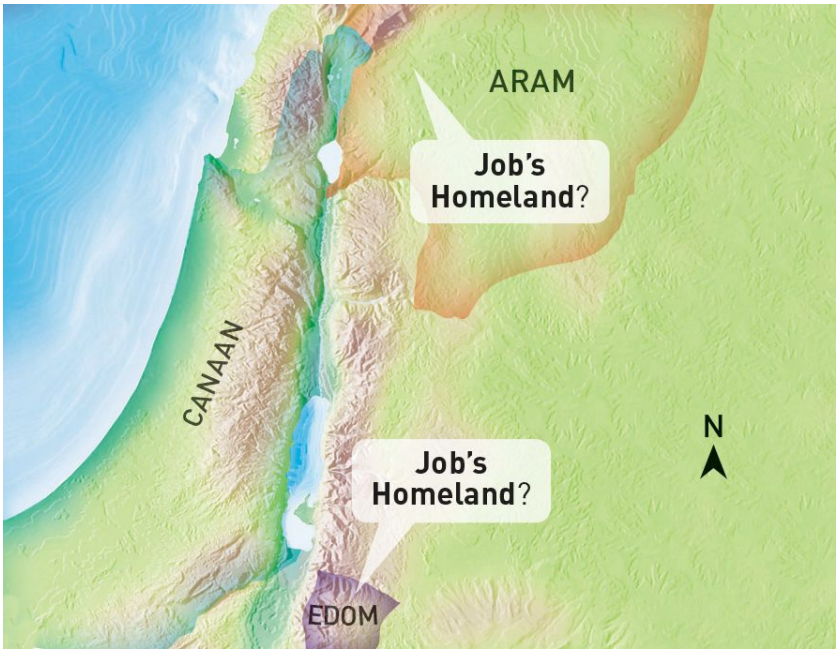
Susa was the winter residence of the Persian kings. There were three other capital cities in the Persian Empire: Babylon, Ecbatana, and Persepolis. Nehemiah served the king in Susa, and one of Daniel's visions took place there as well (Daniel 8:2). The citadel at Susa was a fortified complex containing the acropolis and palace and was separate from the rest of the city. During the 1800s, archaeologists verified that Xerxes renovated the palace extensively while he was king.



Esth 1:1-2

THE PERSIAN EMPIRE

The Persian Empire in Esther's time extended from present-day Pakistan to southern Egypt, Sudan, and northern Ethiopia. King Xerxes tried to extend his empire by invading Greece but was unsuccessful. Herodotus, a Greek historian, recorded that the Persian Empire was organized into twenty satrapies, or territories. The provinces were smaller administrative units within each satrapy; Judah was one of those 127 provinces.



Job 1:1

THE LAND OF UZ

The location of the land of Uz is difficult to determine. It was possibly in the area of Edom located to the southeast of Canaan, on the other side of the Jordan River. It could also have been somewhere near Aram to the north. It was close to a desert (Job 1:19), but it had fertile land ideal for raising sheep and cattle. Wherever it was, it was quite a distance from where God's chosen people lived at that time.

Job 27:8

ANCIENT WRITINGS ABOUT SUFFERING

The book of Job is similar to many other ancient Near Eastern literary texts, suggesting that, for a very long time, people have asked, “Why is there suffering?” The Canaanite legend of King Keret, the Egyptian text “Dispute over Suicide,” and the Babylonian poems “I Will Praise the Lord of Wisdom” and “Babylonian Theodicy” all have aspects that are similar to the story of Job. One significant difference is that the other accounts speak of many gods vying with one another for justice, while Job appeals to only one, all-powerful deity. But the greatest difference is that the book of Job was inspired by God, while the others were not.

Ps 72:10

SHEBA

King Solomon had become famous throughout the world. The queen of Sheba, which was a country in southwestern Arabia, brought gifts to him to acknowledge his greatness, authority, and high position. Sheba continues to be a land of mysteries. It had fertile land and hills that were rich in gold and precious stones. The Romans attempted to conquer it in the first century BC but were unsuccessful. In 1950 an archaeological expedition researched a temple in the ancient capital of Marib, but little else is known about this area.

THE RIVERS OF BABYLON

The “rivers of Babylon” included the two main rivers of the region, the Tigris and the Euphrates, as well as numerous canals and waterways that channeled the water into the areas surrounding the city of Babylon. In ancient times these two main rivers created a well-watered land area called the Fertile Crescent, the cradle of civilization. Today these rivers are vitally important for supplying water to the countries of Turkey, Iran, and Iraq.

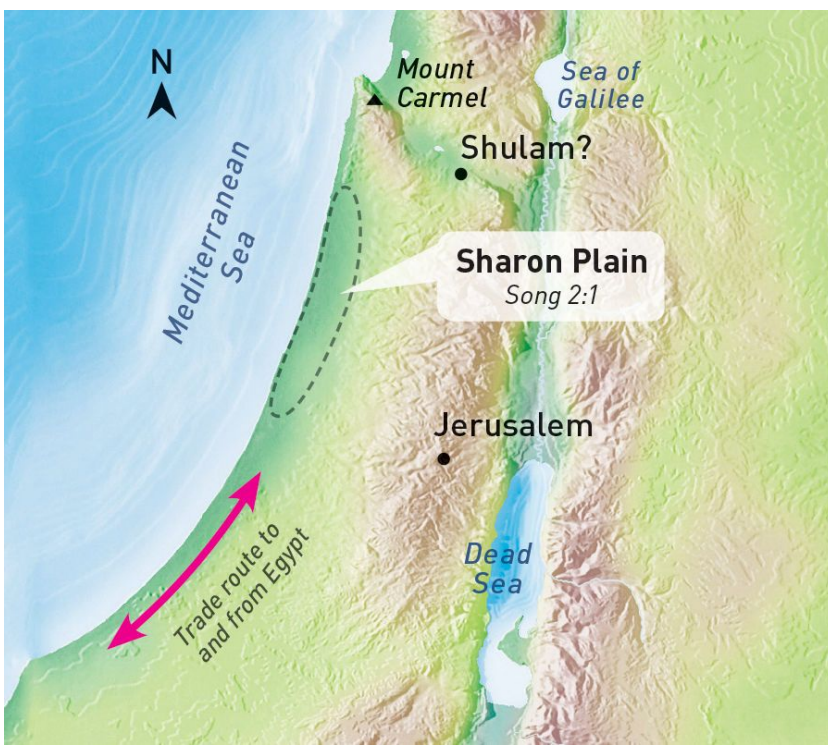
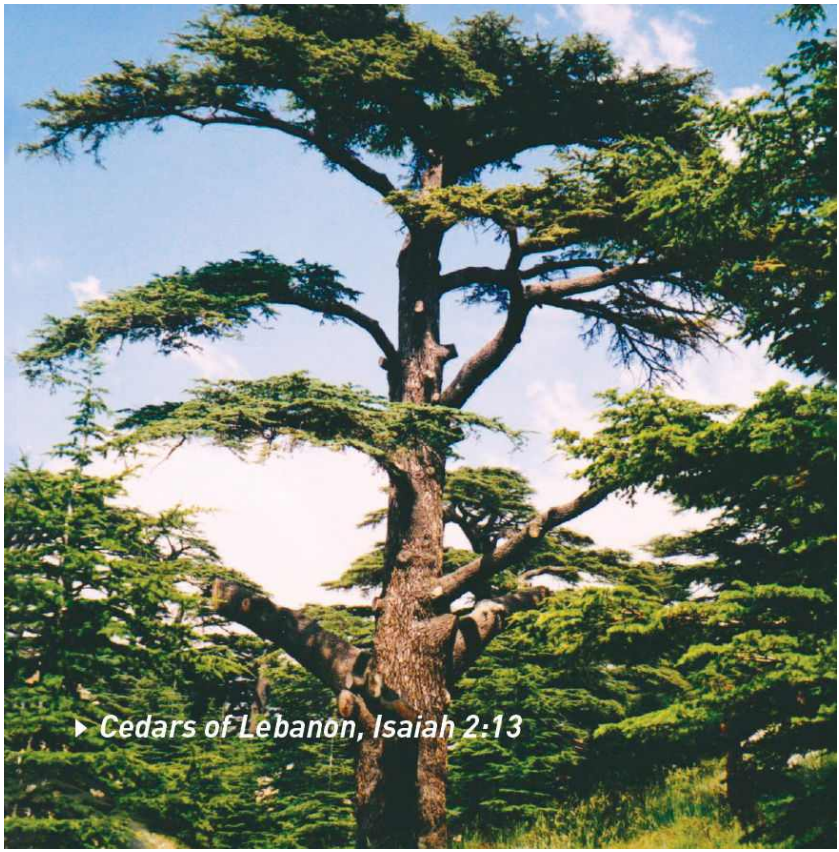
ANCIENT BABYLON



Song 2:1

THE SHARON PLAIN

The “Sharon Plain” refers to the region south of Mount Carmel in the coastal plain along the Mediterranean Sea. It was a fertile area famous for its forests and vegetation. An ancient trade route passed through this plain, connecting Egypt to the nations of the region.



Isa 2:13

CEDARS OF LEBANON

Isa 8:18

THE TEMPLE ON MOUNT ZION

“Mount Zion” was a special way of referring to the city of Jerusalem that focused on the city as the sacred location of the Temple, which was filled with God’s glory. It was a phrase that reminded Jews that the ordinary city and the Temple were extraordinary and holy places. Mount Zion was holy because God had often revealed himself there; it was the location of Abraham’s attempt to sacrifice his son Isaac.

Isa 17:1–20:6

FACING THE EMPIRE

Damascus, Israel, Judah, and Ethiopia were all that stood in the way of Assyria’s invasion of Egypt. These nations were caught in the middle of an international conflict. Israel and Damascus would join forces to fight against the Assyrian Empire, but before the end of Isaiah's career, both nations would fall.

Isa 65:8-10

SHARON AND ACHOR

The plain of Sharon was a coastal plain south of Mount Carmel known for its rich vegetation, forests, and pastureland. The valley of Achor was located north of Jericho and was ideal for raising sheep. During the Exile these places would fall into disuse, but Isaiah foresaw a day when they would again be fruitful and prosperous.

Jer 7:30-34

THE VALLEY OF BEN-HINNOM

The valley of Ben-Hinnom was on the western and southern sides of Jerusalem. It was a combination of garbage dump and graveyard. Child sacrifice to pagan gods was also performed here, even by kings of Judah. After the Babylonians captured Jerusalem, it was named the Valley of Slaughter because the enemy slaughtered thousands of people and disposed of the corpses in the valley, filling it up. At a later time in biblical history, the valley was called Gehenna and became synonymous with hell.

Jer 10:8-10

TARSHISH

Tarshish was a port on the southern tip of Spain, the westernmost port that sailors from Tyre sailed to. Alternatively, this name might have been used to indicate any location that was a very long distance from the coastline of Canaan.

Jer 26:4-6

SHILOH

Shiloh was a town in Ephraim, north of Jerusalem. It was Israel's worship center and the location of the Tabernacle for hundreds of years after the people settled in the Promised Land. When Samuel was judge of Israel, the Philistines attacked Shiloh and stole the Ark of the Covenant from the Tabernacle. King David later moved the Tabernacle and the recovered Ark to Jerusalem. By the time of Jeremiah, Shiloh was deserted and in ruins.

Jer 26:20

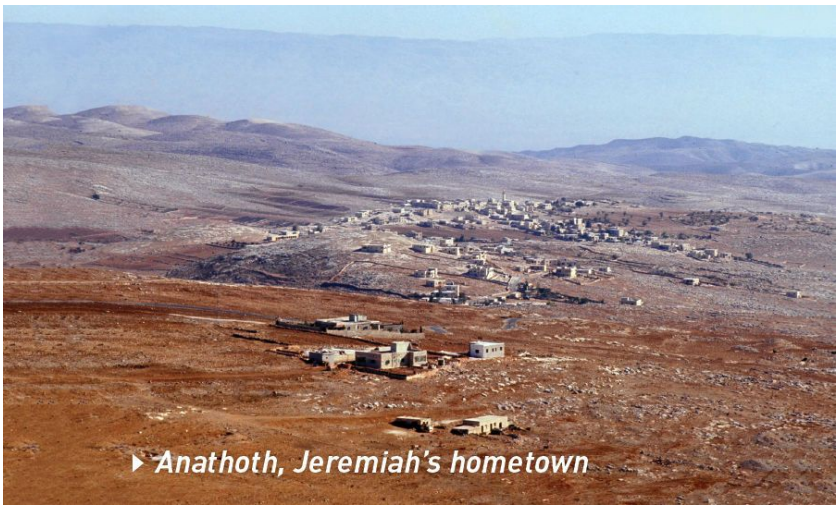
KIRIATH-JEARIM

Kiriath-jearim was a fortified city about nine miles northwest of Jerusalem, on the border of Judah and Benjamin. Originally a high place for worshiping Canaanite gods, it became known as the location where the Ark of the Covenant was kept in the home of Abinadab for twenty years.

Jer 31:38-40

JERUSALEM'S SURROUNDINGS

The boundaries of Jerusalem were marked by strategic features on many sides. The Tower of Hananel anchored the northeast corner of the old city, and the Corner Gate was on the northwest side. The locations of the hills of Gareb and Goah are uncertain, but they were probably on the west side of the city because the Kidron Valley was on the east side. Mentioning these perimeter strongholds is a way of indicating that God was going to rebuild the entire city of Jerusalem to be his indestructible holy place.



▸ Anathoth, Jeremiah's hometown

Jer 32:6-9

ANATHOTH

Anathoth, located three miles north of Jerusalem, was Jeremiah's birthplace and home. It was one of the cities granted to the Levite priests during the time of Joshua's leadership. At the time Jeremiah bought this piece of property from his cousin, the town was already under Babylonian control; but after the Exile, about 128 men returned to that area. Today Anathoth is known as Anata, a tiny village outside Jerusalem with only 100 residents.

Jer 32:35

THE PAGAN SHRINES AT TOPHETH

The shrines at Topheth were altars located in a specific area of the valley of Ben-Hinnom that was used for presenting sacrifices to idols. The area contained a fire pit into which the people threw their children to sacrifice them to Molech or Baal.

Lam 2:1-22

JERUSALEM

Lam 4:6

THE CITY OF SODOM

Sodom was a city on the plain that was located at the southern end of the Dead Sea. In Abraham's time this area was densely populated and very fertile, with a major water source. But God destroyed Sodom with fire and burning sulfur because of the residents' great sin. The exact location of this city is uncertain since the area became desolate over time. Some believe that the ruins of the city lie in the shallow waters of the Dead Sea.

Lam 4:21

EDOM

Edom was a nation located southeast of Israel, beyond the Dead Sea. They had been in occasional conflict with God's people ever since they refused to allow Moses and the Hebrews to travel through their country on the way to the Promised Land. Edom was eventually destroyed by invaders, just as the prophet Obadiah predicted.

Ezek 1:1-3

THE JEWS IN EXILE

The exiled Jews settled in a small town on the Kebar River, one of the many irrigation canals that flowed from the Euphrates River. Living about sixty miles outside Babylon, these exiles never saw the glorious city. They were apparently allowed to create their own community, which allowed them to retain their identity even in a foreign land.

▸ The former island of Tyre

Ezek 26:1-19

TYRE

Tyre was originally an island on the Mediterranean coast. King Hiram of Tyre provided David and Solomon cedar trees for their building projects, including the Temple. Later Jezebel, a daughter of the king of Tyre, married King Ahab of Israel. Along the way, the commercial city developed a reputation for its unscrupulous traders. Ezekiel spoke out against Tyre's corruption, and prophesied its demise. Eventually, Alexander the Great built a causeway from the mainland, besieged the city, and conquered it.

Dan 1:1-2

EXCAVATING BABYLON

Between 1899 and 1917, Robert Koldewey and a team of German archaeologists excavated the ruins of Babylon. They uncovered a large city with streets, canals, palaces, temples, and fortifications covering 3.5 square miles. The two world wars ended any further excavations until 1958, when Iraq's Directorate-General of Antiquities began additional excavation and restoration of the city.

Dan 1:3

THE CITY OF BABYLON

Babylon was located along the banks of the Euphrates River, in central Mesopotamia, and it was a magnificent and influential city in the ancient world. During Nebuchadnezzar's reign, it was the cultural, religious, and political heart of the Babylonian Empire.

Dan 3:1

THE PLAIN OF DURA

The exact location of the plain of Dura is uncertain because "Dura" was a common name in Mesopotamia, given to any flat area surrounded by mountains or walls. This plain would have been close to the city of Babylon, since it was in the same province as the great city. Archaeologists have uncovered a large brick base on a plain in modern-day Iraq that could have been the base of Nebuchadnezzar's immense gold statue.

Dan 5:1-31

BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST

Belshazzar's feast was held in the Southern Palace of Babylon, the primary residence of the king. Archaeologists have uncovered a huge banquet hall that was 165 feet long and 55 feet wide with plaster walls, a location large enough to accommodate the 1,000 guests who attended this historic event. The banquet was held either to allay the nobles' fear of the enemy invasion or to show contempt for the invaders. According to some ancient historians, the Persian army did not attack the city walls but instead diverted the water of the Euphrates River, which flowed through the city, and entered Babylon on the dried-up riverbed on the night of October 12, 539 BC. This brought the Babylonian Empire to an end.

Hos 11:8

ADMAH AND ZEBOIIM

Admah and Zeboiim were two of the five “cities of the plain” located in the vicinity of the Dead Sea (Genesis 13:12; 14:1-12). They were consumed by fire and burning sulfur along with Sodom and Gomorrah. The location of these cities is unknown. Some suggest that they are now underwater at the southern end of the Dead Sea, but although the water there is only twelve to fifteen feet deep, no trace of the destroyed cities has ever been found.

Joel 3:1-2

THE VALLEY OF JEHOSHAPHAT

The Valley of Jehoshaphat is not connected with King Jehoshaphat of Judah. “Jehoshaphat” means “the Lord judges,” so the location’s name literally means “the valley where the Lord will judge” the nations. Some traditions have identified the Kidron Valley as the location for the last judgment, but the exact location of the valley of Jehoshaphat is not certain since this is the only reference to it in the Bible.

Obad 1:1

EDOM

The people of Edom were descendants of Esau, the brother of Jacob (the forefather of Israel). The conflict between these two brothers was passed down to their descendants. The first conflict occurred when the people of Israel were making their way to the Promised Land and requested permission to travel through Edom's territory along the King's Highway (Numbers 20:14-21). The king of Edom refused their request and even attacked them. Over the centuries, the Edomites persisted in their hostility toward Israel by invading their land and rebelling against their rule. Obadiah—along with the prophets Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Joel, and Amos—predicted God's judgment on this nation.

Jon 1:3

JOPPA

Joppa was an ancient fortified city on the Bay of acre along the coast of the mediterranean sea. Located just thirty-eight miles northwest of Jerusalem on the only natural harbor in the region, Joppa was considered the seaport of Jerusalem. the cedar timbers from Lebanon used to build Solomon's temple and the second temple were floated from Tyre and arrived through this port. Although Joppa was part of the territory of the tribe of Dan at one point, Israel lost control of the city just before the exile. Today this seaport is known as Jaffa, a suburb of Tel Aviv.

Jon 1:3

TARSHISH

The location of Tarshish is uncertain. Its name suggests a place that specialized in metalworking. Ezekiel 27:12 refers to Tarshish as being rich in silver, iron, tin, and lead. Many possible locations have been proposed by scholars: Tartessos in southern Spain, Tyrseni in Italy, Carthage in northern Africa, and Tarsus in modern-day Turkey. What's clear is that it represents a place far from Israel and Nineveh. Jonah had no intention of going to Nineveh; he was doing everything in his power to avoid taking God's message to its citizens.

Jon 3:3

NINEVEH

The ancient city of Nineveh was the capital of the Assyrian Empire. Although Nineveh stood on the east bank of the Tigris River, King Sennacherib built thirty miles of aqueducts to bring water into the city from distant places. An eight-mile-long wall with fifteen gates surrounded the city. It encompassed over 1,700 acres, more than forty times larger than Jerusalem in the time of David.

Mic 1:5

THE FALL OF SAMARIA

Samaria was the capital of the northern kingdom, Israel. The Assyrians surrounded Samaria and held it under siege for three years, causing starvation and terror. The city and the nation finally fell to the invaders in 722 BC.

Mic 3:12

THE FALL OF JERUSALEM

Jerusalem, the capital city of the southern kingdom, Judah, was conquered by the Babylonians in 586 BC, almost 150 years after the fall of Samaria. The Babylonians destroyed and burned Jerusalem, as well as many other cities, and they exiled the people to Babylon.

Nah 3:19

NINEVEH

Nineveh was a large city with a population of 120,000 people, and it became the capital of the Assyrian Empire around 700 BC under King Sennacherib. It remained the royal city for about ninety years until its destruction in 612 BC. The prophet Jonah had preached to the people of Nineveh, who repented and experienced God's mercy. But the repentance did not last. Nahum's prophecy suggests that the destruction of the great city was imminent.

Zech 10:10

GILEAD

Gilead was a fertile region on the east side of the Jordan river, with pasturelands ideal for growing grain and raising flocks. The land was so lush that the tribes of Manasseh and Gad decided to settle here rather than in the lands across the Jordan river, where the other tribes would reside.

Zech 10:10

LEBANON

Lebanon, a mountainous region north of Canaan, was known for its lush forests and towering cedar trees. King Solomon procured timbers from this region for building the original Temple in Jerusalem. Today, Lebanon is an independent country on the Mediterranean coast north of Israel and southwest of Syria.

Mal 1:4

THE FALL OF EDOM

Edom was a nation located far to the southeast of the Dead Sea, near the Gulf of Aqaba. It was settled by the descendants of Esau and was a perennial rival of Israel and Judah. Edom came to personify the pride of self-centered existence and even gloated over the destruction of Judah (see Jeremiah 49:16; Obadiah 1:13). The prophet Obadiah preached of the nation's demise. This prophecy may have been at least partially fulfilled in 553 BC, when King Nabonidus of the Babylonian Empire attacked Edom and burned its cities.

Matt 2:23

NAZARETH

Nazareth was a small town in southern Galilee, near a great caravan trade route. Many devout Jews, especially those in Jerusalem, considered the Galileans irreligious. Galilee was known as a Gentile stronghold, and its residents were disdained by most of the nation.

Matt 3:13-17

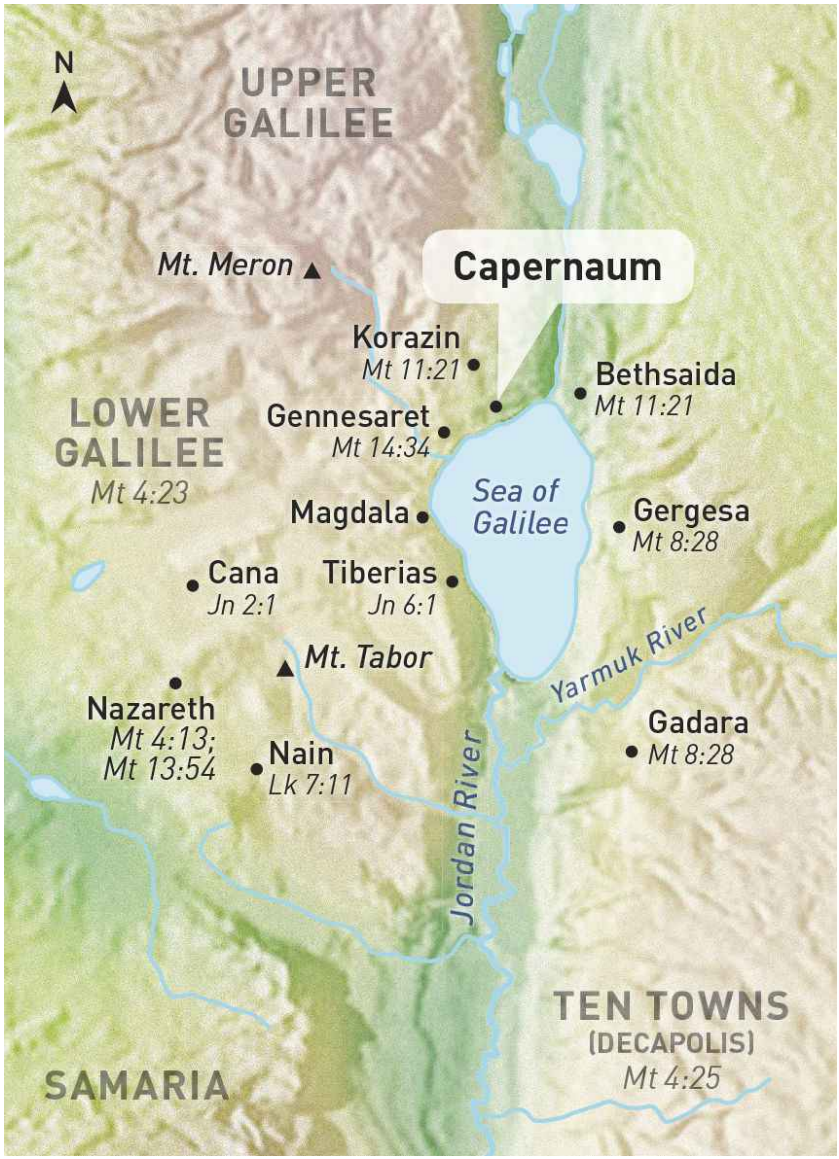
BAPTISM IN THE JORDAN RIVER

John probably baptized Jesus on the east side of the Jordan River. The eastern river valley is quite lush along the gradual banks of the meandering river. Jesus was baptized near a town named Bethany (not the Bethany near Jerusalem), which some scholars think was about six miles north of the Dead Sea. The precise location is unknown. Over time the river has changed course and flooding has completely destroyed any evidence of this city.

Matt 4:1-11

JESUS' TEMPTATION IN THE WILDERNESS

The wilderness in which Jesus was tempted was probably the Judean wilderness south of Jericho: the same region where John the Baptist had lived. It was relatively close to the Jordan River, where Jesus had been baptized.



Matt 4:12–15:20

JESUS' MINISTRY IN GALILEE

Galilee was a major center of Jesus' ministry. He made the town of Capernaum on the Sea of Galilee his base of ministry. From there he traveled by land and sea to spread his message of the Kingdom of God.

Matt 4:13

CAPERNAUM AND NAZARETH

Capernaum in Galilee was a large town on the northwest shore of the Sea of Galilee, about twenty miles from Nazareth. Situated on the highway leading from the Mediterranean Sea to Damascus, Syria, it had a large enough population to justify its own tax collector. Capernaum was located in the ancient tribal territory of Naphtali; Nazareth was in the territory of Zebulun.

Matt 4:25

THE TEN TOWNS

The Ten Towns was a federation of cities, most of which were located east of the Jordan River and southeast of the Sea of Galilee. They were populated by Gentiles who were heavily influenced by Greek culture. The cities included Damascus, Raphana, Hippus, Gadara, Abila, Scythopolis, Pella, Dion, Gerasa, and Philadelphia.

Matt 5:1

THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT

The exact place where Jesus preached his famous sermon is uncertain. The traditional site is a low hill (not a mountain) in the countryside near Capernaum, to the northwest of the Sea of Galilee. Another possible site is outside Tiberias, about ten miles farther south on the western shores of the Sea.

Matt 14:13-36

THE SEA OF GALILEE

The northern end of the Sea of Galilee (which could also be called a lake) was well-known for its fishing. The ancient historian Josephus estimated that 230 fishing boats were active on the Sea of Galilee in the first century. Some areas of the lake are as deep as 150 feet. The whole body of water lies 700 feet below sea level, between two hilly ranges. This location makes it susceptible to sudden squalls with treacherous winds.

Matt 17:1-13

THE MOUNT OF TRANSFIGURATION

The Transfiguration most likely took place on Mount Hermon since Caesarea Philippi is situated at the base of this mountain. Mount Hermon consists of three peaks 9,200 feet above sea level that can easily be seen from a great distance. Snow covers the highest peaks in winter. In the lower ranges on the mountain's western slopes, abundant rain waters vineyards and orchards.

Matt 24:3

THE OLIVET DISCOURSE

The Olivet Discourse was a major sermon that Jesus preached to his disciples while he was in the Jerusalem area. The Mount of Olives was a hill to the east of Jerusalem, just outside the city. It was a quiet place where Jesus gathered with his disciples and talked to them.

THE REGION OF THE GERASENES

The region of the Gerasenes, a territory inhabited mostly by Gentiles, included the towns of Gergesa and Gerasa. Gergesa lay on the southeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee, and Gerasa was located about thirty-five miles southeast from there. It is possible that Gergesa was where Jesus met the demon-possessed man, since there is a steep slope along the shoreline about a mile outside of town.

Mark 7:31

TYRE AND SIDON

Tyre and Sidon were two cities on the coast of the Mediterranean Sea in what would become modern-day Lebanon. Originally Tyre was an island off the coast until Alexander the Great constructed a causeway connecting it to the mainland. Sidon was located about twenty-five miles to the north. Tyre was also the name of a region northwest of Galilee.

Mark 8:27

CAESAREA PHILIPPI

The city of Caesarea Philippi was about twenty-five miles north of the Sea of Galilee and was located on a tributary that flowed into the Jordan River near the slopes of Mount Hermon. It was built by Philip the Tetrarch, son of Herod the Great. A shrine to the Greek god Pan, one of many pagan influences in the region, was prominent in this city. Today the area is called the Golan Heights.

PASSOVERS THROUGHOUT THE BIBLE

God instructed his people long ago to celebrate the Passover every year; however, the Bible records only a few of these observances. The first Passover was observed by the Hebrews in Egypt just before the Exodus (Exodus 12:14). Joshua 5:10 records the celebration that took place after the Hebrews entered the Promised Land. Passover is mentioned twice in the history of the Israelite kingdom (2 Kings 23:21-23; 2 Chronicles 30:1-20) and once in the accounts of Israel's return from exile (Ezra 6:19-21). Finally, the Gospels record the Passover celebration four times: Mark 14:12; Luke 2:41; John 2:13-16; and John 6:4.

Mark 14:26

THE MOUNT OF OLIVES

In Jesus' day, the Mount of Olives was covered with olive trees. The Roman emperor Titus destroyed most of the trees in the area when he destroyed the city of Jerusalem in AD 70. Today, a few olive trees remain that are over nine hundred years old, and they yield a small amount of olives every other year. These are the oldest known trees in the world, and DNA analysis has shown that they came from the same parent plant. Some have speculated that they are directly related to the trees that stood there in Jesus' day.

Mark 14:53

THE HOME OF THE HIGH PRIEST

The home of Caiaphas was located in the southwestern corner of Jerusalem, about a mile across the city from the garden of Gethsemane. The rooms of the two-story buildings overlooked a central courtyard, which was spacious enough to accommodate a large group like the seventy-one members of the Sanhedrin (Jewish high council), who gathered there in secret. The next day the Sanhedrin and Caiaphas held an official trial.

Mark 15:22

GOLGOTHA

Golgotha is a Greek transliteration of the Hebrew word gulgoleth, which means "skull." It was the name given to the hill where Jesus was led to be crucified. It is uncertain whether this place got its name because it was a place of death or because the hill physically resembled a skull. In Jesus' day Golgotha lay outside the city limits —the standard place for executions and for outcasts of society—near the Jerusalem's northwestern wall. Herod Agrippa I later enlarged the city and extended its wall to include this area, which is inside modern Jerusalem at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Mark 15:42–16:1

ANCIENT BURIAL PRACTICES

The tomb owned by Joseph of Arimathea had not been used at the time of Christ's death. It was a hole chiseled out of the stone cliff in the burial area, which was about fifty yards from Golgotha. The Jews did not use caskets or embalm their dead; the burial spices only alleviated the stench of a decomposing body. They wrapped the body in cloths and spices and placed it on a ledge inside the tomb. A large stone, weighing one to three tons, was rolled in front of the tomb's opening with the help of gravity and a sloping groove.

Luke 2:4-5

MARY AND JOSEPH'S JOURNEY TO BETHLEHEM

The journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem takes about two hours today by car. Two thousand years ago, the same journey, a ninety-mile trip, would have taken as long as two weeks. Joseph and Mary would have had to traverse hilly, rocky terrain as they made their way south. Bethlehem, a small town five miles south of Jerusalem, sits on a ridge 2,000 feet above sea level.

Luke 3:2

THE JUDEAN WILDERNESS

John lived in the Judean wilderness, an area between Jerusalem and the Dead Sea. Most of this territory was barren, desolate, and sparsely populated. John ministered to people who came looking for him. They desired to separate themselves from others so much that they went to the Judean wilderness to confess their sins and be baptized.

Luke 10:30

THE ROAD TO JERICHO

Jericho was about fifteen miles northeast of Jerusalem, but the winding road covered eighteen miles. The distance was not exceptionally long for a first-century traveler, but the terrain made the journey treacherous. Jerusalem was at a much higher altitude than Jericho. The road descended 3,300 feet, weaving through rocky areas where criminals could hide to take travelers unawares.

Luke 10:38

THE VILLAGE OF BETHANY

Bethany was a village on the lower eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, just two miles southeast of Jerusalem, along the road to Jericho. Today the village is named El-Azariyeh, “the place of Lazarus.”

Luke 17:11

SAMARIA

Samaria was a region north of Judea and south of Galilee. Because the Samaritans and the Jews despised one another, the Jews avoided traveling through this territory. Jesus, however, did not. His compassion for the Samaritans baffled his disciples and caused others to wonder what he was doing.

Luke 19:1

JERICHO AND JERUSALEM

Jericho was located in the Judean wilderness about fifteen miles northeast of Jerusalem. It is one of the world’s oldest cities as well as one of the lowest, sitting 825 feet below sea level. Because

Jerusalem was over 2,000 feet above sea level, Jesus and his disciples literally were traveling “up to Jerusalem.”

Luke 24:13

THE ROAD TO EMMAUS

Emmaus was a village seven miles northwest of Jerusalem. Cleopas and another follower of Jesus were returning to their hometown after the celebration of Passover in the Holy City. The road they took may have been a local road called the Way to Beth Horon, which ran north of Jerusalem and intersected two main north-south coastal highways.

John 2:1

CANA

Cana was an obscure town near Capernaum in Galilee. It is best known as the location of the wedding celebration where Jesus performed his first miracle. Nathanael, one of Jesus' disciples, probably came from Cana or a nearby Galilean town. The exact location of this town is unknown.

John 2:23

JERUSALEM UNDER HEROD'S RULE

Jerusalem was the center of religion for the Jewish people. In the decades before Jesus' ministry, Herod the Great expanded the Temple, reinforced the walls of the city, and built a fortress (Antonia) north of the Temple. Jerusalem was at the pinnacle of grandeur because of Herod's extensive building programs. The population of this great city was about 50,000 and swelled to several times this number during Passover and other religious festivals.

John 4:6

JACOB'S WELL

About two thousand years before the time of Jesus, Jacob left his uncle Laban in Paddan-aram and returned to Canaan. He purchased land outside the city of Shechem and settled there (Genesis 33:18-19). In order to thrive, he had to have sufficient water from a well because there were no rivers in the area. Although this is the only mention of the well in the Bible, it still exists today near the village of Askar. It is over 100 feet deep!

John 4:9

THE JEWS AND THE SAMARITANS

Although the Samaritans shared common ancestors with the Jews, ethnic and cultural tensions existed between them. The Samaritans descended from Jews who had married foreigners, and they blended ethnicities, cultures, and even worship. By Jesus' time, the Samaritans worshiped only the true God, but they did so in a temple on Mount Gerizim rather than in Jerusalem. Their scriptures contained only Genesis through Deuteronomy, so they did not know what the prophets taught about the Messiah. The "pure-bred" Jews in Jerusalem despised anyone from Samaria.

John 9:7

THE POOL OF SILOAM

The pool of Siloam was a reservoir in the southeast corner of Jerusalem. It was built by King Hezekiah in the eighth century BC to ensure that the people would have drinking water if an enemy ever laid siege to the city. Water from the Gihon Spring flowed into the reservoir through an underground tunnel. The pool's water was considered sacred and was used for ceremonies in the Temple. This pool is still in existence today.

John 10:22

THE ORIGIN OF HANUKKAH

Hanukkah was a celebration commemorating the rededication of the Temple after it had been desecrated by the Greek ruler Antiochus IV Epiphanes almost two hundred years before Christ's birth. In 165 BC, a Jewish army led by Judas Maccabeus recaptured the Temple and rededicated it to the Lord's worship.

John 13:1–17:26

THE UPPER ROOM

The room where Jesus gathered his disciples is traditionally called "the upper room." It was an upstairs guest room in a house on the southwest side of Jerusalem. It could have been a large, elevated, open room off the courtyard; a room over the porch; or an open area on the roof. The disciples gathered in this same room after Jesus' ascension and in the days before Pentecost.

Modern-day view from the northwest of the Mount of Olives (upper left) and Gethsemane (lower right)

Acts 1:6-12

MOUNT OF OLIVES

The Ascension took place on the Mount of Olives, a peak on a two-mile-long ridge that rose 250 feet higher than the Temple area in Jerusalem. The garden of Gethsemane, where Jesus had prayed, was located on the lower slopes of this mountain. Since King Solomon's time, this location was used as a lookout point to protect the city.

Acts 3:1-26

THE TEMPLE IN JERUSALEM

The Temple in Jerusalem was like a city within a city. The Temple area was made up of buildings and courtyards surrounded by a high wall. People entered different areas of the Temple by going through various gates. Gentiles were not allowed beyond the outer court. The Beautiful Gate was located on the east side, directly in front of the main entrance to the Temple and near the covered porch of Solomon's Colonnade. After walking through the Beautiful Gate, Jews would have found themselves in the Court of Women.

Acts 4:36

THE ISLAND OF CYPRUS

The island of Cyprus is a large island in the northeast region of the Mediterranean Sea. It is located about seventy-five miles west of Syria and forty-five miles south of Turkey. Barnabas was a native of Cyprus.

Acts 5:12

SOLOMON'S COLONNADE

Solomon's Colonnade was the open-air portico on the east side of the Temple's outer court. It consisted of a double row of beautiful marble columns and a roof to provide shade. Christian believers in Jerusalem frequently met there.

Acts 8:27

ETHIOPIA

Ethiopia was the name used in this time period to refer to the area south of a boundary marked by the rapids of the Upper Nile, near what would become Aswan, Egypt. Today this region encompasses southern Egypt, Sudan, and South Sudan. The modern nation of Ethiopia is located east of South Sudan.

DAMASCUS

Damascus is about 140 miles northeast of Jerusalem and 60 miles east of the Mediterranean Sea. It is perhaps the oldest continuously occupied city in the world, dating as far back as the time of Abraham (Genesis 14:15). In Bible times it was strategically located between two rivers and along three major trade routes. Today Damascus is the capital city of Syria.

Acts 10:1

CAESAREA

Caesarea was a city on the Mediterranean Sea, thirty-five miles north of Joppa. Herod the Great built the seaport in the first century BC and named it for the Roman emperor Caesar Augustus.

It remained the capital of the province of Judea for over six hundred years. It was home to the governors of Judea and was the regional headquarters for the Roman army.

Acts 10:23

JOPPA

Joppa was an important harbor in the region. It was a significant port during David and Solomon's reign, but it is best known for its connection to the prophet Jonah, who boarded a ship there to sail to Tarshish. The cedars of Lebanon used in building the Temple were transported to Jerusalem through this seaport. Today it is a suburb of Tel Aviv.

▸ The gymnasium in Philippi

Acts 16:12

PHILIPPI

Philippi was a settlement for retired Roman soldiers. It was located on the Macedonian plain on a branch of the Strymon River. Named after Philip II, the father of Alexander the Great, Philippi was accessible to other Roman cities by the Egnatian Way. As a Roman colony, Philippi had special privileges and its residents received the rights of Roman citizens. A variety of religions flourished there: Thracian, Greek, Egyptian, and with Paul's arrival, Christian.

Acts 17:1

THESSALONICA

Thessalonica was named after the stepsister of Alexander the Great. Situated on the Aegean Sea and at a major crossroads of the Egnatian Way, the city was strategically placed for commerce.

Fertile plains, ideal for planting olive groves and vineyards, lay outside the city. The synagogue, where Paul preached for three Sabbaths, was large and influential in the region.

Acts 19:1

EPHESUS

Few cities in the Roman Empire were as prominent as Ephesus. It was the commercial and educational hub of Asia Minor. This metropolis had streets and buildings made of marble. It boasted an impressive 24,000-seat amphitheater, luxurious baths and fountains, monuments, a town hall, and the colossal temple of Artemis.

Acts 28:1-10

MALTA

Located in the Mediterranean Sea about sixty miles south of Sicily, Malta was a major island under Roman control. On the northeast coast of the island there is a place called St. Paul's Bay, named in commemoration of Paul's unplanned visit.

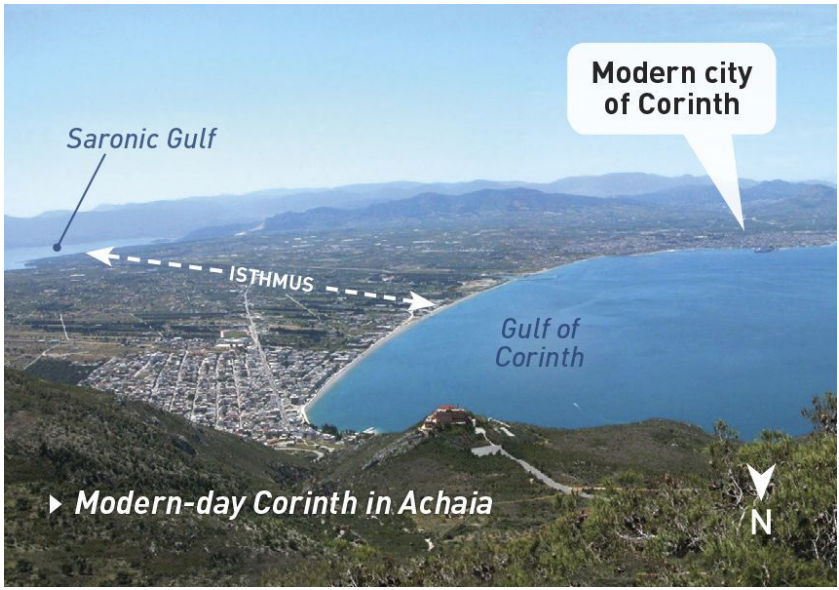
Acts 28:15

ROME

The Forum on the Appian Way was forty-three miles outside Rome. The Three Taverns was thirty-five miles from Rome. Both were well-known stopping places on the Appian Way, the "queen of the long roads" that led to Rome.

The capital of the Roman empire was a magnificent, well-established city. It was filled with temples and shrines devoted to the worship of pagan gods and goddesses: Jupiter, Juno, Minerva, and Mars, to name a few.



1 Cor 1:2

CORINTH

Corinth was a major city of ancient Greece that controlled the isthmus connecting Macedonia to Achaia. Ships traveling between Rome and the port cities along the Aegean Sea were carried overland on a mile-long trail on the isthmus, making Corinth a strong and prosperous center. Merchants saved weeks of sailing in treacherous waters by paying for slaves to carry their ships past Corinth. In AD 50 Paul visited and preached in the synagogue of this well-established city that contained many temples and an amphitheater. Paul lived and worked with Priscilla and Aquila here for nearly two years as he established a Christian community.

2 Cor 1:8

ASIA

Asia, sometimes referred to as Asia Minor, was a Roman province east of the Aegean Sea and west of Galatia. The Romans inherited the land from the king of Pergamum, who left it to them in his will. Ephesus was the capital of the province. Asia's boundaries were entirely within the borders of modern Turkey.

2 Cor 9:2

MACEDONIA AND ACHAIA

Macedonia refers to the area of northern Greece where Philippi and Thessalonica were located. The area of southern Greece, where the cities of Athens and Corinth were located, was called Achaia.

Gal 1:2

GALATIA

Galatia was a large Roman province in central Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey) that extended from the Black Sea in the north almost as far as the Mediterranean Sea in the south. It is uncertain how large an area Paul was addressing in his letter to the churches in Galatia. The Galatian churches mentioned in the New Testament—Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe—are all located in the southern region of the province.

Eph 1:1

EPHESUS

Ephesus was the leading city and the capital of the Roman province of Asia (part of modern-day Turkey). It was celebrated as a thriving political, commercial, and religious center. The Christian community was strong in Ephesus but faced many external challenges because of the prominence all around them of pagan practices.

PHILIPPI

Philippi was an ancient city in northeastern Macedonia (modern Greece), ten miles inland from the port city of Neapolis. It was a colony established for Roman soldiers who were stationed in the area. It soon became a significant settlement because of its location on the main east-west Roman road, the Egnatian Way. In AD 50 Paul founded the first Christian church in Europe here with the help of Lydia and a Roman jailer.

Col 1:2

COLOSSE

Colosse was located 120 miles east of Ephesus in the Lycus River Valley, near Laodicea and Hierapolis. Although Colosse once had been a prominent city, it was eclipsed by neighboring Laodicea during the first century. Epaphras established a Christian community there in the middle of the first century. Around AD 60, a severe earthquake damaged the city and accelerated its decline. Eventually it fell into oblivion. The ruins of Colosse were discovered in 1835, but the city has never been excavated. It remains buried under a hill designated by a roadside marker.

Titus 1:5

CRETE

The beginnings of Christianity on Crete are unclear. Some people from Crete were present at Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost, and if any of them became believers that day they could have brought the Good News back to their homeland. Paul stopped in Crete briefly while he was a prisoner being transported to Rome, but he probably never even stepped onto dry land. Paul might have gone to Crete after being released from his first Roman imprisonment and might have founded the churches then (Titus 1:5; 3:15). Paul left Titus in Crete to appoint leaders in the churches throughout the island.

Phlm 1:1-2

PHILEMON AND THE COLOSSIANS

Philemon lived in the small town of Colosse in the Roman province of Asia (modern-day Turkey). Paul was in prison in Rome when he became aware of the Christian slave Onesimus. Onesimus traveled back to Colosse with Tychicus, who carried Paul's letters: one to the church in Colosse, one to Philemon.

1 Pet 5:13

BABYLON IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

Several New Testament writers mention “Babylon” in their letters. This was probably referring to Rome, not to the literal city of Babylon on the Euphrates River. The word implied many things: a place of exile or loneliness, a great city, the center of a world power, and a cultural influence that was hostile to God’s people.

1 Jn 1:1-4

JOHN’S LATER MINISTRY

The apostle John started a ministry in Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey) after fleeing the persecution of Christians in Jerusalem during the middle of the first century. From there he wrote his Gospel to record Jesus’ life and purpose for coming to earth. Later he wrote letters to the second and third generations of Christians in the churches of Asia Minor. John died peacefully in Ephesus around AD 100.

Rev 1:9

PATMOS

Patmos is a small island in the Aegean Sea not far from the coast of Asia Minor. It is a deserted, rocky, and isolated place. Authorities punished prisoners by banishing them to the island.

Rev 14:1

MOUNT ZION

Mount Zion originally was the name of the specific fortress captured by David for his capital city, and it was just part of the area that became Jerusalem. Over time Mount Zion became a synonym for the entire city of Jerusalem. As the capital of Israel, it was the kingdom's political center. As the holy city that contained God's magnificent Temple, it was also the kingdom's religious center.

Rev 21:1-2

JERUSALEM

In AD 70 the Romans destroyed the Temple and much of Jerusalem during their war against the Jews. Throughout their history the Jews had taken pride in their glorious city, which was situated high on a hill and could be seen for miles around. John's vision of a restored Jerusalem, more glorious than the earthly city had ever been, would have given the church of new believers great joy and hope.

When Jacob fled from Esau, he went to Paddam-aram where his mother Rebekah was from (Genesis 24). FESTIVALS

Passover (Lev 23:5)
14th day of the 1st month. This one-day festival celebrates God's deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt.

Unleavened Bread (Lev 23:6-8)
15th-21st days of the 1st month. All Jews traveled to Jerusalem to commemorate their departure from Egypt in this seven-day festival.

First Harvest (Lev 23:9-14)
Day after the Sabbath during the Festival of Unleavened Bread. Celebrates the beginning of the grain harvest.

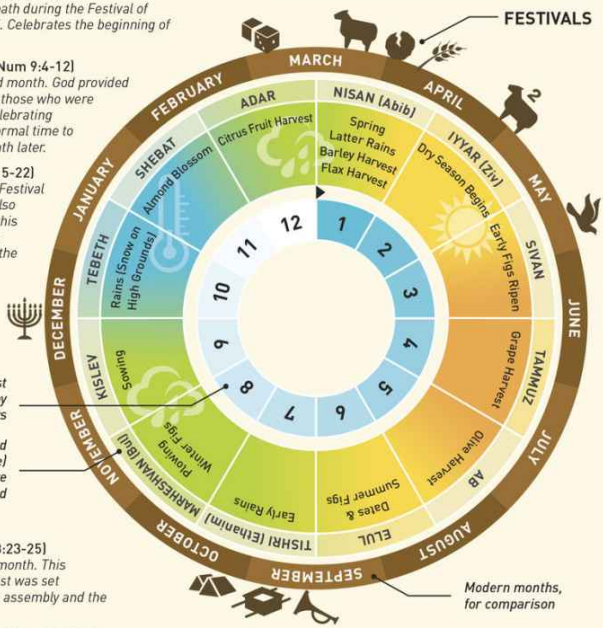
Later Passover (Num 9:4-12)
14th day of the 2nd month. God provided an opportunity for those who were prevented from celebrating Passover at the normal time to celebrate one month later.

Harvest (Lev 23:15-22)
50th day after the Festival of First Harvest. Also called Pentecost, this festival celebrates God's provision in the harvest season.

BIBLICAL CALENDAR

In biblical times, months and years were marked by the cycles of the moon. This means that their months don't match up perfectly with our current twelve-month system. This chart gives a good idea about how their months relate to ours.

Lev 23



Months were most often referred to by numbers

Babylonian (and early Canaanite) month names are sometimes used

Modern months, for comparison

Trumpets (Lev 23:23-25)
1st day of the 7th month. This day of complete rest was set aside for a solemn assembly and the blast of trumpets.

Day of Atonement (Lev 23:26-32)
10th day of the 7th month. The year's most solemn day. A special fast and Sabbath accompanied by the high priest's sacrifice to make atonement for all Israel's sins.

Shelters (Lev 23:33-43)
15th-21st days of the 7th month. All Jews traveled to Jerusalem and lived in temporary shelters to celebrate the final harvest and remember God's provision when they wandered in the wilderness.

Dedication (John 10:22)
8 days, beginning the 25th day of the 9th month. Also called Hanukkah, this festival commemorates the Temple's rededication in 164 B.C. during the intertestamental period.

Purim (Esth 9:1-32)
14th or 15th day of the 12th month. Commemorates God's protection of the Jews from their enemies through Esther and Mordecai.

ISRAEL'S CAMP AND POPULATION

Every time Israel set up camp, they organized the tribes the same way, with God's tent in the middle of camp. The total number of men was 603,550. Add to them women, children, and the tribe of Levi and there were probably more than 2 million people.

THE CITIES OF REFUGE
God established "cities of refuge" to prevent injustice and cycles of revenge from destroying the community of Israel. CONQUERING CANAAN

Israel conquered the land in two phases, first in the south, then in the north. Both campaigns, though, were initiated not by Israel but by the Canaanites already living in the land. The king of Jerusalem attacked Gibeon, initiating the southern campaign. Later the king of Hazor instigated Israel's northern campaign. Joshua 12 summarizes all the kings that Israel defeated. This map shows the major battlegrounds of each campaign.

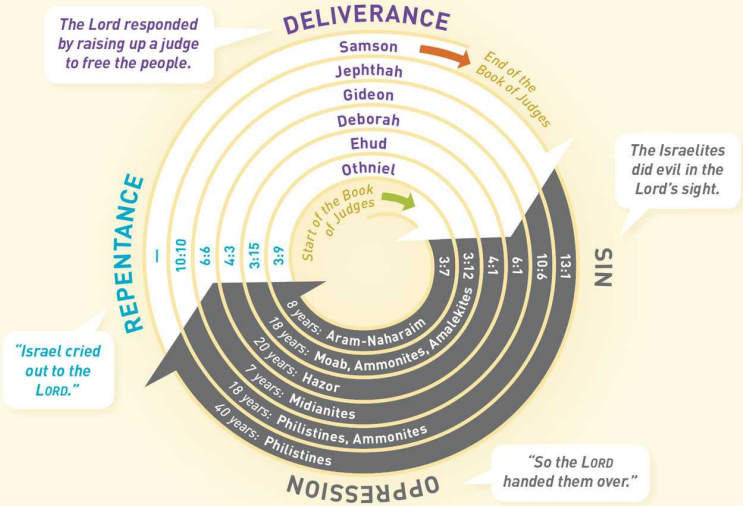
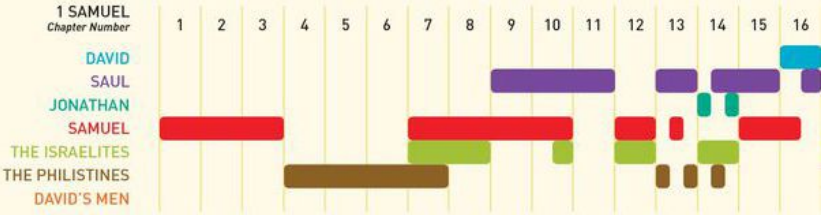
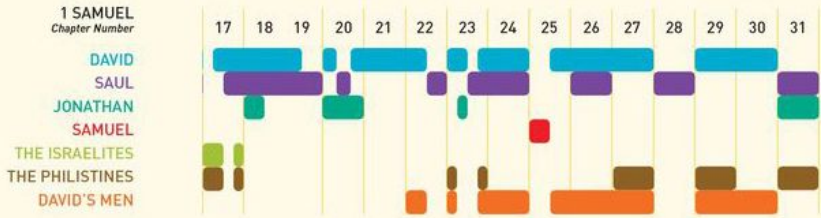
A PIECE OF THE PROMISED LAND
After seven years of conquest, Israel had established its presence in the Promised Land. Joshua then allotted portions of land to each of the twelve tribes. Each portion apparently came together around a cluster of cities. This allotment probably happened in a series of ceremonies that started west of the Jordan River; continued with portions for Judah, Ephraim, and Manasseh; and concluded with the remaining seven tribes. Much of the land, however, remained unconquered. The Philistines still controlled much of Issachar's allotment and the whole Mediterranean seaboard. Israel would continue to battle for the land that God had promised.
Josh 13–21

THE JUDGES CYCLE

The book of Judges illustrates Israel's cycles of sin, oppression, repentance, and deliverance. God responded to Israel's sin by sending oppressors as a form of judgment. But when Israel repented, God responded by sending judges to deliver them into freedom and peace. Today, God responds in a similar way to our sin and repentance—always with the hope of restoring us back to himself.

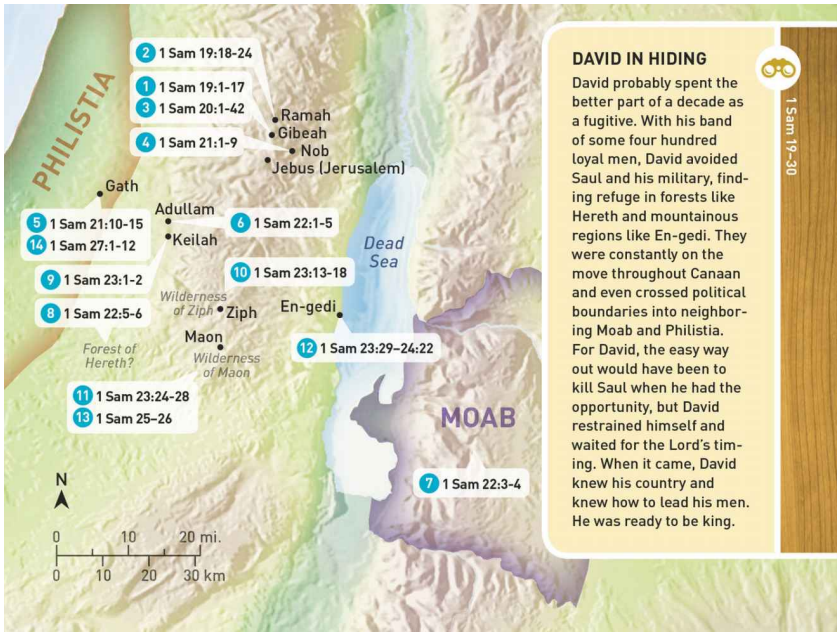






1 SAMUEL AT A GLANCE

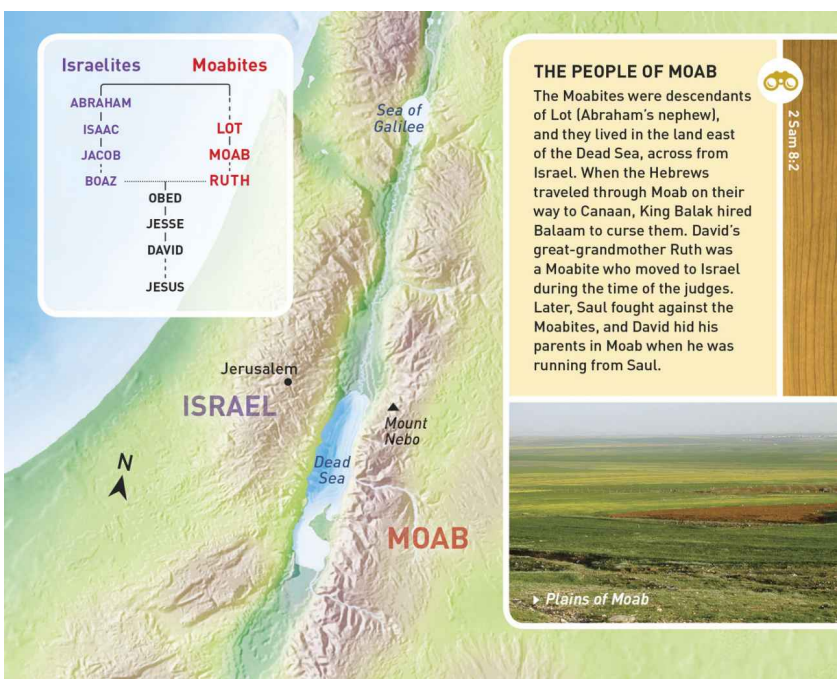
First Samuel weaves together many different lives. Here are some of the key people and where they appear throughout the story.



DAVID IN HIDING

1 Sam 19–30

David probably spent the better part of a decade as a fugitive. With his band of some four hundred loyal men, David avoided Saul and his military, finding refuge in forests like Hereth and mountainous regions like En-gedi. They were constantly on the move throughout Canaan and even crossed political boundaries into neighboring Moab and Philistia. For David, the easy way out would have been to kill Saul when he had the opportunity, but David restrained himself and waited for the Lord's timing. When it came, David knew his country and knew how to lead his men. He was ready to be king.



THE PEOPLE OF MOAB

2 Sam 8:2

The Moabites were descendants of Lot (Abraham's nephew), and they lived in the land east of the Dead Sea, across from Israel. When the Hebrews traveled through Moab on their way to Canaan, King Balak hired Balaam to curse them. David's great-grandmother Ruth was a Moabite who moved to Israel during the time of the judges. Later, Saul fought against the Moabites, and David hid his parents in Moab when he was running from Saul.

BATTLES OF THE OLD TESTAMENT

The Bible recounts 102 battles that God's people fought during Old Testament times. Thirty-five different nations went to war against God's people, but God's people won nearly 70% of those battles. However, sometimes God allowed his people to be defeated because they refused to trust in him. Of the battles mentioned, twelve of them were civil wars among God's people. To see them killing each other surely broke God's heart.

SOLOMON'S DECADENCE

Solomon is considered the wealthiest man who ever lived. Here's a look at his diverse portfolio. Even with all this, Solomon considered it meaningless apart from life with God.

SOLOMON'S BUILDING PROJECTS

Solomon was the first of Israel's leaders to build cities. Others had rebuilt conquered cities, but Solomon made cities into fortresses.

DAVID'S FAMILY

David was the great-grandson of Ruth. They were both ancestors of Jesus.

WORSHIP IN THE NORTHERN KINGDOM

1 Kgs 12:25-33

Jeroboam set up two new worship centers in the cities of Bethel and Dan so that the people from the northern tribes could worship there rather than needing to travel all the way to Jerusalem. Bethel was only ten miles north of Jerusalem and thus convenient for anyone heading to Jerusalem out of habit. Dan was far north in the land of Naphtali, convenient to the northernmost people of Israel.

MOVING THE ARK

The Philistines captured Israel's Ark of the Covenant, but it became a curse to them. However, the Levite Obed-edom kept the Ark at his house where it was a great blessing. God's presence is a curse to those who reject him but is a blessing to those who love and fear him.

JOSIAH VERSUS EGYPT
During Josiah's reign, Egypt traveled through Megiddo on its way to defend the weakened Assyrian empire. Josiah decided to interrupt Egypt's march and go to battle against them. This choice was Josiah's last. Egypt decimated Israel and Josiah was killed in the battle. Afterwards, Egypt marched to Carchemish to meet the Babylonian Empire and its own demise. The ancient Egyptian civilization never recovered.

RETURNING TO THE PROMISED LAND
The Jews returning from exile traveled some 900 miles from Nippur and Susa back to Jerusalem. This route closely mirrored their ancestor Abraham's trip when he left Ur (Genesis 11:31ff). Like Abraham, many of them had never seen the Promised Land when they set out. They were following God by faith.

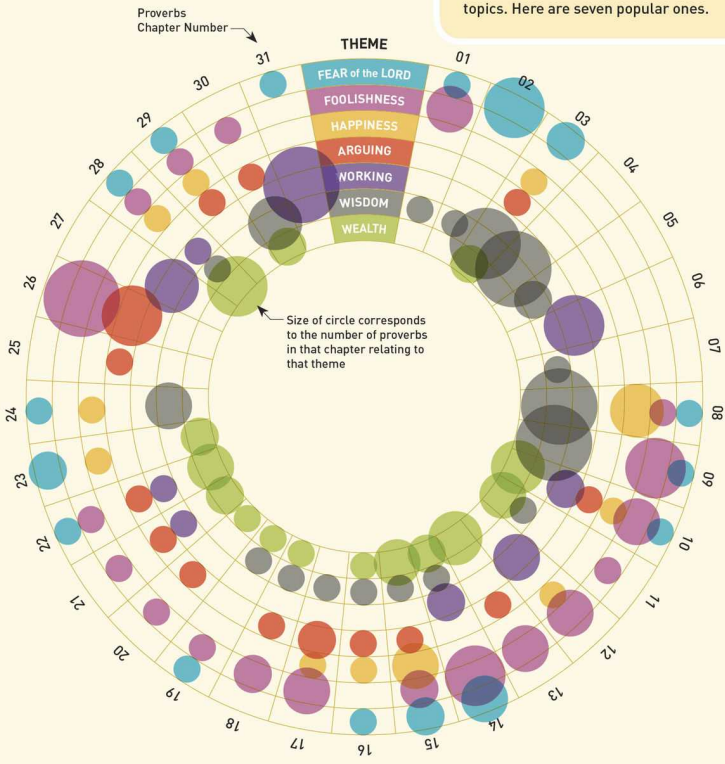
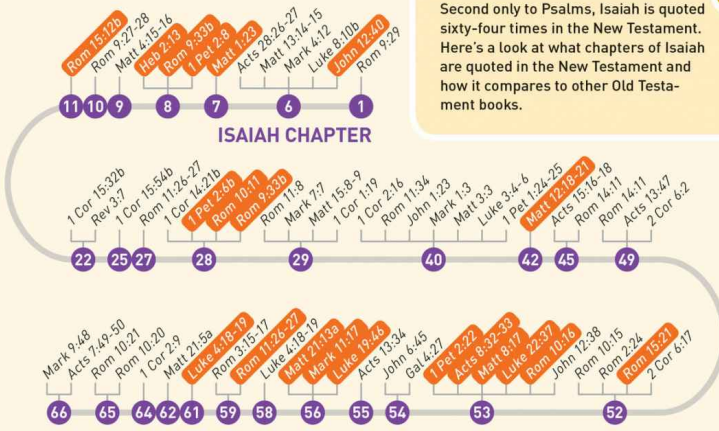
THEMES IN PROVERBS

Proverbs covers many different topics. Here are seven popular ones.



Isaiah is quoted in these New Testament verses:



Verses highlighted in orange are prophesies of Jesus that are fulfilled.

ISAIAH IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

Second only to Psalms, Isaiah is quoted sixty-four times in the New Testament. Here's a look at what chapters of Isaiah are quoted in the New Testament and how it compares to other Old Testament books.

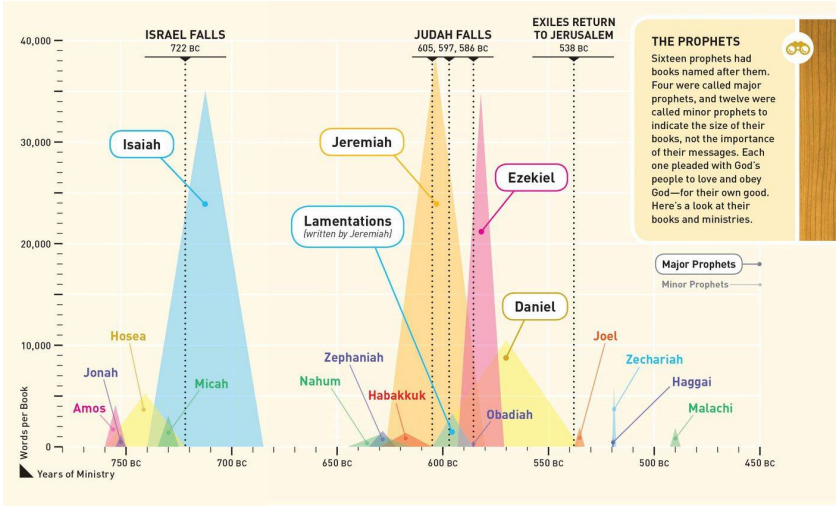
ASSYRIA INVADES JUDAH

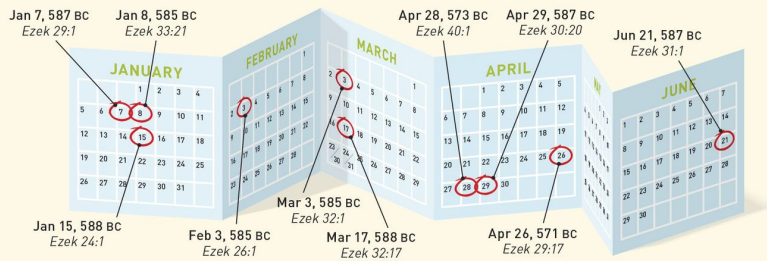
Isa 36–37

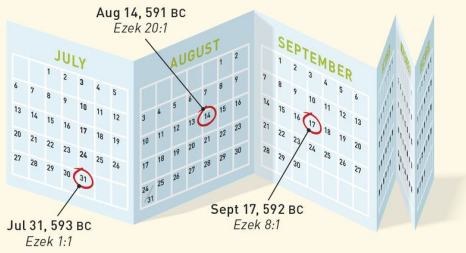
After the Assyrians defeated Damascus and Israel, Judah was next on their march south to Egypt. The army marched to Jerusalem and offered terms of peace that would force Judah to become subjects. King Hezekiah had a choice: Would he surrender, or would he trust in God's protection?



THE PROPHETS

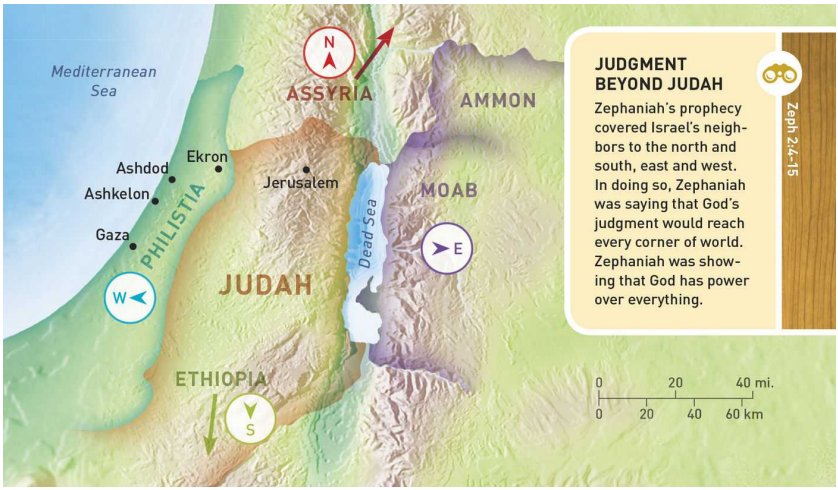
Sixteen prophets had books named after them. Four were called major prophets, and twelve were called minor prophets to indicate the size of their books, not the importance of their messages. Each one pleaded with God's people to love and obey God—for their own good. Here's a look at their books and ministries.





DATING IN EZEKIEL

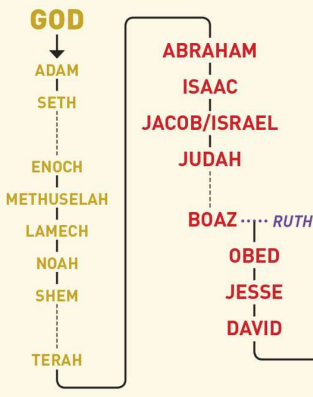
Ezekiel is famous for keeping meticulous dates for his prophecies. Throughout Ezekiel, thirteen dates can be lined up with our modern calendar. But Ezekiel isn't the only one with this much precision. Other books also list exact dates of major events.



JUDGMENT BEYOND JUDAH

Zephaniah's prophecy covered Israel's neighbors to the north and south, east and west. In doing so, Zephaniah was saying that God's judgment would reach every corner of world. Zephaniah was showing that God has power over everything.

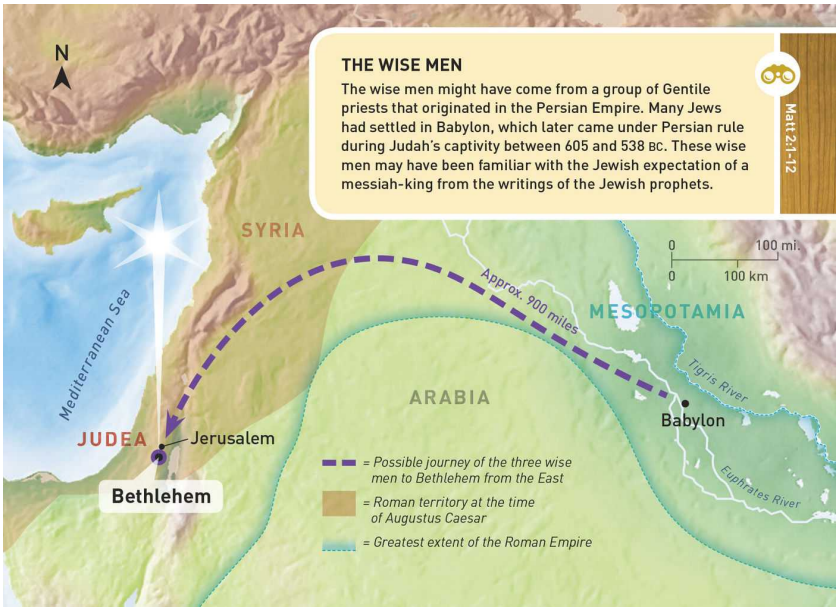
Zeph 2:4-15

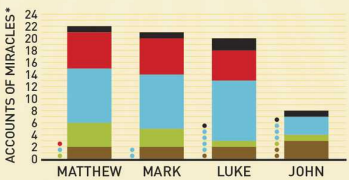


JESUS' ANCESTRY

Both Matthew and Luke record the ancestors of Jesus, although the records differ. The differences occur between King David and Mary's husband, Joseph. Some have said that Luke's genealogy traces Mary's ancestry while Matthew traces Joseph's line. Others argue that both represent Joseph's lineage, one natural, the other legal. Matthew's record back to Abraham reveals that Jesus truly is the King of the Jews. Luke's account, going all the way back to Adam, emphasizes that Jesus is Savior for all.

Matt 1:1-17

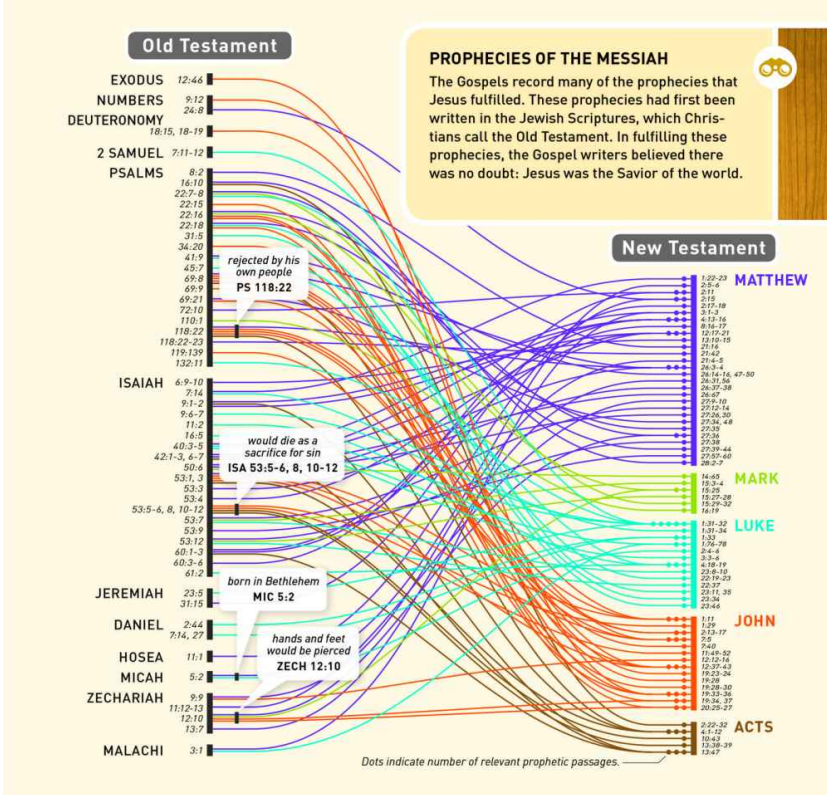




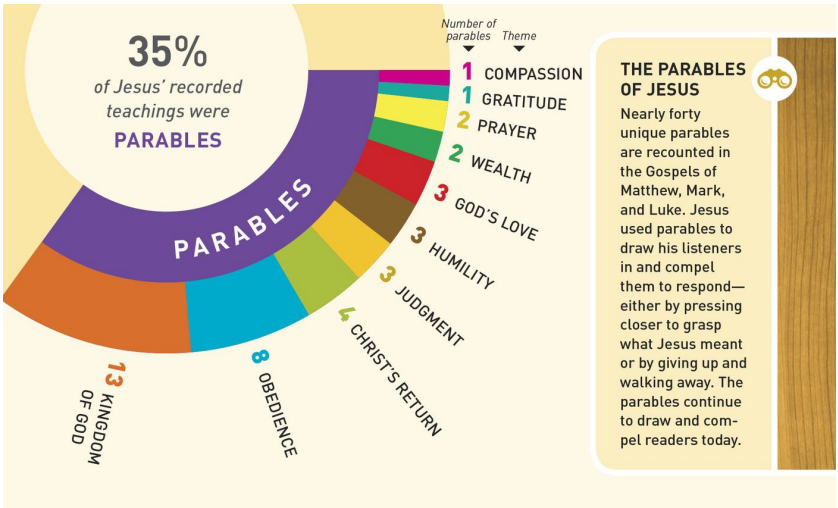
* Dots indicate miracle accounts unique to that Gospel. Most accounts appear in more than one Gospel.

THE MIRACLES OF JESUS

The four Gospels record nearly forty miracles that Jesus performed during his ministry. These include nature miracles like calming the storm, healing men and women from physical deformities and biological illnesses, and freeing people from the power of evil spirits. The apostle John called these miraculous events "signs" to capture their purpose: They pointed beyond themselves to God's power revealed in Jesus. They showed people who Jesus really was—the Son of God. At the end of his book, John added, "The disciples saw Jesus do many other miraculous signs in addition to the ones recorded in this book" (John 20:30). There are still more miracle stories yet to be told.



See "Prophecies of the Messiah" for a complete listing of prophecies.

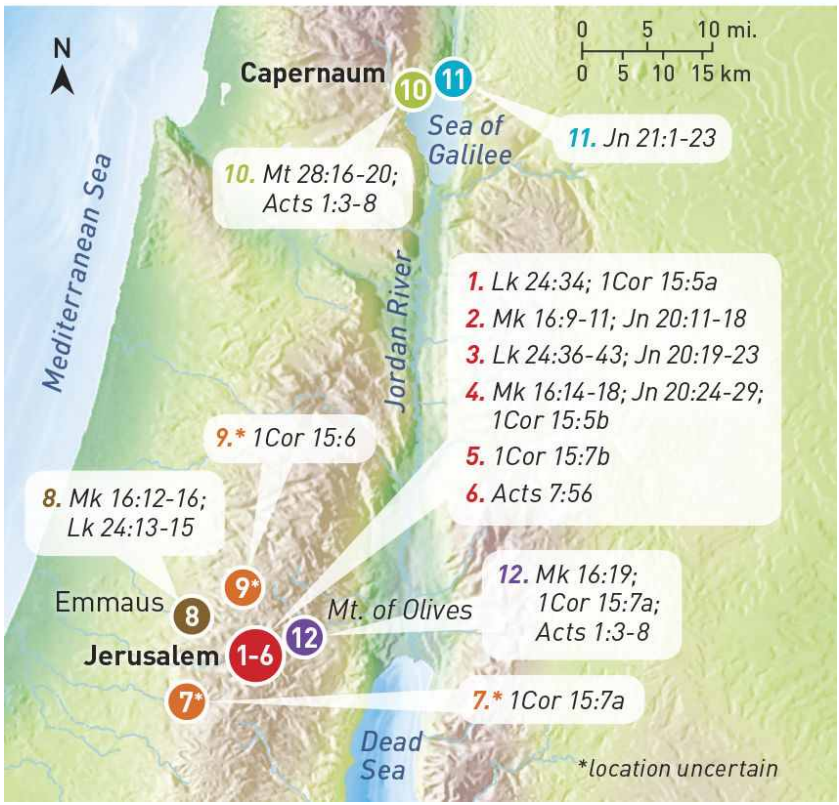


THE PARABLES OF JESUS

Nearly forty unique parables are recounted in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke. Jesus used parables to draw his listeners in and compel them to respond—either by pressing closer to grasp what Jesus meant or by giving up and walking away. The parables continue to draw and compel readers today.

JESUS APPEARS AFTER HIS RESURRECTION

The Bible records twelve separate occasions when Jesus appeared to people after his resurrection. He appeared in many of the same places he had originally ministered, from Jerusalem in the south to Capernaum in the north. His appearances assured his disciples and bolstered their faith. Afterward, they began to spread the hope of new life with Christ.



TRAVELING TO JERUSALEM

Jesus probably traveled from Galilee to Jerusalem many times throughout his life. There are two likely routes that he may have taken, one through the Judean hills and one along the Jordan River.

John 2:13

JESUS IN JERUSALEM

Many important events in Jesus' life happened in Jerusalem. The city has changed a lot since Jesus walked within its walls. Some of the traditional locations now have churches built on them to celebrate those events in Jesus' life. Here are the locations around Jerusalem where events are believed to have happened.

This map shows how many events in Jesus' life occurred in various locations that can be pinpointed with relative certainty. Jesus preached to and healed Galileans, Samaritans, Jews, and Gentiles all over the region. His ministry covered about 120 miles, from Galilee in the north to Judea in the south and Samaria in between.

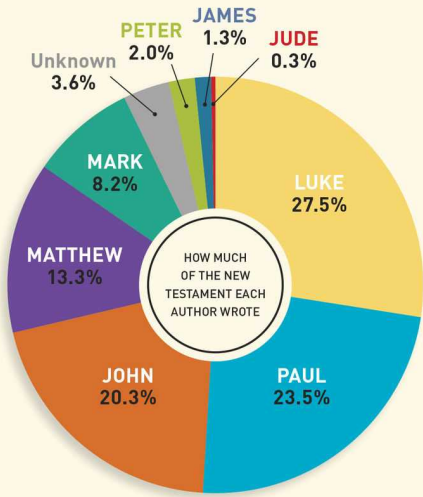
THE LIFE OF TIMOTHY
Timothy worked side-by-side with Paul throughout the AD 50s and 60s. He often stood in for Paul at churches in various cities. His name is listed alongside Paul's at the beginning of 2 Corinthians, Philippians, Colossians, and 1 and 2 Thessalonians. The believers there would have known Timothy as well as they knew Paul. Here are some of the cities we know Timothy lived and ministered in.



THE AUTHORS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

The New Testament was written by probably eight or nine different men. The known authors are Luke, Paul, John, Matthew, Mark, Peter, James, and Jude. Some scholars disagree about the authorship of some books, but only Hebrews is unknown. Here you see how much of the New Testament was written by each of the traditionally accepted authors.

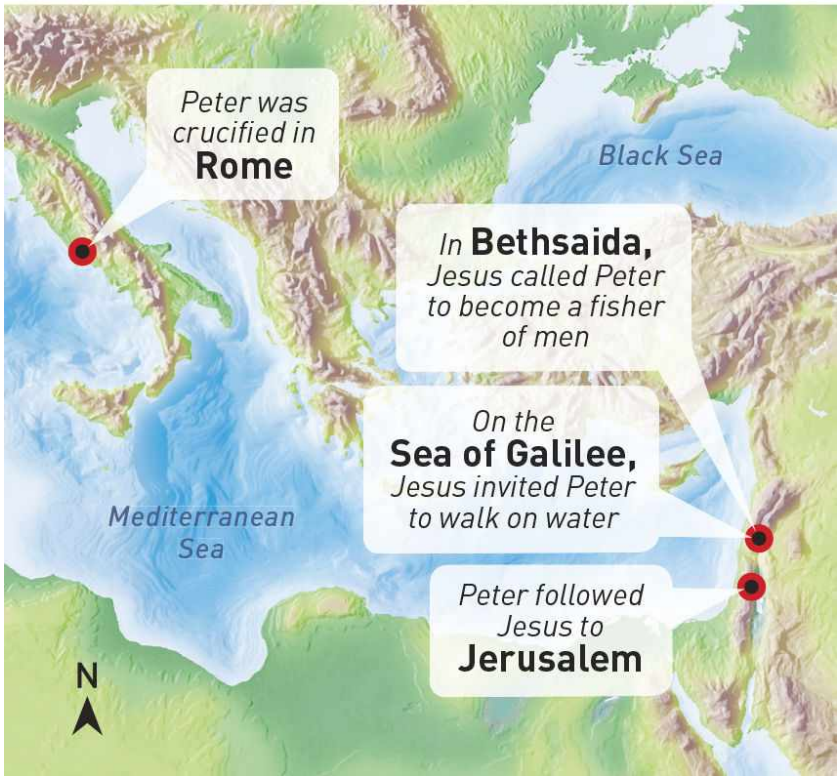
THE LIFE OF PETER

Peter's quiet life as a fisherman was never the same after meeting Jesus. After he left his nets and the small town of Bethsaida, he followed Jesus to the capital city, Jerusalem. Later after Jesus ascended into heaven, Peter eventually traveled to Rome and probably died there. Peter might say he followed Jesus there too. For Peter, after walking on water, going to Rome was just another step.



THE SEVEN CHURCHES

Revelation is a letter that John intended to be circulated among seven churches in a region called Asia Minor. These churches were in cities along Roman roads, the expressways of their time.

AFTERLIFE

THE AFTERLIFE

Most people wonder what will happen to them after they die and where they will go. The Bible provides us with some details of heaven and hell, though not as many as some would like. Heaven is the place where God lives and reigns over all things. It is heaven because he is there. Hell is the place for all those who rebel against God. Satan and the fallen angels reside there, eternally separated from God's presence. It is hell because God is not there.

LUKE 16:19-31 | TWO DESTINATIONS
Jesus uses stories called parables to teach his followers about the Kingdom of God. In this parable about two very different people, Jesus gives us a tiny glimpse of what heaven and hell are like.

LUKE 23:32-43 | HEAVEN IS MOMENTS AWAY
Two criminals are executed along with Jesus. Before Jesus dies, one of the criminals acknowledges that Jesus is truly a king. Jesus promises that man that they will soon be in heaven together.

JOHN 14:1-14 | HEAVEN HAS PLENTY OF ROOM
Talking to his disciples, Jesus describes his Father's house to encourage and comfort them. As the Crucifixion looms, he explains to them where he is going after he leaves them.

2 CORINTHIANS 5:1-10 | HEAVEN IS OUR

ETERNAL HOME
To believers in Corinth who had wondered about those who had died, Paul explains that when we die we will leave behind our earthly bodies and receive new heavenly bodies in our eternal home.

2 PETER 2:1-11 | HELL IS THE RESIDENCE OF FALLEN ANGELS
In his condemnation of false teachers, Peter states that God will punish them as he did the fallen angels. Peter describes hell as "gloomy pits of darkness."

JUDE 1:3-11 | HELL IS A PRISON
Jude, as he condemns false teachers in the church, gives us a glimpse of hell as a dark prison where the ungodly must wait for judgment day.

REVELATION 7:9-17 | THE THRONE ROOM OF HEAVEN
John's vision provides a magnificent picture of God's great heavenly throne room and of how he cares for those who have given their lives to him.

SIDE TRIPS

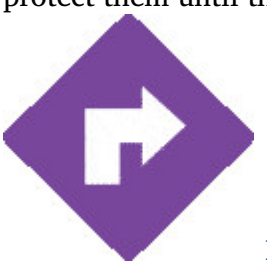
ANGELS

ANGELS

Angels are spiritual beings, created by God for a variety of duties. They worship and praise God, and they carry out his will. They bring messages to earth, announcing good news and words of comfort. They also provide for and protect God's people. Only three angels have specific names in the Bible: Michael, Gabriel, and the fallen angel Lucifer (Satan). In many Old Testament stories, an angel is referred to as "the angel of the LORD." Here are just a few of the many stories about angels in the Bible.

EXODUS 23:20-33 | GOD'S ANGEL PREPARES THE WAY

While the Israelites wandered in the wilderness on their way to the Promised Land, God promises them that he will send an angel to lead them through unfamiliar territory. The angel will guard and protect them until they arrive safely.



ISAIAH 36–37 | GOD'S ANGEL DESTROYS AN ARMY

During King Hezekiah's reign, the Assyrians conquer the nations around Judah and are heading for Jerusalem. The Assyrian king dispatches his chief of staff with nearly 200,000 troops to threaten Hezekiah. The Assyrians are right outside Jerusalem, but God's angel intervenes (Isaiah 37:36).

DANIEL 6:1-28 | AN ANGEL APPEARS IN THE LION'S DEN

Daniel, a Jewish captive in the Persian Empire, works in the nation's administration. He obeys King Darius until he is required to bow down and pray to Darius. Although Daniel suffers the consequences of breaking the law, God's angel protects him.

ZECHARIAH 3:1-10 | AN ANGEL CLOTHES A PRIEST WITH GOD'S FORGIVENESS

Jeshua, the high priest, is the religious leader of the exiles who have returned from Babylon to Jerusalem. In Zechariah's vision, an angel presents him with new clothes to symbolically cleanse him from his sins and restore him to his priestly position before God.

ACTS 12:1-19 | AN ANGEL RESCUES PETER FROM PRISON

King Herod Agrippa persecutes the believers of the newly founded church and throws Peter in jail. In the middle of the night, an angel appears in the prison cell and helps Peter escape.

ACTS 27:1-44 | AN ANGEL APPEARS TO PAUL

The apostle Paul has a pressing desire to bring the Good News to Rome and proclaim it to Caesar. His journey to Rome, however, is fraught with disaster. During a violent storm at sea, an angel appears to Paul at night and reassures him that he and the others aboard the ship will arrive safely in Italy.

SIDE TRIPS

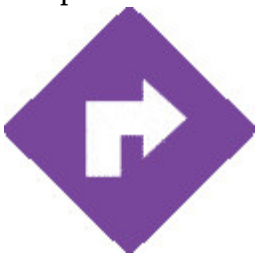
BLESSINGS

BLESSINGS AND PRAISES

The Bible contains a variety of blessings. God blesses his people. Kings, prophets, priests, and apostles bless the faithful, and fathers bless their children and grandchildren. All blessings are given with love. Love and devotion underlie the Bible's praises as well. Doxologies are expressions of praise to God.

GENESIS 48:12-22 | JACOB BLESSES HIS CHILDREN

Late in his life, Jacob moves his family to Egypt and is reunited with his lost son, Joseph. On his deathbed, Jacob blesses his twelve sons and two of his grandsons—Ephraim and Manasseh, the sons of Joseph.

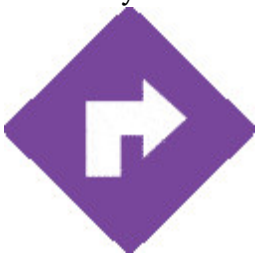


NUMBERS 6:22-27 | THE PRIESTLY BLESSING

During the Hebrews' wilderness wanderings, God gives them the law, the plans for the Tabernacle, and the priesthood to mold their culture. He gives the priests this short blessing, which they can speak over his people. This blessing is one of the best-loved passages in the Bible.

1 KINGS 8:56-61 | SOLOMON'S BLESSING ON GOD'S PEOPLE

At the dedication of the new Temple, King Solomon closes the ceremonies by blessing God's people. In his blessing, Solomon praises the Lord for his faithfulness to his people for the last five hundred years.



ROMANS 15:5-6 | PAUL'S BLESSING ON THE ROMANS

Near the end of his famous letter to the Christians in Rome, Paul pens a short blessing calling them to live in harmony with one another so that they might praise God.

2 CORINTHIANS 13:14 | PAUL'S CLOSING BLESSING

In closing his letter to the Christians in Corinth, Paul invokes the three persons of the Trinity as the source of their grace, love, and fellowship.

1 TIMOTHY 6:15-16 | PAUL'S DOXOLOGY

Paul includes a doxology near the end of his first letter to Timothy, his close ally in ministry. It is a testimony of faith, articulating some key Christian beliefs about God.

SIDE TRIPS

DEMONS

THE DEVIL AND HIS DEMONS

The devil is real and active, roaming the earth, looking for ways to unravel God's goodness and love. These stories focus on the work of Satan and his legions. Satan tempts humans and God's Son. He inhabits lives and destroys them. We, however, should not fear him because we are protected by the power of Jesus. In the end, Jesus will be completely victorious over him.

JOB 1–2 | SATAN TORMENTS JOB

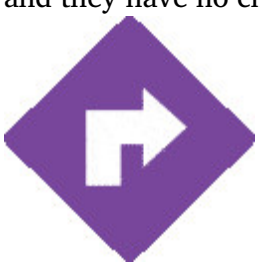
In order to test Job's faithfulness, God allows Satan to attack Job. God gives Satan free rein to do as he wishes, but Satan is still subject to God's restraining power.

LUKE 4:1-13 | SATAN TEMPTS JESUS

Satan hopes to gain power over Jesus by tempting him. But Jesus resists Satan's ploys by quoting Scripture. Jesus' responses, all from Deuteronomy, recall Israel's failures in the face of temptation. But Jesus succeeds where Israel failed.

LUKE 8:26-39 | JESUS DRIVES DEMONS INTO PIGS

Jesus demonstrates his authority and power over evil spirits by confronting them. He commands them to leave a possessed man, and they have no choice but to obey.



ACTS 8:4-25 | SIMON THE SORCERER

Simon is a master magician. He makes great claims about himself and tries to buy the power of the Holy Spirit, but Peter denounces his sinful attitude.

ACTS 19:11-20 | AN EVIL SPIRIT SPEAKS

A group of unbelieving Jews try to use Jesus' name as a sort of magic spell to cast out evil spirits. On this occasion, they receive an unexpected response from the spirit.

REVELATION 20:1-10 | SATAN'S LAST STAND

In the wake of a terrible defeat, Satan is seized, chained, and imprisoned in the bottomless pit. But he is released once more and again spreads chaos and war throughout the world. When his time reaches its limit, he is defeated finally and forever.

SIDE TRIPS

DON'T FEAR

DON'T BE AFRAID

Throughout the Bible, God encourages his people not to be afraid but to be strong and courageous. These aren't just pep talks. These are divine assurances that God's people can remain calm even when faced with the most daunting enemies or confusing situations. We know this is true because God is with us wherever we go.

JOSHUA 1:1-9 | BE STRONG AND COURAGEOUS

God speaks to Joshua, the new leader of the Israelites. He encourages Joshua three times to be strong, courageous, and unafraid.

PSALM 56 | TRUST IN GOD

We are not completely helpless when fear overtakes us. The one thing we can do is trust God—he is on our side!

PSALM 118:1-18 | THE LORD IS FOR ME

If we trust in God, we do not have to be afraid of anything. The Lord is for us—he's on our side—and his care for us gives us courage.

ISAIAH 41:8-16 | GOD IS WITH US

God punished the people of Israel for being unfaithful to him. Their nation was conquered, and the people were carried off to a foreign land. But God never abandoned his people. Through Isaiah, God promises to bring his people back home.

ISAIAH 50:4-11 | RELY ON GOD

The prophet Isaiah has a difficult assignment. He confronts God's people as God wants him to. He suffers for it, but he relies on God to handle his accusers.

LUKE 8:40-56 | JESUS HEALS A WOMAN AND A GIRL

On his way to heal a little girl, Jesus is delayed by a woman seeking healing. The little girl dies in the meantime, but Jesus assures her father that it is not too late.

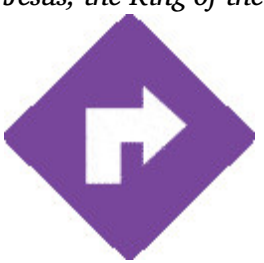
2 TIMOTHY 1:3-11 | THE SPIRIT OF POWER
In Paul's encouraging letter to Timothy, he reminds Timothy that there's nothing to fear because God gives us a spirit of power. With it, Christians can live with confidence even in the face of suffering.

SIDE TRIPS

EASTER

EASTER READINGS

Centuries before Jesus suffered and died to save the world, the prophets predicted his coming and his suffering. As you read about the events of the last week of Jesus' life, you will see how some people responded to Jesus, the King of the Jews.



ISAIAH 52:13–53:12 | THE SUFFERING SERVANT
Long before Jesus is born, the prophet Isaiah describes how Jesus will endure suffering in order to be a servant to all.

MATTHEW 21:1-11 | THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY

The crowds cheer for Jesus as he rides a donkey into Jerusalem. Shouting, they acknowledge that he is the descendant of David, heir to the throne of Israel.

MATTHEW 26:17-35 | THE LAST SUPPER

Knowing his life will soon be taken from him, Jesus gathers his disciples together to celebrate the Passover supper. The disciples are unaware of just how significant this meal is.

MARK 14:32-42 | JESUS IN THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE

Jesus' suffering begins in the garden of Gethsemane. There he spends long hours alone praying that he would not have to suffer, though he submits himself to the Father's will. Jesus repeatedly asks his disciples for their support, but they are too tired to encourage him in his time of agony.

LUKE 22:54-62 | PETER DENIES JESUS

While Jesus is being interrogated, people in the courtyard question Peter about his association with Jesus. Instead of defending his friend, Peter denies even knowing Jesus, fulfilling Jesus' own prediction.

JOHN 18:28–19:16 | JESUS GOES BEFORE PILATE

After an unjust trial, the Jewish leaders take Jesus to the Roman governor Pilate, who questions him. Jesus' answers leave Pilate to make his own decisions, but the governor instead defers to the crowd and accepts their demand to crucify Jesus.

MATTHEW 27:32-66 | JESUS' DEATH AND BURIAL

Jesus' crucifixion devastates those who follow him and love him. To honor him and keep the Jewish law, they properly bury his body before the Sabbath begins.

MATTHEW 28:1-20 | JESUS' RESURRECTION

Everyone is surprised by the empty tomb, the angel's words, and the events that follow. Through his personal appearances, Jesus confirms his divine power and many believe.

1 CORINTHIANS 15:1-22 | THE IMPORTANCE OF CHRIST'S RESURRECTION

Bodily resurrection is a reality not only for Christ but also for all believers. Paul explains that when Christ returns, all those who have put their trust in him will be raised to new life in new bodies, just as Jesus was.

SIDE TRIPS

FACING GOD

FACE TO FACE WITH GOD

Many people in the Bible encountered God and spoke to him. Even though no one has ever literally seen God (1 John 4:12), the encounters humans have with God are sometimes described as "face to face." Here are some of the stories of people who have the privilege of meeting with God in this way.

GENESIS 32:22-32 | JACOB WRESTLES WITH GOD

Jacob comes face to face with God in a physical way. In the middle of the night he wrestles with God. By dawn he is a changed man.

EXODUS 33:1-23 | GOD SHOWS MOSES HIS GLORY

Moses routinely met face to face with God and brought the people's requests to God. On this occasion, Moses made a request of his own.

DEUTERONOMY 5:1-29 | GOD MEETS WITH HIS PEOPLE

Moses reminds God's people that they have the great privilege of being God's chosen nation and that they met God at Mount Sinai. Their reaction to the experience pleased God.

JUDGES 13:1-25 | SAMSON'S PARENTS ENCOUNTER AN ANGEL

A childless couple is surprised by some amazing news from the angel of the Lord. They are terrified, however, when they realize that they have faced God himself.

PSALM 17 | COMFORT IN SEEING GOD

David, in writing this psalm, cries out to God for justice and protection. He rejoices that God is willing to listen, and he rests in knowing that he will someday see God face to face.

EZEKIEL 20:30-44 | GOD'S JUDGMENT

God faithfully loves and cares for his people, but he will not tolerate their desire to pursue other gods ahead of him. He will judge them face to face and punish them, so that they will return to loving him above all.

SIDE TRIPS

THE MESSIAH

GLIMPSES OF THE MESSIAH

Many people know the Christmas story found in Luke 2. Long before that night in Bethlehem, kings, prophets, and even God himself were talking about a king and messiah who would rescue humanity. Thousands of years passed between God's first hint that evil would be defeated and the actual arrival of the baby Jesus in the manger.

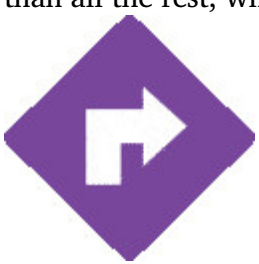
GENESIS 3:8-19 | EVE'S OFFSPRING
Satan succeeds in tempting Adam and Eve to sin, but God tells him that someday one of Adam and Eve's descendants will crush him.

GENESIS 49:8-12 | THE SCEPTER FROM JUDAH
Jacob, in blessing his son Judah, reveals that Judah's descendants will include mighty leaders and rulers. One of them, more powerful than all the rest, will be honored by every nation on earth.



2 SAMUEL 7:1-16 | DAVID'S ENDLESS KINGDOM
God makes a covenant with David, promising to give him "a dynasty of kings" and declaring that his royal throne will be "secure . . . forever." These promises were ultimately fulfilled by Jesus.

PSALM 2 | GOD'S ROYAL SON

This royal psalm refers again and again to the Lord's anointed one, the king. These references not only point to the human kings of Israel and Judah, but also to a King who reigns over heaven and earth.

ISAIAH 7:10-16 | THE SIGN OF IMMANUEL

The prophet Isaiah is called to give hope to King Ahaz of Judah. The king fears the impending Assyrian invasion of Judah, but Isaiah's message is meant to reassure him that God will be with his people in the immediate future and, many years later, in an even greater way.

ISAIAH 9:2-7 | A CHILD IS BORN

When Assyria invades and conquers Israel, the future looks bleak. But Isaiah has a message of comfort. He assures everyone that the present darkness and despair will not go on forever. Someday, a wonderful child will be born and will rule on David's throne.

ISAIAH 11:1-10 | THE BRANCH FROM DAVID'S FAMILY

Isaiah continues describing future events, both good and bad. Here, he again assures God's people that David's line and throne will not die out. New life will come from the old tree stump.

JEREMIAH 33:14-18 | A RIGHTEOUS DESCENDANT

Jeremiah, like other prophets, promises that the Messiah will descend from the royal line of David. He will be the Righteous One and will reign forever.

EZEKIEL 34:11-24 | THE GOOD SHEPHERD

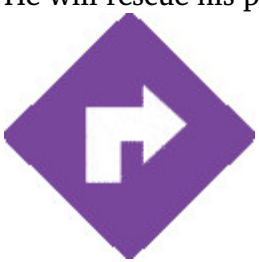
Ezekiel describes a good shepherd who will care for God's sheep. The shepherd will be like David, a royal prince and a caring leader.

DANIEL 9:20-27 | THE ANOINTED ONE

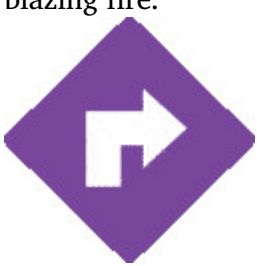
During Daniel's exile in Babylon, the angel Gabriel brings him a message about the future. Gabriel's explanation contains an important glimpse of the Messiah (9:26).

MICAH 5:2-5 | THE BETHLEHEM PROPHECY
Hundreds of years before the birth of Christ, the prophet Micah proclaims that a ruler of Israel will come from the small town of Bethlehem.

ZECHARIAH 9:9-17 | ZION'S KING
The prophet Zechariah tells of a king who will come to Jerusalem. He will rescue his people and bring peace to the nations.



MALACHI 3:1-5 | THE LORD YOU ARE SEEKING
The prophet Malachi tells of a special messenger who will prepare the way for the Lord. Later in verse 2, Malachi gives us a glimpse of the Messiah, who will come to the Temple in Jerusalem like "a blazing fire."



LUKE 1:26-56 | THE BIRTH OF JESUS FORETOLD
The angel Gabriel visits a young woman named Mary and explains

God's plan. Mary will become pregnant by the Holy Spirit's power and give birth to the Son of God. When Mary's relative Elizabeth encounters Mary just a few days later, she instantly recognizes Mary's blessed status and is overcome with joy.

SIDE TRIPS

GOD LOVES YOU

GOD LOVES YOU

The Bible tells God's story: who he is and what he does for his people. The greatest message he wants us to know is that he chose a people, loved them, and cared for them. He loves his creation and his people as much today as he did at the beginning. God loves you, he cares about you, and he always will.

PSALM 139 | COMPLETELY KNOWN

In this psalm, David rejoices that God loves and cares for us. God knows all about us. We can never escape from his presence. We are held safely in his love.

SONG OF SONGS 4:1-15 | GOD'S PASSION

Song of Songs tells the story of two lovers and their deep desire for one another. The story celebrates romantic love as God intended it, and it also illustrates the passionate intensity of God's love for us.

ZEPHANIAH 3:9-20 | GOD'S JOYFUL SONGS

Just as a mother sings the praises of her child, so the Lord sings and rejoices over his people. He delights in us. This prophecy shows how much God desires to embrace us as his own and live with us forever.

LUKE 12:6-12 | HAIRS AND SPARROWS

God cares for us so much that he even knows the exact number of hairs on our heads. Here, Jesus reminds us that God cares for every sparrow—but that he cares for us even more.

JOHN 3:16-21 | GOD'S GREAT LOVE

Jesus explains to the Pharisee Nicodemus that, because God loves us, he sent his Son to save us. When we look at Jesus, we see God's love.

ROMANS 5:1-11 | GOD DEMONSTRATES HIS LOVE

The apostle Paul explains that God loves us even in our most sinful state. While we were trapped in sin, he chose to save us and sent his only Son to die for us.

ROMANS 8:31–39 | NOTHING SEPARATES US FROM GOD'S LOVE

JESUS' FAMILY

UNEXPECTED PEOPLE IN JESUS' FAMILY TREE
Few people enjoy reading the long lists of names in genealogies. But each name is a person with an important story. Every family tree has its "characters." Jesus' family tree is no different. The version of the genealogy found in Matthew 1 even includes several women, which was quite unusual for the time. Here are stories behind some of these people.

The first union of man and woman in the Garden of Eden illustrates the meaning and purpose that God intends for marriage.

the Bible.

SIDE TRIPS

SUFFERING

WHERE IS GOD IN SUFFERING?

Anyone who has faced suffering usually wonders, Where is God in all this? Why is this happening to me? Those questions have been around since sin corrupted the world and brought in pain and sorrow. These passages point toward some answers to that age-old question.

After Job's three friends exhaust their arguments with him, they reach an impasse. Then another friend, Elihu, enters the conversation and explains that suffering can help us spot sin and avoid it.

1 PETER 5:6-10 | GOD CARES

We will face trials, suffering, and hardships in life, but our circumstances do not have to overwhelm us. Instead of worrying, we can know that God is in control and he will take care of us.

SIDE TRIPS

FORGIVENESS

YOU ARE FORGIVEN

Love and forgiveness are two virtues that God calls all people to practice. It's easy to love people who are loveable. It's easy to praise forgiveness until we have to forgive someone who has hurt us badly. Here are some stories about God's forgiveness and about people who forgave under difficult circumstances.

GENESIS 50:1-21 | JOSEPH FORGIVES HIS BROTHERS

Joseph was Jacob's favored son, and in their jealousy his brothers got rid of him by selling him as a slave. Decades later, after the family reunites, Joseph's brothers realize he has the power to take revenge when their father dies. Joseph chooses to forgive them instead.

LEVITICUS 5:1-19 | OFFERINGS REQUIRED FOR FORGIVENESS

God declares he will punish Babylon, the empire that has conquered Judah. The key message comes at the end of this passage—God will forgive his people.

HOSEA 14:1-9 | GOD FORGIVES ISRAEL'S INFIDELITY

THRU-HIKE

The Thru-Hike route is a fourth route through The Wayfinding Bible. It will take you through every word of the Bible chronologically. People who hike the entire length of long trails—such as the Appalachian Trail or the Continental Divide Trail—refer to their journey as "thru-hiking." Walking every step of a lengthy trail requires time and dedication, as does reading every verse of the Bible. Completing the Thru-Hike in The Wayfinding Bible is not only a significant accomplishment but offers a wonderful opportunity to draw closer to God.

Your Thru-Hike guide is listed below. Simply begin with the first reading and follow the route to the end. Along the way you'll cover all of the readings on the flyover route, the direct route, and the scenic route. As you travel the entire course of the Bible, take the time to read the Historical Markers, stop at the Scenic Overlooks, and gain perspective via the Getting Your Bearings articles. Set a pace for yourself that's comfortable. You're thru-hiking, not racing! Like all thru-hikers, you may occasionally get discouraged. Take a break, then pick up where you left off and keep going. You can do it!

A voice in the wilderness, a messenger
Light to the Gentiles Healed many Watchers and listeners will not understand Raised by children

The king enters Jerusalem on a donkey Rejected by his own people Betrayed by his own follower Forsaken by disciples

Struck and spat on by his enemies
Betrayed for the price of a potter's field
Silent before his accusers

They threw dice for his garments
To suffer with criminals and pray for his enemies
Mocked and insulted
Buried in a rich man's tomb Raised from the dead
At God's right hand
Would have David's throne
Eternal throne
Anointed with God's Spirit
Commends his spirit to the Father
Dies as a sacrifice for sin
Zealous for his Father
A prophet like Moses
He would thirst
No broken bones
Pierced hands and feet, stared at in death
